Emotions Create The 1971 ROAR

Unlike other books, the 1971 ROAR is a tribute to emotional expression as well as to academic achievement. With the following pages, the ROAR made an attempt to represent the personality of the school through each student's accomplishments, interests, enthusiasm, and participation. Perhaps, then, this book is the captured spirit of R. L. Turner High.

This spirit of the school rebounded throughout the halls bearing each student's ideas, hopes, pleasures, and disappointments. There was sorrow for some because the walls formed barriers between themselves and the everyday world; and joy for others because the walls became the linkage between friends and the bond between the present and future.

Since there could not be a school without students, and there could not be a student body without emotions, the 1971 ROAR captured the eagerness, the frustrations, the expectations, the sadness and the excitement of everyday school life. Therefore, Turner life and all it includes has created the emotions represented by each page of the 1971 ROAR.

Janice,
You really are a sweet girl and crazier than you are sweet. Remember P.E. in Perry?? How could ya forget.
Stay the way you are now & you'll go far. May God Bless
Love ya, ya

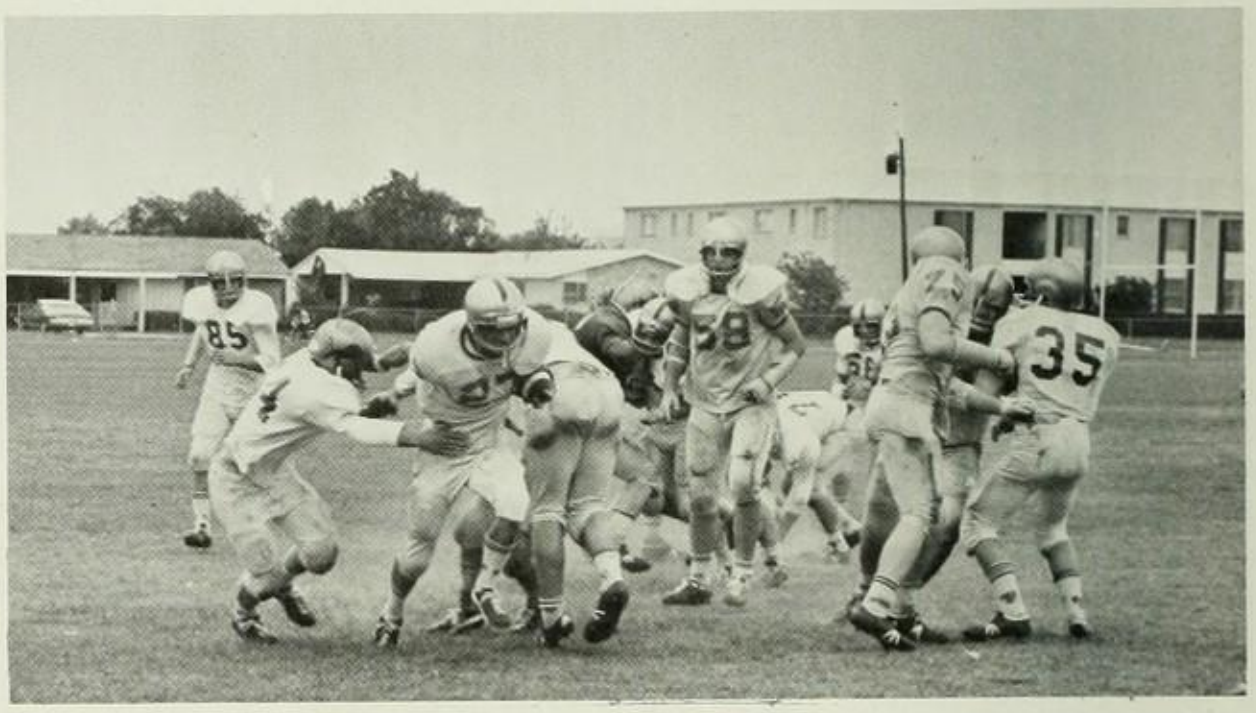
Carefree Days Of Summer

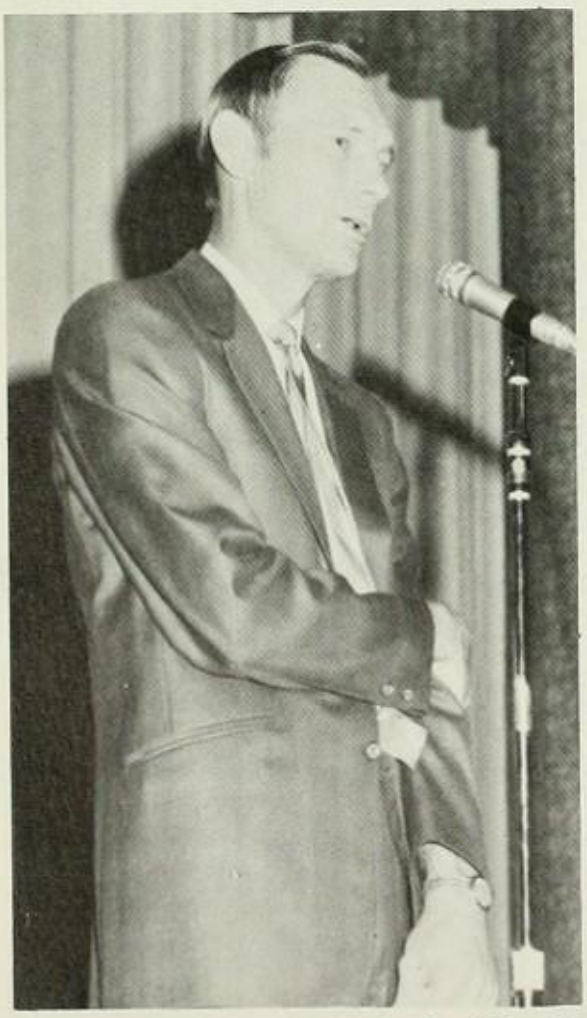
Although school was officially out, members of the student body were busy in preparation for the coming school year. Aggieland was host campus for the ROAR and "Lion's Tale" staffs for a journalism workshop during July. Creating routines to be presented for the half-time enjoyment, Lionettes and band members spent many hours on the practice field. Early mornings and late evenings found both coaches and football players involved in long, strenuous workouts.

When the school administration had delivered schedules and Freshmen had attended the traditional orientation program, summer became a time stored in the memory of individuals.

Thoughts of the brief but joyous summer months were ended with issuing of schedules.



During August practice sessions, the football team focused upon executing new plays



Vice-principal Mr. Parish invited Freshmen to Turner during Orientation.

Preparing for a unique yearbook, the ROAR staff attended summer journalism classes.

A World Of Make Believe

Under the direction of David Heath, the Children's Theater in this area presented "The Pale Pink Dragon." While the advanced drama class created their own costumes, the Art Department put in time and labor to create colorful scenery for the production. The result was an entertaining afternoon for the elementary audience and an invaluable experience for the drama students.

With acquired skills, Barbara Trezza applied Kathy Hooker's make-up before the play.

In full costume, Mike Carnagey listened to the lines awaiting his precise cue.

Elementary children spent an exciting afternoon entertained by drama department.

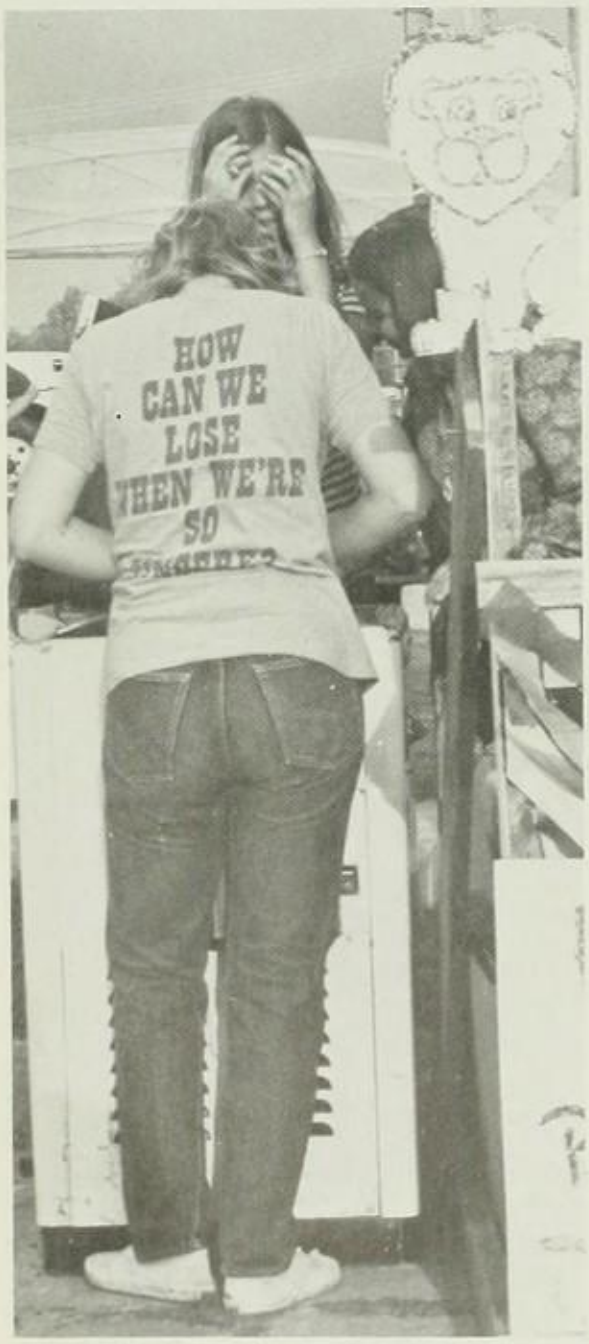
Wild West Providing Fun Times

Western winds blew in the spirit of the Wild West as Pioneer Days started with a pep rally for the mighty Lion football team. Following the game, a fun-for-all street dance made a night full of excitement.

With the starting of a new day, activities began with a colorful parade, many decorative booths and several drawings for prizes. A weekend of the real West, recreated through community participation, set the fast pace for student activities.

Band members contributed lively tunes to the outdoor pep rally at Pioneer Day.

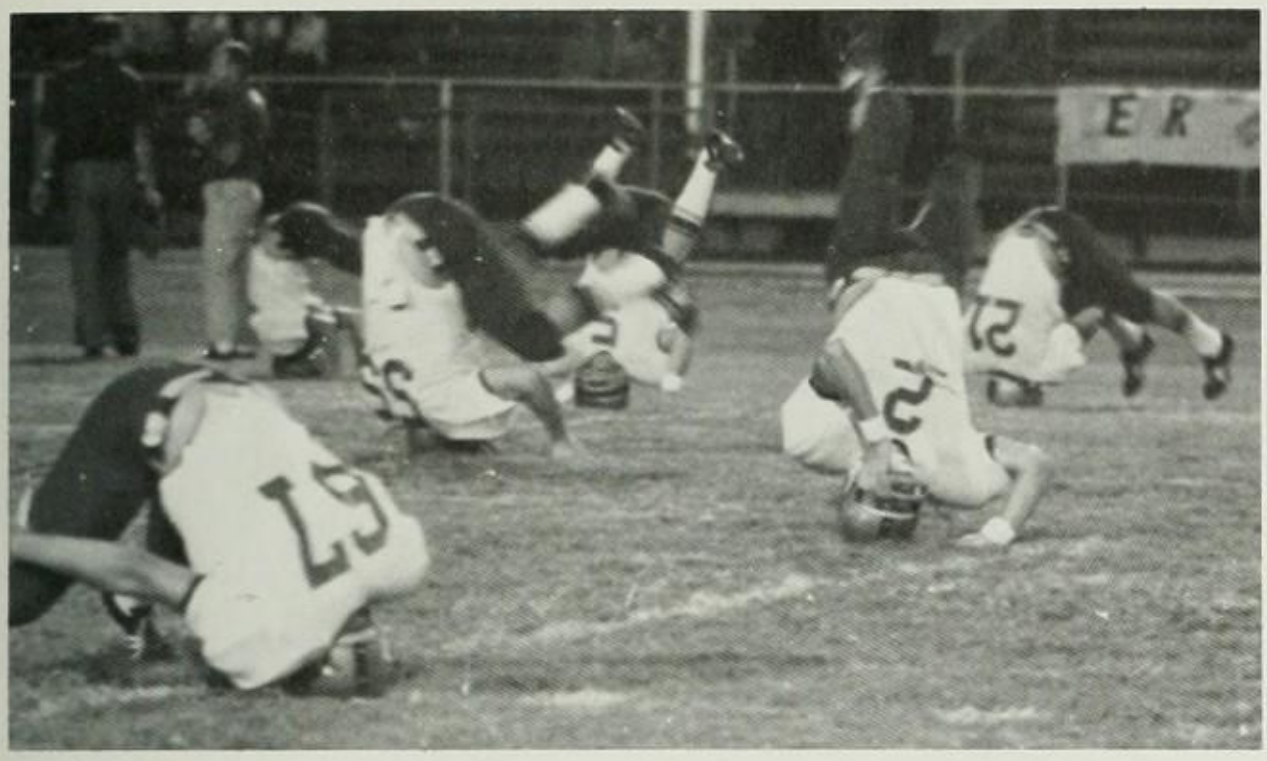
Varsity Cheerleaders participated in the Saturday morning Pioneer Day Parade.



At the Junior Booth, Liz Maxfield had the job of filling cups with ice.

Working for an elaborate prom, the Junior class sponsored a booth at Pioneer Day.

Catching The Unexpected Poses



Football warm-ups often provided gay entertainment for early arrivers at games.

When the football, basketball and baseball seasons were finally over, people would long remember the pictures of their friends. Not the posed photographs, but instead, the one of a kind poses that can never again be recaptured or duplicated.

While posed pictures are often flattering, the candid camera is able to catch individuals at their most embarrassing and uninhibited moments. Candid shots are intended to be funny and are entered in this book in a spirit of good humor.

Complete with full stage makeup, Jo Ann Reeves flirted with the camera.

Scrambling for possession of the basketball, Lion Cagers and the Mesquite Skeeters managed to tangle themselves into this awkward and unexpected situation.

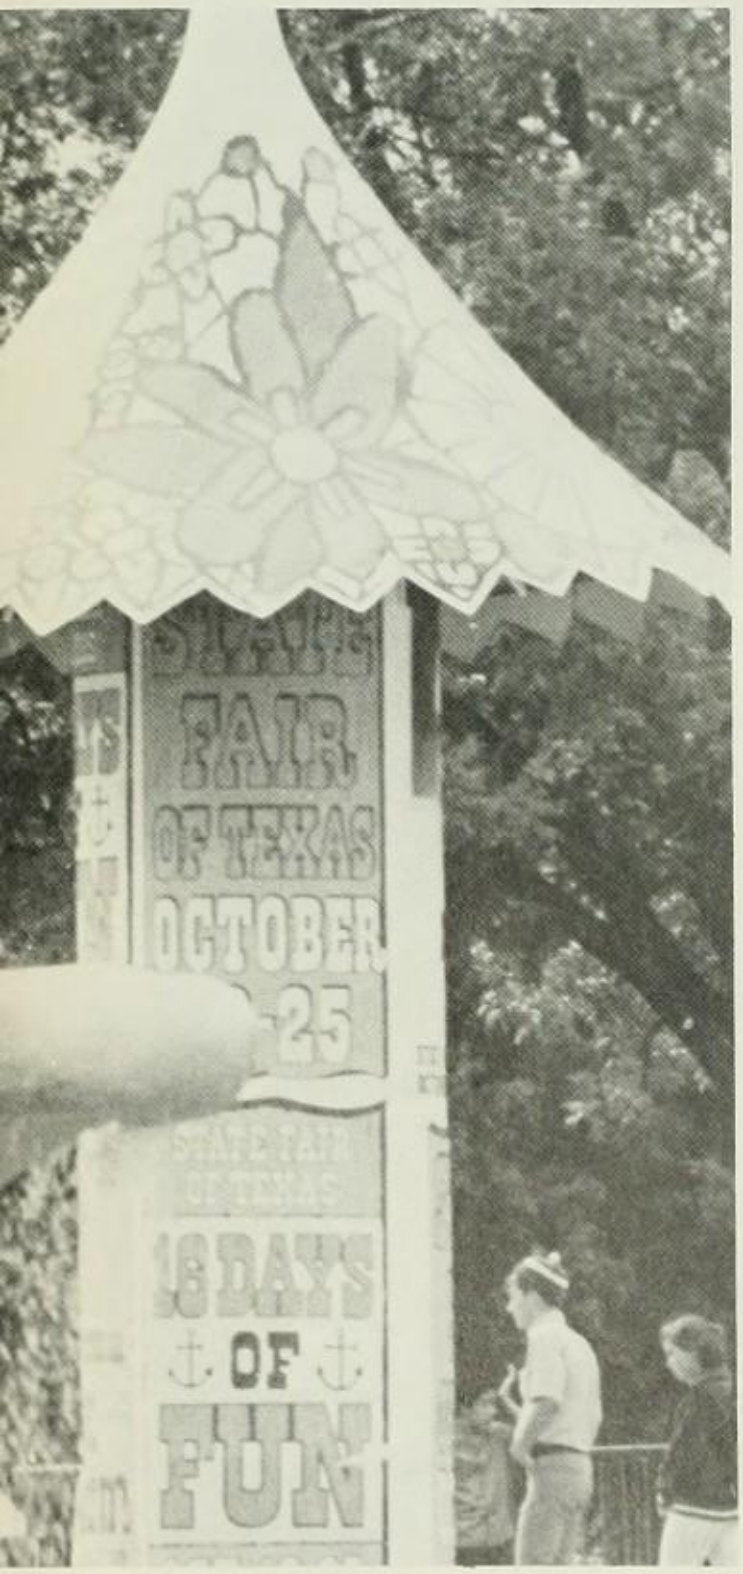
Adding a surprise to the Junior Talent Show, Tony Reeder and Joey Lopez performed a dramatic skit amid laughter and confusion.

Spending A Holiday At The Fair

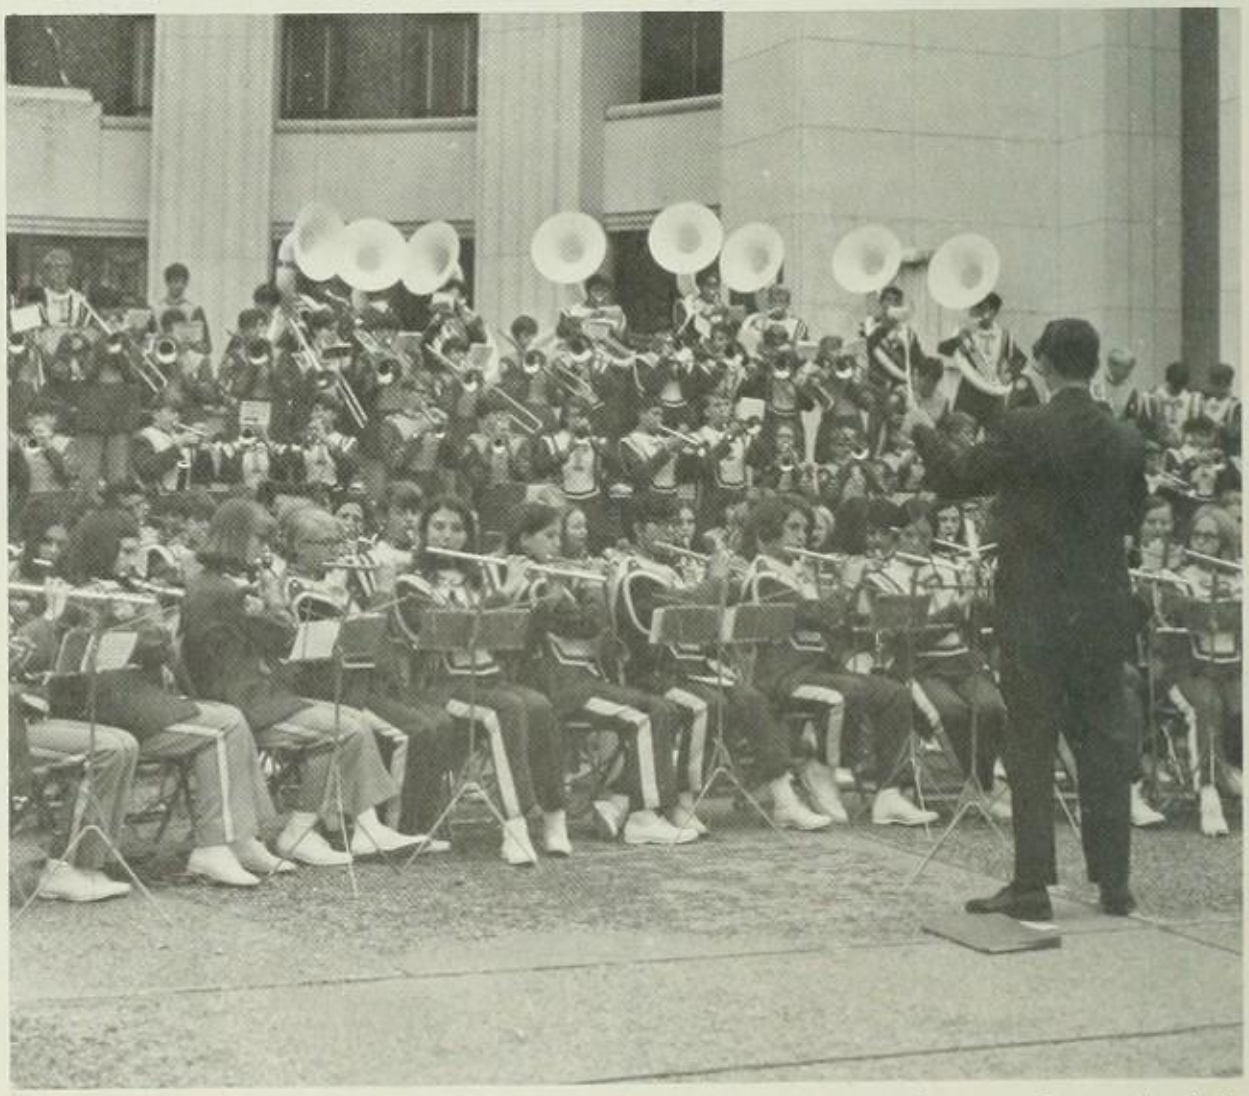
Fair Day arrived and despite the threat of rain, R. L. Turner's students came to enjoy the fun. Crowded exhibits, wild rides and a packed midway set the scene for a long day full of fun at the fair.

Prizes were proudly displayed as everyone tried their skill at the game booths. Hot dogs, cotton candy, corn-on-the-cob and candied apples were eaten readily. At the end of the long, exhausting day, only memories remained and the anticipation for next year's fair.

Staggering effects of Big Tex's exciting rides were felt by Sandy Hall on Fair Day.



Excitement confronted students as they approached the gateway to the fair.



Through concert, the Turner Band provided entertainment for crowds at the fair.

Pulling Faith McCord's flag was Senior Cathy Morin in the pre-game warm-ups.

Boys will be boys unless they were cheerleaders for the annual Powder Puff Game.

Senior Ambition Successful

After a week of learning pattern plays, blocking assignments and how to run a pass pattern, the teams took the field with boundless enthusiasm for the start of the sixth annual Powder Puff Football game. Despite the cold November weather, the teams played with all the ability possible for the enjoyment of the hardy fans. Although the Juniors fought fiercely the Seniors proved to be victorious with a final 48-22 score showing on the board.

Everyone who attended the game thoroughly enjoyed the hilarious antics of the cheerleaders, and the determined attitude of the players who battled till the end. Win or lose, every girl added bruises and sore muscles to their memories.

Injured in practice, Junior Becky McMillen watched from the sidelines.

During practice, basics on the art of defense were taught by Senior Steve Webb.

The New And Old, Blue And Gold

Since this was the fourth year at Turner, Homecoming became an extra special event with the addition of a parade. R. L. Turner's marching band and drill team led the procession while the crowd viewed the colorful presentation.

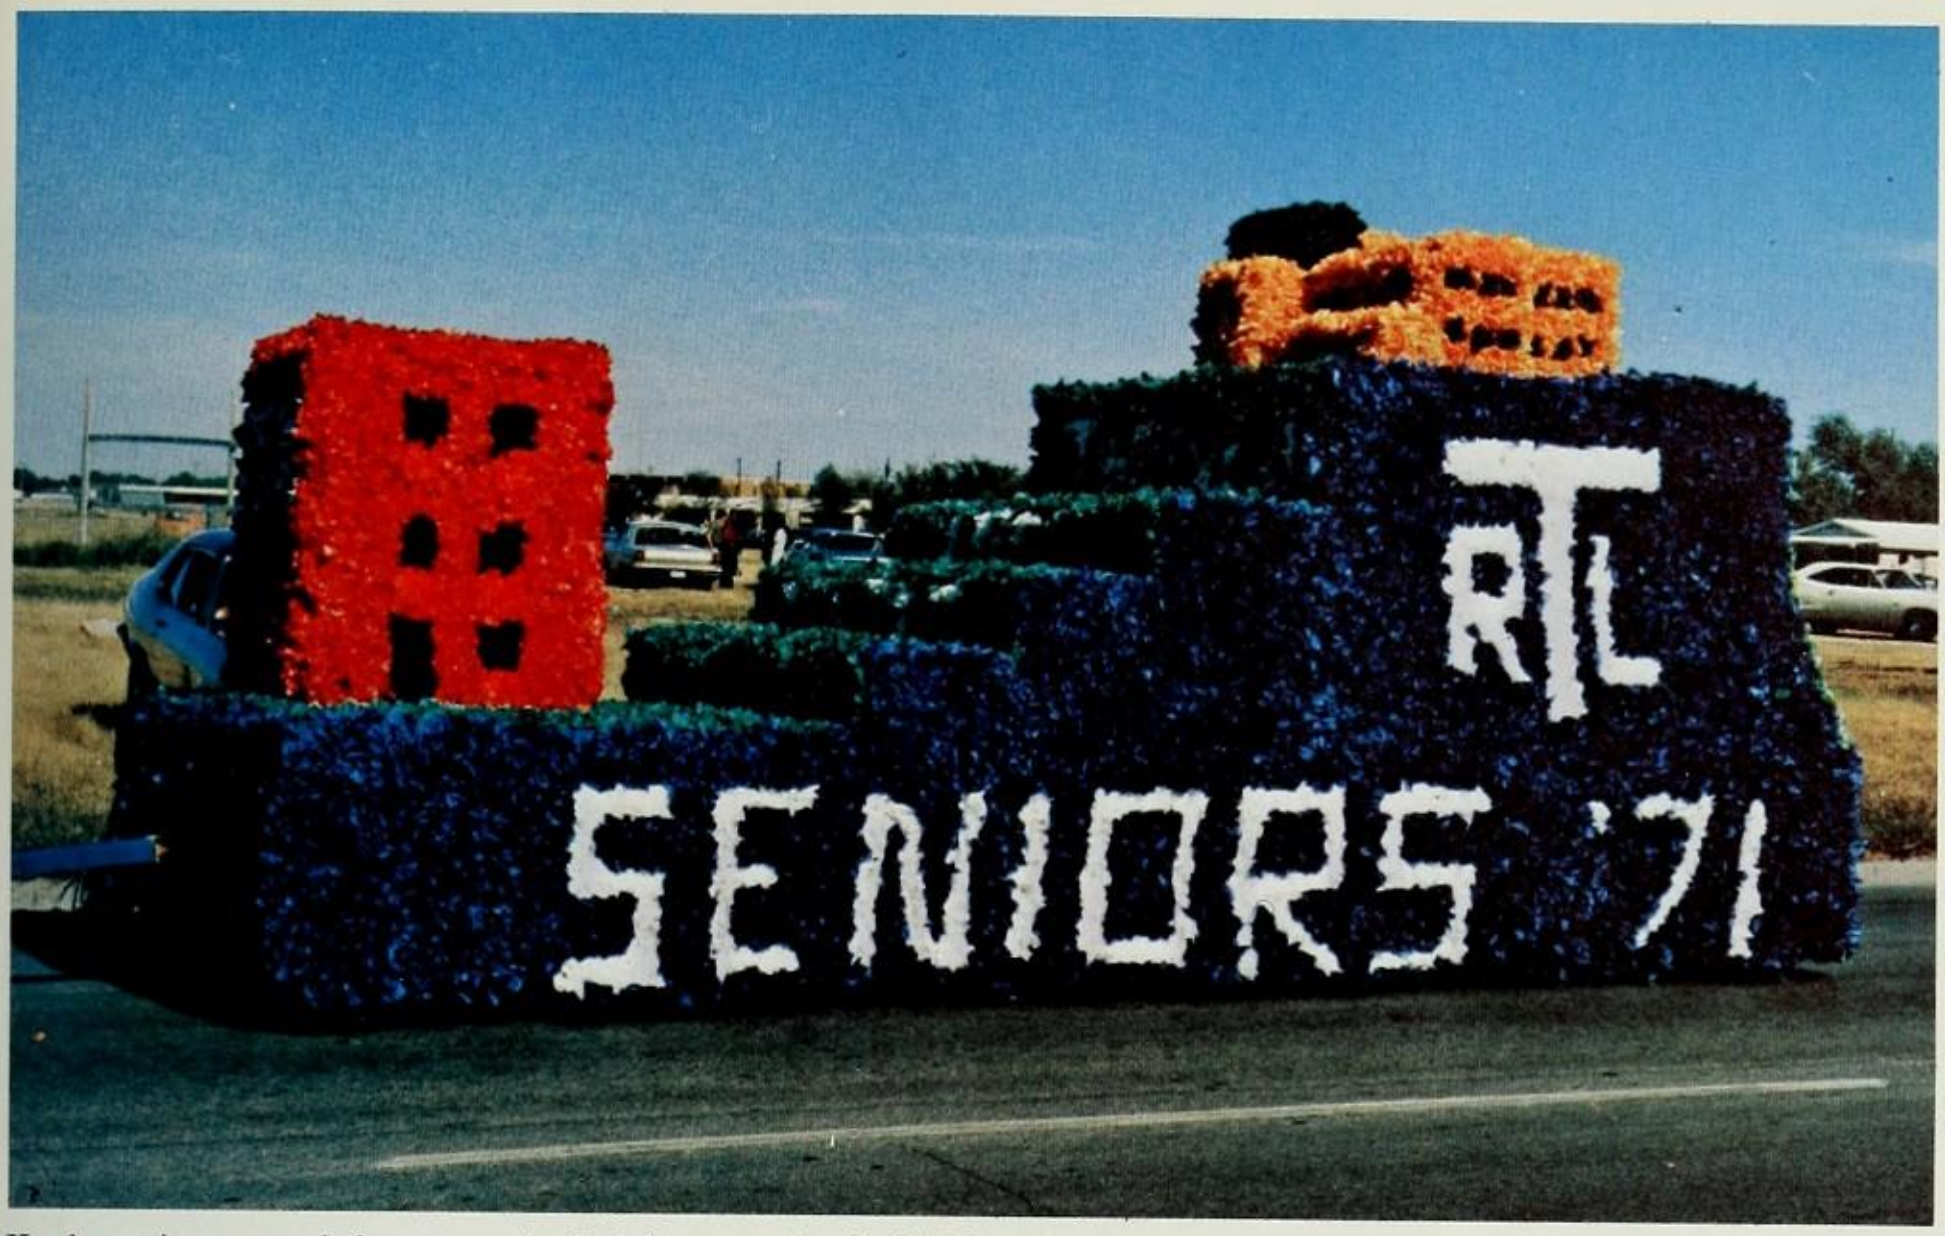
With models of the old Carrollton High School and the present R. L. Turner High School, the Seniors' float won the class competition. The other winning floats were the Class of 1955, decorated with two football helmets, and the Vocational Club spangled with their Aquarian look at the stars.

The trophies for the winning floats were given by judges Mrs. Connie Elkins and local mayors, McInnish, Grimmer.

Clad as a witch, Janet Blanton rode the Freshman float bringing Halloween to mind.

Awarded best alumni entry, the Class of 1955 constructed an originally designed float.

Riding the largest float in the class



Hard, continuous work for many school nights proved to be highly successful when the Seniors won the best division float award.

division contest, the Sophomore B-team cheerleaders proudly represented their class.

Juniors earned money for their prom.

Midnight Crowning Of Queen

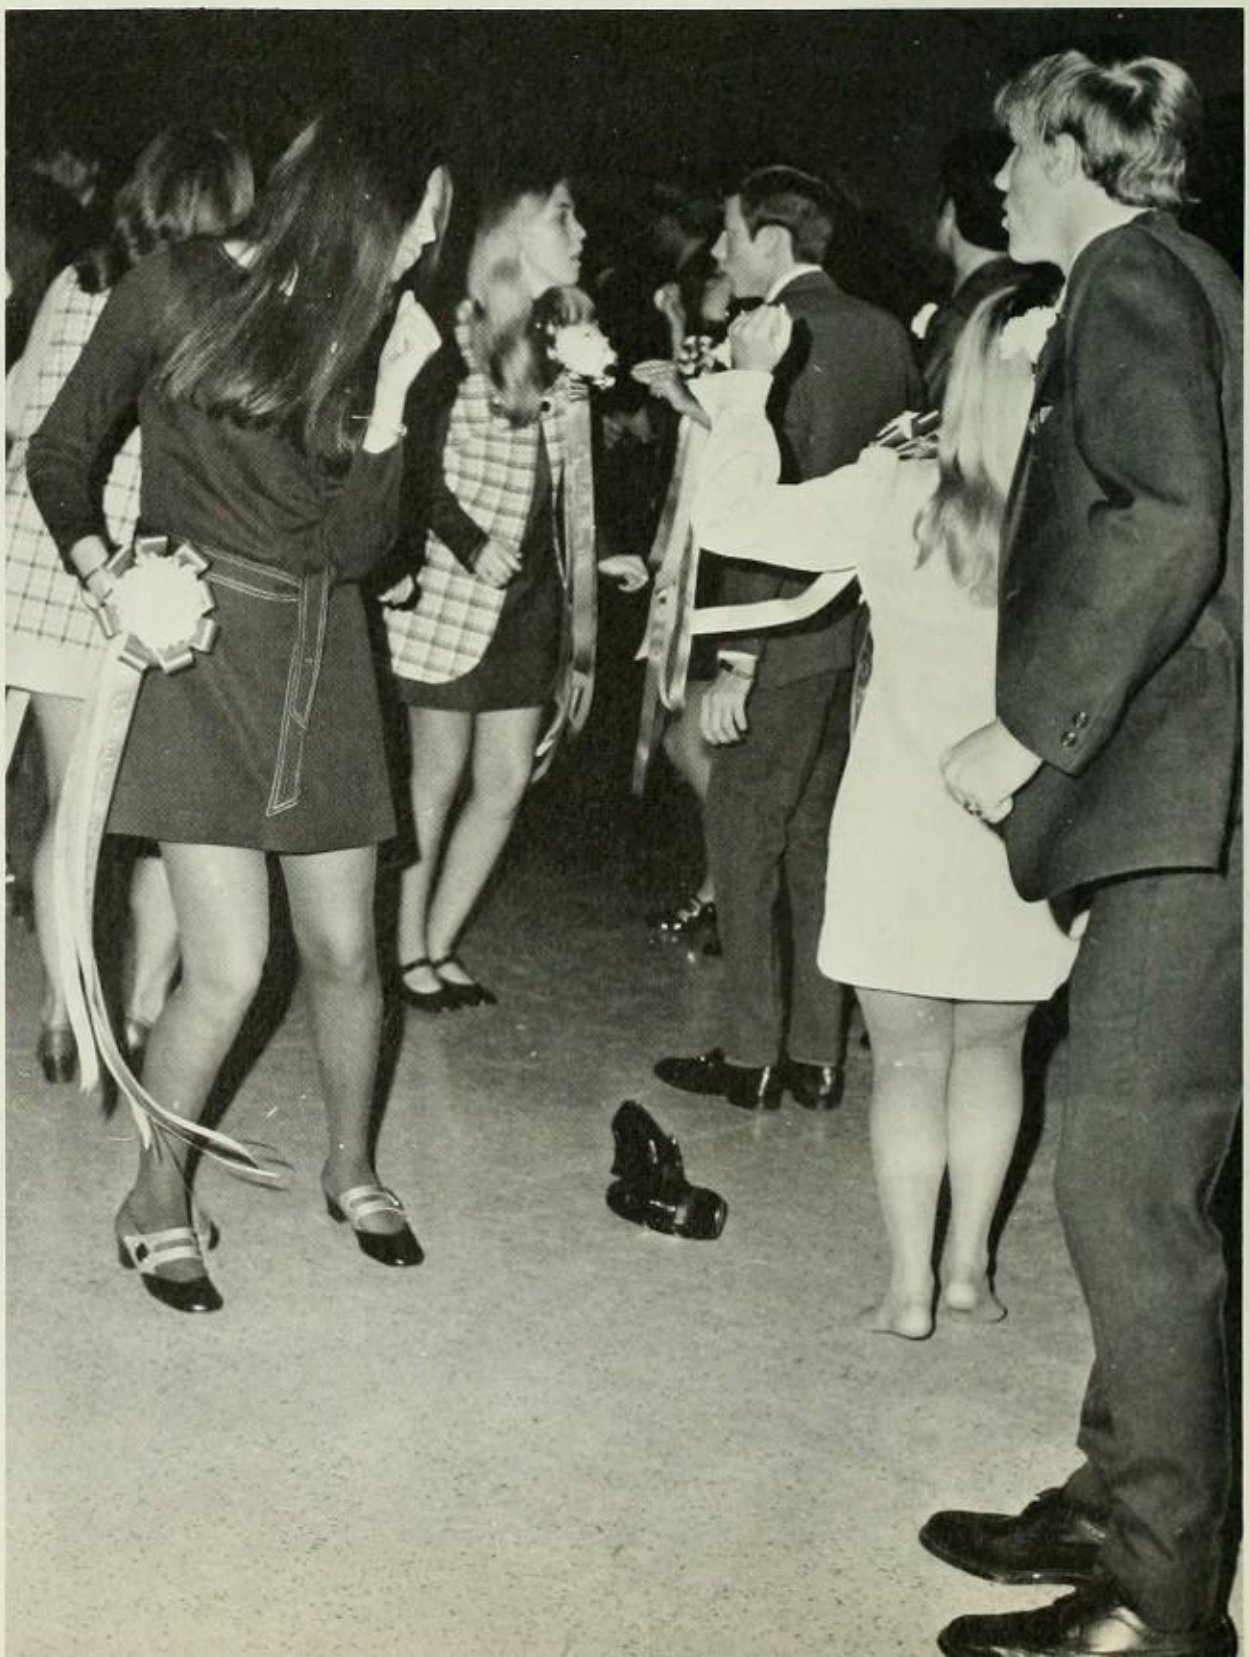
When Friday night finally arrived, the climax was reached to a busy week of anxious preparations. After a victorious game, a large number of students appeared for the traditional Homecoming Dance sponsored by the Student Senate.

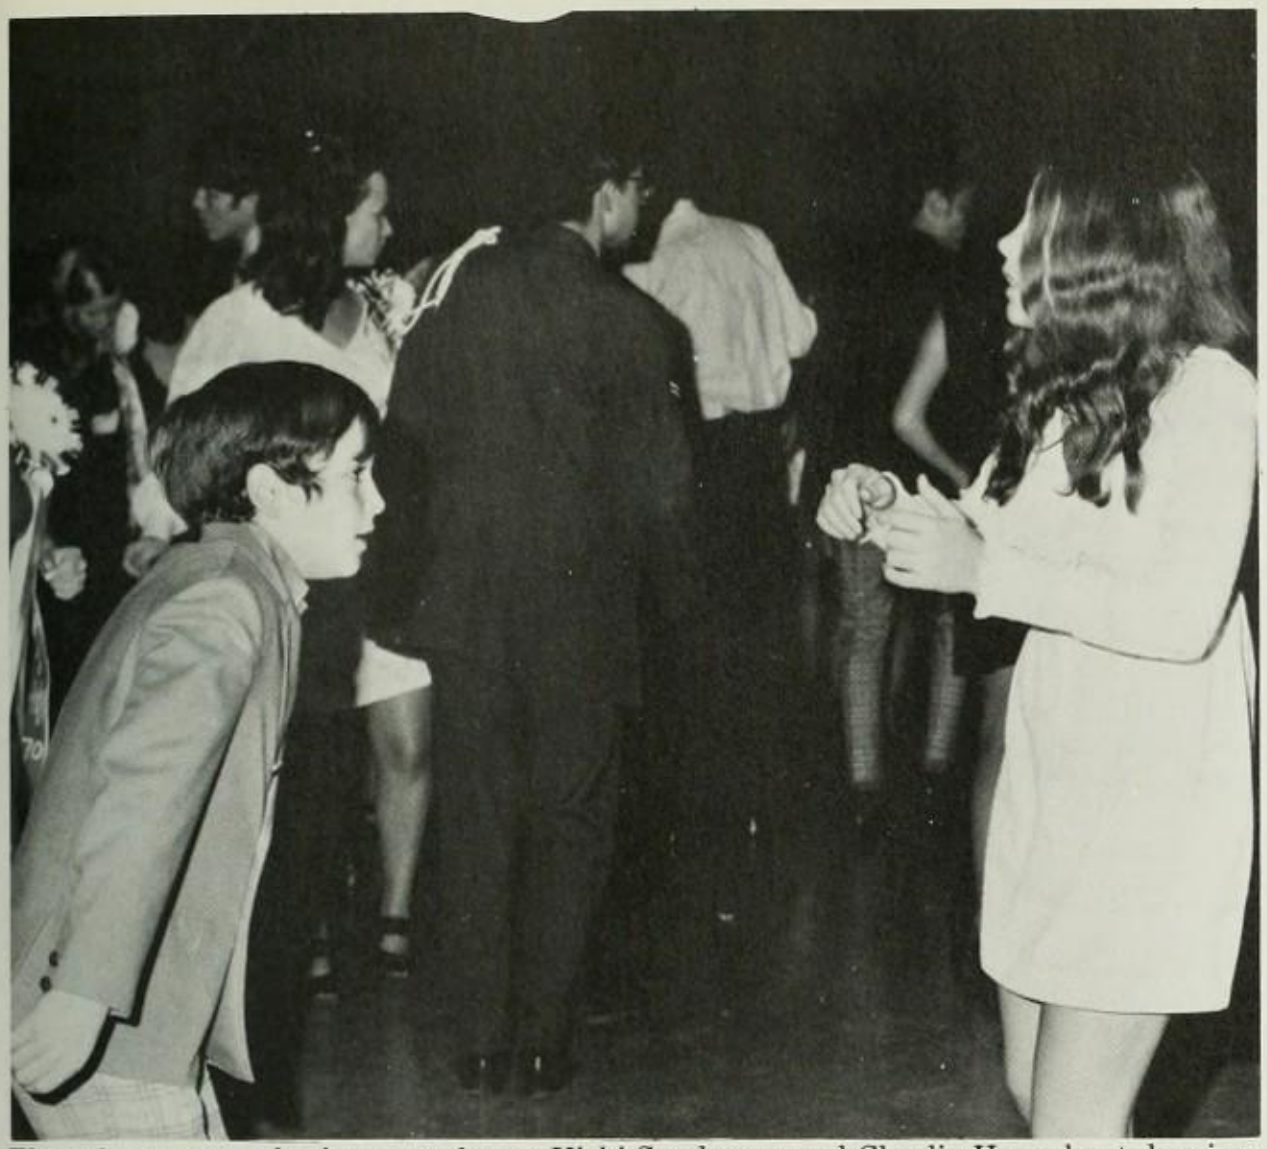
With the cafeteria the center of festivities, colorful decorations were designed to transform the lunchroom to fit the theme: The New, the Old, the Blue, the Gold. Queen Nominees emerged from a little red school house with Martha Wiley crowned as queen.

Adding to the atmosphere, "The Freight" provided the music, captivating the audience and forming a pleasant evening for guests and students.

While others rested, Christa Brown and Jon Liston danced to "The Freight."

Escorted by Bob Cooper, Martha Wiley was later to be named as queen. Right: Though shoes were kicked aside, students kept dancing on into the night.





Though some couples began to leave, Vicki Snodgrass and Charlie Haws kept dancing.

During half time, Terry Cahill escorted nominee Cindy Hunt off the field.

Spirit Reigning At Pep Rallies

With balloons and signs decorating R. L. Turner, students found Friday means pep rallies. Lionettes and Roarettes set the pace with decorations and treats for the fighting Lions. The student body added enthusiasm by doing everything possible to make each pep rally the very best. All this along with the band and the cheerleaders promoted a spirit for winning.

Linus greeted prospective students.

Competition between the classes encouraged Seniors to boost their team to victory.

Senior Martha Wiley encouraged spirit.

Enthusiastic students heightened spirit by participating in the outdoor pep rally.

Victory was the hope of Sondra Greer.

Dressed in school colors, Lionettes added strength to the spirit of every pep rally.

Dance routines were performed by the Lionette Captains to boost pep rally spirit.

Total participation and endless support by the many Roarettes in all pep rallies helped boost the spirit of the mighty Lions.

Dancing Through Candy Cane Lane

After selecting "Candy Cane Lane" as the theme of the 1970 Christmas dance and presentation, members of Future Teachers of America began making preparations for decorations, favors and refreshments. Names of every couple were printed on large crossed candy canes to serve as souvenirs for the girls. In addition to favors, pine cones and lights were placed around the room. The customary Christmas tree and mistletoe reminded those at the formal dance of the many traditions associated with Christmas.

As the couples danced to the music of "Pegasus," they were also entertained by the group's light show. For a break between dances, the Senior Lounge was the place for refreshments. As the evening ended, couples remembered the fun while dancing along "Candy Cane Lane."

Dancing to the music of "Pegasus," George Etier and Judy Petty enjoyed the dance.

Decorating the traditional tree for the Christmas Dance, Donna Terpening, Vicki Slaydon and Lorri Dickstein worked with other members for a pleasing effect.

Completing the theme, Beth Brown and Sheryl Hulick hung up candy canes.

Determined Efforts Changing Dress Codes

With our society's tendency to drop one fad and pick up another, change has always been a necessary occurrence. Dress codes were a much discussed and controversial subject at Open-Senate meetings and around the school. Official standards were drawn up by the Student Relations Committee, compiled of eight senators, three teachers, two school board members and Mr. J. T. Parish, and then, it was presented to the School Board for their approval and suggestions.

After the acceptance of pants into the dress code, school fashion took on a new and different look. Girls were seen sporting culottes, pant suits, midi's, maxi's and of course, mini's. Everyone's full cooperation was needed during the trial period as students eagerly accepted the awaiting challenge before them, determined to show their willingness and dependability.

Hurrying to class, Pam Laxson enjoyed being allowed to wear her pant suit.

Science teacher, Mrs. Angella Woodard, discovered the conveniences of pants.

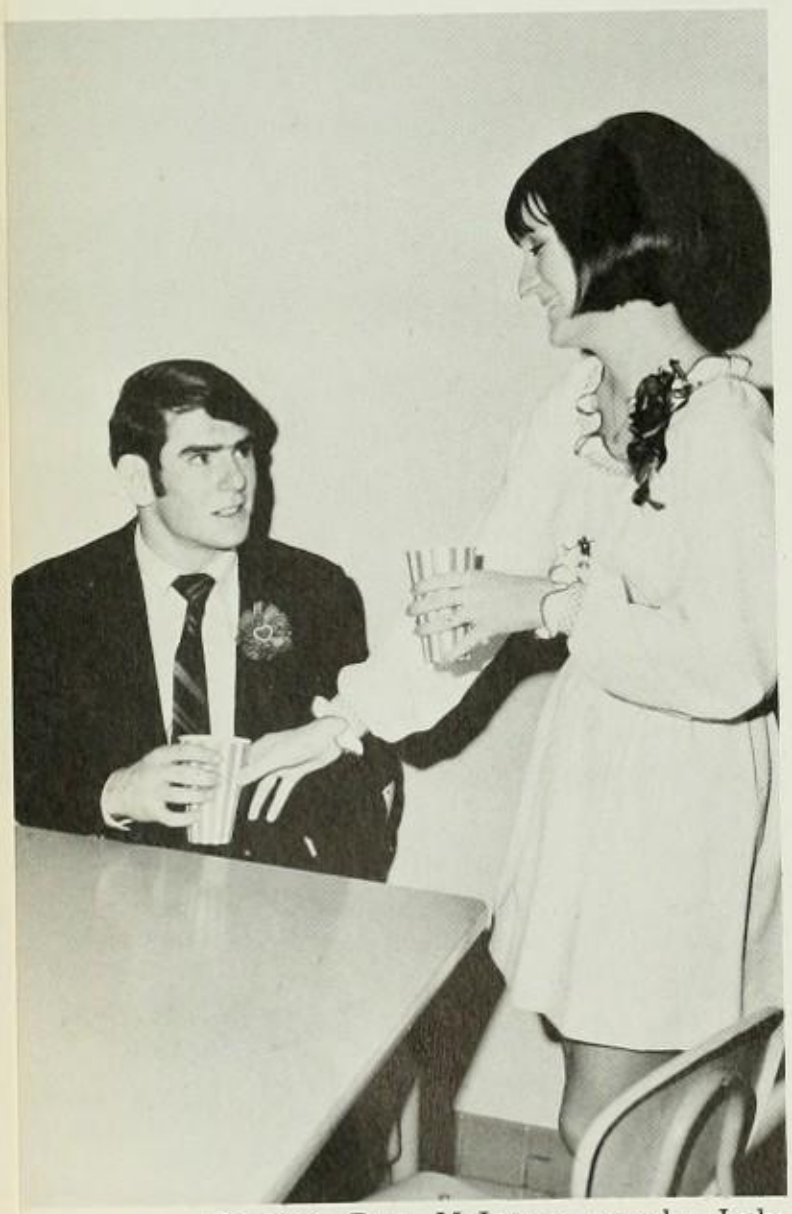
Directly after the dress code assembly, Tandy Holter, one of the Senators on the Student Relations Committee explained the code and answered students' questions.

Cupid Ruling Valentine Dance

Valentine's Day was celebrated by the annual Turn-About Dance sponsored by the Student Senate. Girls were given the opportunity to exchange roles with the boys and to make all the arrangements for their Valentine date. Providing music for the occasion, the "Fleece" and Turner's own Stage Band entertained the crowd with their performances.

Collecting penny votes for each of the Valentine nominees, Senators created lively campaigning between the classes as well as raising money. Concluding a day filled with the exchanging of NHS Turner-grams and Spanish Club love rocks, Seniors triumphed as Sylvia Villarreal and Stanley Smith were crowned 1971 Valentine King and Queen at the dance.

Providing music for the Valentine Dance, the "Fleece" entertained everyone with their lively songs and uniquely different presentation of current "Top Forty" music.



Serving Dan McIntyre punch, Judy McClung performed an escort's duties.

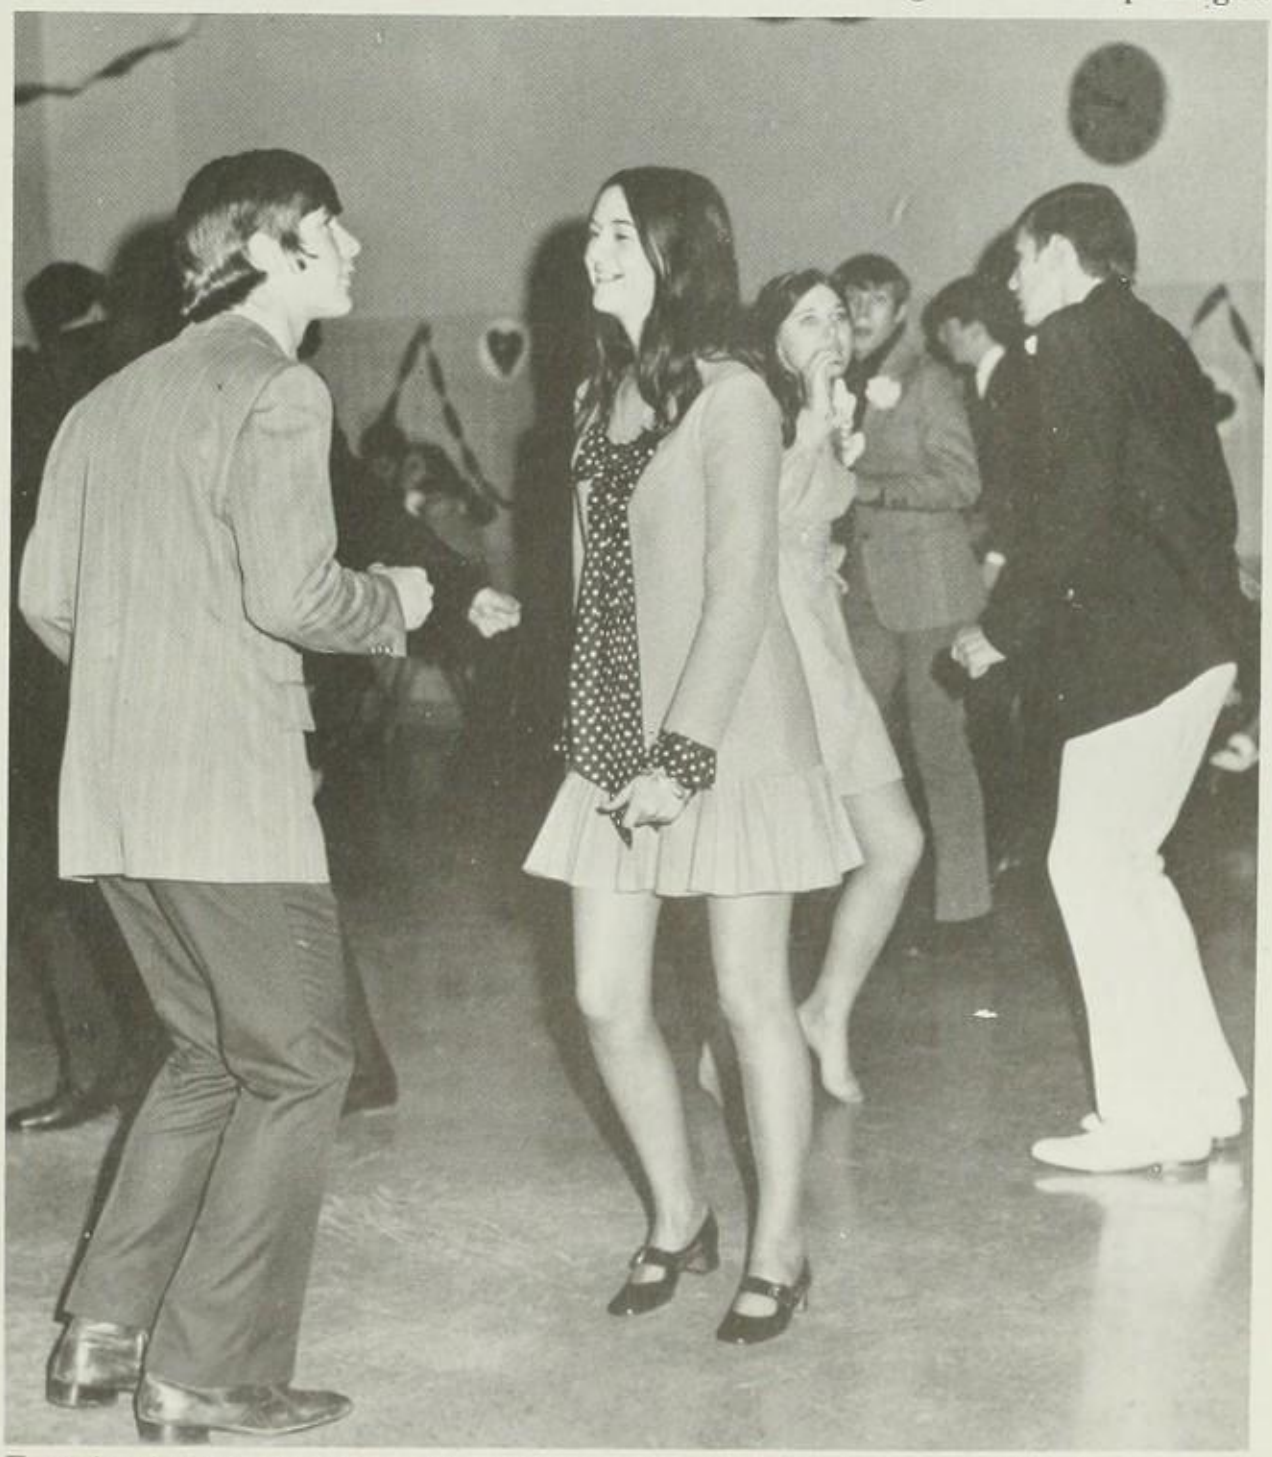
Enjoying "Fleece," Robert Harris and Mark Rudeseal danced with partners.



Experiencing her first Turn-About Dance at Turner, Freshman Meridith Lowrey and her guest, Mark Burnaugh enjoyed dancing and laughing with close friends.

Presenting A Hit

"Music Man," produced by the Fine Arts Departments and directed by Mr. David Heath, exhibited the many talents of the musically inclined students from the Carrollton-Farmers Branch School District. Many long hours were spent working on stage sets, costumes, make-up, sound and lighting, while others rehearsed lines, perfected songs and succeeded in bringing the delightful musical comedy to life in our community.

Portraying the Music Man, Tony Reeder brought laughter into a stubborn Iowa town and love to the spinster librarian, played by Cindy Hunt. With the fall of the last curtain the enthusiastic audience praised the deserving cast with their wild applause, for the excellent job they had accomplished.

Enthusiastically dancing to "Seventy-six Trombones," Karen Renfrow, Nancy Sherrard, Delinda Evans and Barbara Trezza did imitations of marching in a band.

cious Marian Paroo were characterized played the leading roles in the show.

Forming a barber shop quartet from the town School Board, Raul Ruiz, Mike Carnagey, Ken Patterson and Bob Gilbreath harmonized as they sang "Goodnight Ladies."

Displaying their many talents Anel Douphrate, Pam Barber, Beth Thames, Carol Lancaster and Sandy Hall balanced as they formed "three Grecian urns and a fountain."

Stunned by a firecracker explosion, Sandy Hall was helped up by David Paulsen, Anel Douphrate and Carol Lancaster while the surprised townspeople looked on.

Singing of her new-found love, Cindy Hunt met Tony Reeder on the bridge.

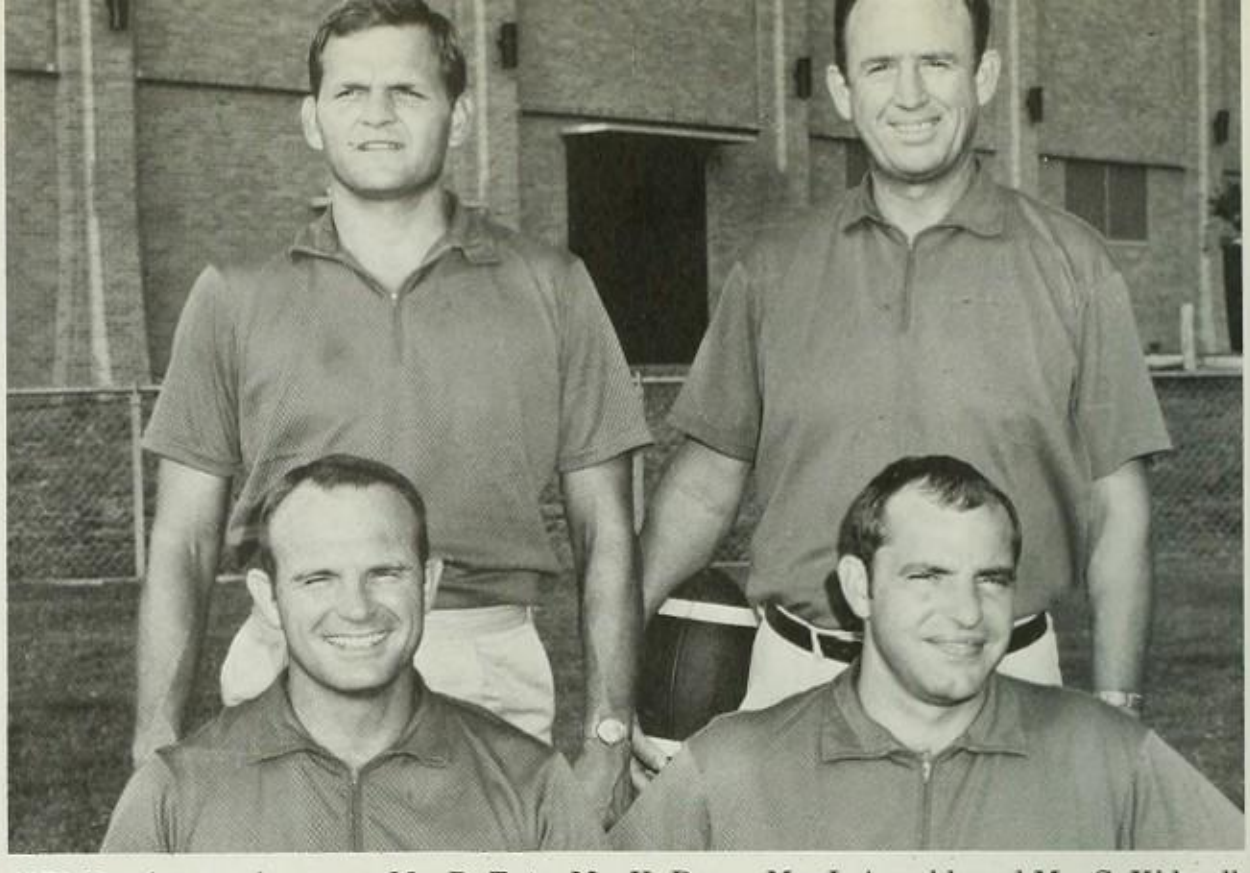
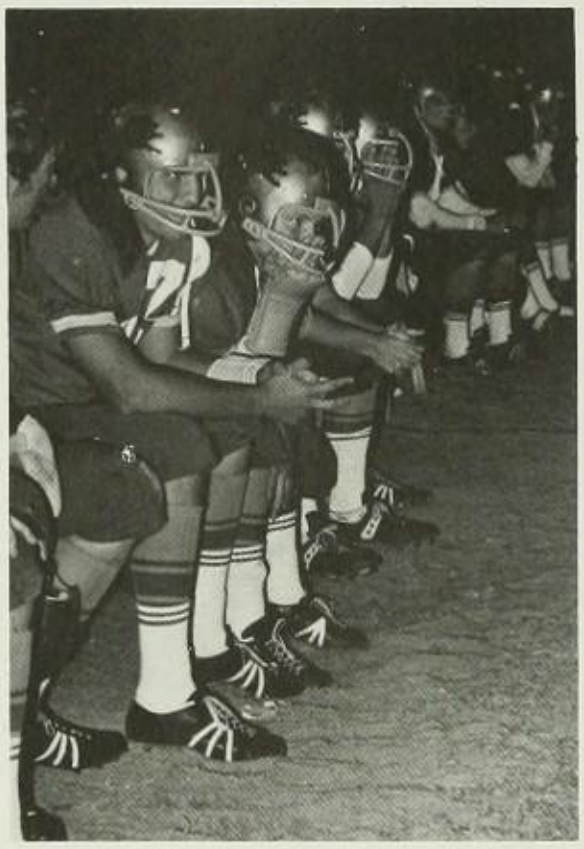
New Hopes Awakened In Summer

To the 1970 football players, the summer months of off season training meant hard work. Practicing early mornings and late evenings, athletes drilled on different signals, tactics and kicking techniques. With their great desire and ability, players made their ultimate goal to put R. L. Turner back on the football map of Texas.

An early change in the Lion's offense sent their opponents reeling from the power play. This, plus the effective execution of the "veer option" series, gave the Lions momentum enough to come back from a long slump. A superb defense helped by the lettermen of the previous year made it a rough road for the opposing offenses. With spirits high among coaches and players, the mighty R. L. Turner Lions set out in a three way district tie.



1970 Varsity coaches were Mr. D. Tate, Mr. K. Drew, Mr. J. Arnold, and Mr. C. Kidwell.

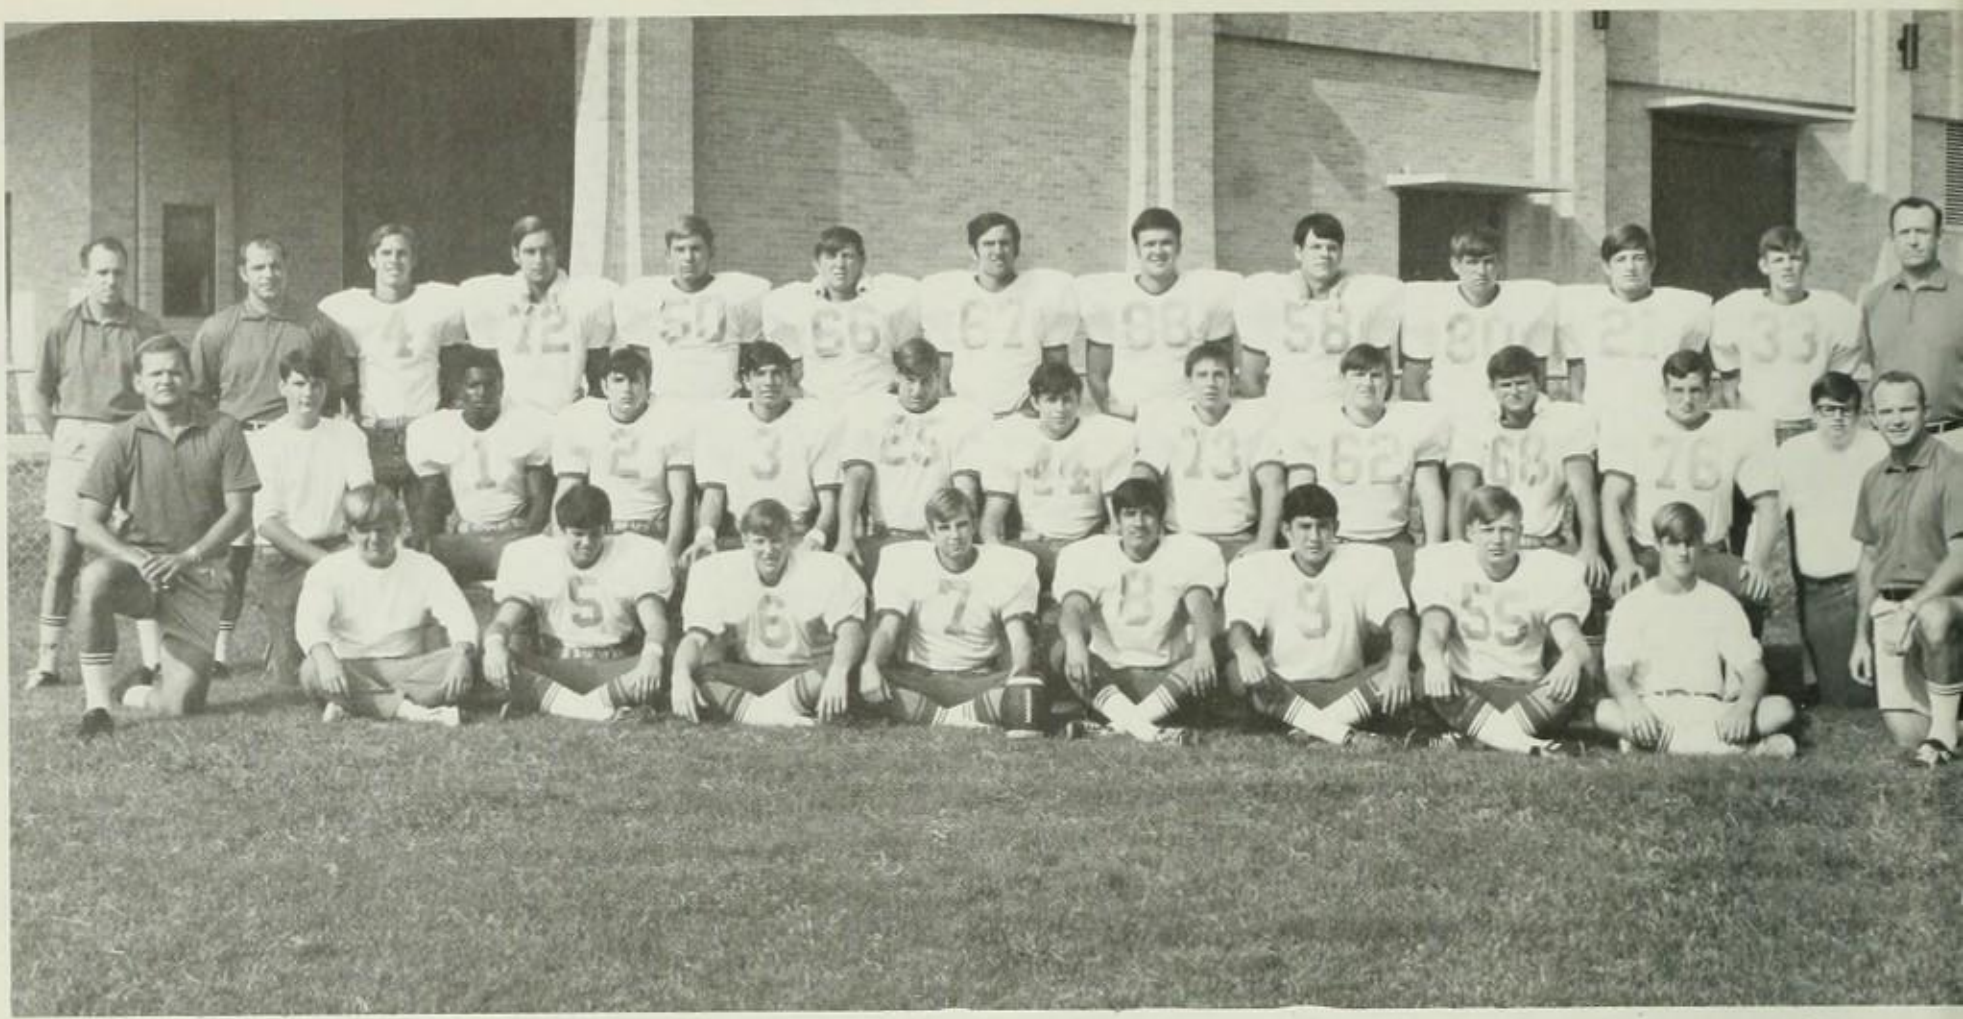


Varsity Lions were eager for a victory.

Only memories were left remaining.

Summer months were long and hard as the 1970 Varsity Lions practiced strenuously with Jim Arnold supervising their training.

Proud of a three-way tie for the 8-AAAA District title, the 1970 Varsity Lions consisted of the following players: Bottom, left to right: J. Smallwood, K. Moreland, R. MacDonald, C. McLane, D. Stevens, S. Forgue, T. Page, C. Carloy, T. Graham, B. Nelson, T. Abelino, L. DeLeon, M. Paulson, R. Spinks, M. Wyatt, S. Jarmon, S. Dzenowski, L. Dennison, R. Smith, J. Taylor, M. Almendarez, J. Bailey, D. Bagwell, R. Bell, T. O'Neill, T. Thompson, D. Baker, R. Hayes, S. Webb, D. Shafer, D. Joynes.



Ending their season in a three way district tie and carrying a 7-3 record, the R. L. Turner Varsity Lions had a successful year.

"This sport is enough to make one's very liver curl with excitement."

Plunging through the Richardson Eagles' line, Ricky McDonald helped gain yards.

Slow Start For Lions

Finding themselves unable to control the superb Thomas Jefferson Rebel offensive attack, R. L. Turner Lion defense was faced with a major test of skill in their first game.

The Rebels led most of the first half, 13-0, until Billy Kiser scored from the two yard line. In the second half, the Lions led for the first time, 14-13. The Rebels, however, scored a field goal late in the fourth quarter to defeat the Lions in the opening game of the season.

On broken play, Ricky Bell was stopped.

Desperately scrambling for the loose ball, the Rebels and Lions fought over a fumble.

With a devastating ground attack, Richardson Eagles swept past the Lions. Making four first downs and punting eight times during the night, Turner gained only eighty-four total yards compared with Richardson's 250 total yards during the game.

Throughout most of the game, Richardson controlled the ball to their advantage. Eagles made the only touchdown of the first half. Then, in the third quarter, Richardson scored twice while stopping Turner from scoring, ending the game, 21-0.

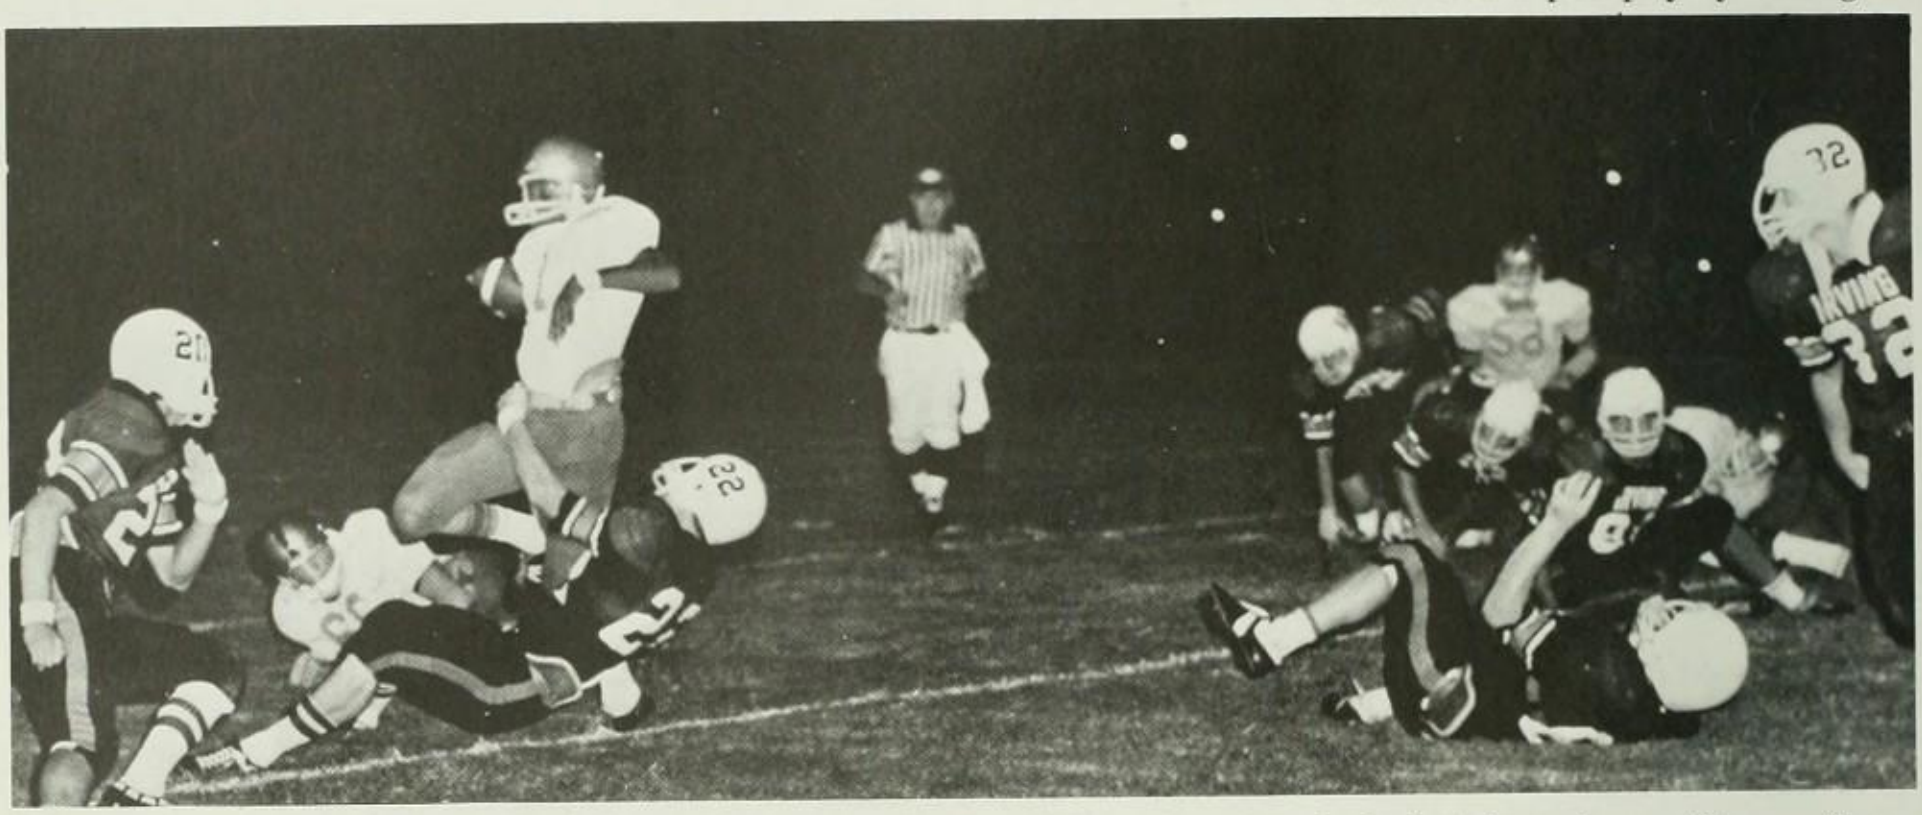
First Win Of Season

After being defeated two weeks in a row, the Lions were victorious against the Irving Tigers. The Lions took control of the game with Charlie Melane gaining a total of 109 yards.

Turner's defense allowed the Tigers only three plays in the first quarter. Meanwhile, a touchdown by Richard Smith and an extra point by Kerry Carloy gave the Lions their first seven points. During the second quarter, the Lions scored ten extra points; however, the Tigers scored six more points to make the score 17-6.

When Billy Kiser scored, the Lions increased their lead, 23-6. Finally, Mike Presley scored for Irving, making the final score 23-12.

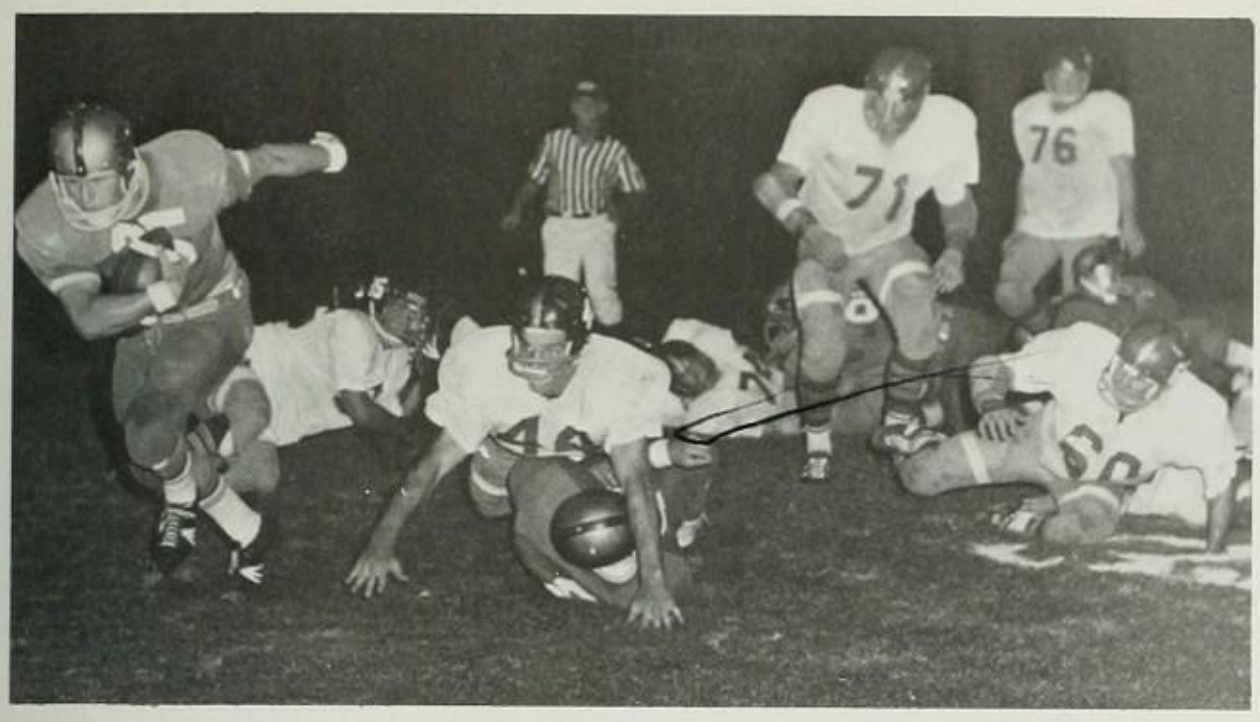
Lion defender leaped up to cover Irving receiver on a pass play by the Tigers.



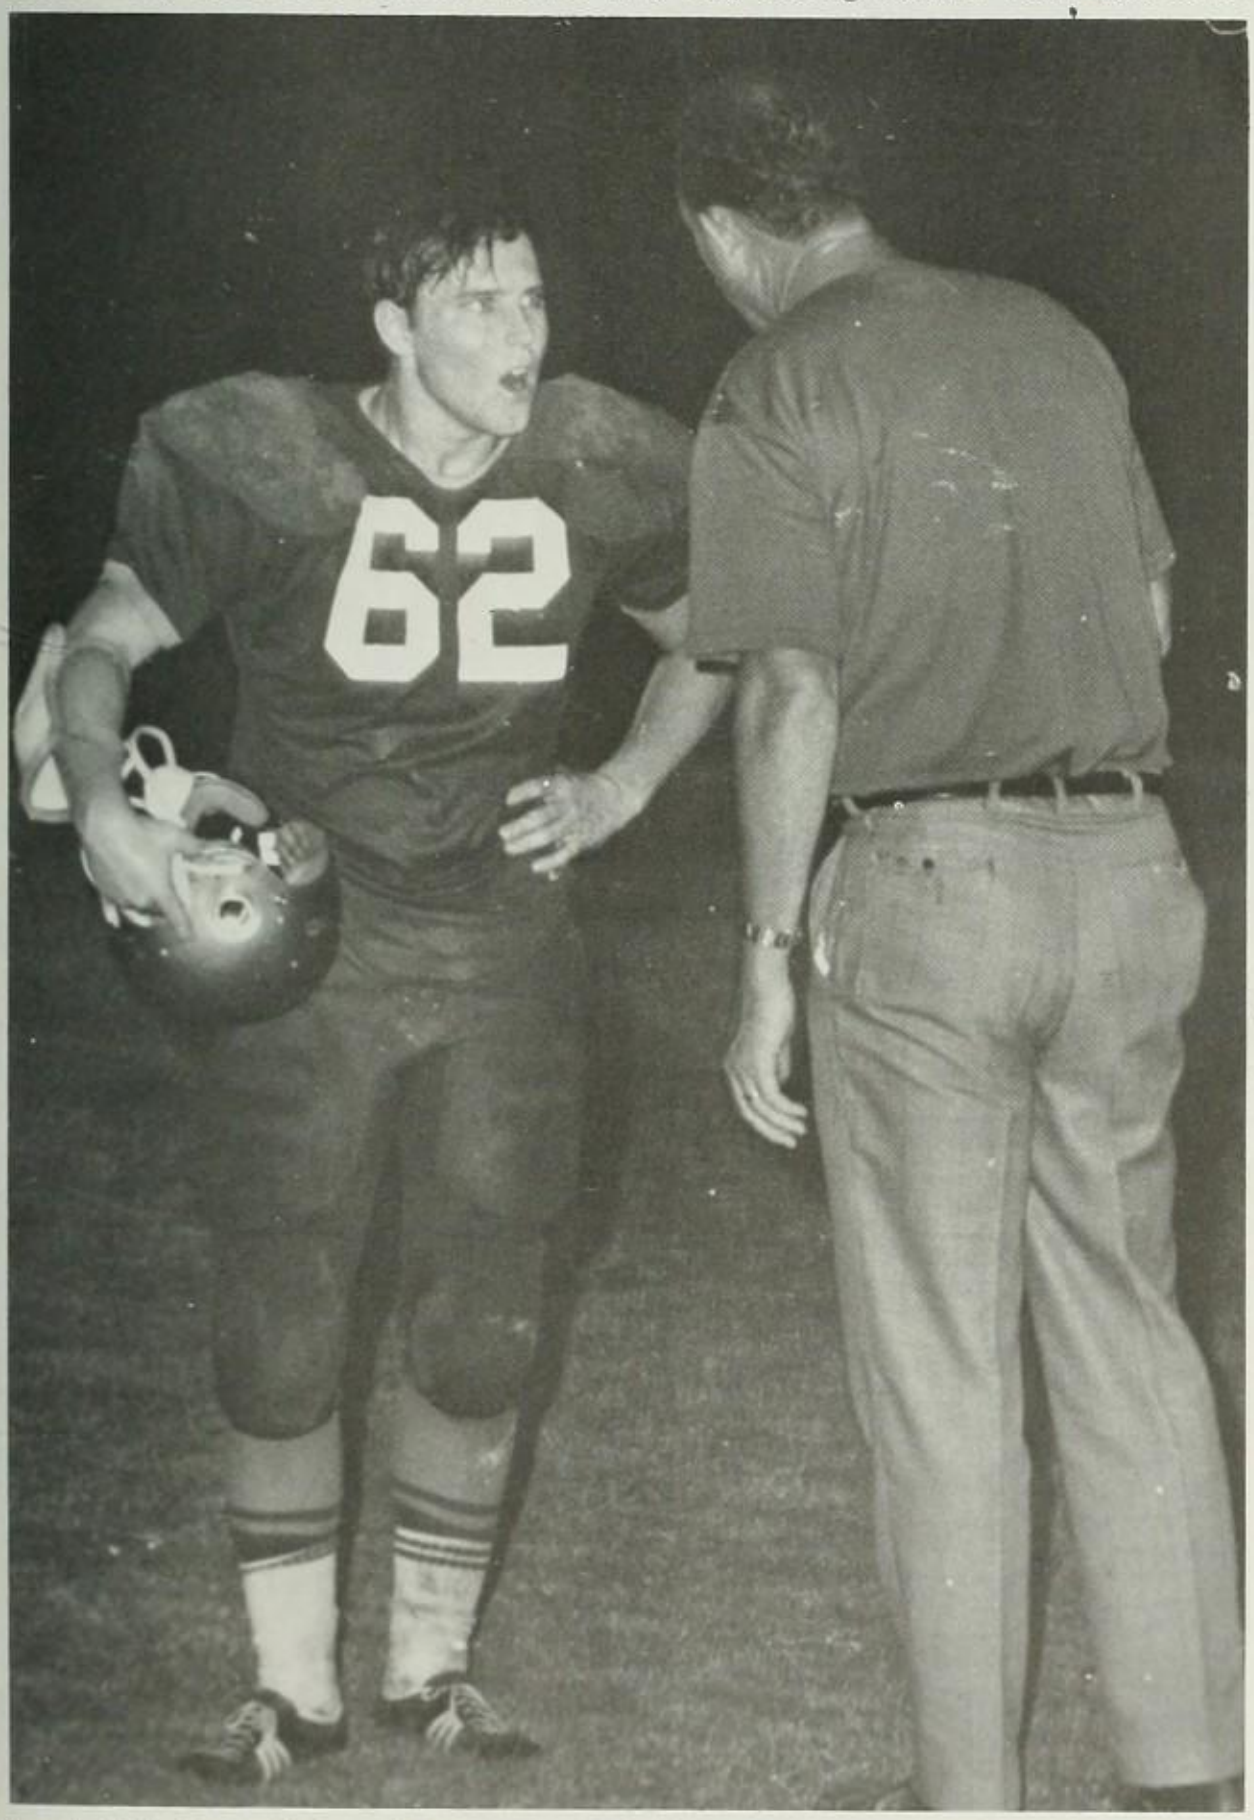
Provided with protection from blockers, Charlie McLane went around right end to show the Irving Tigers the new Turner offense.

Scoring the first touchdown, Richard Smith ran past the fierce Tiger linebackers.

Kiser broke through Tiger defenders.



Senior Billy Kiser left tacklers behind in a run, scoring another Lion touchdown.



Coach Kirk Drew discussed a controversial play with Senior Lion Steve Dzenowski.

Lions Over Spartans

Rushing for 191 yards, R. L. Turner Lions scored seventeen points to upset the Samuell Spartans' power attack.

Three fumbles were lost and only 125 total yards were gained by the Spartans against a tough Lion defense. Billy Kiser intercepted three passes during the game, while other Lions were able to intercept two more passes, creating a most effective pass defense.

Toward the end of the first period, Billy Kiser went thirty five yards for the first Lion touchdown. Kerry Carloy's kick made the score stand 7-0. At the start of the second period, Charlie McLane sped around right end for eighteen yards and a touchdown. With Carloy's soccer-style field goal, the scoring ended a Lion victory 17-0.

Before being tackled, tailback Charlie McLane gained needed yardage.

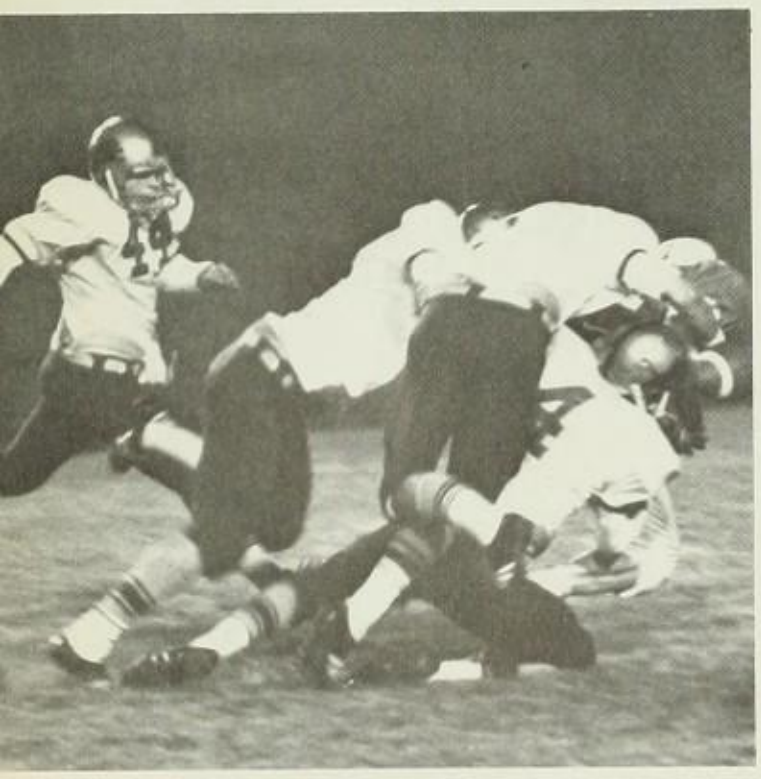
Two defensive Lion players converged on a fumbled punt, anxious to make as much yardage as possible before being brought down.

Mistakes Damaging

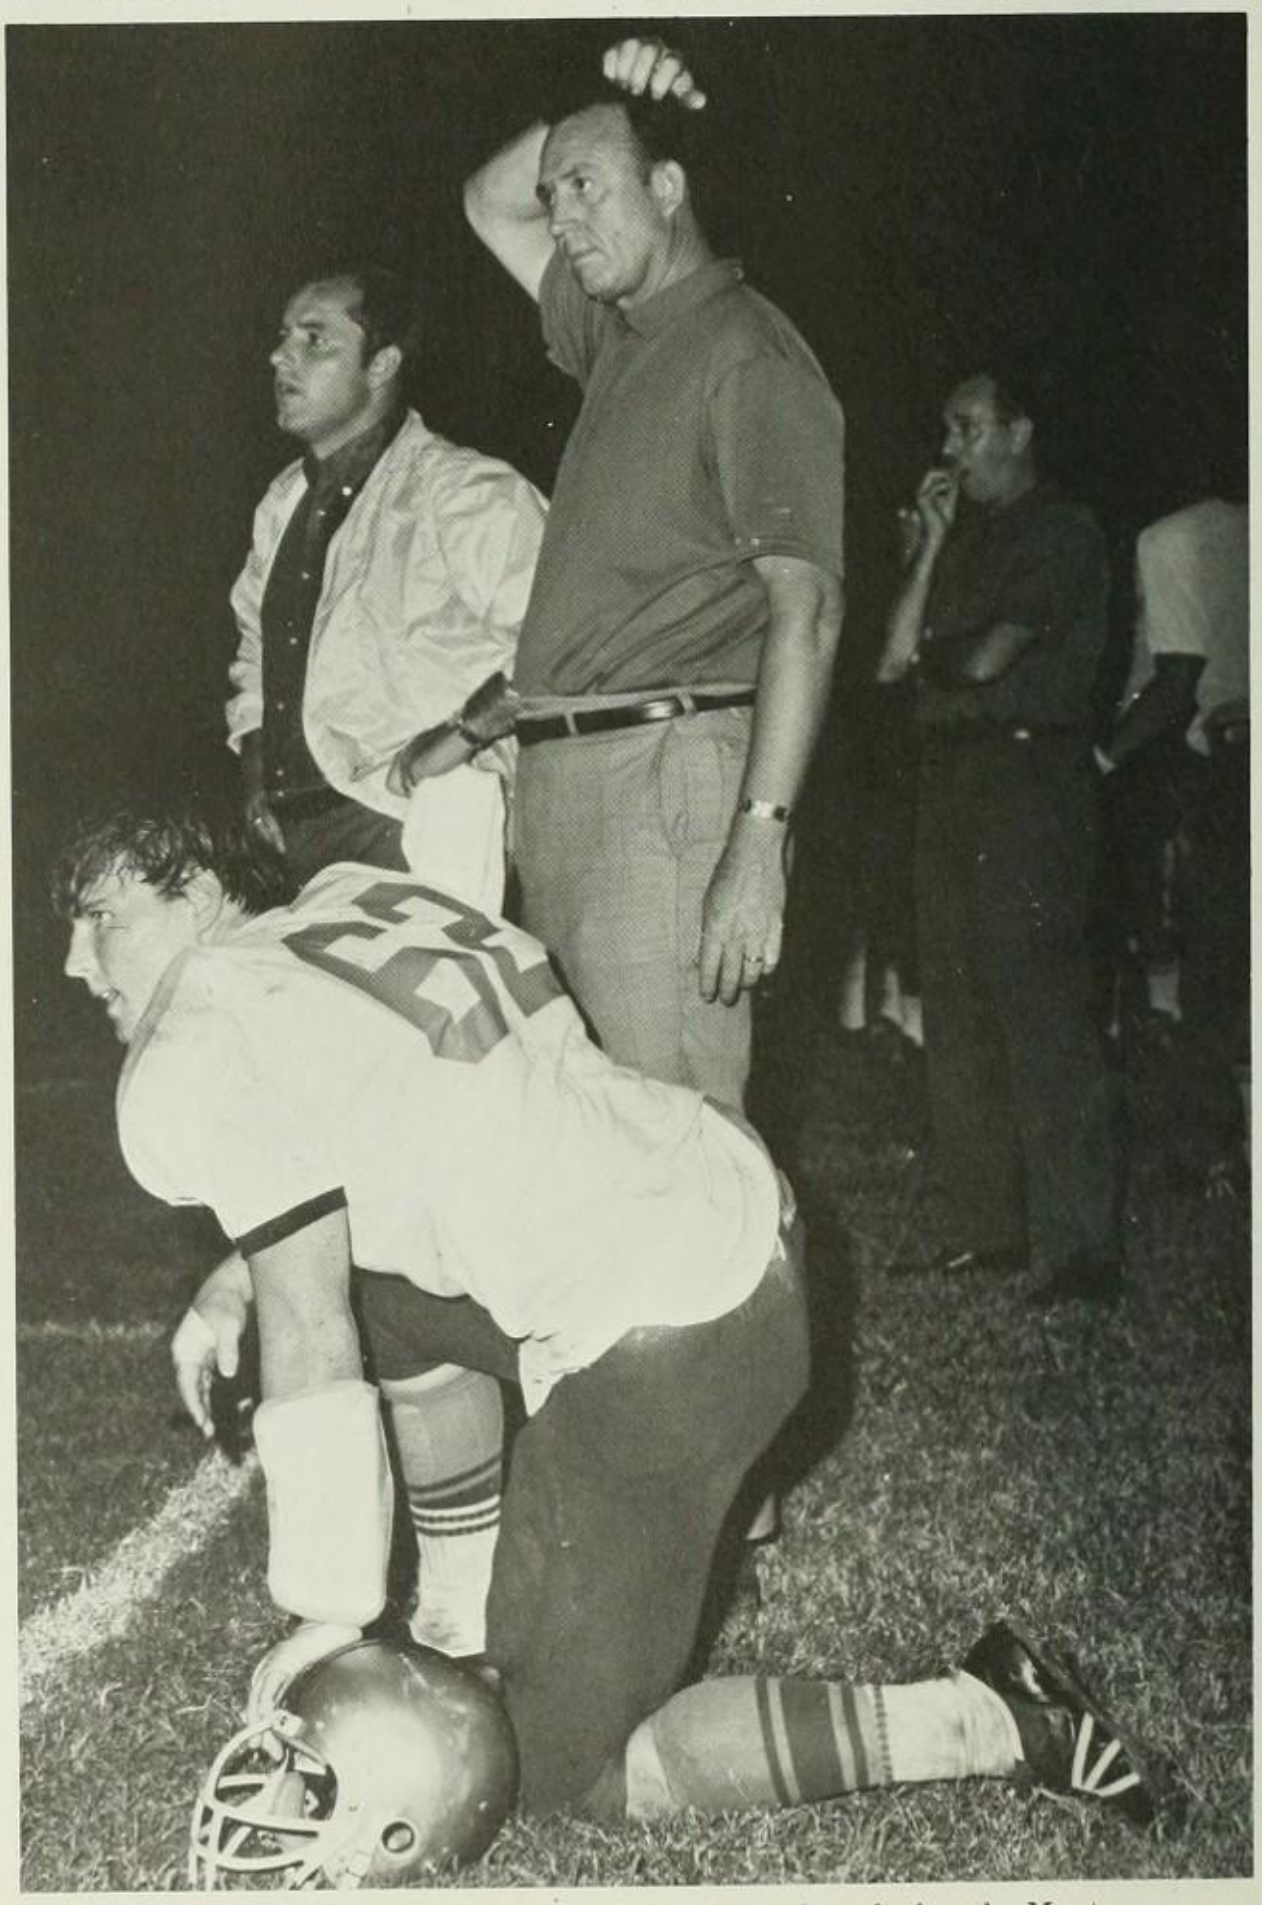
Lubbock Monterey capitalized on Lion miscues and mistakes to win over Turner, 14-7, on October 9, at Lubbock.

Scoring Turners' only touchdown, Billy Kiser bounded across the goal line, ending a sixty yard drive in eight plays. Then, with an extra point by Kerry Carloy, the score stood 7-0 at the end of the first half.

Later, Monterey struck back tying the score 7-7. Near the end of the game, Monterey scored a last touchdown ending the scoring, with a 14-7 tally.

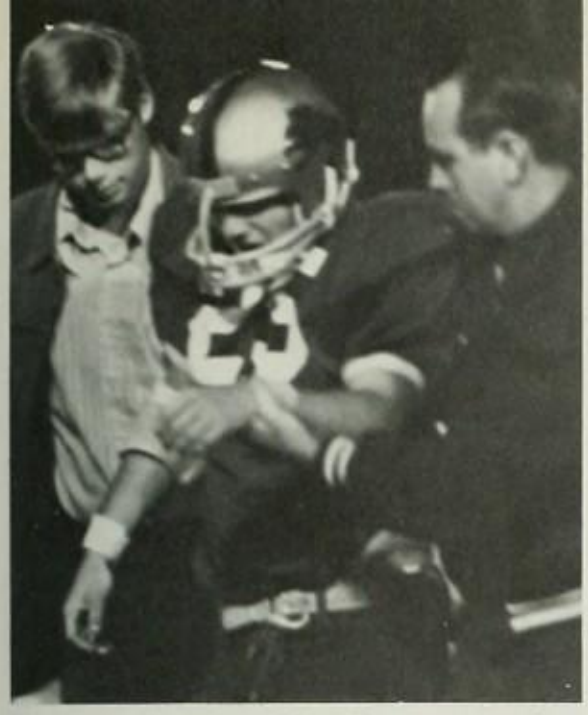


The Lions tackled Lubbock Plainsman.



Guard Steve Dzenowski waited impatiently between plays during the Monterey game.

Stallions Overpowered



Kiser suffered a shoulder separation.

Welcoming North Mesquite into the 1970 District 8-AAAA competition, the Lions ended a three year shut-out in district play with a rewarding victory over the Stallions.

Although the Lions dominated the first quarter with an aggressive defense and determined offense, Stallions controlled most of the second, edging the Lions 7-0 in the final moments of the first half.

During the second half, the Lions were able to score three times with an interception, a Stallion fumble and a recovery of an onside kick. Finally, with a twenty-seven yard field goal, Kerry Carloy added three extra points ending the game with a 24-7 victory for the Lions.

Wingback Billy Kiser found himself surrounded by the North Mesquite Stallion defenders on his cut during a wide end sweep play.

During the North Mesquite game, Jeff Smallwood awaited the next offensive play.

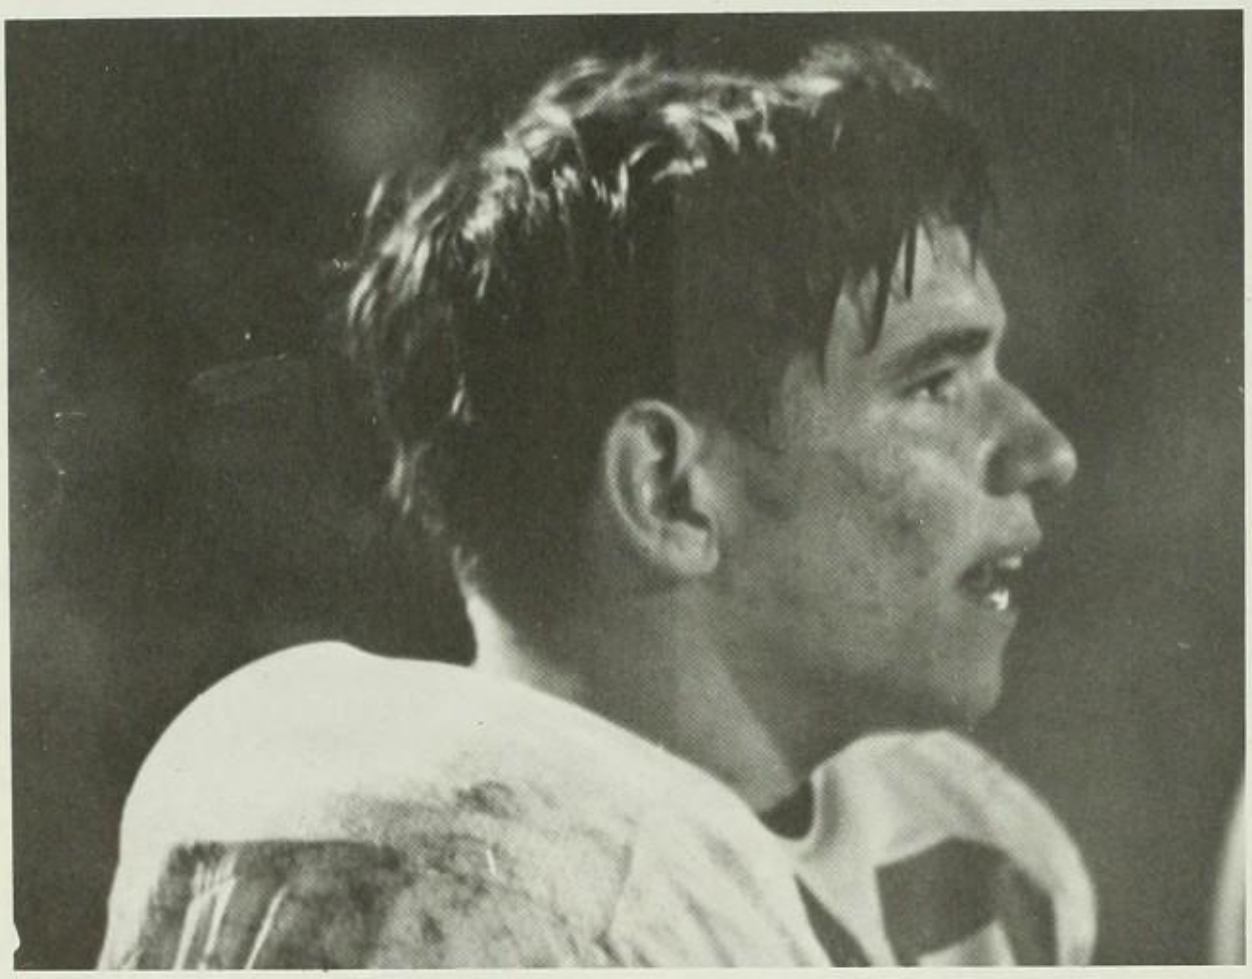
Coaches Drew and Kidwell discussed the crucial plays during the game.

Costly Errors

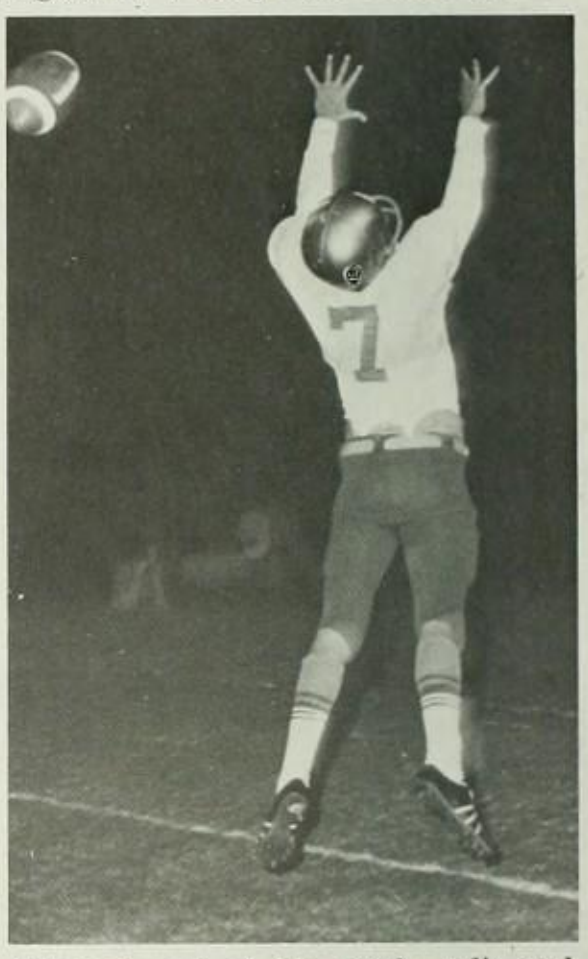
Defeated 27-17 by the Garland Owls, the Lions learned a lesson they would not forget.

Turner scored the only touchdown on a long ground gainer in the first half. Then, Garland came back in the second half with a quick twenty-seven points against Turner's inadequate ten ending the game, Owls 27, Turner 17 for a costly, long remembered defeat.

Place kicker Kerry Carloy put up another field goal for a badly needed three points.



At the start of a long drive, Thomas Graham waited anxiously for his next play call.



Although out of his reach, split end John Taylor stretched for a long pass.

"Don't ever waste time regretting errors. Just don't forget them."

William Faulkner

On an end run, Charlie McLane gained important yardage necessary for the first down.

Broncos Defeated

Adding to the impressive Homecoming festivities, R. L. Turner fighting Lions were victorious in the first homecoming game in four years by overpowering Denton, 25-0.

After being sidelined for two weeks with a shoulder injury, Billy Kiser went into the game early in the second quarter. Turner's first touchdown came on a forty yard run by Senior tailback Kiser, then, after Kerry Carloy kicked the extra point, the score stood, 7-0. At the start of the second quarter, Ricky McDonald scored on a sweep, with Carloy adding another point with the conversion. Finally, with two more scoring passes to Richard Smith and Bobby Nelson, Turner scored fourteen more points, ending a one-sided game, 35-0.

In the end zone, Junior Richard Smith caught a pass adding another six points.

Anxious Lionettes greeted the R. L. Turner Lions as they ran onto the playing field.

Gaining enough yardage for a Lion first down, Bobby Nelson continued in a drive to give the Lions six more points at Homecoming.

Another Lion Victory

Rushing 326 yards in the conquest of Mesquite Skeeters, the Lions gained a foothold into 8-AAAA District play.

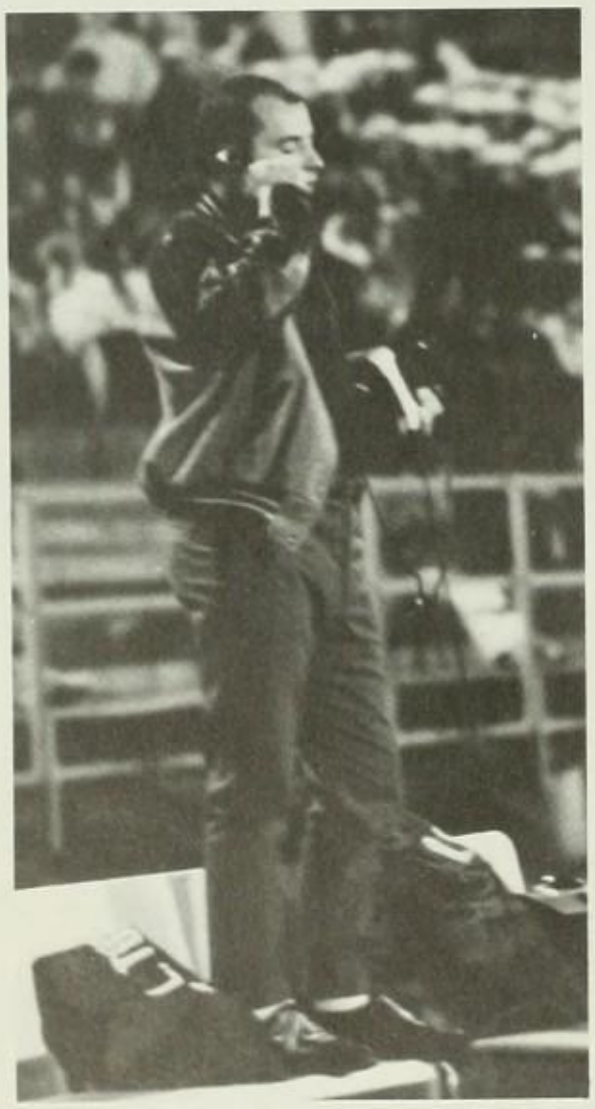
Mesquite opened the scoring in the first quarter with a twenty-seven yard field goal. Then, on the reverse play, fullback Mike Paulson raced forty-five yards for the Lions' first touchdown. Kerry Carloy converted the extra point pushing Turner ahead of Mesquite, 7-3.

In the second quarter, Mesquite added three more points. Soon afterwards, Ricky Bell pitched to Charlie McLane who ran fifty-eight yards for another touchdown. With Carloy's kick, the score stood 14-7. Two minutes later, Bell completed a sixty-yard pass to wingback Richard Smith which ended halftime with the score 20-6.

Early in the third quarter, Billy Kiser capped a forty-five yard drive with a ten-yard run. Then, with the conversion play Turner scored their last point.

Tough Lion defenders forced Mesquite to abandon their "option" game plan to play "catch up" football. Finally, late in the fourth period, Mesquite scored another touchdown, but still lost the game, 27-12.

Smashing past Mesquite defenders, Billy Kiser stretched for the first down.



Line Coach Charles Kidwell spoke with the press box about the previous play.

"... you just want to be on the side that's winning ..."

Bob Dylan

Although caught pass interfering, Mike Paulson successfully prevented a touchdown.

Attempting to evade a Highland Park defender, Billy Kiser ran toward the sideline.

Following his blocking on a sweep pattern, Charlie McLane gained seven needed yards.

Three-Way Stalemate For District

Although previously unbeaten, Highland Park Scots were devastated by Turner in their last district game of the season. This win gave Turner, Highland Park and Garland a four win-one loss district record. Then by the toss of a coin, Highland Park was decided winner of district title of 1970.

During the first half, Turner capitalized on an interception, two Scot fumbles and a blocked punt to end halftime, 24-3.

With the start of the second half, Highland Park fumbled on their own twenty-two yard line, enabling Turner to score their final touchdown of the game.

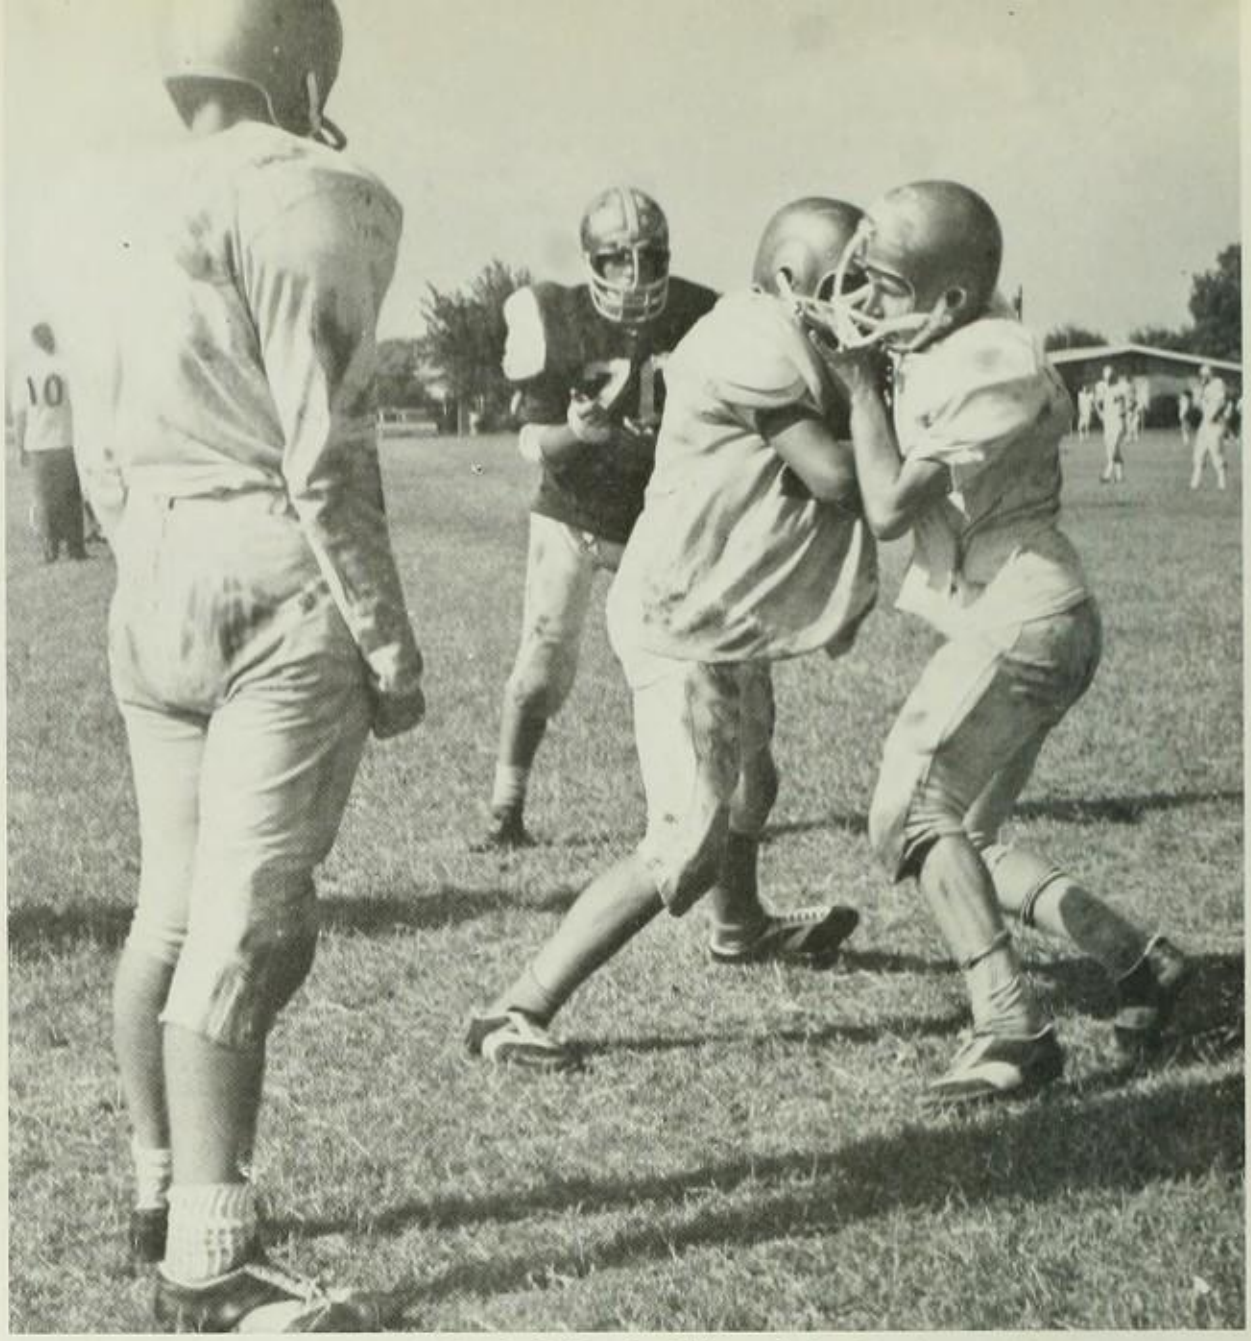
In the last moments of the fourth quarter, Highland Park ended the scoring in favor of Turner, 31-9, when they drove eighty yards for their first and only touchdown in the game.

Football Sweetheart and Lion of the Year were Linda Lewis and Billy Kiser.

Discussing first half mistakes, Coach Tate planned strategy for the remaining half.

B-Team, Freshmen, Promising

In a promising year, the Freshman Blue team completed their season with a record of four wins and five losses. Freshman White team won two games, lost five and tied one. Both teams showed great promise for the next year.



Summer workouts sharpened the individual ability of the Freshman football players.

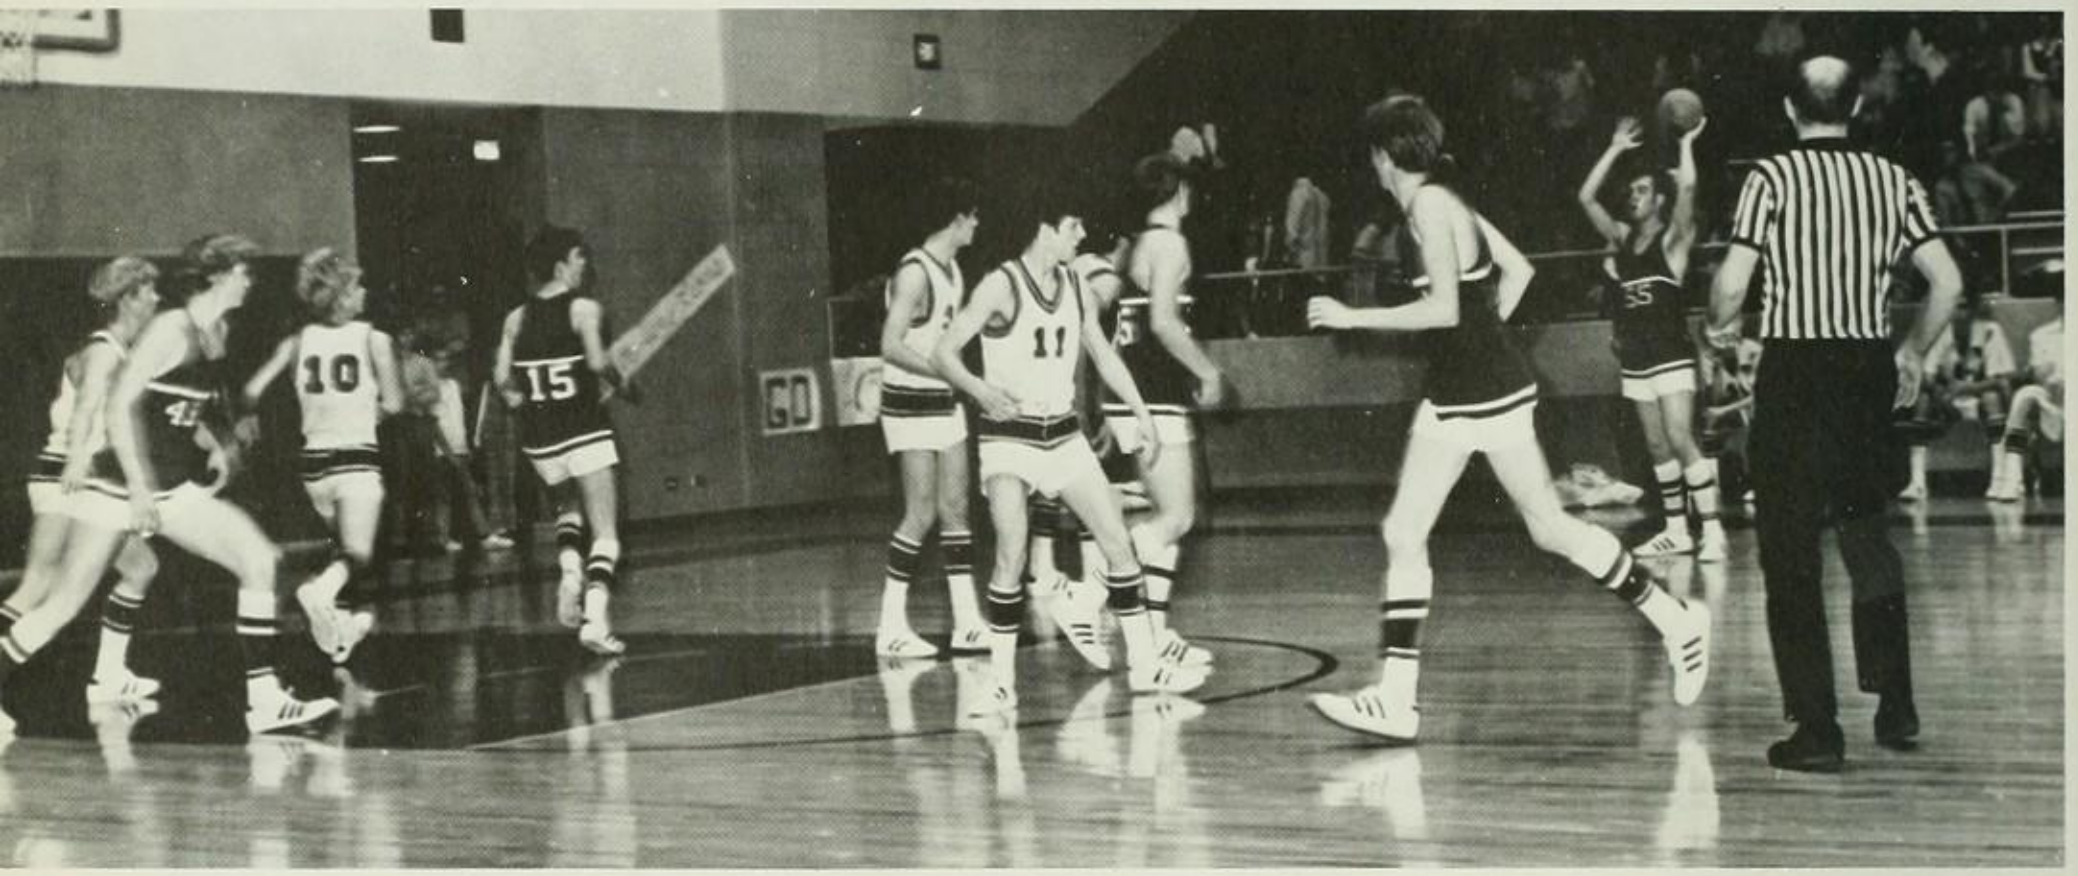
Facing Uncertainty

With two returning lettermen, the Lions faced an uncertain year with a relatively unexperienced team. Having only ability and desire to their advantage, the Cagers were still able to complete a successful year with a record of twenty wins and eleven losses. In his fourth year of coaching at Turner, J. D. Menasco molded the Lions into a winning team.

Although the Cagers were eliminated from district play, excitement and enthusiasm still ran high among players and fans. With a victorious B-Team and a promising Varsity, high goals and expectations were set for the approaching year.

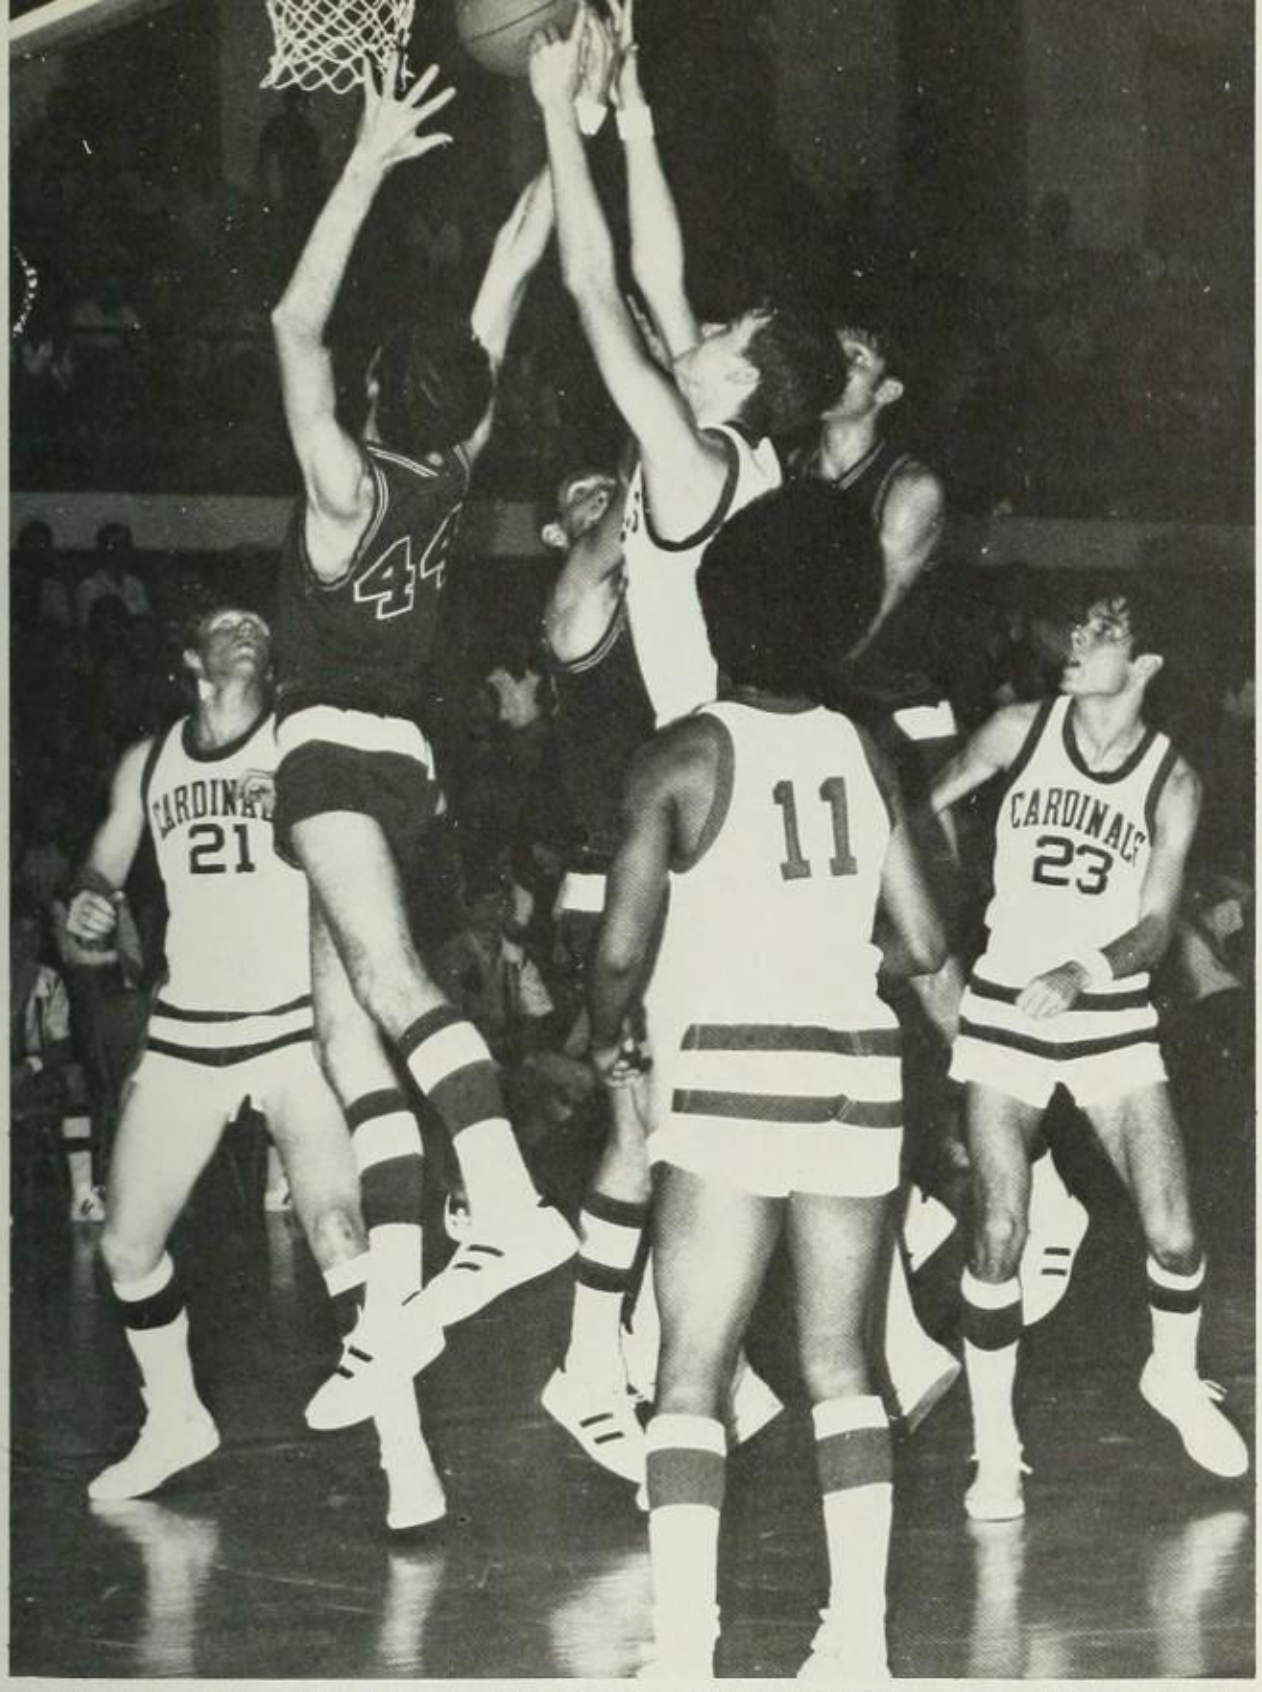
Anticipating another victory, Coaches Menasco and Evans watched the action.



North Mesquite ran into trouble as the Lion Cagers succeeded in guarding the basket and keeping them from scoring two points.

Consisting of David Burkes, Coach Evans, Danny Bristow, Phil Houser, John Marron, Tom Paulsen, Terry Pettijohn, Mike Breeding, Ray King, Jimmy Murphy, Fred Johnson, Donnie Marchant, Butch Berry, Ricky Menasco, Steve Hickman, Coach Menasco and Ken Whelan, the Basketball Team completed the year with a 20 win-11 loss record.

Chosen as Basketball Sweetheart, Nancy Bristor helped promote spirit.



Jump shots were often tipped off course by Mike Breeding causing Owl confusion.

Looking for an open spot in Owl defense, Terry Pettijohn was surrounded.

". . . without victory there is no survival."

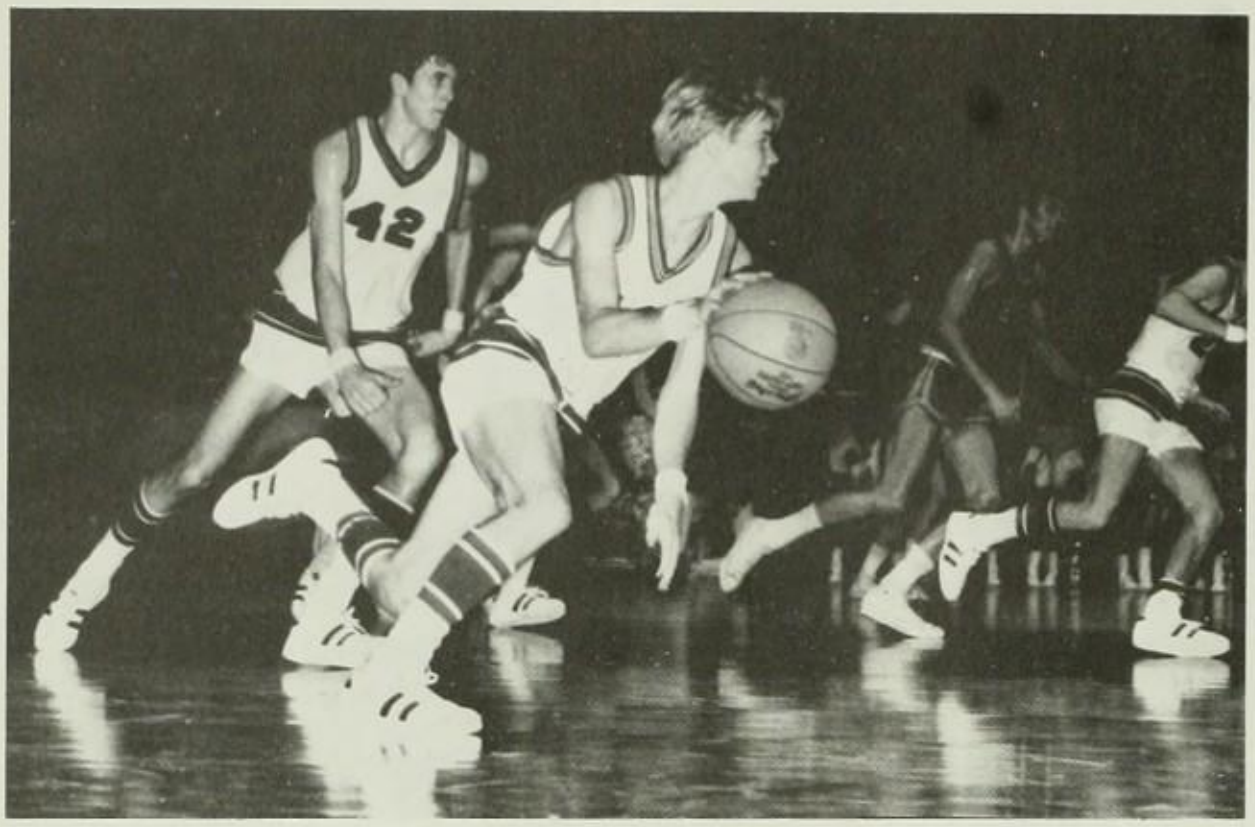
Hopeful Preseason



Teamwork, coordination and speed were vital parts of the Lion Cagers offense.

Watching the team members, Jimmy Murphy attempted to set up a play.

Excellent defensive plays boasted of many hours of work, practice and drill.

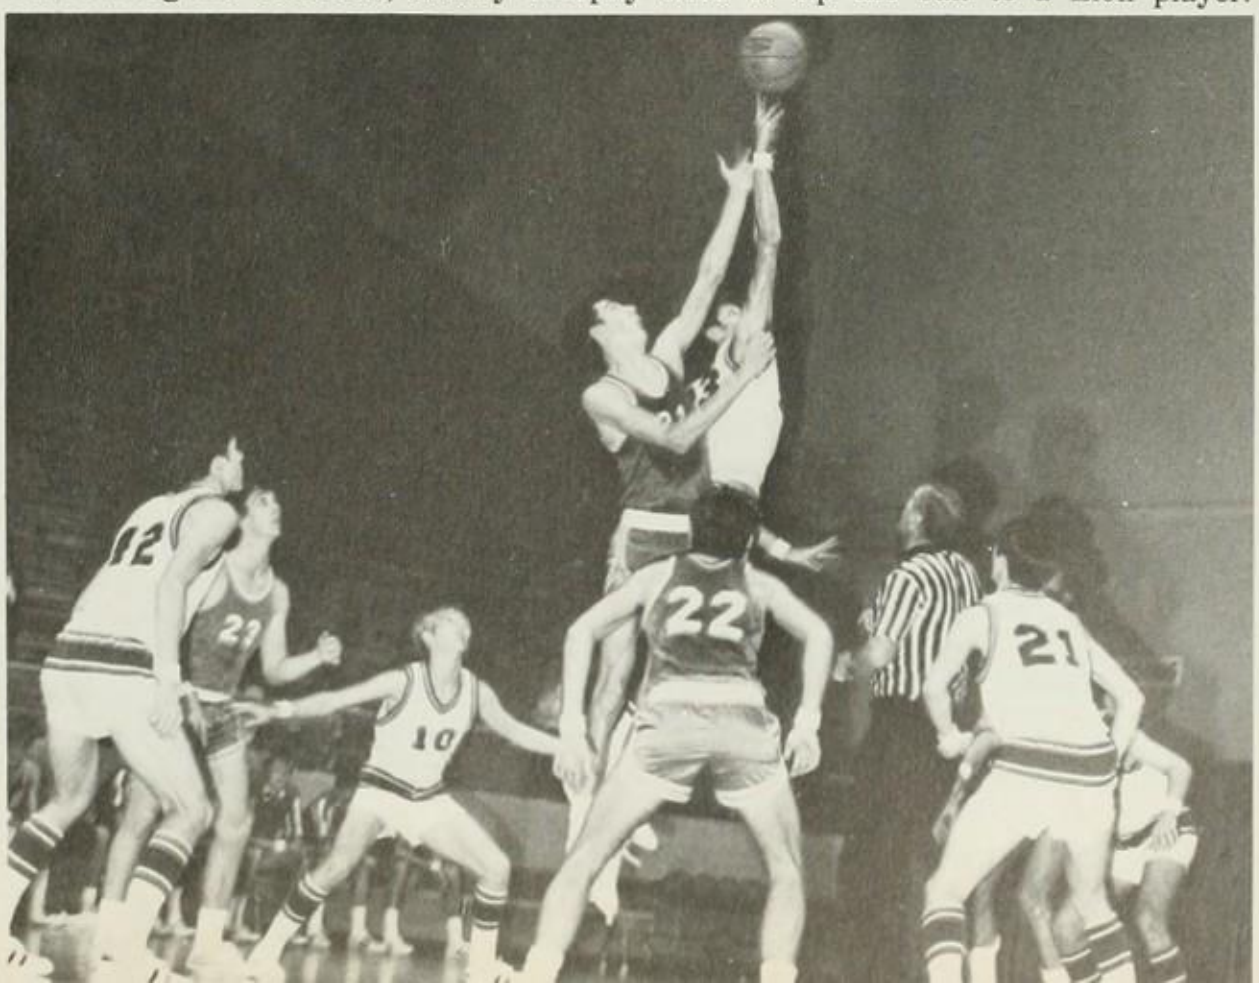
Unusual circumstances and occurrences often arose during games causing the Lion Cagers to go head over heels for a loose ball.

the Lions gain valuable experience.

Halftime routines of Blue Belles held varying degrees of attention among the fans.

Outreaching his defender, Jimmy Murphy tried to tip the ball to a Lion player.

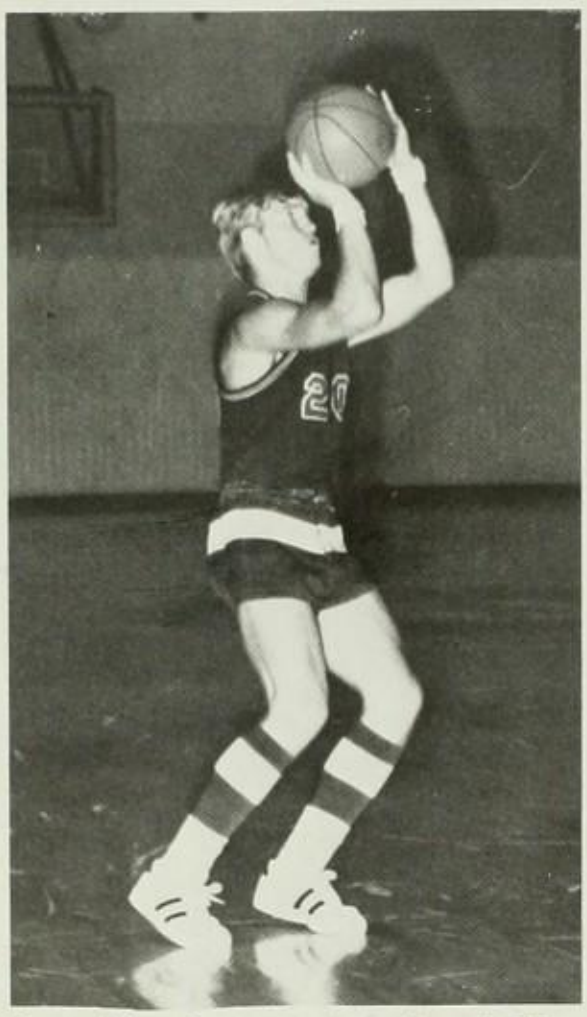


Preseason Assuring

Early in the year, the Lion Cagers started a campaign to keep Turner in the state contenders bracket. With a slow start on tournament play, the Lions gained valuable experience and needed teamwork. Once into regular season, the Lions had a rough schedule for a young team with only two lettermen with game experience returning from previous years.

Ending the first half of district play two games down, the Lion Cagers still had a chance to win district. However, with a decisive game lost to the Broncos, the Lions had to abandon hope for a return to Austin to play in State Finals.

Experience in ball handling helped



In position for a set shot, Donnie Marchant aimed for the Lions' goal.

Outracing a Cardinal defender, Terry Pettijohn moved in to set up a play.

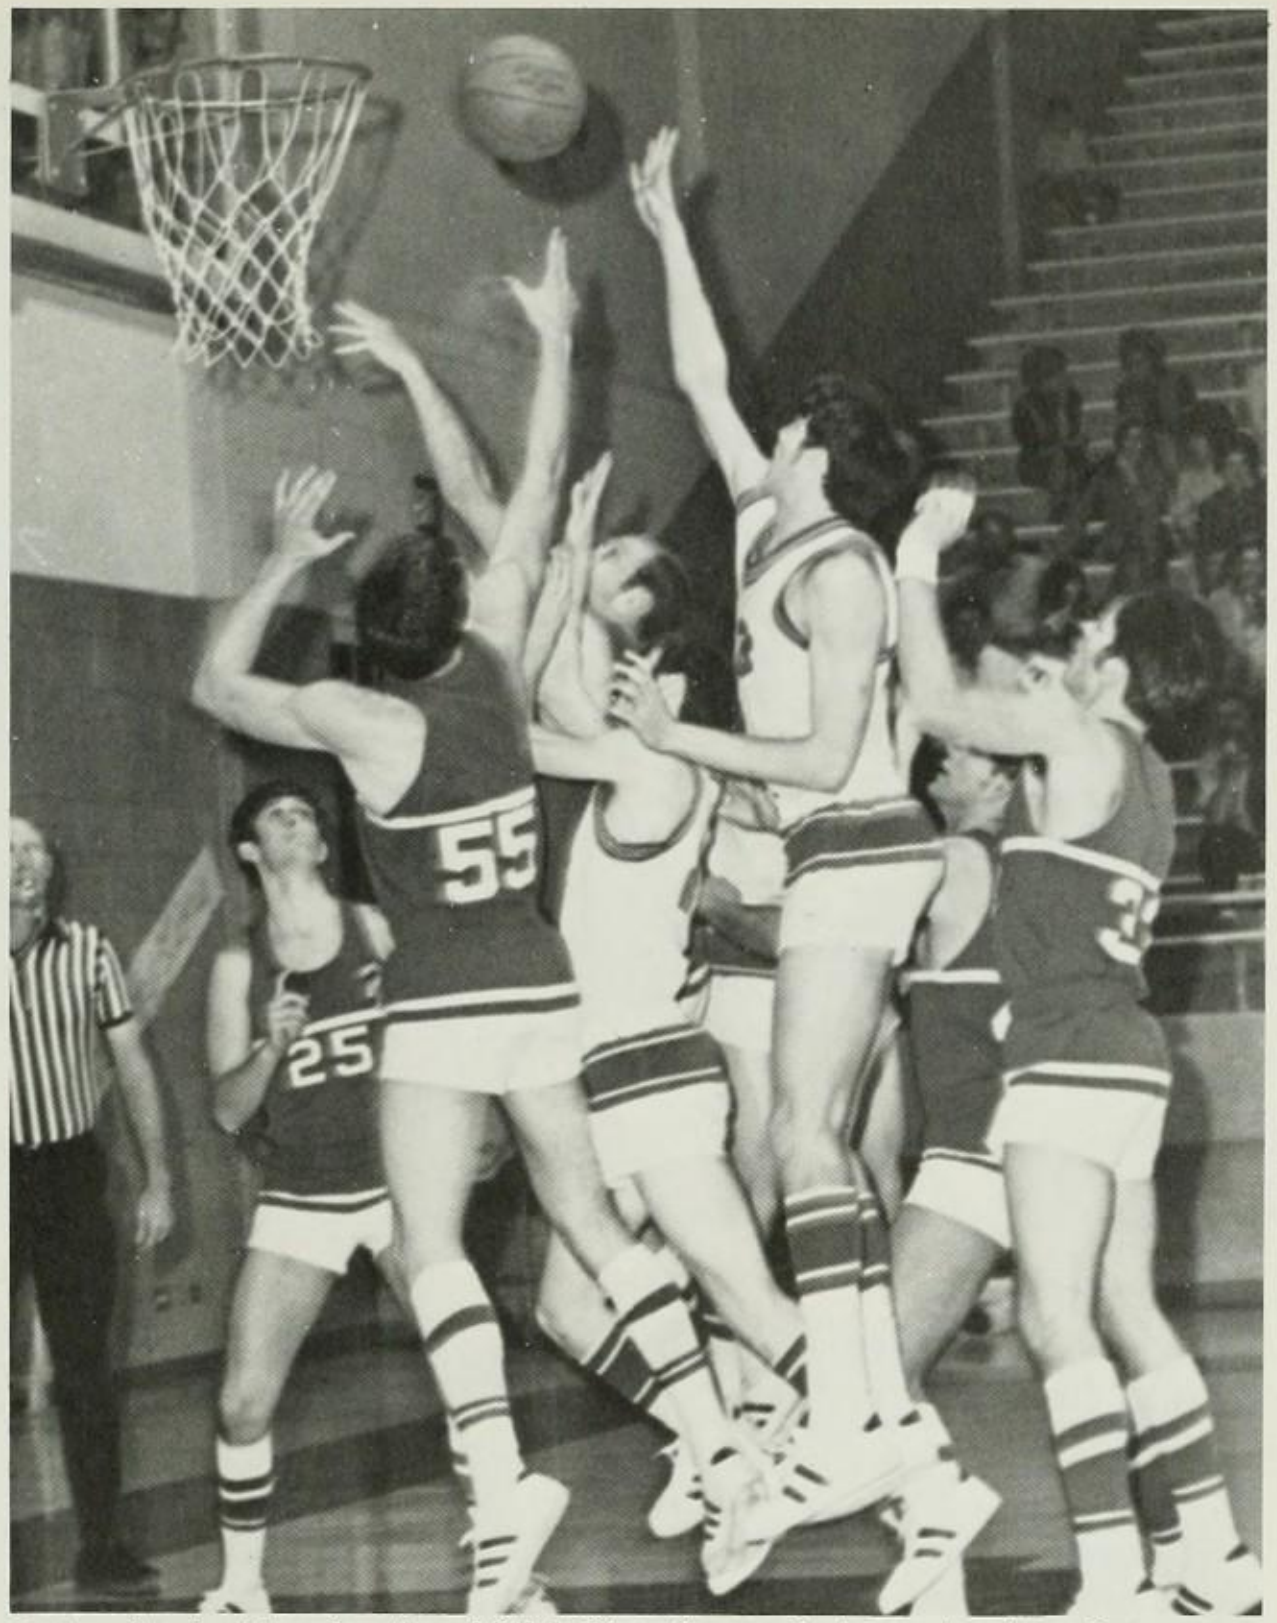
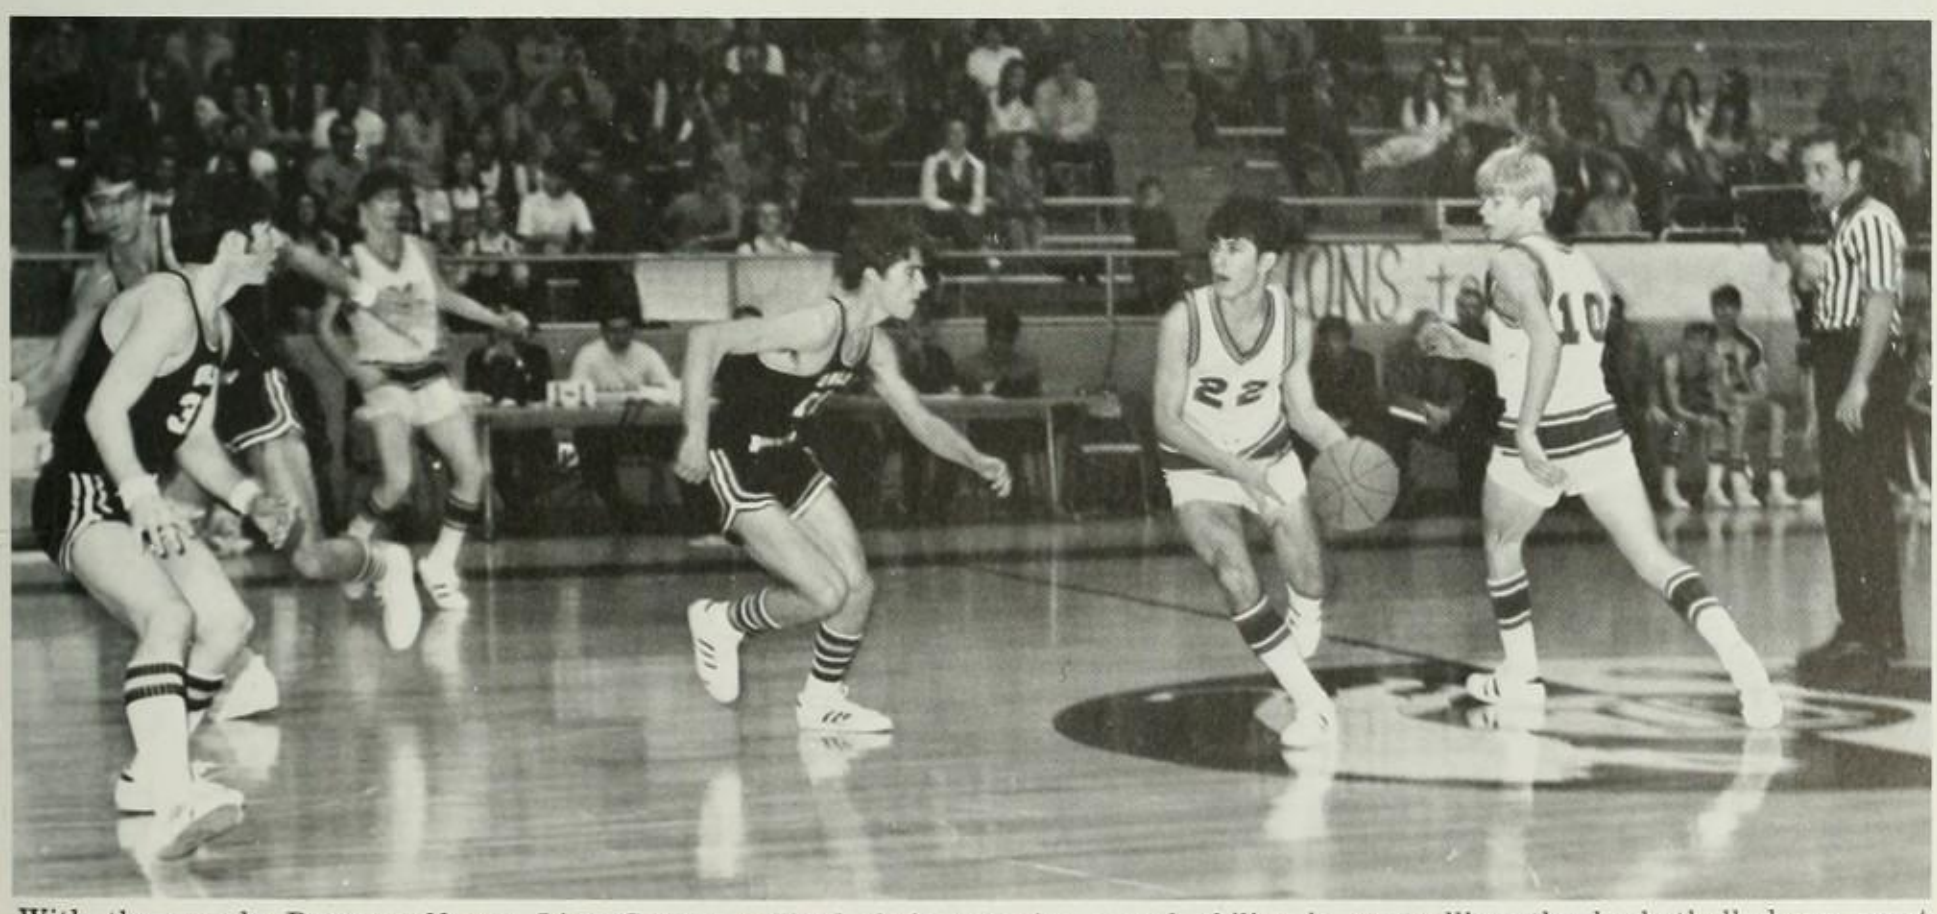
* Tournament Games

the Lions bring the ball down court.

Coach J. D. Menasco often commented on the coming game to the students.



Under the backboards, the skillful Lion Cagers had great rebounding power.



With the speedy Bronco offense, Lion Cagers utilized their experience and ability in controlling the basketball down court.

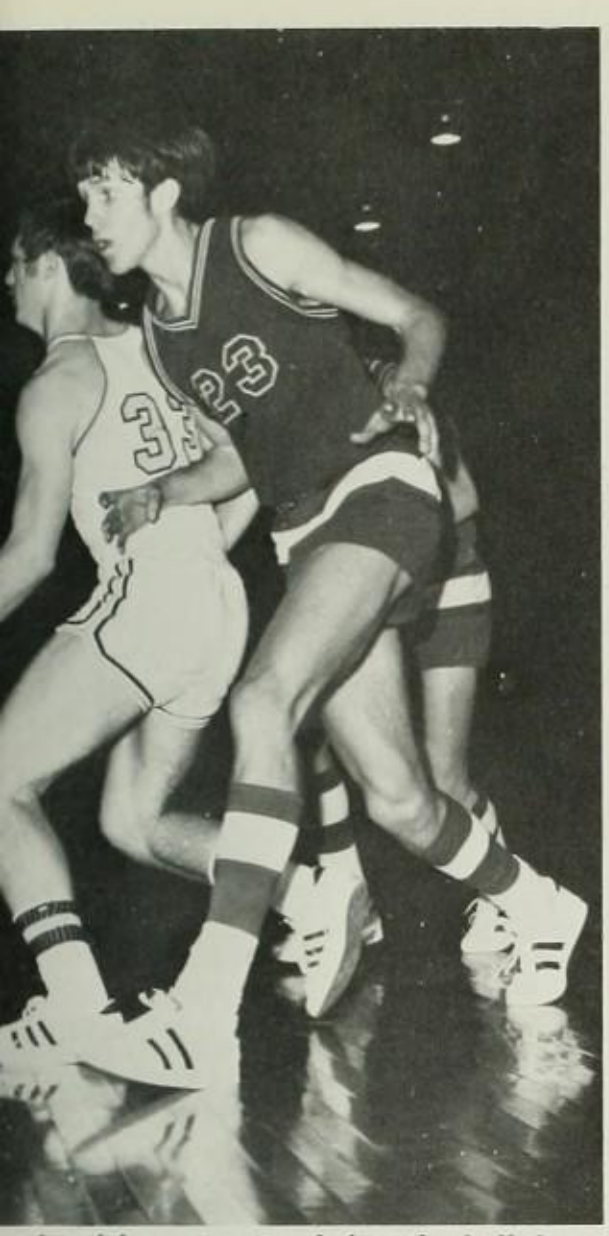
One Step Toward District

Determination started Turner on a rampage as they romped the Denton Broncos, 60-45. With their reputation as state finalists at stake, the Cagers played a decisive game, assuring that the Lions were still a superior team in competition for the district title. With complete domination during the entire game, Turner proved to be too much for the unsuspecting Broncos to handle. Lions' valuable experience enabled them to coordinate an effective offense and defense to defeat Denton.

Through skillful movements, Ricky Menasco was able to evade a Denton defender.

Before surprised Denton guards could stop a Turner basket, Jimmy Murphy leaped to gain another two points for the Lions.

Rivalry In District

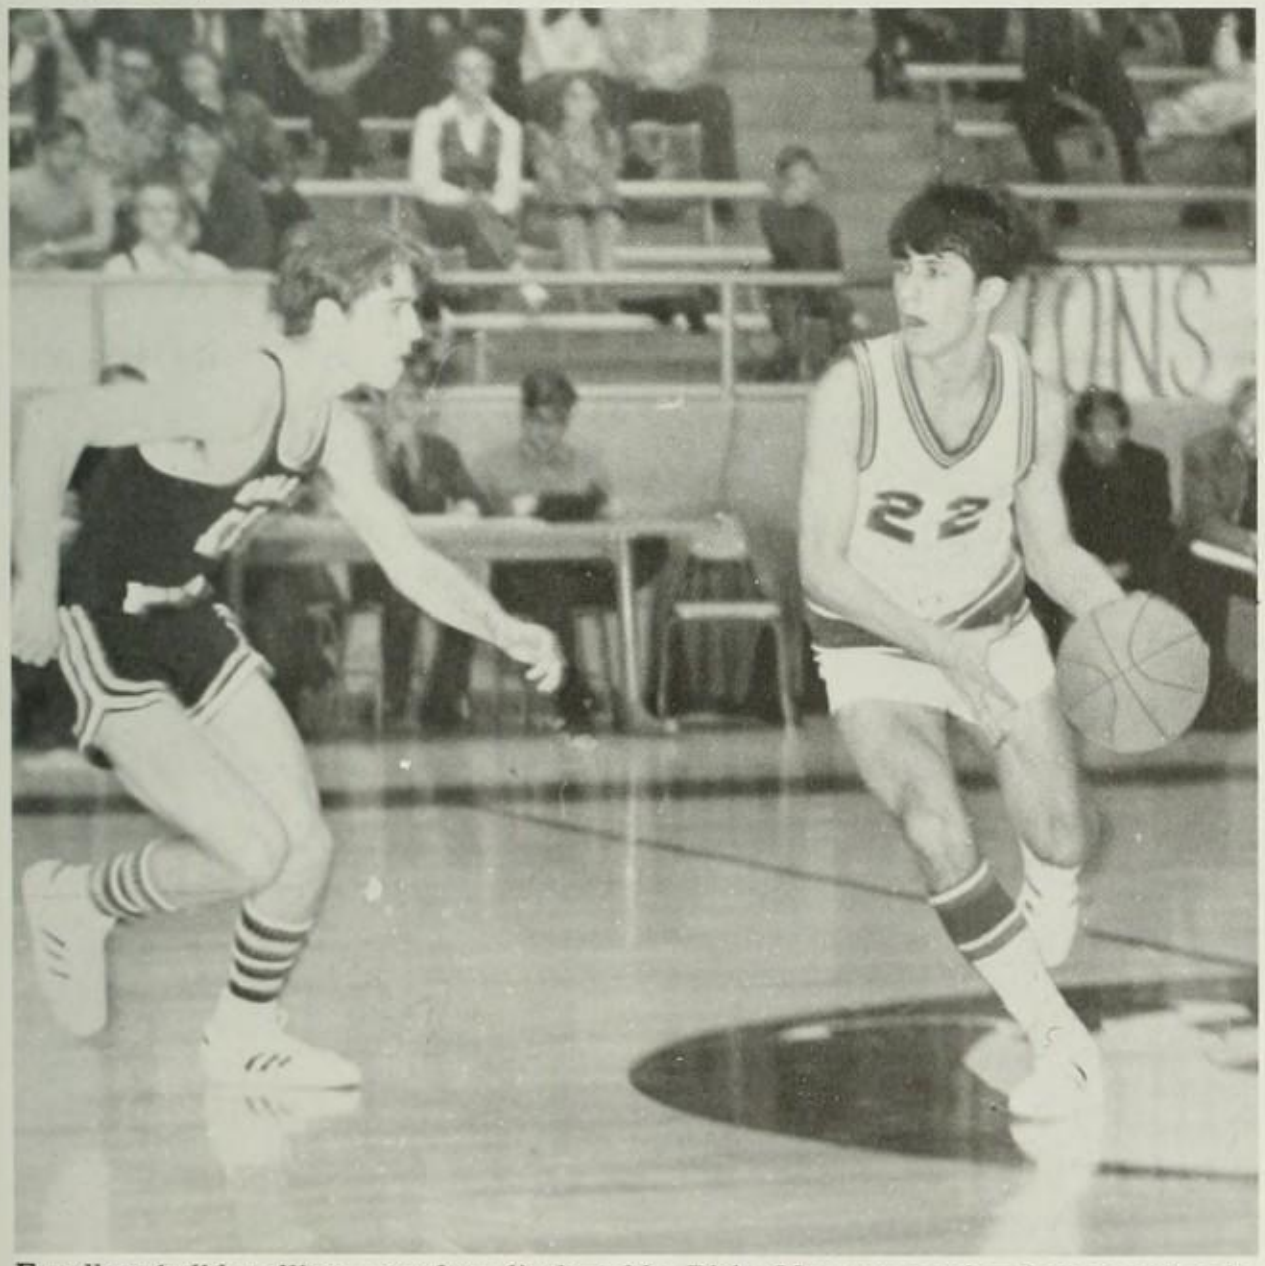


Awaiting a pass to bring the ball down court, Jimmy Murphy pivoted away.

Frequent substitutions helped to rest players and gave them many opportunities to discuss problems on the court and to bring new strategies back into the game.

Threatened from the start, Turner went down to defeat at the hands of Garland, 61-51. Dreams of a district championship were beginning to crumble.

In the second round of district play the Cagers succumbed to an overwhelming display of Owl coverage as they were defeated, 75-64. A late rally begun by the Lions in the early third period was quickly stopped by Garland as time ran out.



Excellent ball handling was often displayed by Ricky Menasco coming down court as he dribbled around the opposing team striving to break through the opposition.

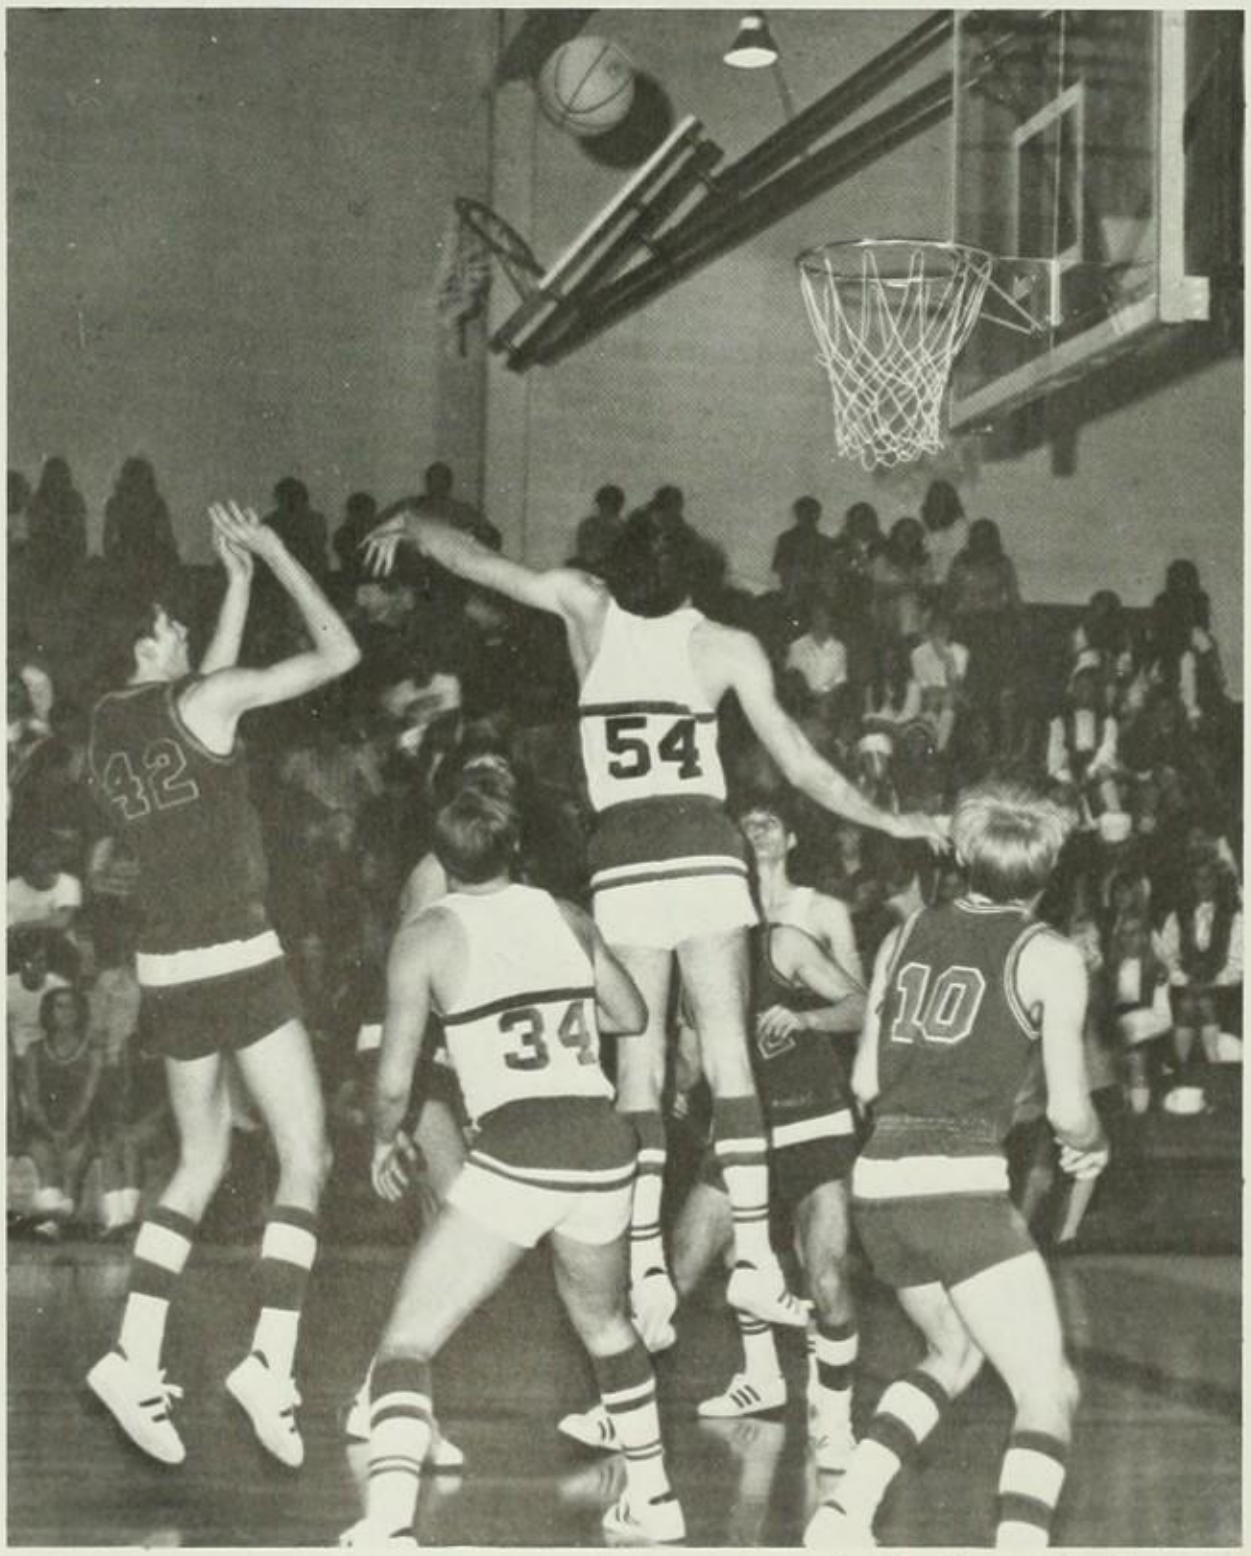
Under backboards, Lion Cagers were able to dominate parts of game.

Pace Setting Victories

In an attempt to get back into district competition, the Lions smashed the Mesquite Skeeters, 74-62. Jimmy Murphy led the scoring with twenty-four points, followed by Ricky Menasco with thirteen points.

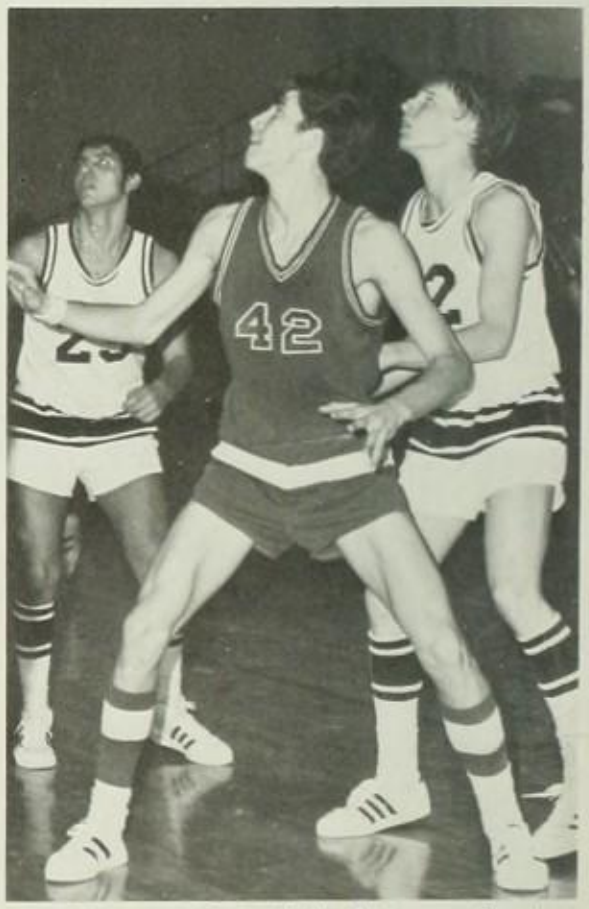
With spirits high the Cagers came back to beat the Mesquite Skeeters again, 87-59.

Coaches J. D. Menasco and trainer Ed Evans checked Terry Pettijohn to determine if he had been injured after falling under the backboards in a previous play.



Forward Ray King went for another two points over the heads of oncoming Skeeters.

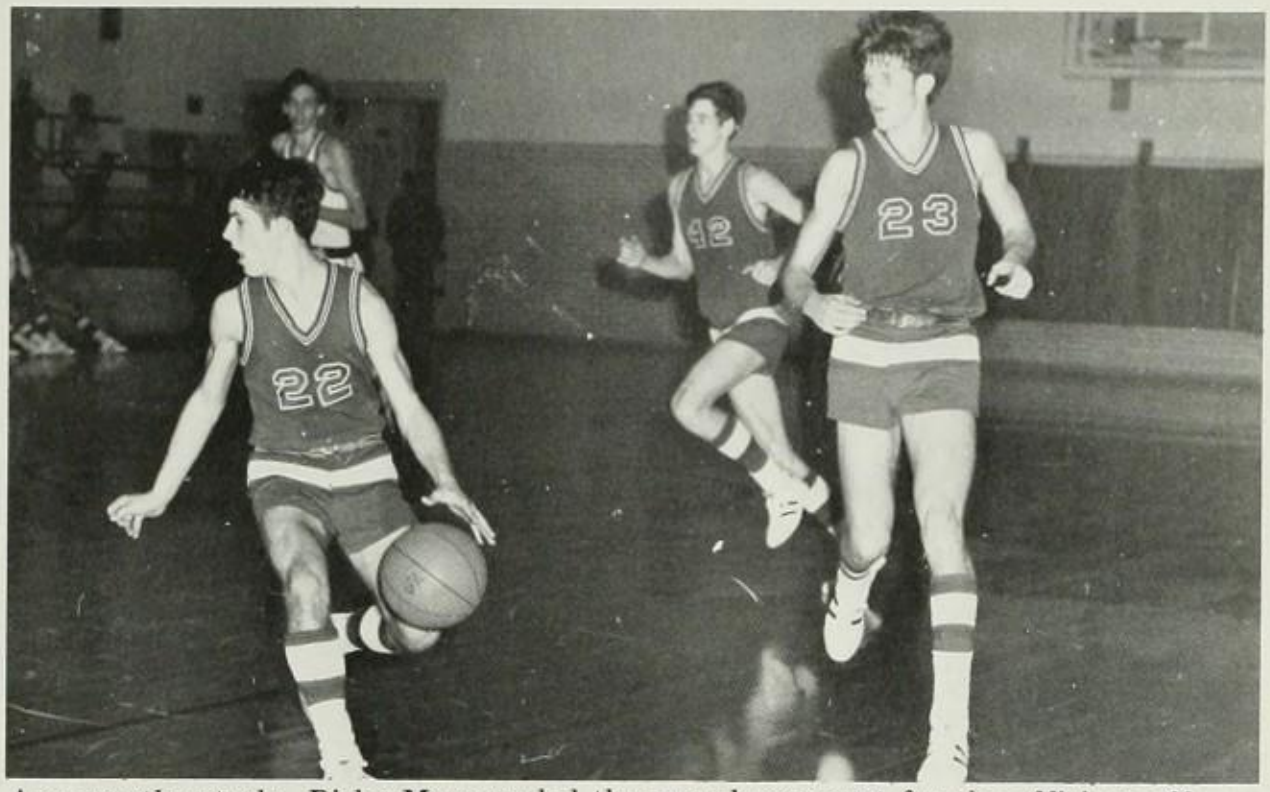
Confusion and rugged contact between players often plagued the Lion Cagers.



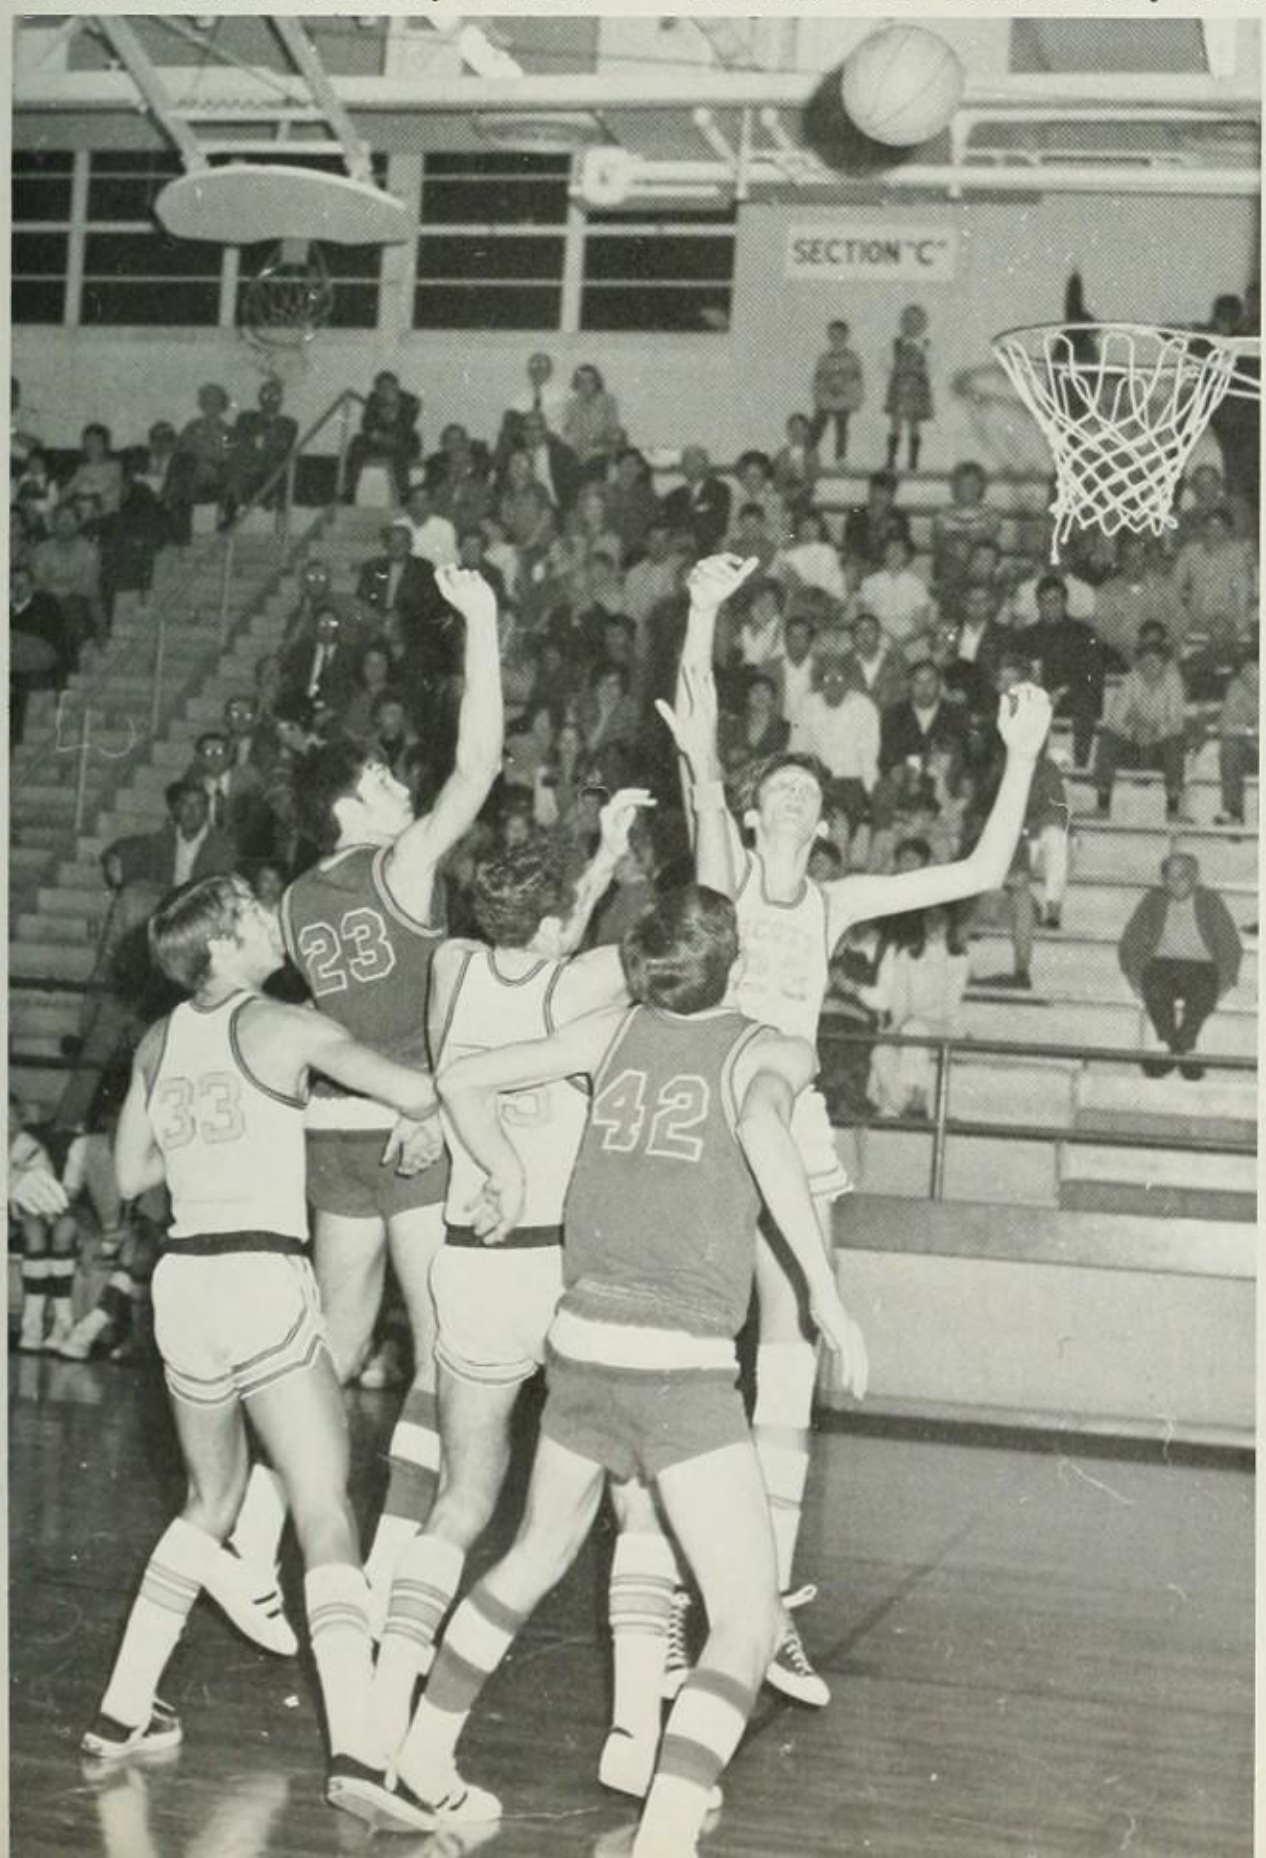
Awaiting a rebound, both teams kept a close watch on the basketball goal.

Determined Efforts

Up for a jump shot, Jimmy Murphy found the backboard already covered.



Among other tasks, Ricky Menasco led the way down court for the efficient offense. Skill and effort enabled Ricky to be chosen outstanding sophomore in district.



Surrounded by Highland Park defenders, Jimmy Murphy attempted to score.

Due to a last minute surge from the Highland Park Scots, Turner was forced into the background of 8-AAAA competition with a 60-58 loss.

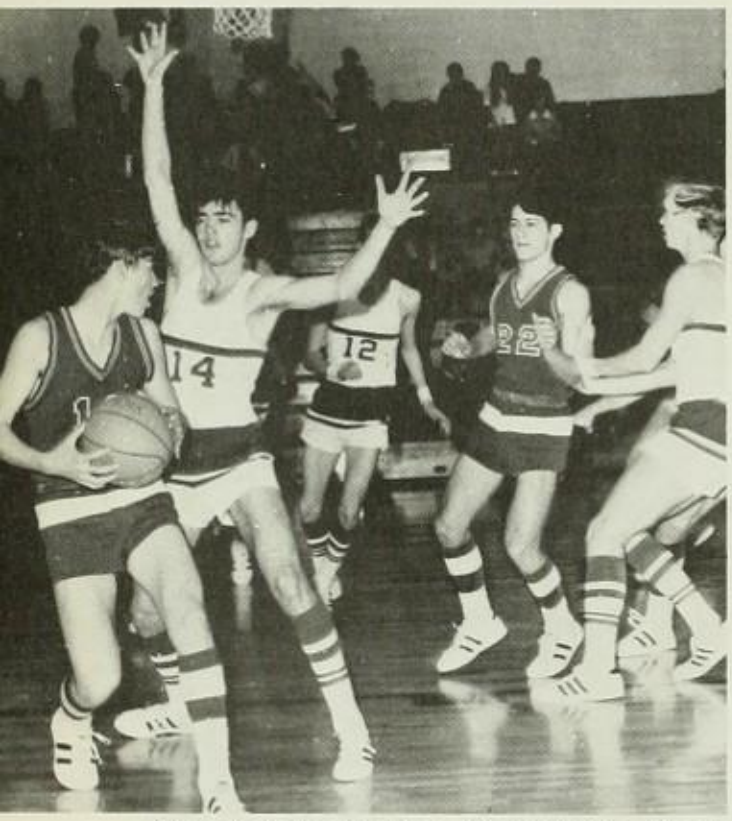
Determined to win an impressive twenty games, the Cagers downed Highland Park 64-56 in the second half of district play. Dominating backboards and scoreboards, the Lions maintained their lead through a Highland Park rally to win.

Against the Scots, Mark Beckham put up two more points with a jump shot.

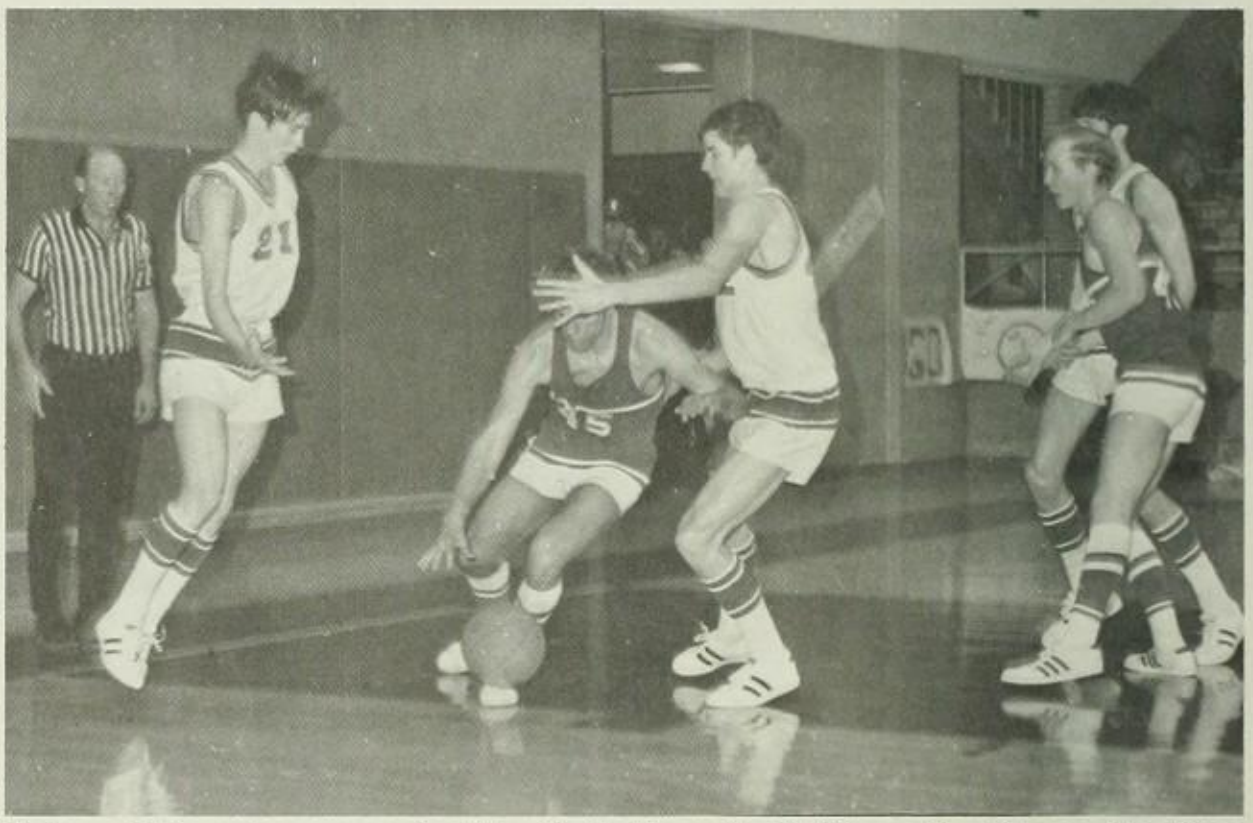
Two Wins With Ease

Picking up an easy win early in the season helped to give the Lion Cagers a boost toward district play. Outstanding play by the starters in the first half enabled the second string to gain valuable experience in the third and fourth periods of the game. As a finale to the 1971 Basketball season the Cagers rolled up the North Mesquite Stallions 87-52, with the team members playing in their best form.

Two-year letterman Jimmy Murphy often found that it was easier to go up and to attempt two points than to chance having the pass stolen by Stallions.



Guarded by Stallion Gary Betts, Mark Beckham attempted to pass off the ball.



Using a full court press against the North Mesquite Stallions, Lion Cagers Ray King and Terry Pettijohn aided by Jimmy Murphy were soon able to steal the ball.

Play was halted during the North Mesquite game to hunt for a lost contact lens. Right: Carefully following the action of the game, the coaches planned new strategy.

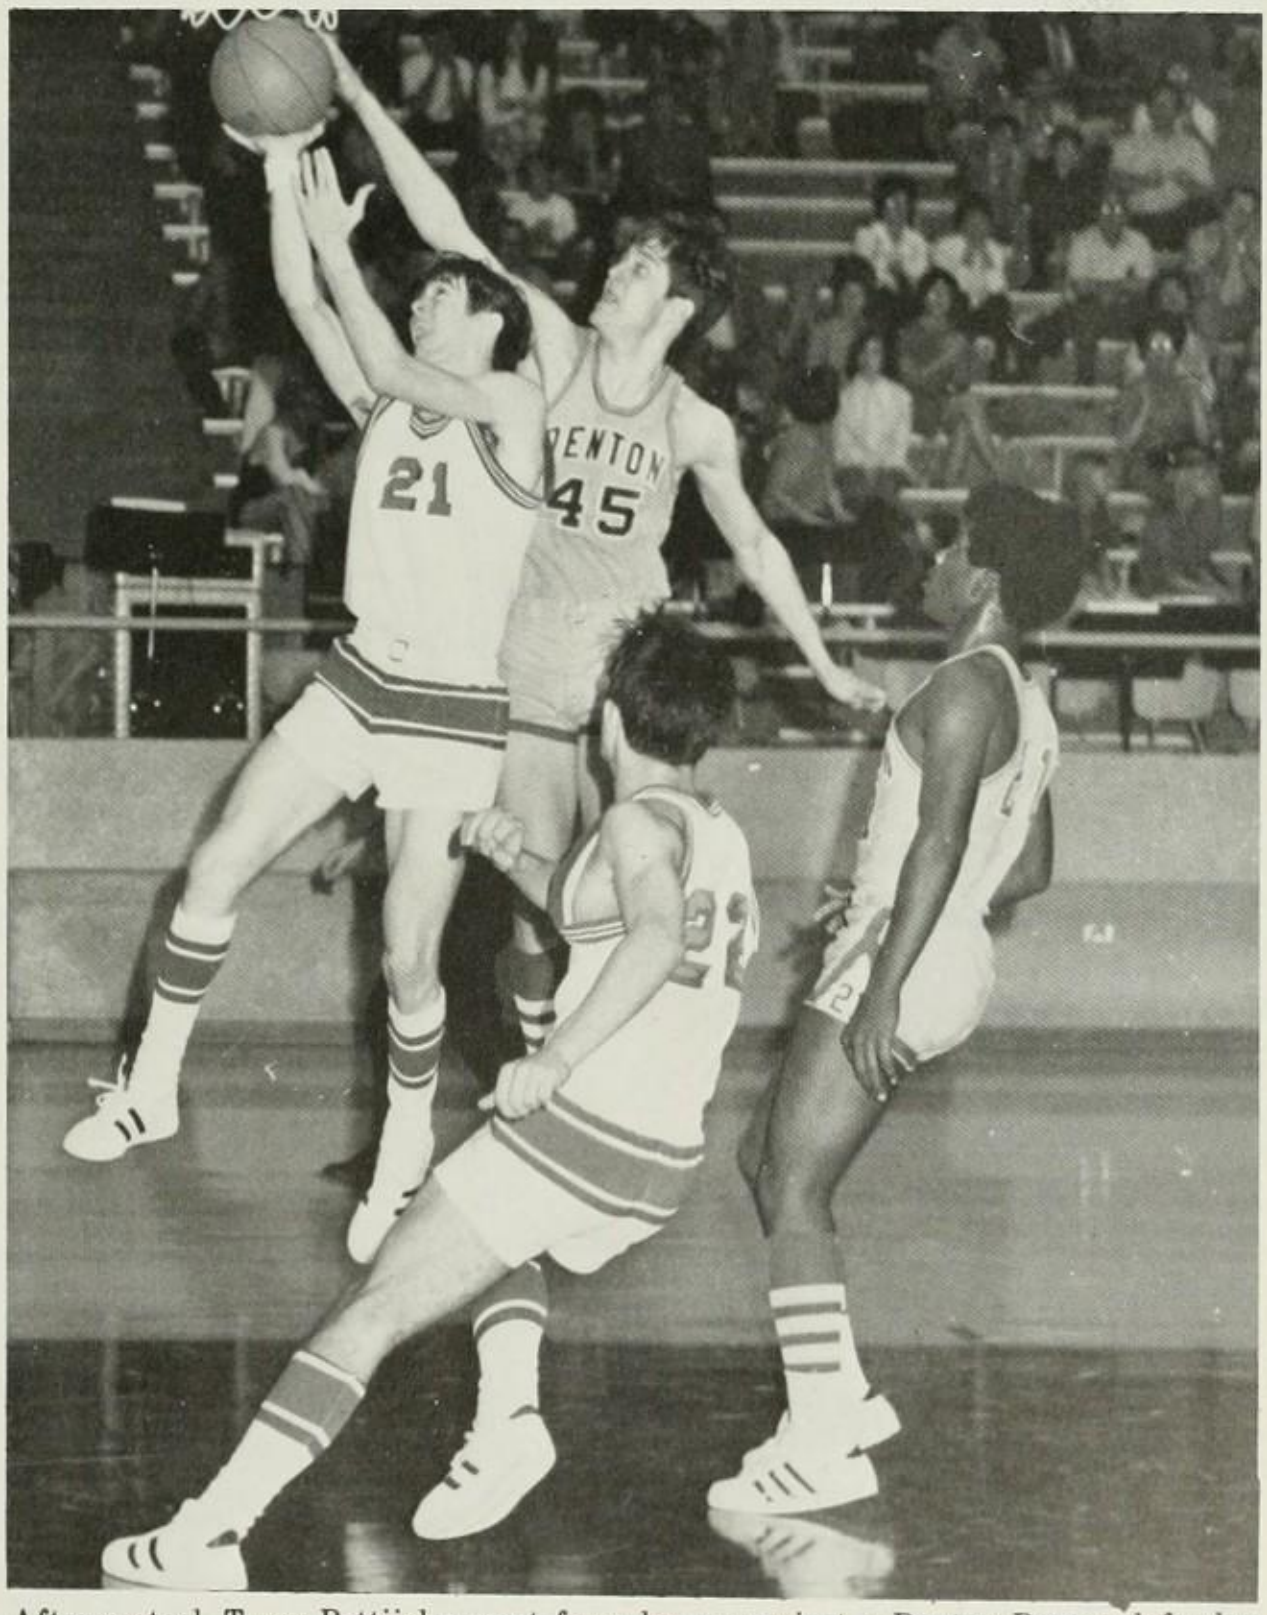
Shattered Hopes For District

Dribbling past Bronco defenders, Cager Mark Beckham attempted to set up a play.

Hopes for a third straight district title for Turner were shattered as Denton turned on a 68-62 upset over the Lions. Jumping ahead in the first period, Cagers grabbed a 16-11 lead and then widened it to 33-22 at the intermission. Putting all their experience to work, the Lions were determined to win the game and a possible chance in the state finals at Austin.

Denton, however, was quick to recover, taking the lead in the final period and holding it to the end of game, upsetting Turner's hopes for district.

Awaiting a pass, Ricky Menasco anticipated the Bronco defensive rotation.



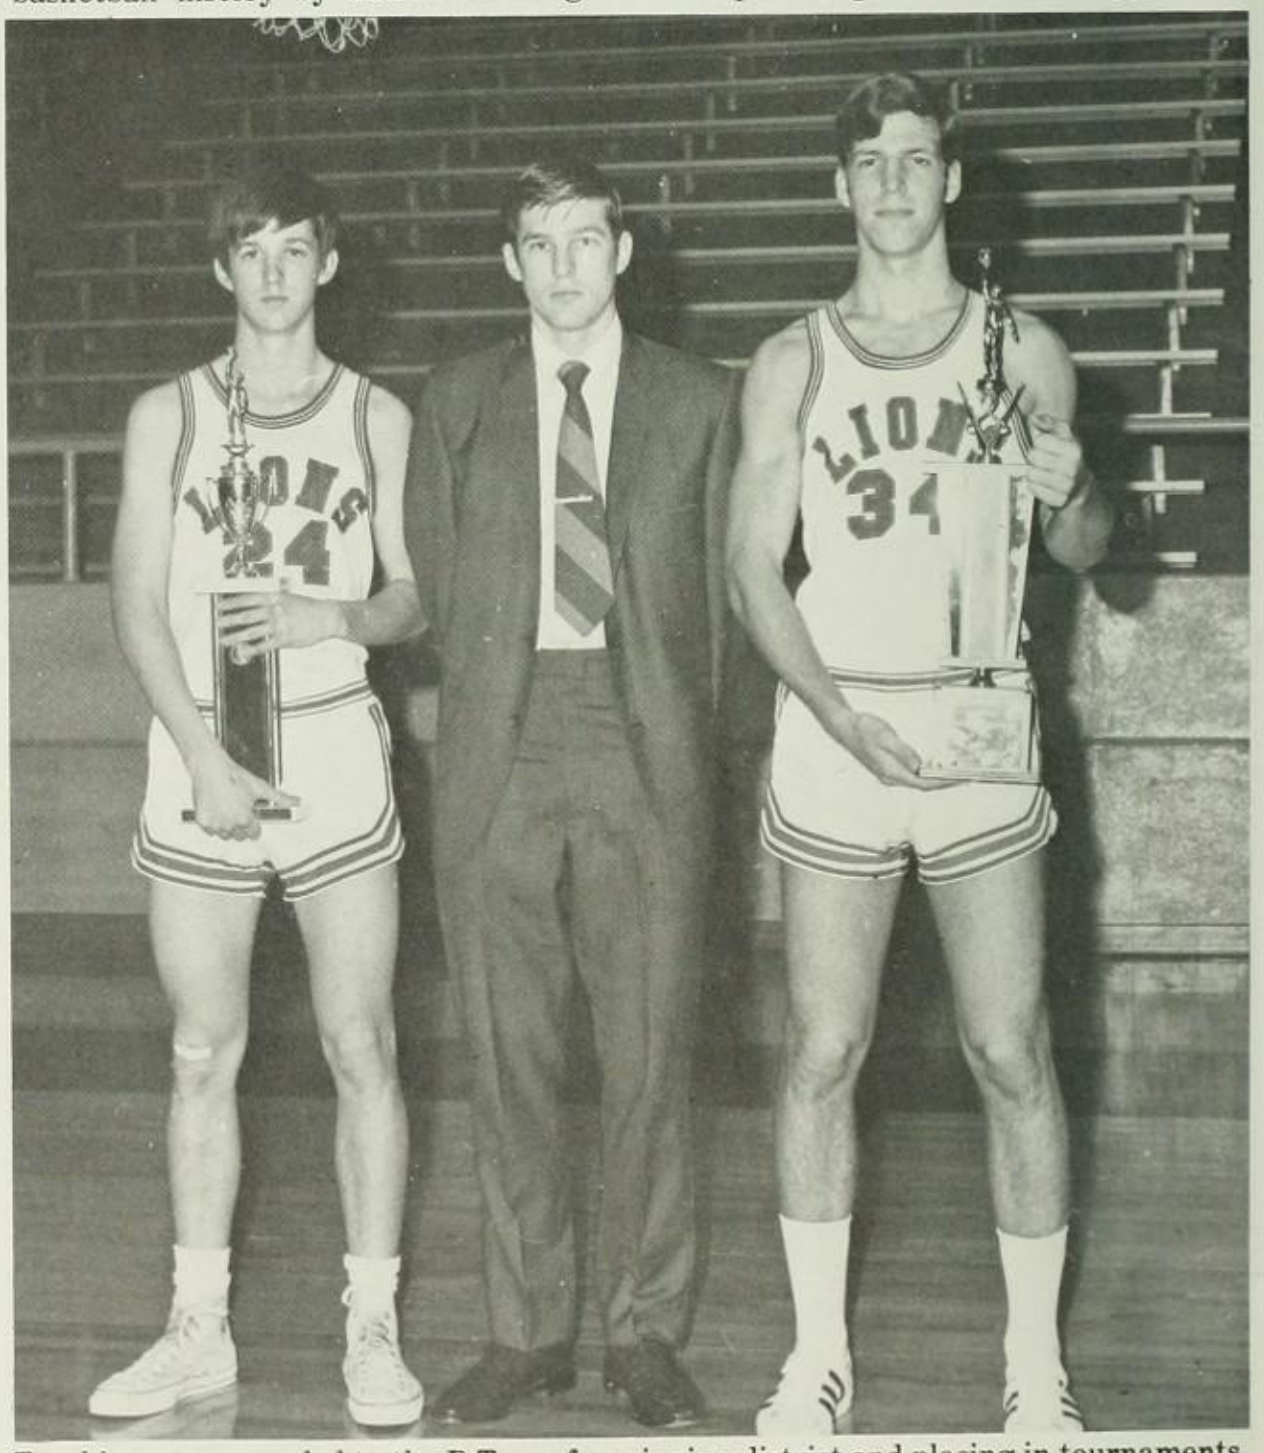
After a steal, Terry Pettijohn went for a lay-up against a Denton Bronco defender.

Banner, B. Evans, B. Crawford, A. Lu Allen and B. Parker helped to win a district title for the first time in Turner's basketball history by outmaneuvering and overpowering their various opposition.

District Honors To B-Team

With a desire to gain experience and develop skill and coordination, Turner's B-Team challenged other Sophomore teams in the Dallas area. This experience would prove useful for those who hoped to play on the Varsity team during their Junior or Senior year. Experience was not the only trophy gained by each member. Determination and skill led the B-team to capture the district title for the first time. Losing only to Mesquite and Denton, the B-team ended the season with an eight-win, two-loss record.

Led by Mike Smith in his first year of coaching, the B-team showed much promise for the next year's Varsity team.



Trophies were awarded to the B-Team for winning district and placing in tournaments.

Through their exceptional playing ability, (front left to right) D. Green, C. Jognson, Johnson, T. Hollingshead, P. Ladd, M. Lenamond, M. Nesbit, B. Blassingame, (back) R. Garner, M. Liberto, P. New, R. Spencer, R. Roush, M. Hearne, W. Lucas, M. Ripol, and Coach J. Truelove hoped to gain much needed experience as members of the Freshman white team during the season.

Enthusiastic cheering greeted the Lion Cagers before, during and after each game.

Displaying Abilities

Competition with various schools provided the Freshman Blue and White teams with valuable game experience. Members were given a chance to dis play their playing abilities.

Workouts were often hard and long, however, half-milers Steve Petrak, David Renfroe and Stanley Smith ran with the goal of winning district first in mind.

Mile relay was run by Charlie McLane, Dan Millhorn, Eric Gore and Gary Oradat.

by Gary Oradat, Charlie McLane and Steve Hayden at the start of each century dash.

Coming to the end of an 880-yard race, Stan Smith sprinted to finish first.

Weeks of practice paid off when Eric Hall set a new record in the pole vault.

Striving To Break A Record

Getting in shape for the new season, members of the Varsity Track Team worked out regardless of weather, from the first of January until the end of their season in April. Workouts were planned to give each athlete chances to develop particular skills and to increase physical endurance. Constructive criticism from both coaches and concerned teammates encouraged each member to strive to do his best.

Even more necessary than constant physical training and conditioning was the need to develop a well rounded mental attitude. Extensive practice involving long hours insured a competitive spirit among team members. No matter how hard the workouts, if the athlete was not prepared to do his best, practice time and physical exercise were wasted.

Contributing many hours and various athletic skills in developing more precise techniques, Varsity Track members (first row) J. Schoel, S. Morin, S. Wright, S. Petrak, J. Perez, C. Pool, P. Grant, B. Aulds, E. Hall, manager C. Lunar (second row) Head Coach C. Kidwell, manager R. Oradat, F. Gore, T. Lucas, T. Ralston, M. Mitchell, S. Smith, D. Dorough, S. Jarmon, D. Renfroe, S. Hayden, D. Millhorn, G. Oradat, C. McLane, trainer D. Beach and Coach L. Taliaferro helped to increase the chances for a District Championship.

After warming up for the State Cross Country Meet in Austin, Tom Ralston, Todd Lucas, Stanley Smith, Steve Petrak, David Renfroe, David Dorough and Bob Aulds contemplated the upcoming race that they had prepared for all year.

Finishing a relay, Gary Oradat reached for a hand-off from Charlie McLane.

Quarter-miles, half-miles and miles helped to make up the strenuous routine that distance men David Dorough, David Renfroe, Steve Petrak, Johnny Perez, Bob Aulds, Jeff Schoel, Tom Ralston and Stanley Smith continuously drilled every afternoon.

Long, Hard Work

With a good mental attitude came dedication. Confidence was shown by each member only after working hard. Mental preparation and dedication was needed before participation in each of the track events.

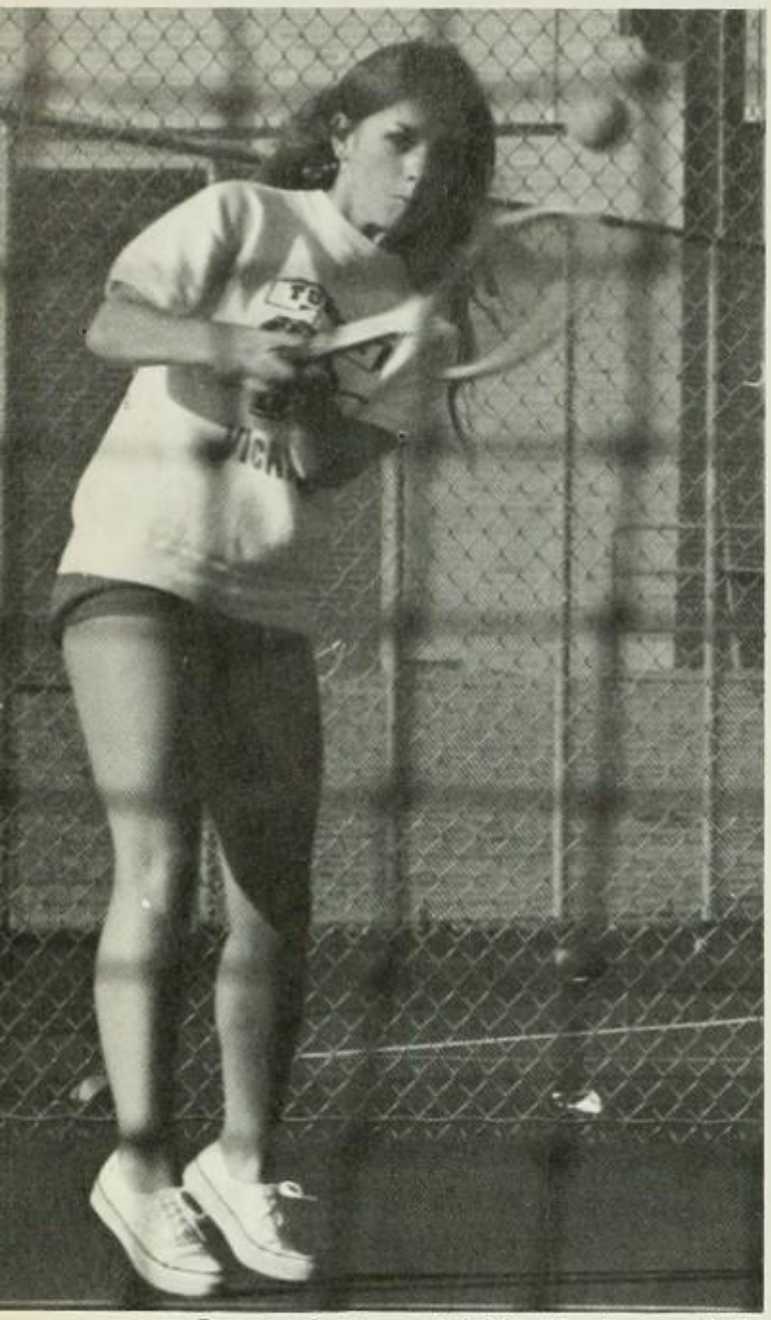
After losing only two members from last year, the Track Team looked forward to the best season in R. L. Turner's history. Experience and depth characterized this year's team. With eight returning lettermen, and four second-year lettermen, a District Championship seemed to be within reach. Personal goals of several of the thin clads went beyond the District Meet to the Regional Meet and perhaps the State Meet. With this type of determination and dedication, a successful season was in store for the Track Team.

Sprint relay members were S. Hayden, C. McLane, D. Millhorn and G. Oradat.

Every Saturday, D. Dorough, S. Morin, T. Lucas, S. Petrak, D. Renfroe, B. Aulds, T. Ralston, J. Perez, S. Smith and G. Oradat ran in cross country meets.

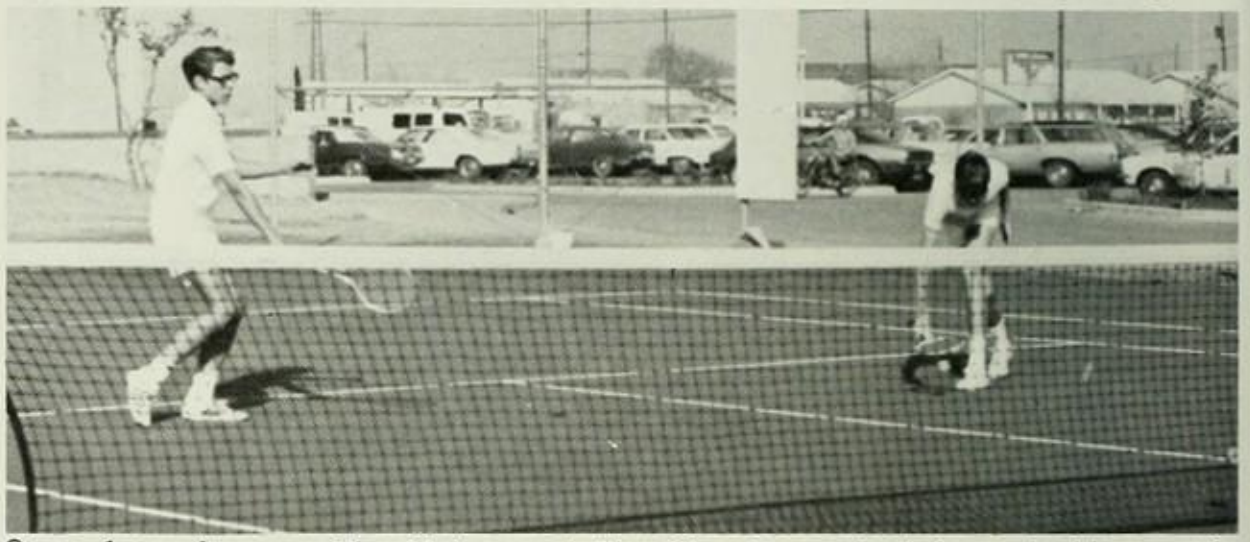
Timing distance men and hurdlers, Coach Taliaferro helped in practice.

By practicing every day on correct form while running the high hurdles, Mike Mitchell hoped to have the spring and speed to do well in approaching district competition.

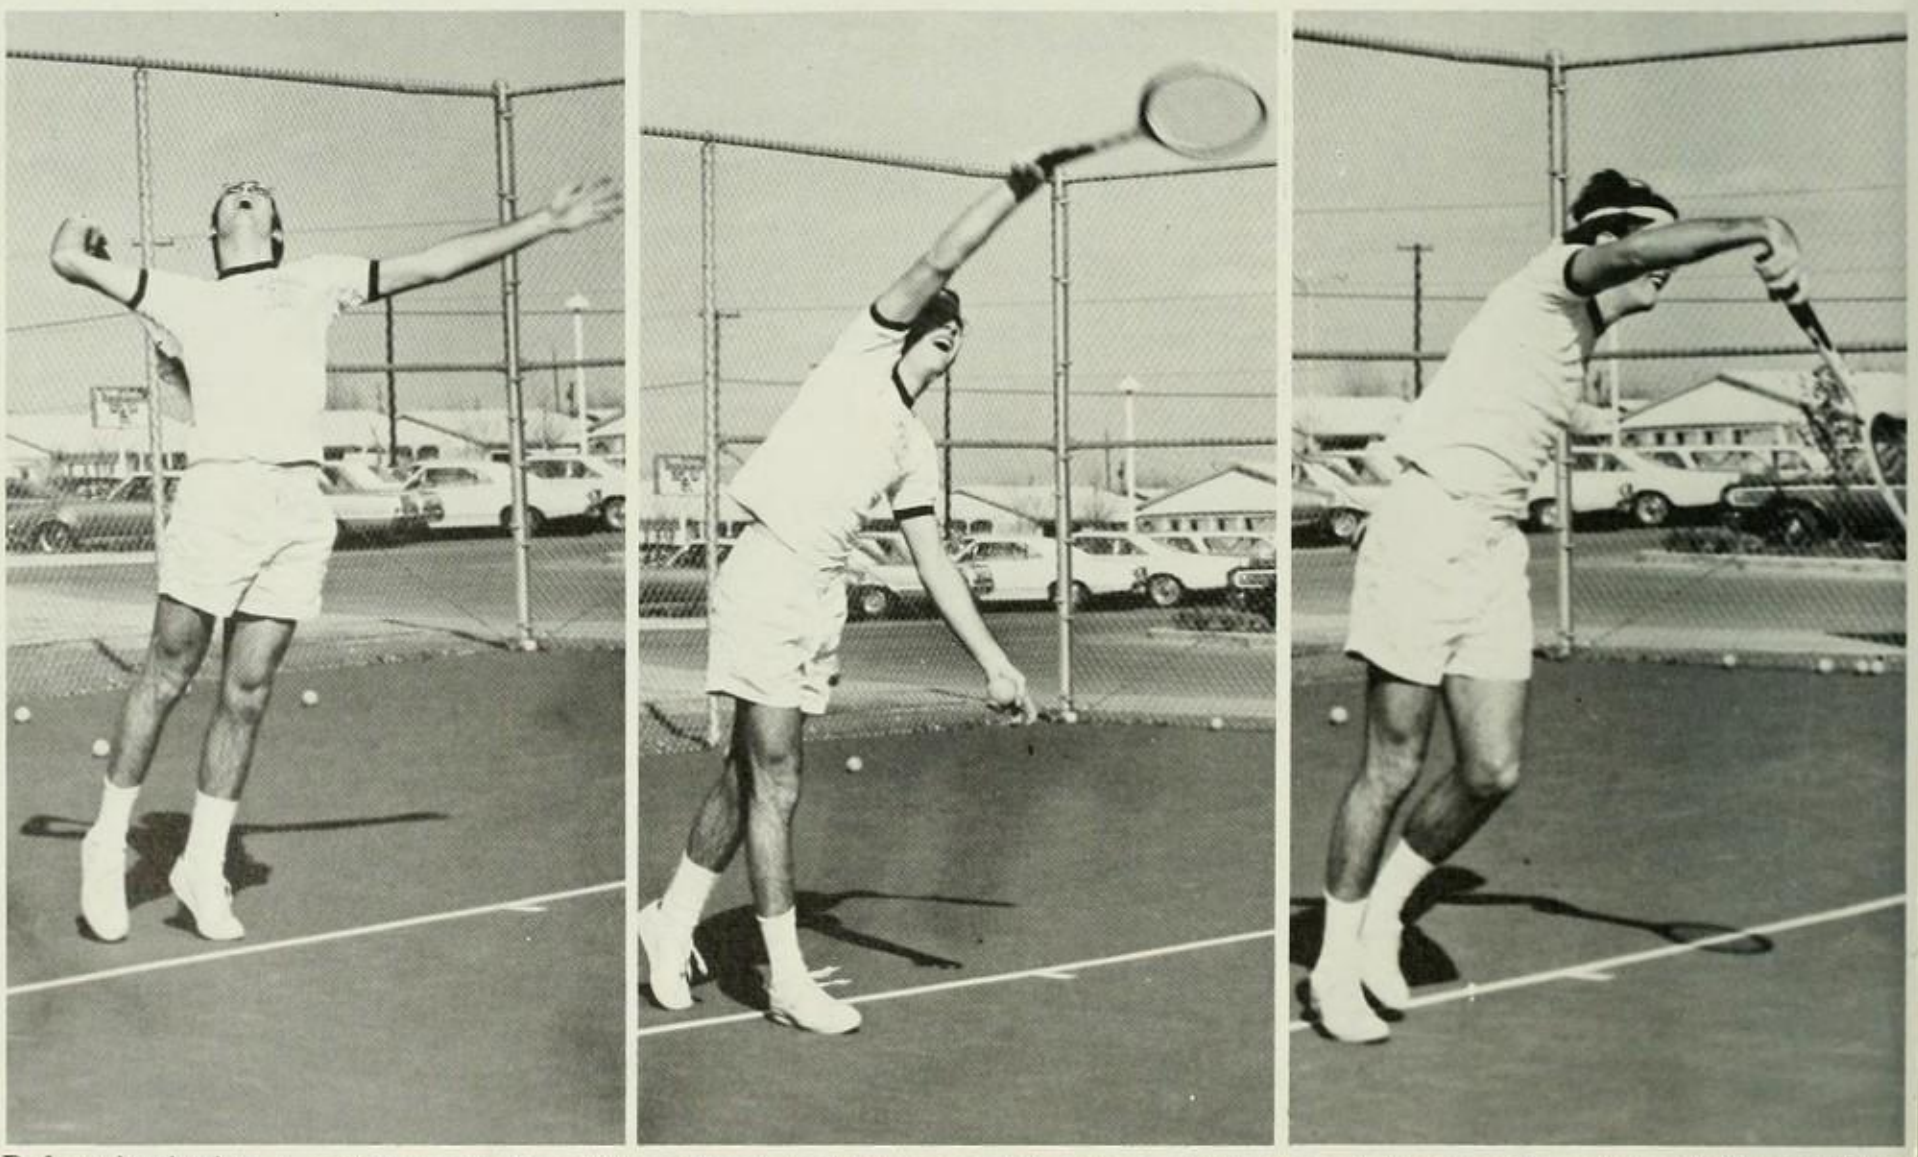


In good form Vicki Wood carefully watched the ball on her backhand drive.

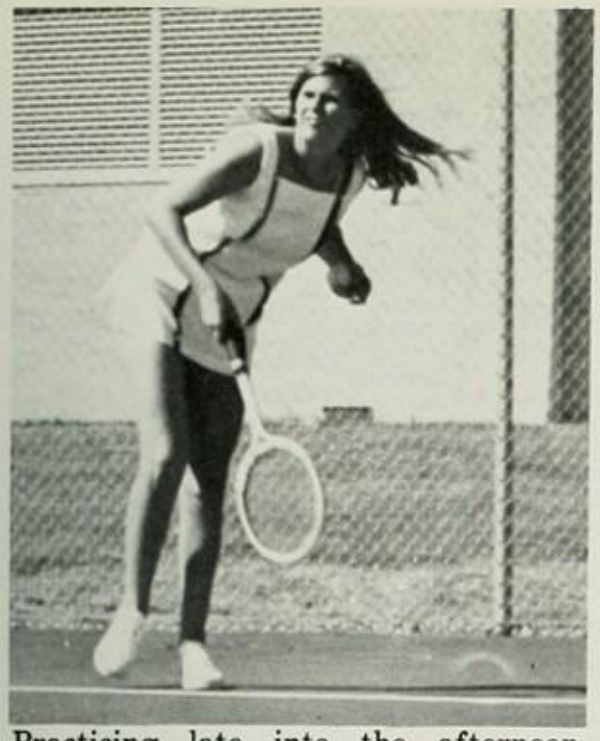
Returning for her third year on the team, Marilyn Brandt displayed superior tennis form in one of the numerous matches in which the Tennis Team participated.



On a clear afternoon Tim Malone and Tim Blough practiced for a doubles match.

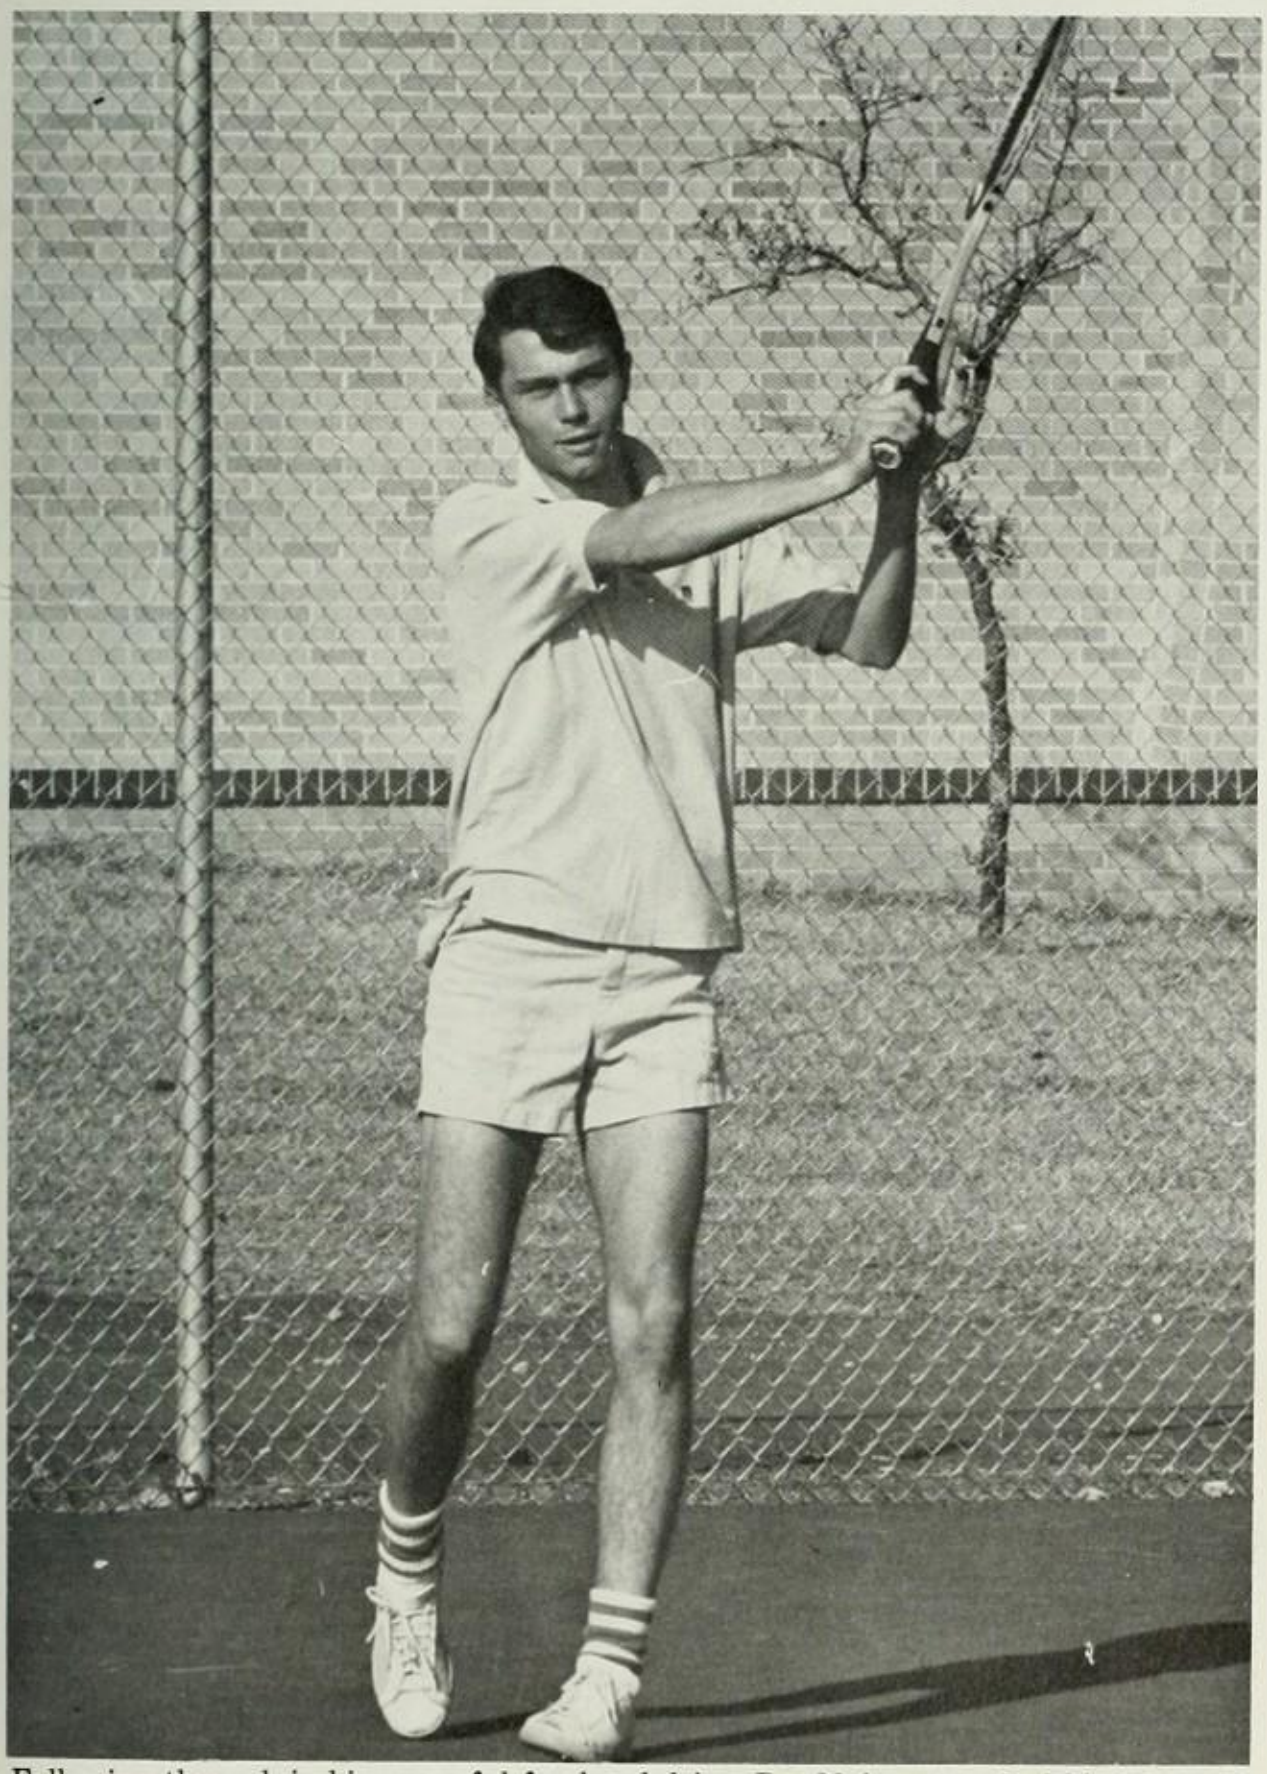


Before beginning a tournament, Jon Liston illustrated his powerful serves which helped him to win many of his matches.



Practicing late into the afternoon, Gerry Brandt improved on her serve.

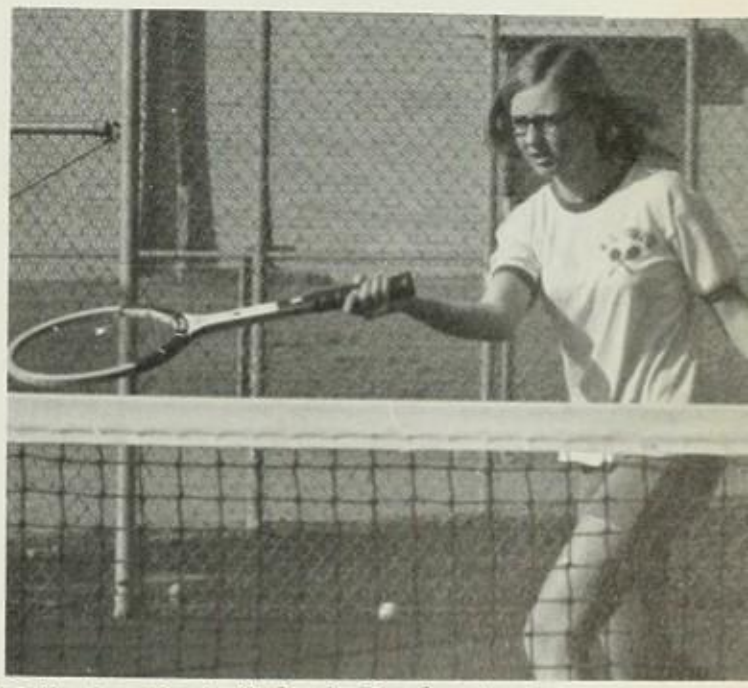
Members of the Varsity Tennis Team (left to right) James Gravely, Jon Liston, Tim Malone, Tim Blough, Pat Malone, and Mike Wilson anticipated the district season.



Following through in his powerful forehand drive, Pat Malone watched his opponent.

Awaiting District

Beginning in the summer months, the Tennis Team started preparing for the next season in April. With ten returning lettermen from the past year, expectations were high to win the District title after placing second behind Highland Park in the previous seasons. Under the direction of Coach Arthur Weiss, the team had a winning record in the first matches of spring. Determination on the part of each individual helped create a winning spirit and assurance for a District title.



Volleying the ball, Suzie Reed put away another point during practice drills.

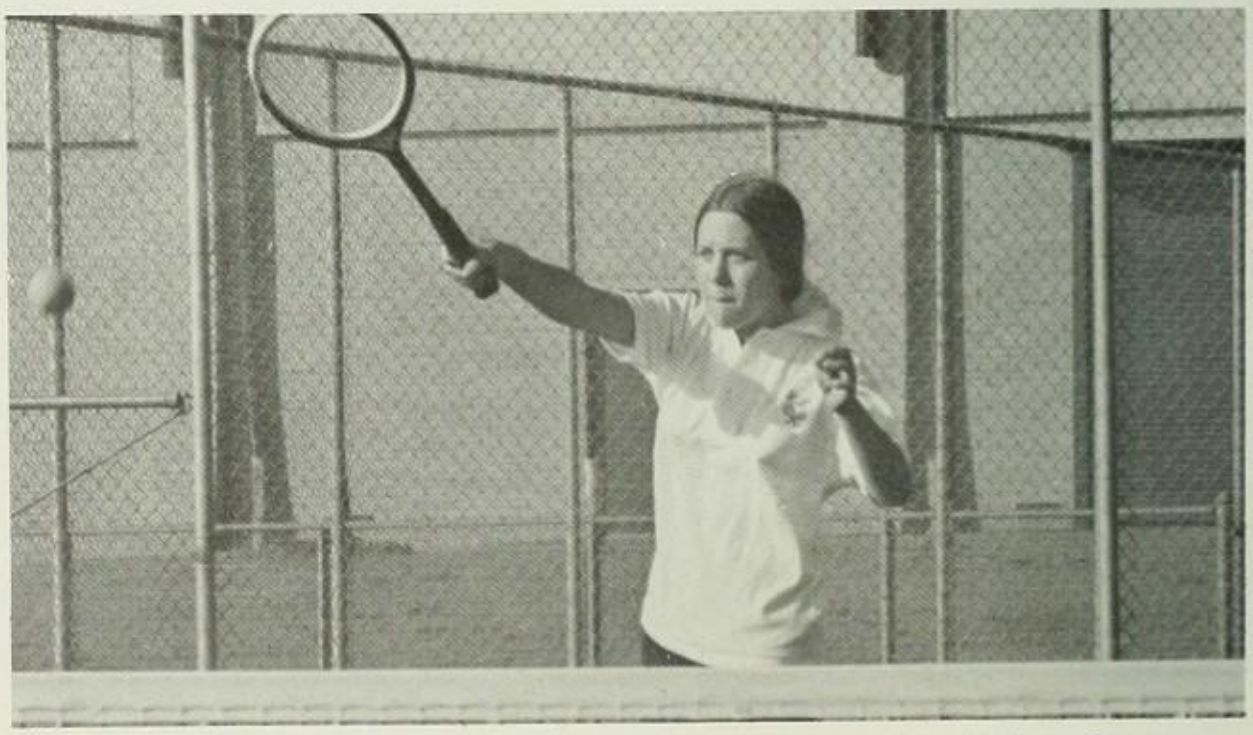
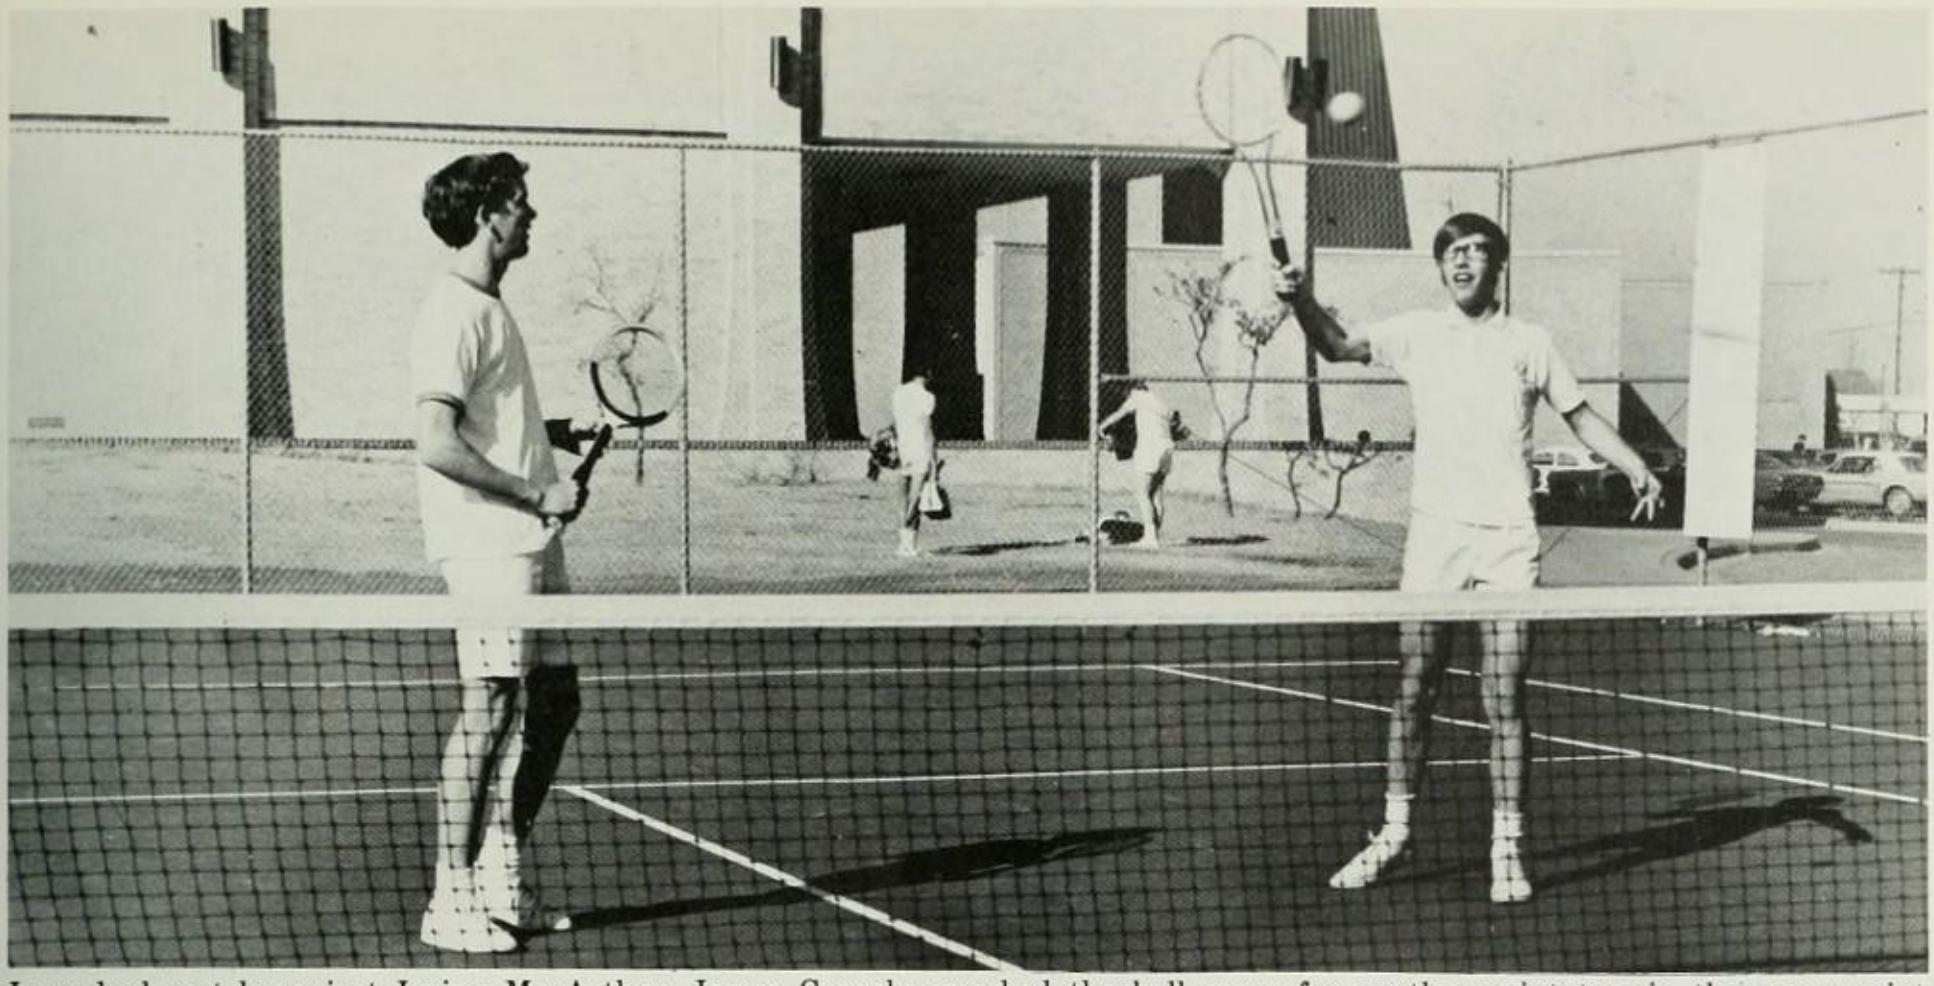
Helping contribute to a successful season, members of the Tennis Team (left to right, bottom) Mike Maxwell, Cathy Polito, James Gravely, Tim Malone, Suzie Reed, Tim Blough, Vicki Wood, Pat Malone, Jon Liston, Carol Wessely, (top row) Joe Oliver, Chris Thompson, Gerry Brandt, Robert Harris, Heath Davenport, Kay Milam, Richard Smiley, Terri Doss, Mike Wilson, Marilyn Brandt, Cindy Knapp, Tim Stanton, Larry Bassinger, David Bassinger, Coach Arthur Weiss, and James Wagely practiced for tournaments.

New drills implemented by Coach Art Weiss readied the team for the season.



Superior net play helped Terri Doss to win many matches during the season.



In a dual match against Irving MacArthur, James Gravely smashed the ball away for another point to win the game point.

With four years of experience, Carol Wessely's skill was valuable to the team.

"... but never stoop to conquer."

Using both arms on her backhand, Cindy Kanpp hit a ground stroke.

Working For An Ultimate Goal

After a second place finish in district last season, the Golf Team looked like a strong contender for the District 8-AAAA Championship in 1971.

Experience and depth were not major problems for the team with the return of six of the top ten members from last year. Tournaments in Fort Worth and Wichita Falls along with fifteen other matches preceded the District Tournament held in April at Brookhaven Country Club. With an optimistic attitude about the approaching season, the team looked forward to a District Title.

Watching Roland Johnson's style while blasting out of a sandtrap, Coach Joe Johnston hoped to find pointers to help improve his form before the season began.

Taking his second stroke, Jimmy Hankins watched the ball land on the green.

In good form four-year letterman Dennis Kerlick connected solidly with the ball.

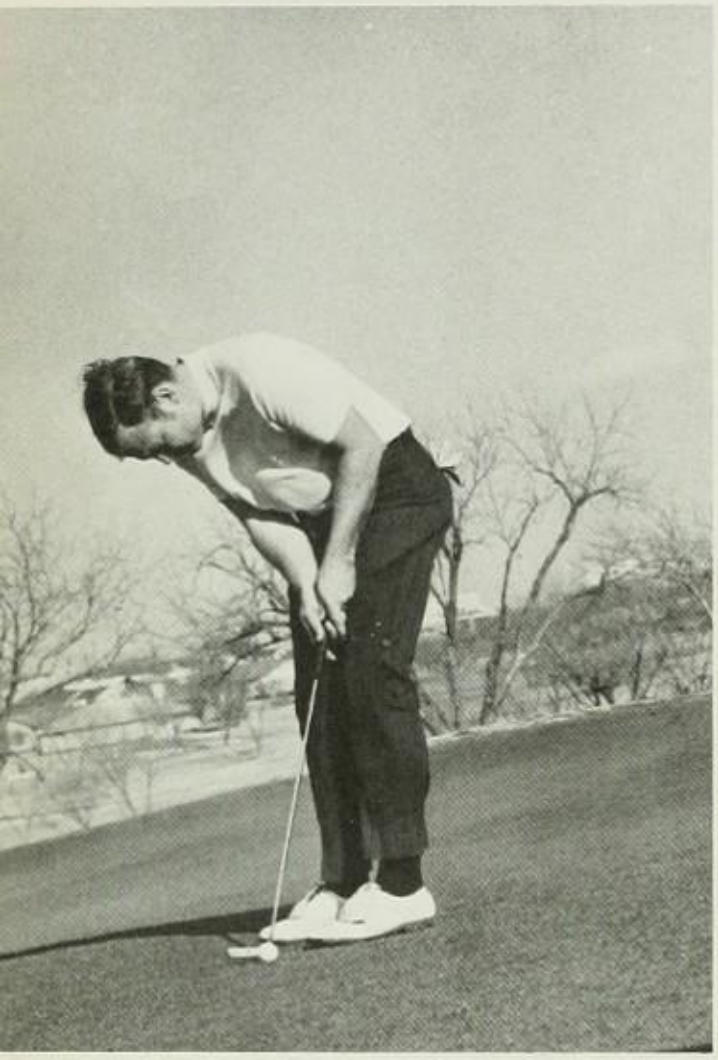
Aiming carefully, Bob Cruse was able to sink the ball smoothly after a long putt.

Displaying their acquired experience and accumulated knowledge, the Senior members of the golf team consisted of (first row) Jack Kindle, Robert Kruse, Dicky Rodriguez, Jimmy Hankins, (second row) Sammy Moore, Dennis Kerlick and Steve Salas.

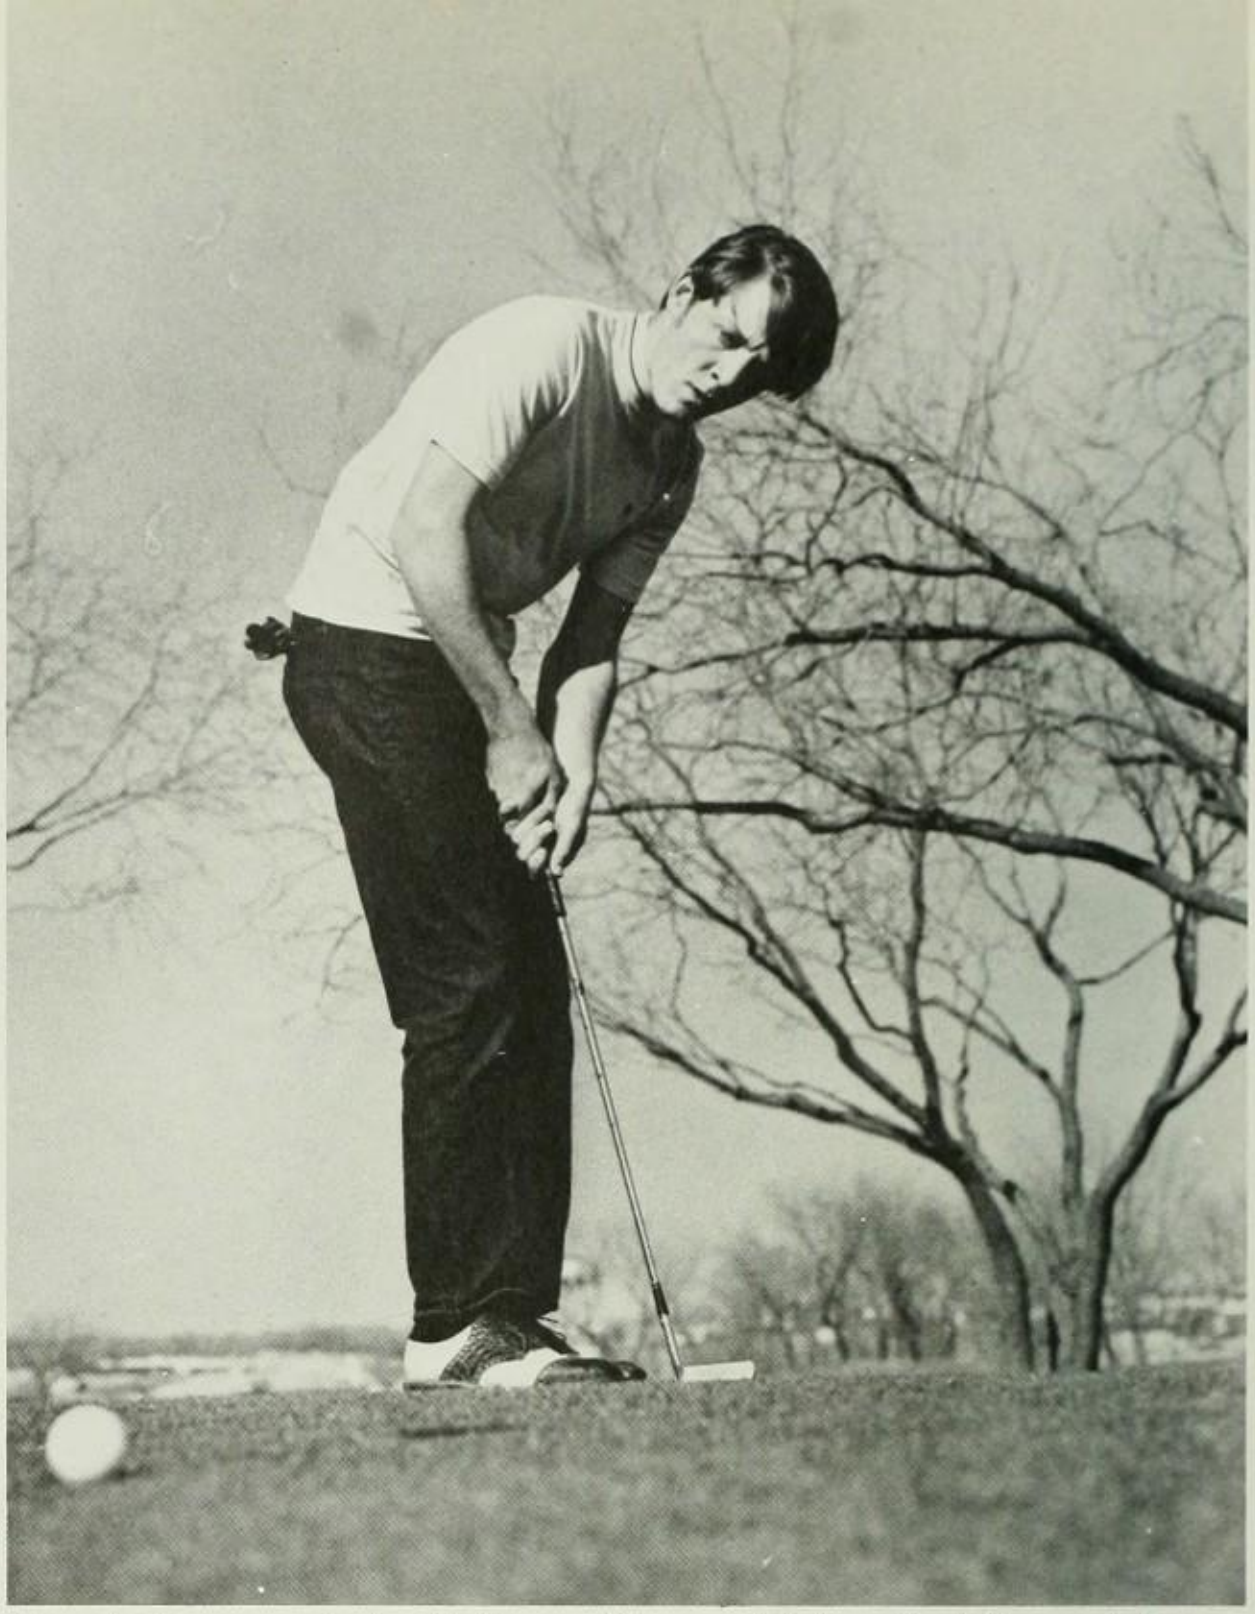
Although Dicky Rodriguez tried to shoot over sandtraps, they often got in the way.

Practicing putting was necessary for Roland Johnson to do well in matches.

Golf



Starting his second season as the golf coach, Joe Johnston practiced putting.

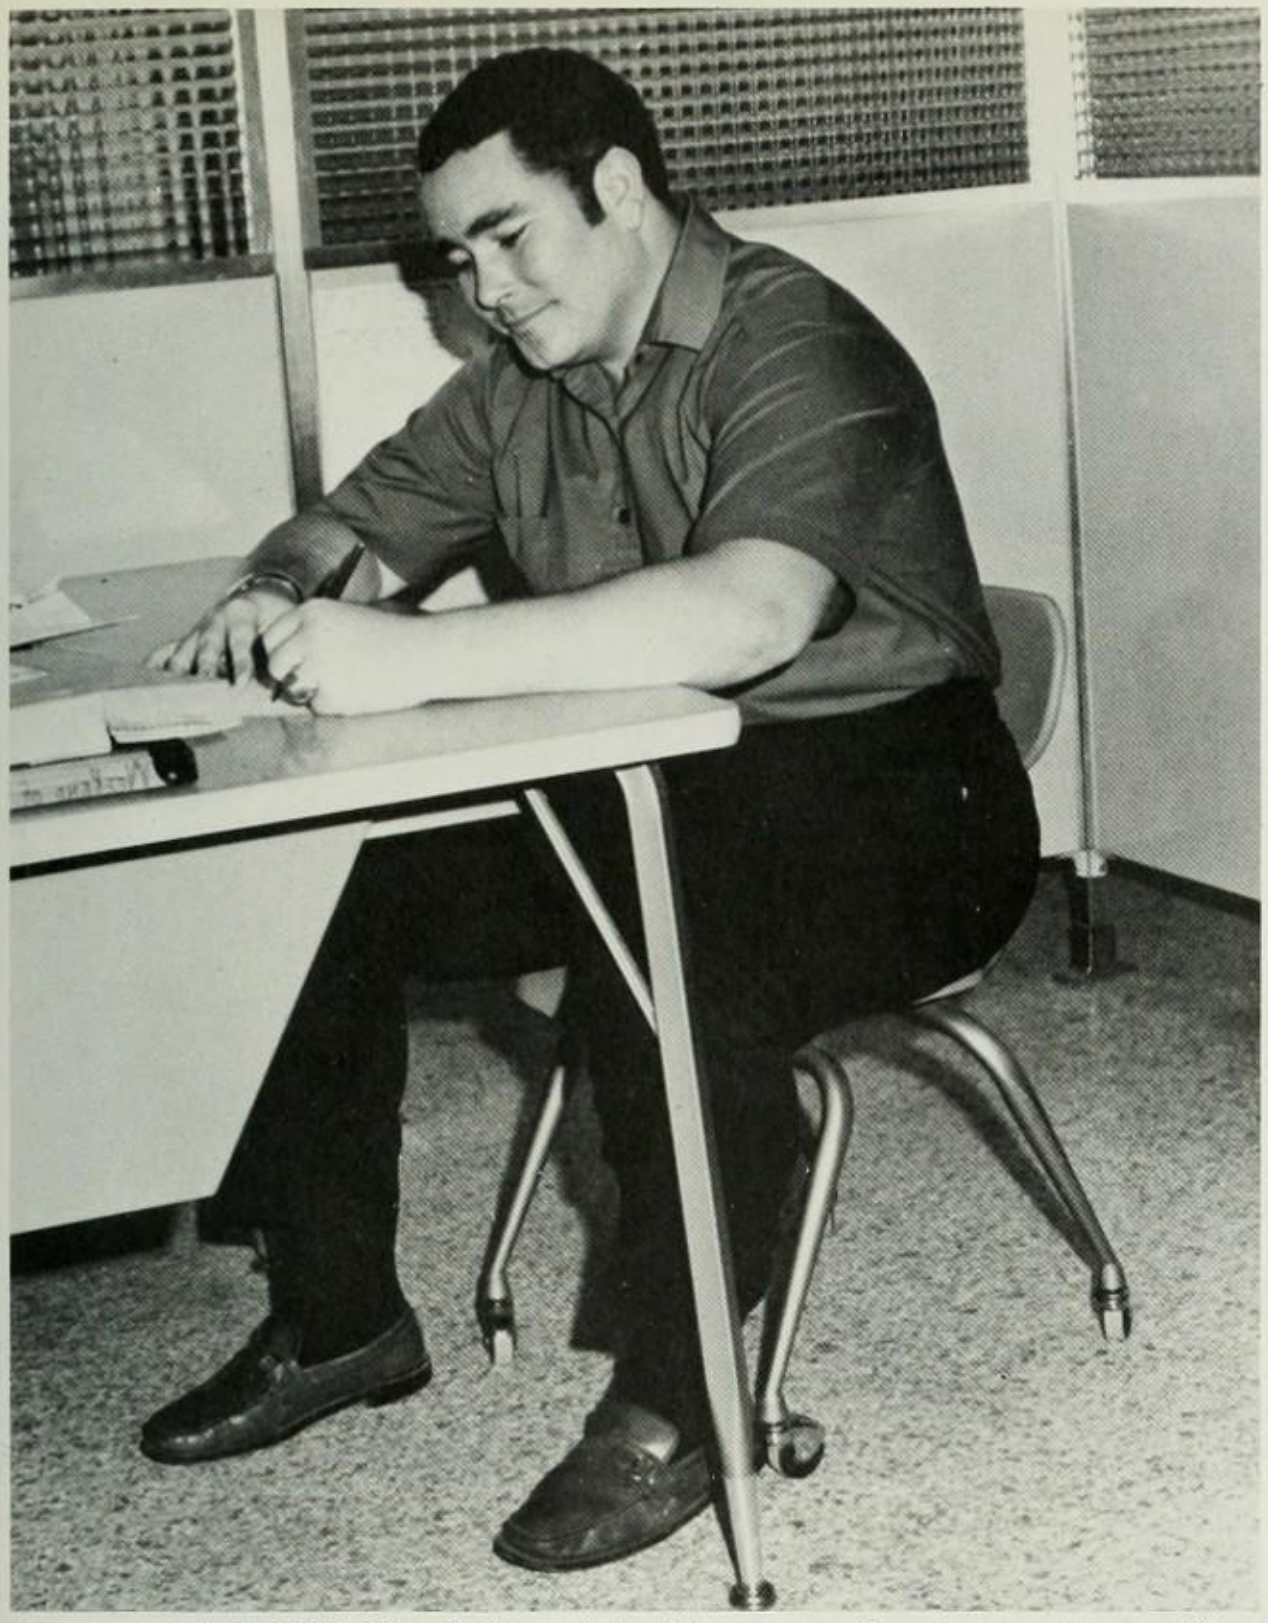


Concentrating on a short putt, Sammy Moore watched as the ball neared the cup.

Hoping for a district title, (first row) G. Bounds, E. Beckham, D. Kerlick, D. Rodriguez, B. Kruse, J. Hankins, M. McClung, (second row) M. Blough, R. Johnson, S. Moore, S. Salas and Coach Joe Johnston worked hard all season to improve their techniques.

Christian Athletes Fellowship

One of the newest groups formed at Turner recently was the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Its goal was to confront the youth of the Nation as well as athletes and coaches with challenges and adventures of following Christ. Members learned the importance of including Christ in sports and also in their everyday lives.



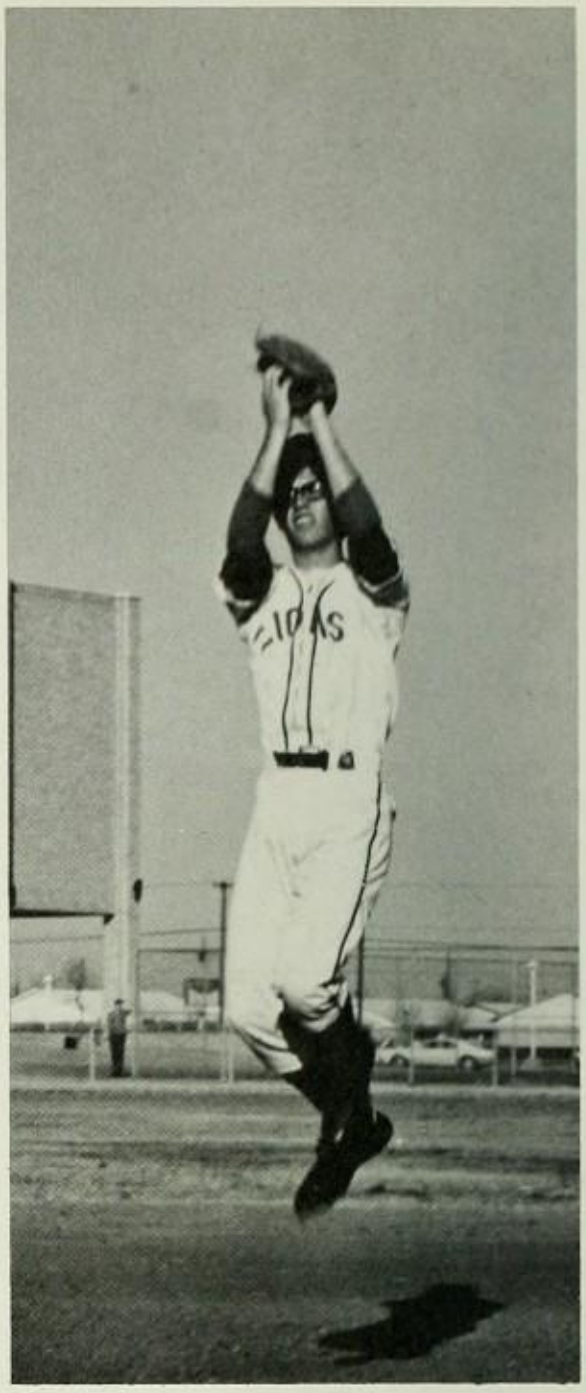
As sponsor of the FCA, Jim Mathews helped to prepare the programs for meetings.

Serving as treasurer of the FCA, Ricky Menasco set a sportsmanlike example.

Place-kicker for the Lions, Kerry Carloy served as one of the officers of FCA.

Also lettering in football, Todd Thompson was elected president of FCA.

Already practicing in the early fall, Terry Cahill, along with each member of the team spent many hours developing skilled coordination and precise hitting ability.



Straining to reach a hard-hit line drive, Alan Williams made a decisive catch.

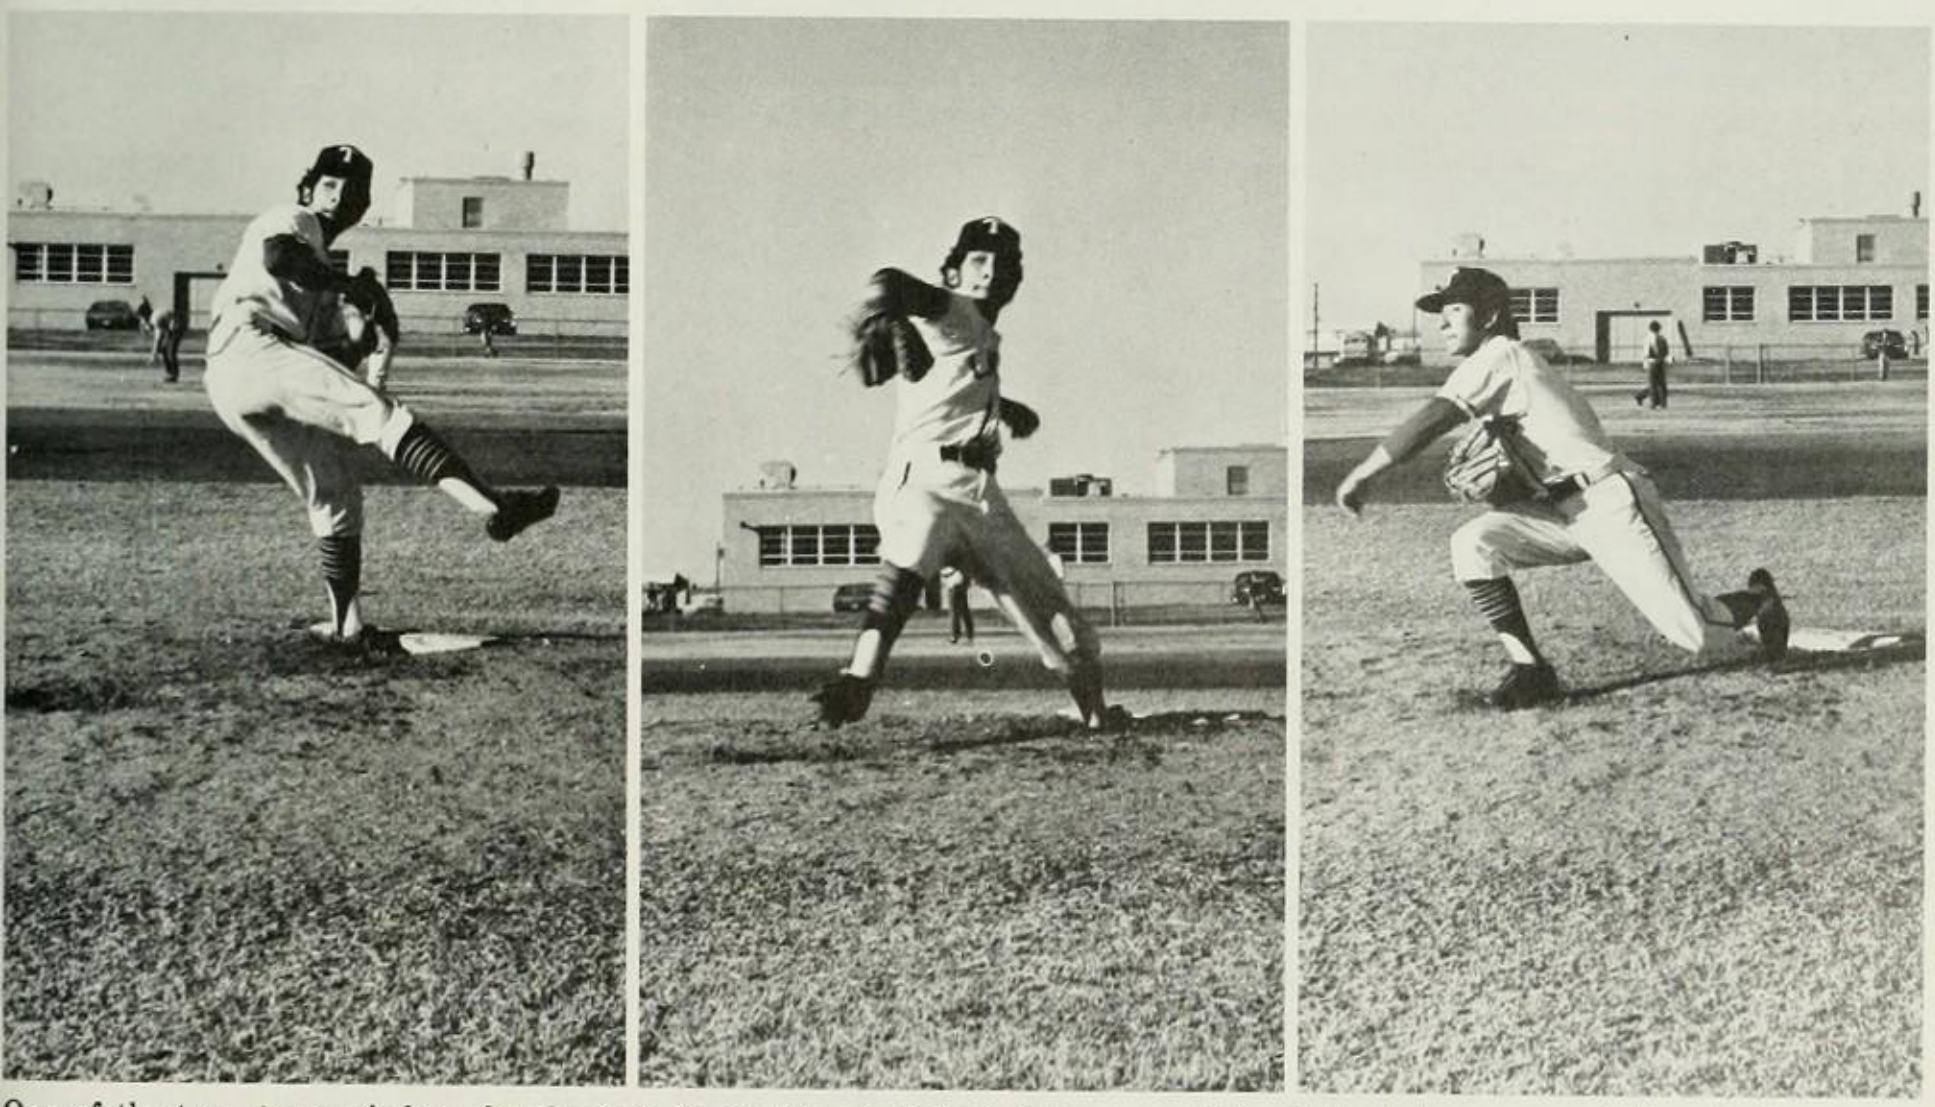
Improvement Through Teamwork

On second base, Jerry Shields reached for the ball in time to make a double play.

Skill and experience gained from the Dallas area summer baseball program aided the Lions in their 1971 season. Ability was added to the team as Ricky Conway and Robert DeLeon became two of the best pitchers in the district.

Practice for the coming season began in the fall and was continued until the summer program began again. Individual players worked together for the betterment of the whole team. Then, beginning the regular season, Lions were scheduled to play fourteen games, including two Invitational Tournaments. District competition began after a month of regular play and continued until April 30.

With six starters and ten lettermen returning, Coach Jim Arnold and players looked forward for the team's fourth district title in five years.



One of the two strong pitchers for the Lion baseball team, Robert DeLeon used his ability to become an aid in winning games.

During an afternoon scrimmage with W. T. White, Mike Baxter hit a solid line drive.

Before a practice in summer, Tom Freel warmed up his throwing arm beside the field.

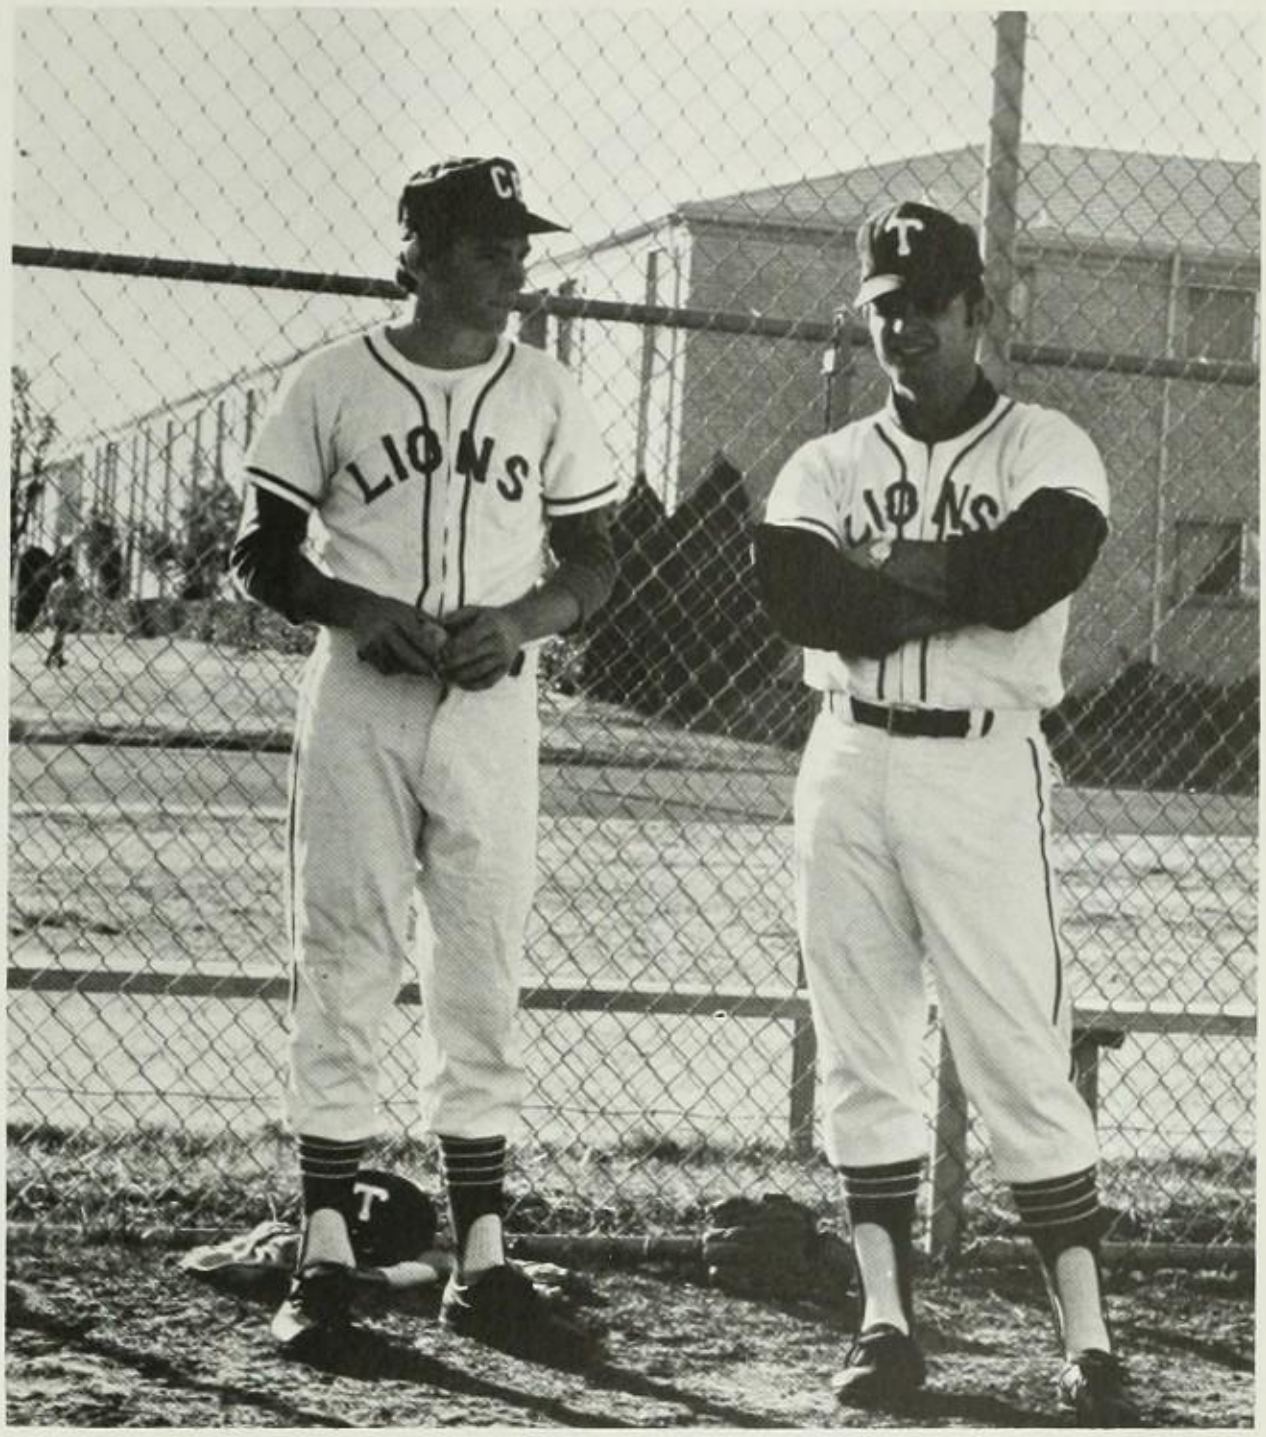
With a strong team returning, Lions hoped for another chance in district.

In his fourth year at Turner, Coach Jim Arnold anticipated his fourth district title.

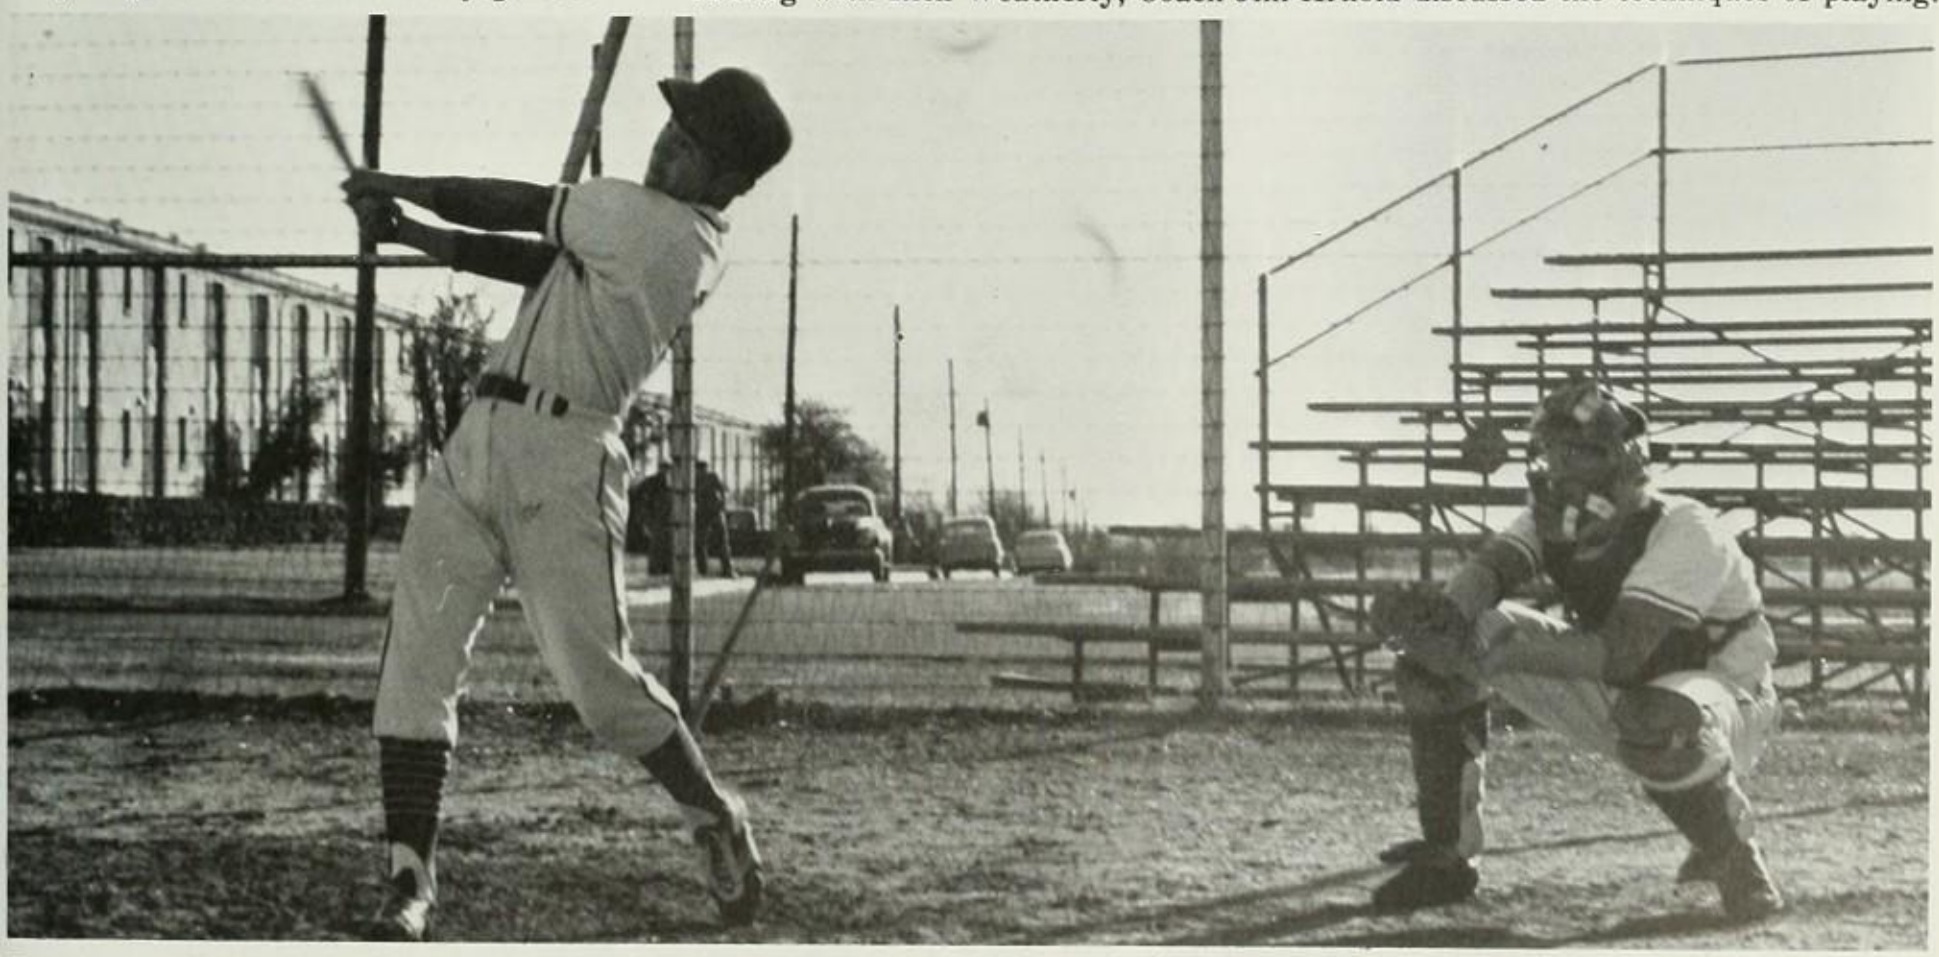
While waiting for his turn at bat, a Lion watched the scrimmage in progress.

Possessing Abilities To Win

Skill in pitching possessed by Ricky Conway helped the team win many games.



Talking with Rick Weatherly, Coach Jim Arnold discussed the techniques of playing.



Developing his batting skill to strengthen the hitting ability of the whole team, Louie DeLeon concentrated on watching the ball.

Gaining Musical Knowledge

Participating in various school activities, the Choral Department learned to express their emotions through song. Helped by their director, Mr. Ted Polk and his assistant, Mrs. Barbara Rosolowski and member Bob Gilbreath, students gained knowledge and development in the field of music.

Many choir students who possessed a deep interest in music, participated in "Music Man" the annual school district musical production. Rehearsing every night and making their own costumes for the musical, students discovered great satisfaction in achieving their goals.

Members sold candy to help raise money for their five-day tour to Greater Southwest Music Festival in Amarillo. Through the determination and combined efforts of many, the trip became a reality. Students returned home with fun memories and also valuable experiences from this profitable adventure trip of music.

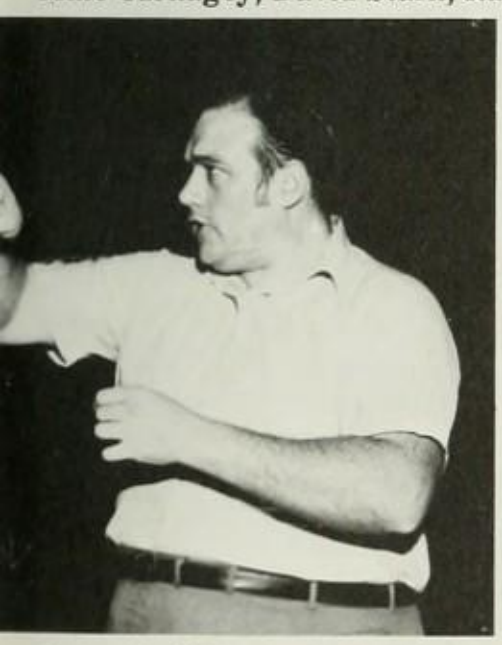
Throughout the year, members of A Cappella Choir, (first row) Dyer, Hoar, Powell, Webb, Pinkerton, Rambo, Bush, (second row) Thames, Ford, McMurray, Mitchell, Shehane, Clevenger, Ruiz, (third row) Isle, Hebert, Weems, Stark, Dougall, Hackney, Tucker, Jordan, (fourth row) Walker, Brown, Harris, Pence, Gilbreath, Gott, Wolfard, Keyy, and Cox combined voices in harmonious sound.

A Cappella choir members spent long hours practicing each song to perfection.

Concerned with perfection, Women's Select worked hard before the Christmas Concert.

A Cappella Choir Madrigal singers were Lonna Ford, Jo Ellen Pinkerton, Joan Shehane, Barbara Jordan, accompanist, Barbara Hanning, Jene Dougall, Kathy Hackney, Mike Carnagey, David Stark, Randy Walker, Larry Isle, Bob Gilbreath, Vernie Rambo.

Pianist Barbara Jordan performed her duties well as accompanist to the choirs.



Several different expressions of Mr. Ted Polk were captured during one of the rehearsals just before the Christmas Concert.

Members of the Women's Select Choir, first row, Robb, Felch, Gerth, Mullins, Maupin, Joyner, second row, Carruth, Riddle, Carter, Wisnoski, Coppinger, Maupin, Kohn, third row, Godley, Hayes, Threlkkeld, Moyer, Pierce, Bivings, Tucker, fourth row, Elliot, Sherrard, Bush, Hammett, Duckworth, Morrow, and Gunn participated in choir concerts and attended the Music Festival in Amarillo.

Accompanying Women's Select Choir, Vicki Tucker played for the concert.

Women's Select Madrigal members were Kim Gerth, Kerry Moyer, Kathy Carter, Nancy Sherrard, Katie Pierce, Sharon Coppinger, Linda Godley, Karen Morrow, Diane Hammett, Debbie Gunn, Deanene Bush, Vicki Tucker and Robin Bivings.

Discussing new music, Kathy Phillips and Carolyn Nicholson talked with Mr. Polk.

Men's Concert Choir members, first row, Bangus, Scott, Kelly, Mitchell, Herwick, Aulds, Ruiz, second row, Hoar, Isle, Rambo, Thomas, Estes, Cox, Sheffield, third row, Brown, Richie, Sieventhal, Clevenger, Myers, Austin, Luallen, fourth row, Webb, Walker, Harris, Pence. Chronister, Gilbreath, and Stark participated in various concerts earning several high honors.

Memorizing their new music, A Cappella choir members spent many hours rehearsing.

Serving as student choir director, Bob Gilbert assisted in "Music Man" tryouts.

Choir

Students learned to harmonize their voices to express the best quality of music.

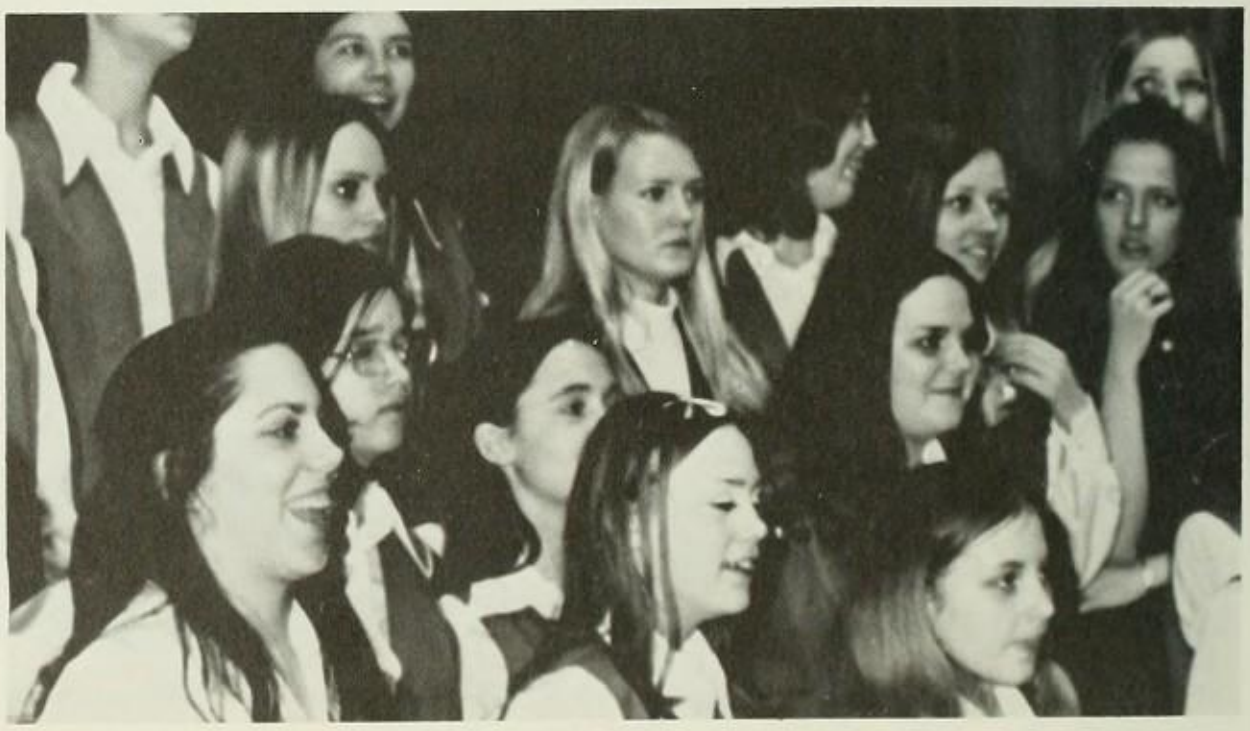
Exceptional talents of students in Women's Select blended in harmonic tones.



An Insight Into Teaching

Members listened as Vicki Slaydon gave her ideas on decorations for the dance.

Stressing the vocational opportunities in education, the Future Teachers of America helped to further the interests of young men and women in a teaching career. With the Student Aid Program returning for its second year, FTA members were provided with experiences to develop the qualities and aptitudes basic to successful teaching. Elementary and junior high school teachers gave a clear understanding to the development and the purposes of our public school teaching methods.

President Wendy Slaydon explained to students the duties of each committee.

Monthly meetings included preparations for the Christmas Dance, speeches by teachers and supervisors in the area and sometimes having a swimming party or a picnic. Students both experienced and learned what to expect when they pursued a career as a teacher.

Listening intently, Sophomore Jeri Shelton concentrated on the lecture.

Deep Concern For Other People

Sponsored by the Y.W.C.A., the Y-Teens planned varied service projects to help others. For their Christmas project, they held a canned food drive for the Emergency Food Pantry, and offered fifteen dollars to the class that contributed the most goods. The club gave an entertaining talent program for the Four Seasons Nursing Home and sold candy to raise funds for worthy causes.

Y-Teen girls enjoyed slumber parties, come-as-you-are breakfasts, conferences and guest lectures, along with all the worthwhile and enjoyable services they performed for the good of the surrounding community.

Winning fifteen dollars for bringing the most cans, Susan Safko, Steve Derrick, Chuck Taylor and Carol Barber represented part of Mrs. Georgia Ogle's second period class.

Concern for other people characterized Y-Teen officers Chairman Marilyn Squire, Representative Dennis Morris, President Barbie Gott and Chairman Jackie Smallwood.

Accepting a plaque from Y-Teen director, Mrs. Linda Johnson, Mrs. Georgia Ogle was congratulated for her accomplishment of collecting 288 cans from English students.

Y-Teen sponsor, Miss Becky Levin provided able assistance for club members.

Experimenting With Creative Writings

Students were encouraged to express themselves and their intermost thoughts through the Creative Writing Club. Members composed poems and stories and presented them to the club for appreciative and constructive criticism. Song writers and poets, like the famous Rod McKuen, had their works discussed for better understanding of modern writing.

Collecting bottles and selling mistletoe helped contribute money to the collection for the club's treasury. Plans were made to attend a production toward the end of the year at the Country Dinner Playhouse. Students who joined the Creative Writing Club discovered that sharing the efforts and opinions of other fellow members could be very enjoyable for everyone present.

Advising the Creative Writing Club, Mrs. Nancy Chamberlain was sponsor.

Members James Holter and Denise Ellis reflected on the club's many discussions.

Elected by their fellow club members, officers Robin Hamm, Mindy Arnold and Joe Oliver were active in promoting their club to others and striving for improvement.

Laughing over a misunderstood statement, Creative Writing Club members Cindy Spurgin, Cindy Strain and officer Mindy Arnold seemed to enjoy their meetings.

Appreciating someone's writing efforts, Joni Chronister smiled her approval.

Receiving Assistance, Knowledge And Culture

Interested students were given an opportunity to see some of the different types of libraries through the origination of the Library Club. They took numerous field trips in order to visit a variety of libraries in the Dallas area. Early in the year, the members arranged to tour the Dallas Times Herald news library and later saw the University of Texas' medical library. On another excursion, they visited the law library at S.M.U.

Being an active member in the club was an excellent occasion for students to become acquainted with various types of libraries and to learn about their functions to the public and to the students. Members were made aware of their community.

Serving as Library Club officers, Darrell Hardy, president; Judy Vance, secretary; Sharon Dodd, vice-president and Dawn Willis, treasurer; reviewed newest arrivals.

Working busily at the card catalog, Linda Flath and Kenneth Seay helped to organize index cards while other club members observed their work and contributed advice.

Sponsors Mrs. Regina Green, Miss Elizabeth Winkler and Mrs. Marie Remund were always eager to be of assistance.

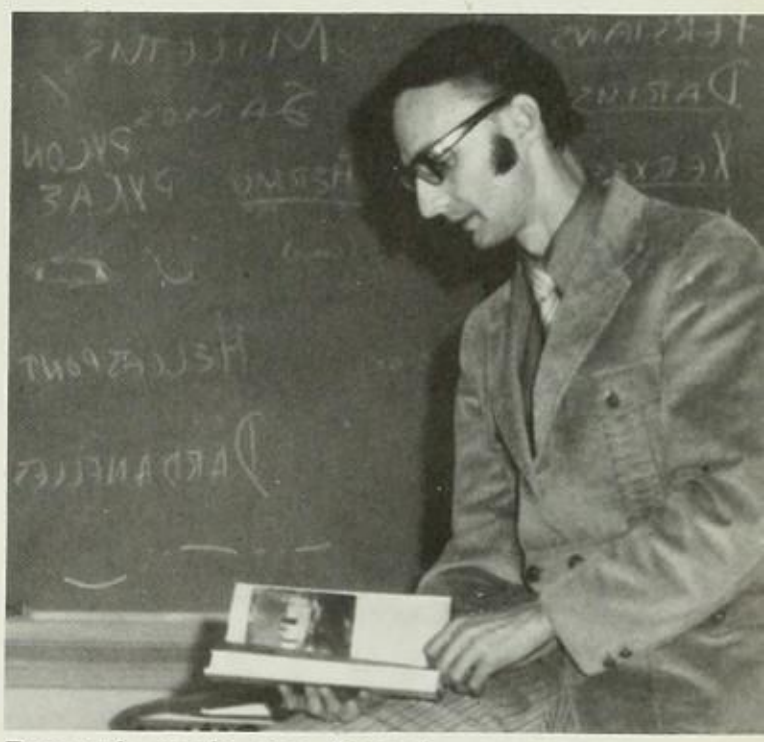
Assisted by Susan MacDonald, Freshman Rhonda Hinton checked out a book.

Learning About Our Heritage

Beginning its first year at Turner, the History Forum was created because of a growing interest in history other than in the classroom. Students sent for a charter from the State Historical Society and the new club was begun successfully. "Learning about the world we live in" constituted the main objective of the forum, but interests varied widely from archeology to the local history.

Ecology and pollution were discussed by History Forum officers Pam Cordell, Ricky Huntsman, Charlie Goode and Sandy Hall as they pondered for a possible solution.

Forum members listened intently as the remarkable history of rocks was explained.



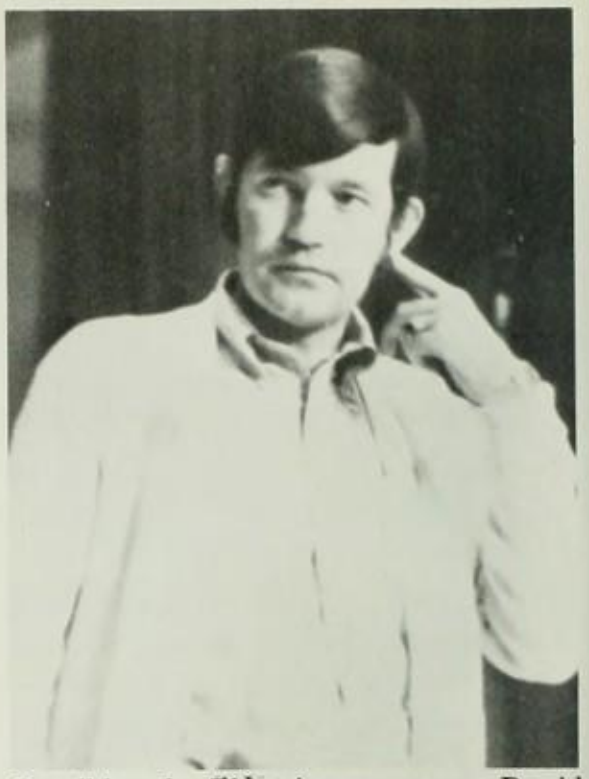
Research work was done by sponsor Mr. Kenneth Prewitt before a lecture.

Members attended history-oriented workshops in Nacogdoches and Fort Worth and other historical cities across the state. One Saturday, the club helped clean up the city and earned money for their treasury at the same time by collecting aluminum cans for Alcoa recycling. Students with a sincere interest in history enjoyed the lively discussions and the educational experience gained as the result of being a member.

Accomplished Acting Showing Superiority

Students who had proven to have a superior ability in speech and drama were chosen members of the International Thespian Society. To gain membership into this society, drama students had to participate in speech tournaments and productions. They earned the ten needed points by placing in the finals at tournaments, or by outstanding work in any of the dramatic fields available.

Troop #2158 exhibited their skills in the production of a play and varied scenes for Thespians night. Members of the International Thespians hoped to win college scholarships for their excellence in the dramatic arts.



Bewildered, Thespian sponsor David Heath contemplated his dilemma.

Suspense and anticipation showed in the faces of Thespian officers Diane Speigal, secretary, Liz Maxfield, treasurer, and Jo Ann Reeves, president, as they waited for Vice-President Robert Nathan's large bubble to burst covering his face.

Thespians Fancy Oliver and David Paulsen were cast as contented sweethearts.

Re-enacting Drama class scene, Joey Lopez entertained everyone with hilarious antics and expressions during an improvisation.

Committee chairmen for the Art Club Felix Castillo, Ginger Scott and Randy Shanks spent many long hours painting on the stage sets for "The Emperor's New Clothes."

Art students Gary Hayes, James Gill and Tom Madden painted diligently on their class project in an attempt to earn a good grade for completing their art work.

Revealing Artistic Abilities

Students interested in expanding their art program found a way through the Art Club. During meetings, creative projects were worked on and discussed while members strove to acquire a better understanding of art and what it encompassed. On one of their field trips, the students went to SMU to study the art exhibits.

With the coming of spring, the annual art show was presented where student artists displayed their paintings, rugs, mobiles, and other projects to the public. To earn money for both artist and club, some projects were selected to be sold. Taking art away from the classroom, the Art Club helped students to develop their talent.

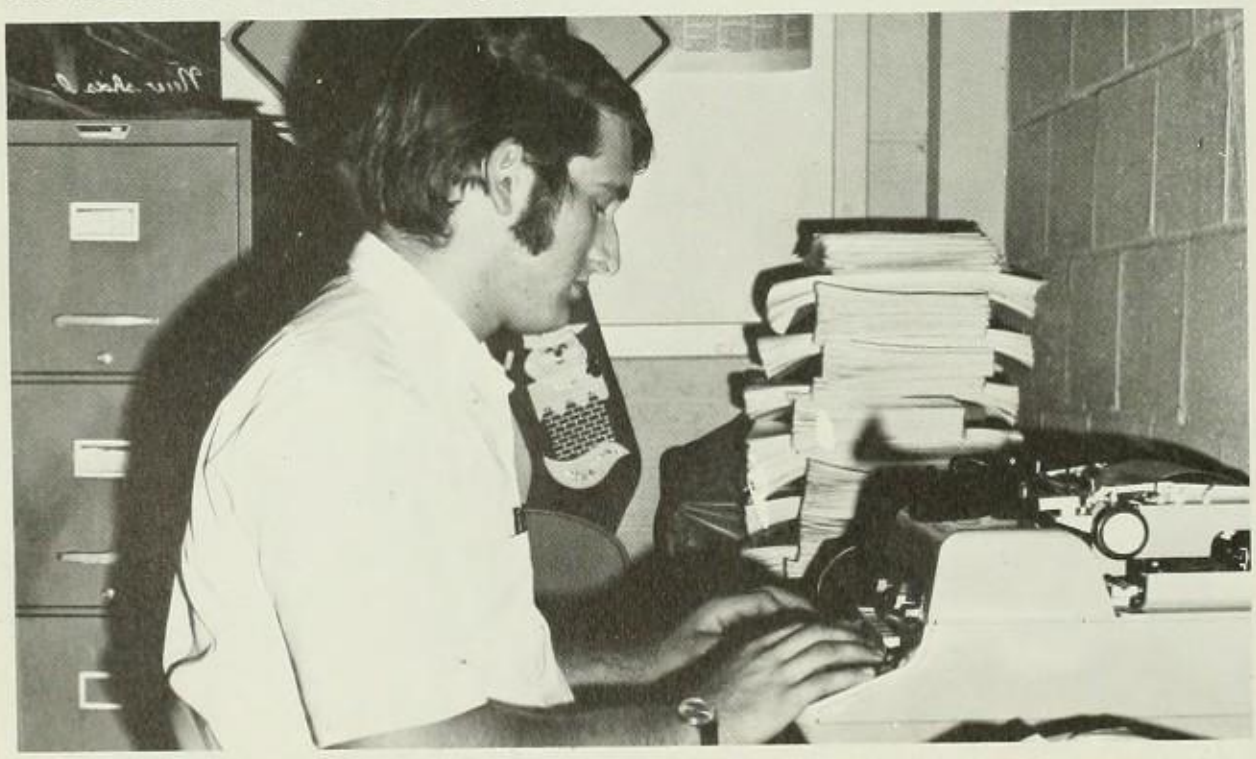
By pounding metal disks with a spoon, David McGuffin was able to make rings.

Arriving at Turner at midsemester, Mrs. Mary Hatzenbuehler took over the position of sponsoring the Art Club's many projects, exhibits and other various activities.

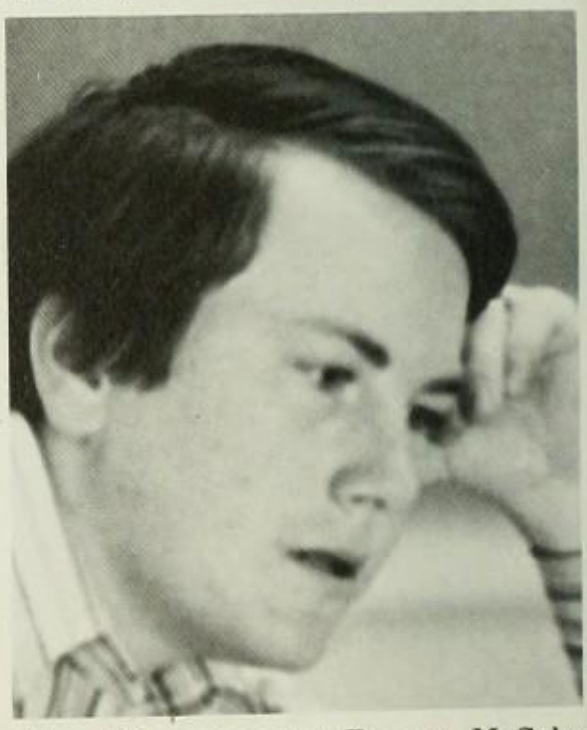
Sponsor Mr. Thomas Toulmin, helped "Lion's Tale" Staff meet their deadlines.

Layout editor Laura Sandall checked for any mistakes on the cropping of pictures.

Under the direction of their new sponsor, Mr. Thomas Toulmin, members of the "Lion's Tale" worked hard to publish an interesting and informative bi-weekly newspaper which included campus news, such as sports, school policies, club activities, and editorials.



Sales manager Randall Howard strove to finish the last few lines of his news copy.



Advertising manager Tommy McCabe contemplated on number of ad sales.

All football and basketball articles were written by Ricky Conway, the sports editor.

Serving As Chief Informant

Reflections of a school year — campus news, sports and school policies were all a part of the 1970-71 "Lion's Tale." Published every two weeks, the paper spotlighted students with interesting summer vacations and introduced new teachers to the school. One of the major duties of the paper was to explain various school policies and decisions to the student body.

In July, several "Lion's Tale" members attended a workshop at Texas A&M University to improve the quality of the paper. Under the direction of a new sponsor, Mr. Thomas Toulmin, the bi-weekly paper served as the chief informant on campus news events.

As editor-in-chief, Pam Bristow worked hard to publish an interesting paper.

Copy editor Nancy Wendeborn proofread news stories turned in by first-year reporters.

"Lion's Tale" members discussed the news which would appear in the following issue.

Blood, Sweat And Tears

"Writing is not literature unless it gives to the reader a pleasure which arises not only from the things said, but from the way in which they are said."

Stopford A. Brooke

Second-year member Kathy Saldana prepared the format as layout editor.

Staffer Carolyn Cummens emphasized the strains of being Copy editor.

Accompanying Time And Patience

Tears, patience, pride and expression plus the efforts of eighteen members were important in creating the 1971 ROAR. Attending a summer yearbook workshop at Texas A&M University, the staff, under the guidance of Mr. Calvin Grantham, learned the basics of journalism styles and techniques.

Crystalizing thoughts into clear plans, designing the cover, writing copy and fitting headlines were but a few of the many problems confronted by each ROAR staff member. Each deadline, members were easily detected by their tired eyes and sleepy faces. Into the early hours of morning, the staffers fought to complete their sections. Striving for quality in copy, layout styles and photography, the staff made frequent trips to Taylor Publishing Company and Gay Studio. Members shared a heavy responsibility, but all anxiously awaited the presentation in May. With Carol Wessely serving as editor-in-chief, the staff worked especially hard in an effort to create a book focused on emotions.

Serving his second year as ROAR sponsor, Mr. Calvin Grantham strove with his staff to meet the continual growing demands in local yearbook sales and competition.

Editor Carol Wessely searched remaining pages before the major deadline.

Roar Staff

Catching up on past assignments Doug Gressett and Bill Wood prepared to work.

Film in hand, Pat Woodworth prepared to meet the tasks of a photographer.

Staffer Jon Liston took a break from the burdens of being Sports editor.

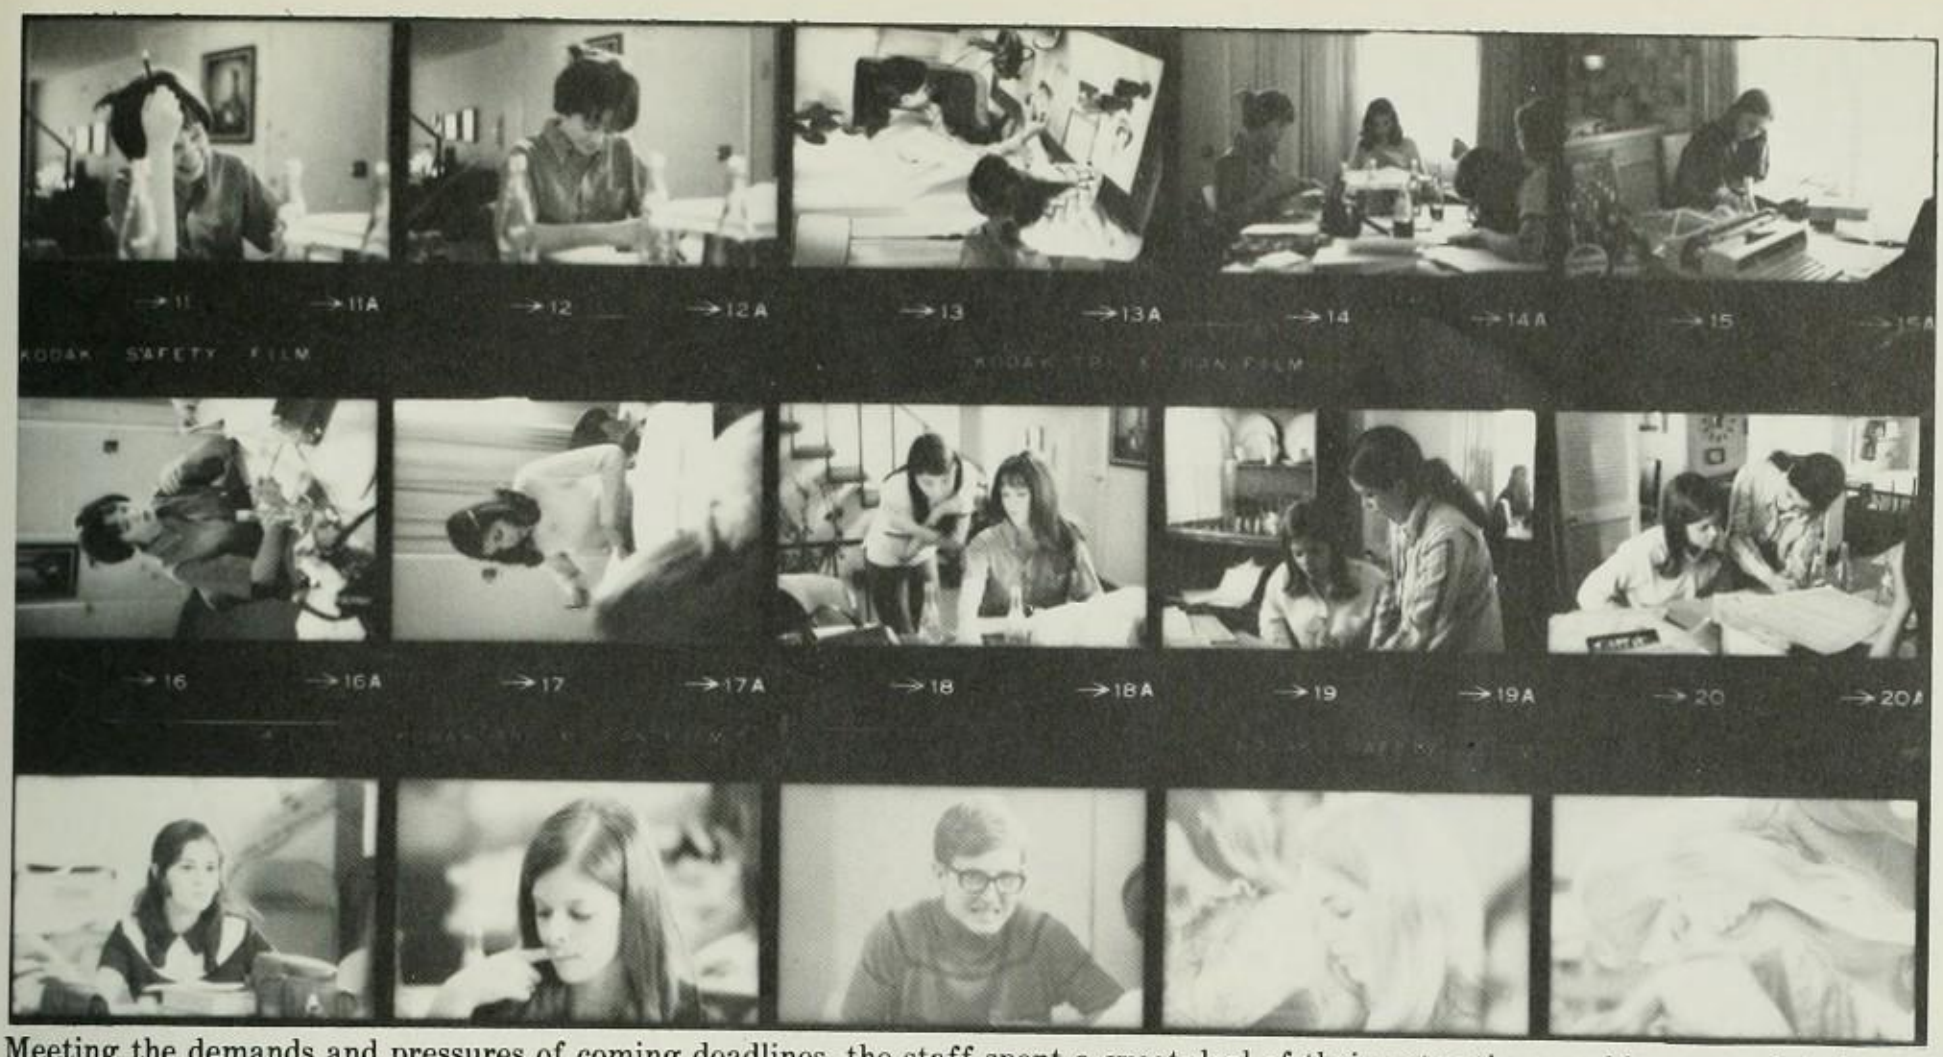
Sacrificing Fridays, Donna Winfrey covered sports activities with camera.

Staffer Janice Tomlin busied her time alphabetizing the Freshman section.

Striving to meet financial demands, Linda McMurray sold a ROAR.

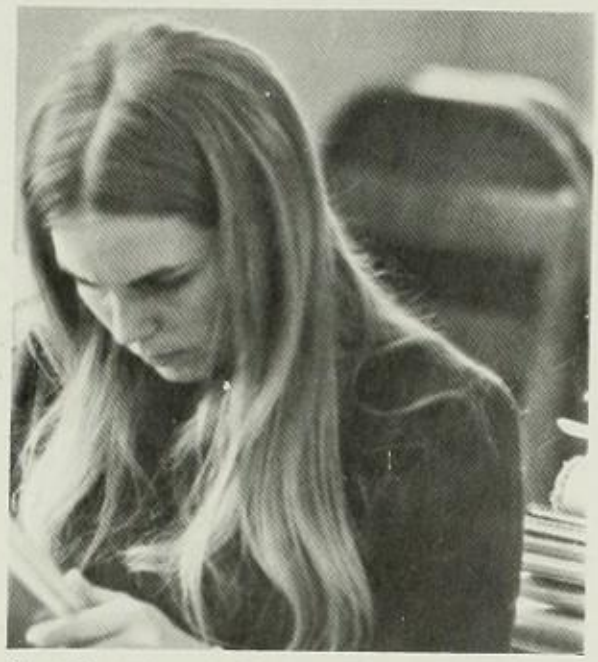
Assisting in bookkeeping, Gloria Adamo worked to clear the books for Ads.

Student Activities editor Lynn Hulsey paused a moment in her day's schedule.

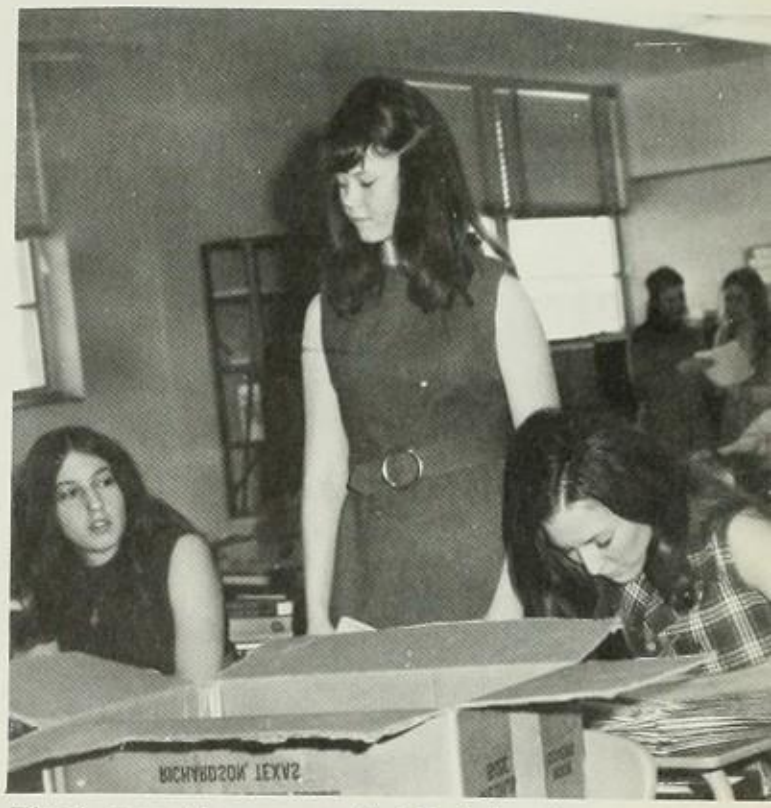


Meeting the demands and pressures of coming deadlines, the staff spent a great deal of their extra time working many late hours.

Celebrating a birthday, Nancy Bristor served her Senior year as Honors editor.



Staffer Donna Foster preoccupied her time writing copy for Honors Section.



Final corrections were finished by the Senior editors and Lorri Dickstein.

Staff member Stanley Smith worked in accomplishing a better sports section.

Junior Liz Maxfield took an interest in organizing the new academics section.

Learning some 400 names kept Sylvia Villarreal busy as Junior class editor.

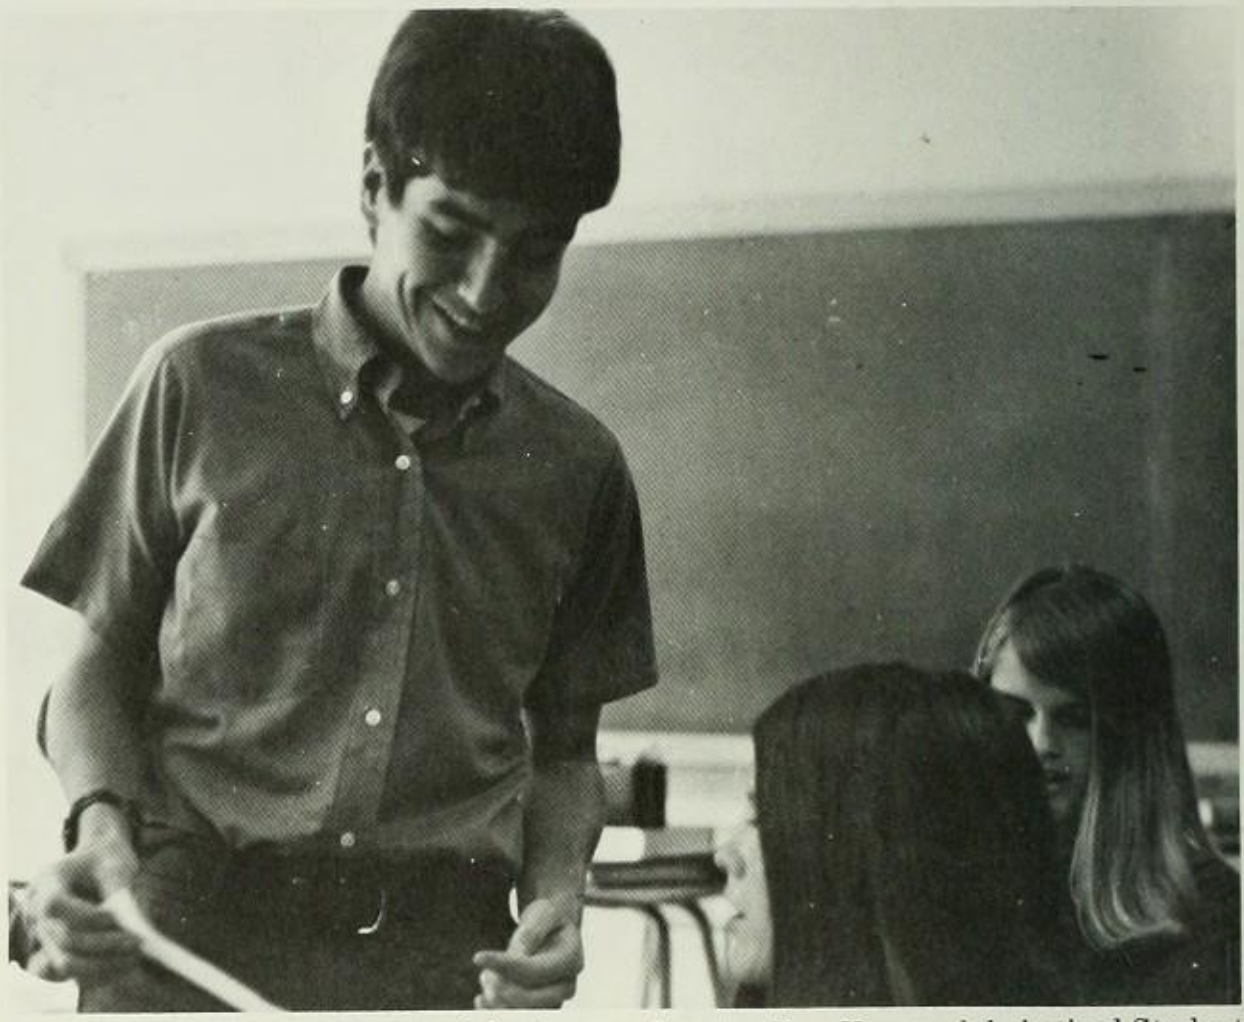
Changes Accomplished By Effort

Under the guidance of Sponsors Miss Dorothy Selman, Miss Patsy Greenfield, Mr. Kenneth McElroy and Mr. Darrell Lewis, the Student Senate started the year with several changes. Instead of meeting twice a month, the Senate was assigned a homeroom class. Formal meetings were held on Thursday of each week leaving the remaining four days for working on projects or committee work. Senators found that more work could be accomplished when meeting every day.

Along with other school activities, such as selling "Spirit Buttons," members worked hard in preparation for the success of the Homecoming and Valentine dances. The Senate also sponsored some assemblies, school elections, student opinion polls and published the yearly student directory.

In an effort to better represent the students in school policies, the Senate held monthly "Open Student Senate Meetings" for students wishing to voice their opinions on the dress code, parking lot or other school issues. Senators found that devoting long hours of their time resulted in a better relationship between students, faculty and administration. Through these efforts much progress was made.

Organizing Homecoming Activities, Miss Dorothy Selman advised Senators.



Junior Senator Robert Durk and Sophomore Senator Kay Young alphabetized Student Directory Information forms in an attempt to further improve the organization.

Senior Superlative elections were tallied by Sophomore Senator Sandra Adrian Hall.

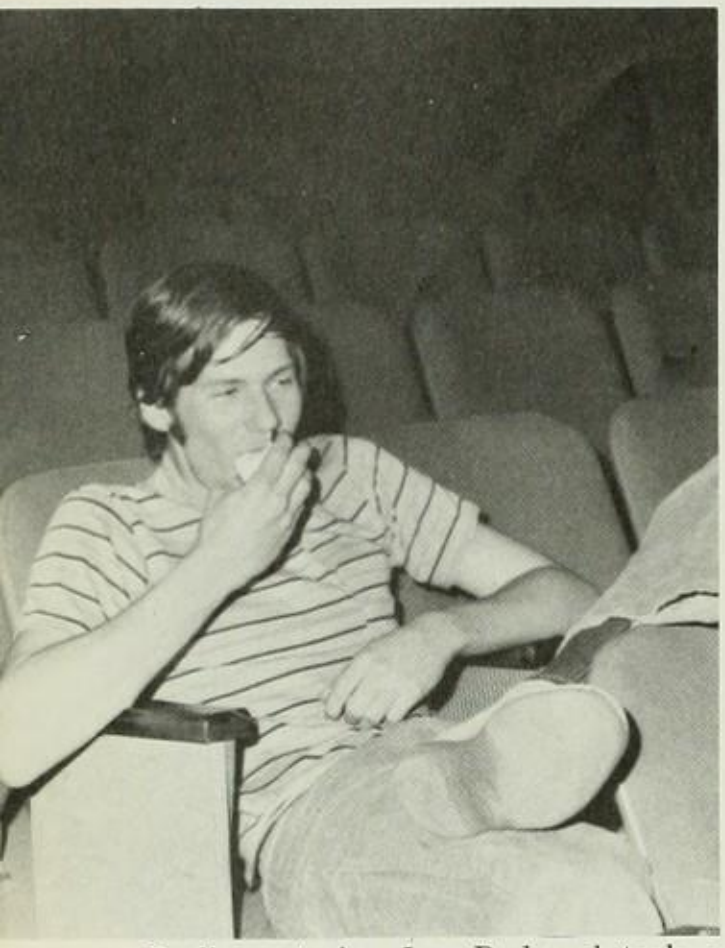
Serving as Student Senate treasurer, Tandy Holter concentrated diligently.

Vice-Principal, Mr. J. T. Parish confronted many different and interesting student issues at the open Student Senate meetings.

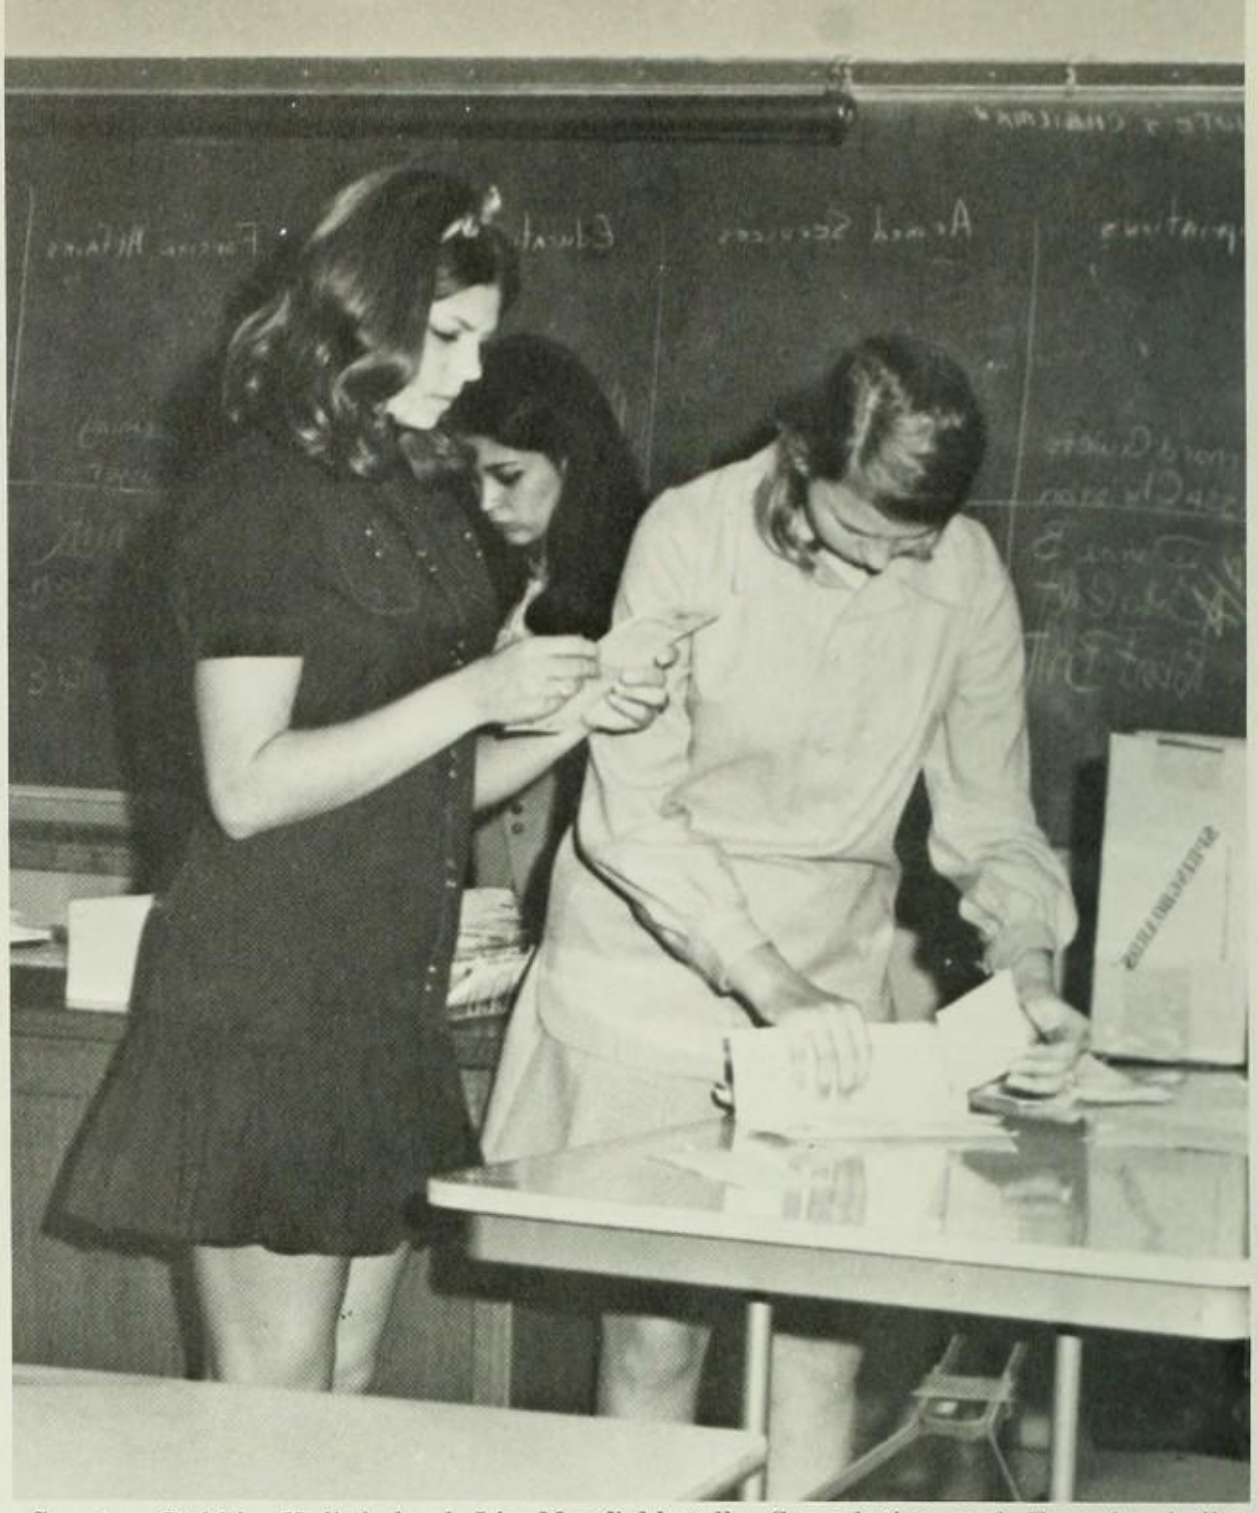
Presiding as vice-president, Senior Phil Houser served on several committees.

Class balloting was conducted by Sponsors Mr. Ken McElroy and Mr. Darrell Lewis.

Senators met thirty minutes every school day to discuss the students' suggestions.

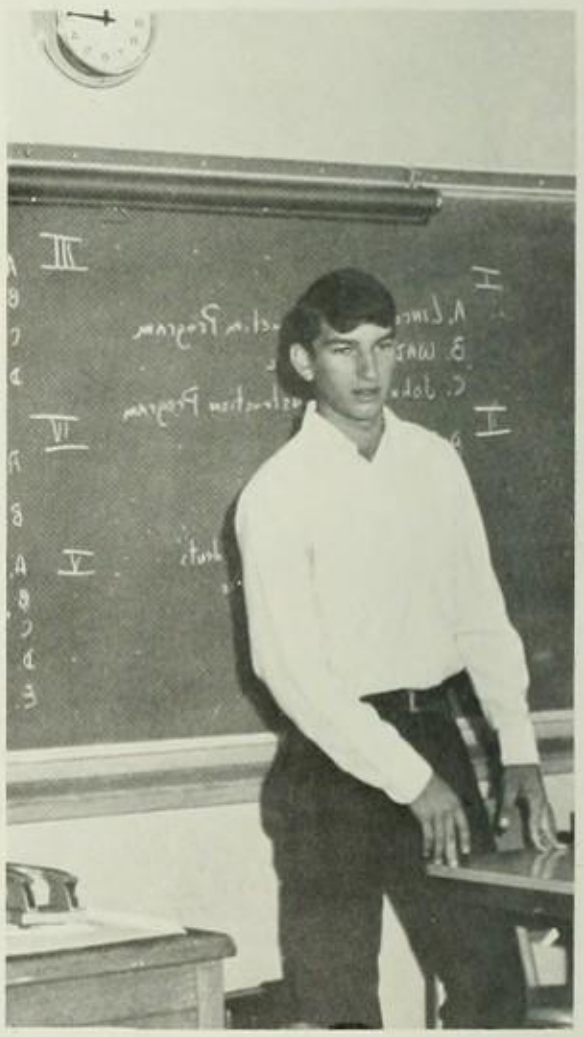


Parliamentarian Lee Rudeseal took a break from the daily Senate routine.



Senator Debbie Hall helped Liz Maxfield tally Superlative and Favorite ballots.

Senators discussed results concerning student polls taken earlier in the school year.

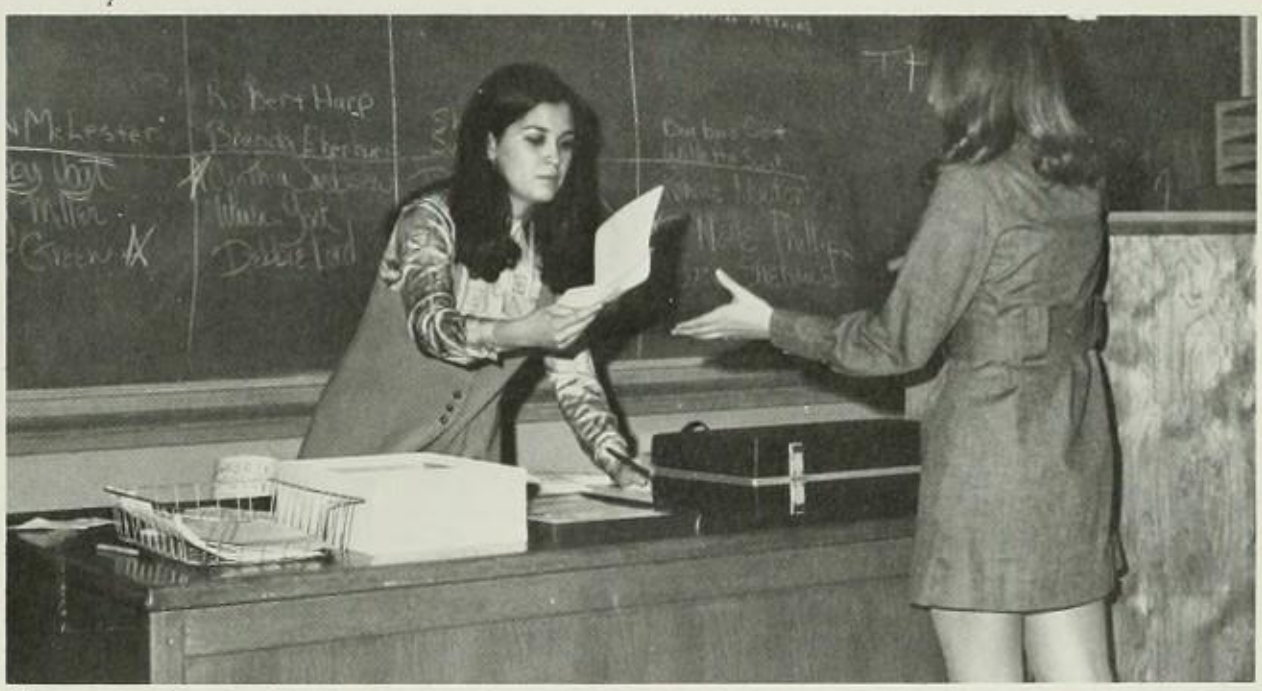


Student Senate President Eddie King addressed Senators during homeroom.

Student Senators

Along with other senators, Senior Jane Carver listened to the week's new business.

Executive Committee member Jim Van Winkle prepared the week's agenda.



Secretary Kathy Saldana passed out Favorite ballots to homeroom representatives.

With the aid of the officers, President Eddie King developed an efficient Senate.

Serving her first year as Senate sponsor, Mrs. Patsy Greenfield expressed ideas on decorations for the dance.

Experiences For Future Homemakers

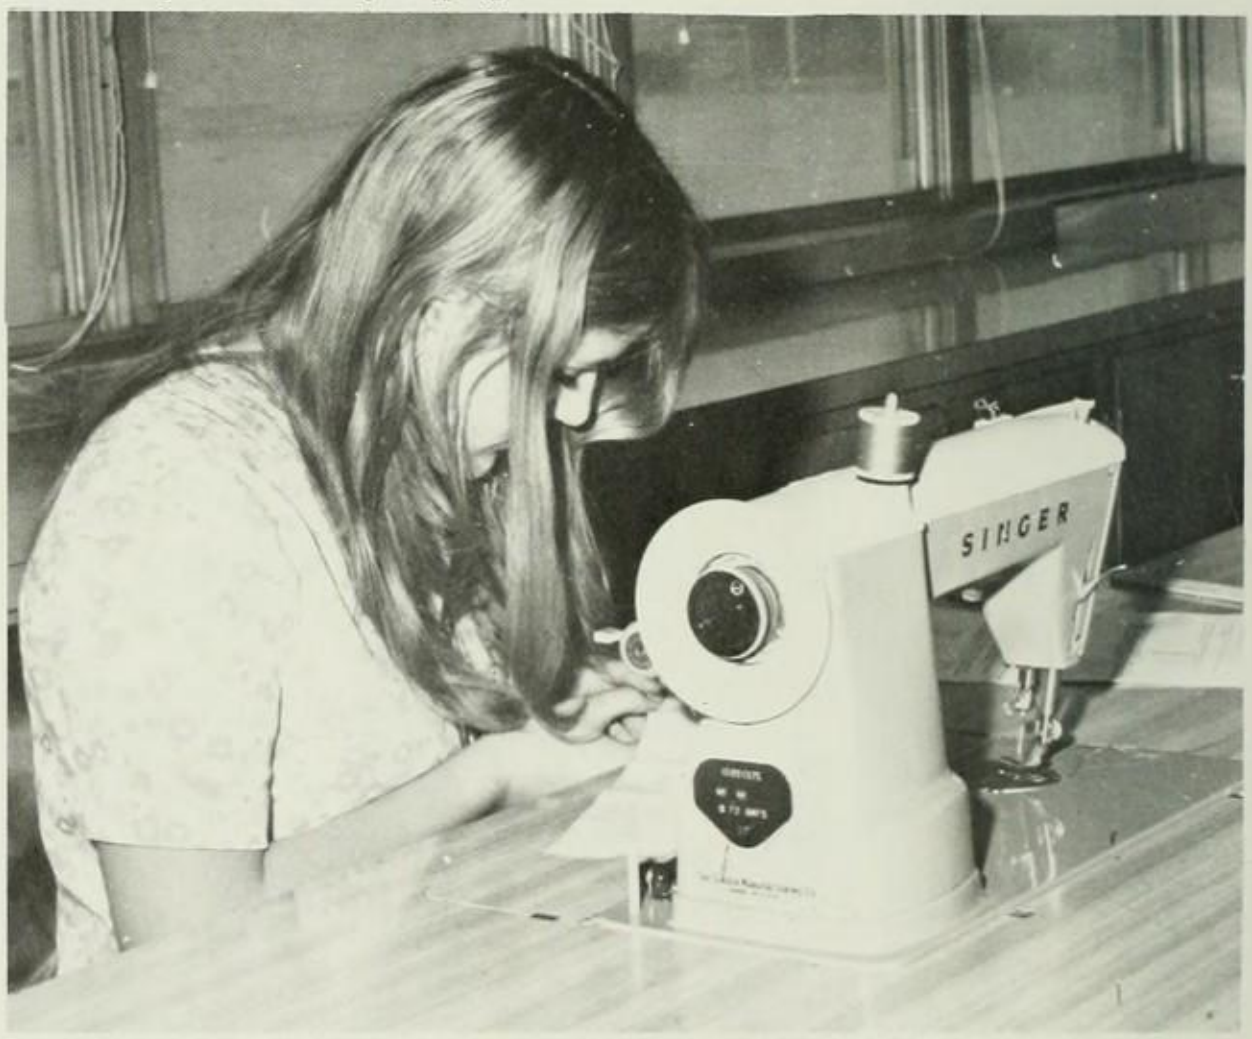
Responsible for presenting a program every month to the Home Economics classes, Future Homemakers of America learned different skills from the guest speakers and discovered useful ideas to apply to themselves and their home. Girls were divided into three separate chapters: Oneita, Blanton and Junior, according to their classification, but all worked together to maintain and improve this worthwhile organization.

One of the main programs was the presentation of the fashion show featuring garments sewn by the homemaking students. Future homemakers acquired a sense of accomplishment and responsibility as they presented interesting and educational programs at each of the monthly FHA meetings.

Elected officers for the Junior chapter, (left to right) Norvell, Allen, Sharp, Cordell, Henry, Garrett, Banning, Lindsay, Grimmer and Roan planned first year programs.

Members Debbie Lynn, Susan McGee

Beauty queen "Miss Texas" spoke to the girls in FHA during a special assembly.



Learning to install a lapped zipper into her garment, Debbie Parks worked intently on finishing the task correctly and remembering the proper method for use in the future.

and Debra Reece listened to a speaker.

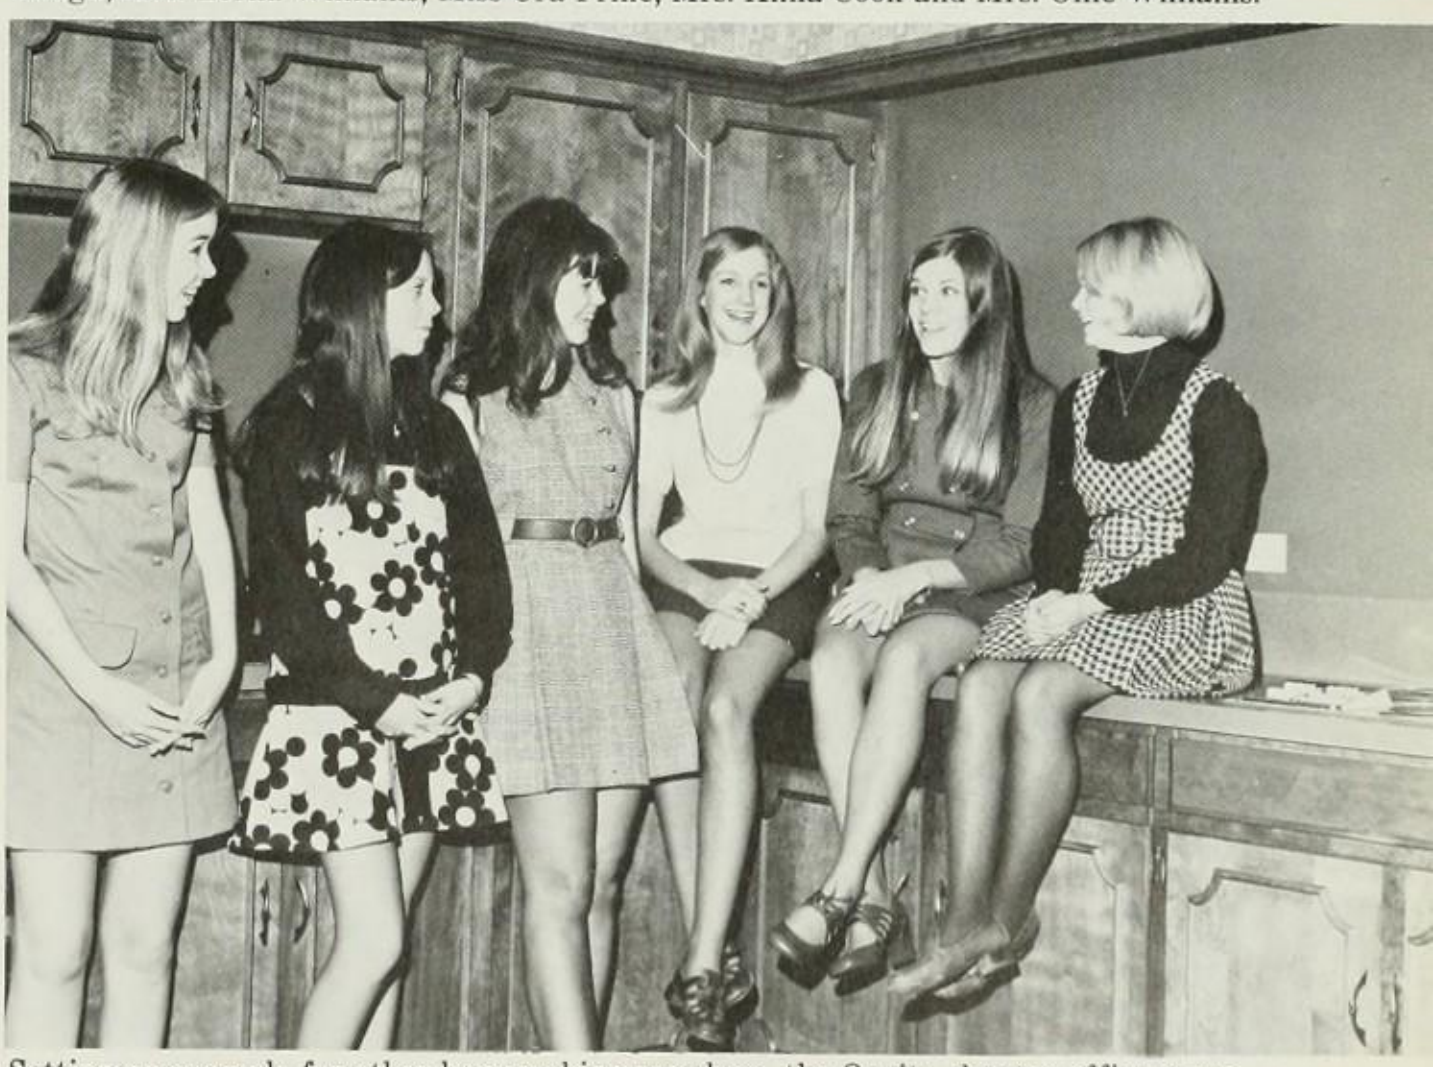
Sponsors for the Future Homemakers of America were (right to left) Mrs. Sharon Baugh, Mrs. Lorna Williams, Miss Ora Prine, Mrs. Anna Cook and Mrs. Ollie Williams.

Proudly modeling her creation, Debbie Simons took part in the fashion show.



Setting an example for other homemaking members, the Oneita chapter officers consisted of (left to right) Fleming, Pinkerton, Cummens, Priest, Strickland, McGowan.

Recreating Of Roman Customs

Appreciation for the ancient Roman and Greek civilizations was acquired at the Latin Club meetings. Initiation began the year, and new members discovered the trials of being a slave. Starting the year early the members sold book covers in blue and gold to earn money for the Roman banquet.

Christmas was celebrated by the Saturnalia, "festival of lights," where members enjoyed a feast of Roman food. Yearly, the club attended the state convention of the Junior Classical League where students entered contests and attended seminars concerning Latin culture.

Initiation of slave Joey Sciba proved to be something he would never forget, as he somewhat unwillingly washed the feet of a demanding patrician, Pat Malone.

Adorned with a holly wreath, Robert Harris laughed with Diane McKimble after exchanging white elephant gifts during the club's Christmas "Saturnalia" celebration.

Providing leadership for the Latin Club, officers Chuck Brandt, Kerry Marchio, Becky McMillen, Liz Maxfield and Bob Durk showed their various talents and imaginations.

Sponsor Miss Laura Harbin helped members achieve a greater understanding and enjoyment of Latin.

Discovering Spanish Through Communication

Better understanding between Spanish students and their Southern neighbors was emphasized by the Spanish Club. With unifying intentions, the club corresponded with South American and Mexican pen-pals, invited native speakers for guests at the meetings and received Latin American newspapers for discussion.

For their Christmas project, the club donated well over one-hundred dollars to aid Spanish Americans through the Salvation Army program. Annually, the Pan-American Student Forum has held a convention and this year, the club joined to participate in the activities with other groups at San Antonio. Members found that speaking a foreign language such as Spanish helped them to stimulate a growing interest in foreign travel and study and aided in improving their foreign communicative abilities.

Sponsoring the Spanish Club, Mrs. Nancy Strickland had a rewarding task.

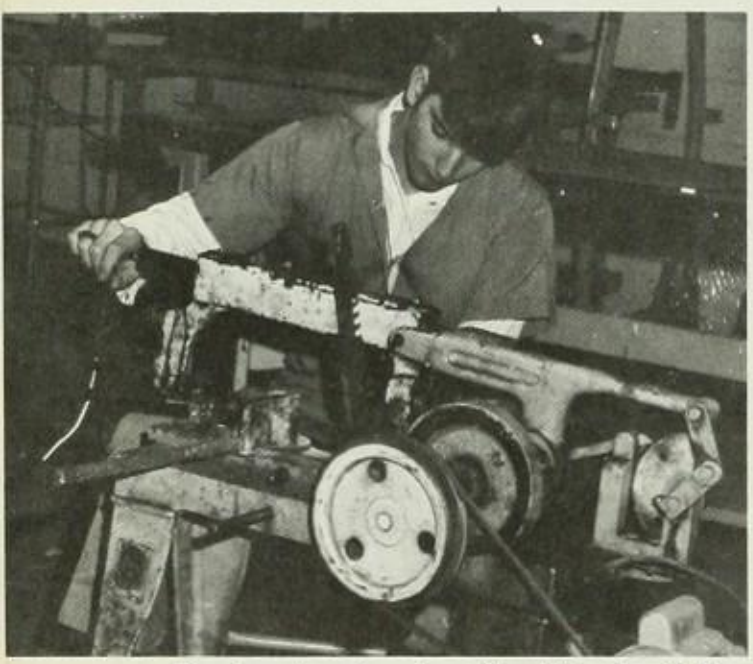
During the Christmas party, Mrs. Martha Charlebois joined in the games.

Dancers Carol Thompson, Julio Cruz, Anna Maria Gonzalez, Conrad Garcia and Rosiada Martin won first prize in our district P.A.S.F. talent competition representing Turner.

Love rocks were hand-painted with bright colors and sayings for selling on Valentines' Day by officers Conrad Garcia, Brenda Barnett, Tandy Holter and Dave Wallace.

Learning Techniques Of Farming

Under the direction of Mr. Ronald Halton, the Future Farmers of America strived to learn the techniques of farming and to gain knowledge in all aspects of agriculture. Students received classroom and laboratory instruction, as well as, on-the-job training to develop their skills. Focusing on new, modern farming, FFA innovated a better look at today's agriculture with new ideas and inventions.



Trying to cut a length of "re-bar," Ray Gregory operated a mechanical saw.

Taking their welding outside, Jimmy Thomas and Ricky Richardson worked on a barrel. Bottom right: Developing his skill, a student demonstrated soldering techniques.

Means Of Expression

Debater Susan Zeigler expressed her opinions on local controversial issues.

Stated in its established constitution, the purpose and goal of the Debate Club was "To encourage interest and participation in interscholastic debating and to provide members with an opportunity to learn and practice techniques in public speaking on controversial subjects."

Serving as an outlet for students' opinions, members debated on various issues concerning different activities. After having participated in area speech tournaments, debaters learned speaking with authority was an asset to a person's everyday experiences.

Debate Club officers Sophomore Cathy Polito, secretary; Junior Margie Polito, vice-president; and Junior Chuck Brandt, president, discussed an upcoming debate.

In disagreement, Junior Bob Durk questioned the speaker's views on the subject.

Sponsor Mrs. Wanda Middleton explained rùles to member, Kim Stalling.

Displaying Technical Abilities

Students, parents and teachers were informed of opportunities in the engineering fields through Junior Engineering Technical Society. Different engineering courses and their requirements were presented to interested students along with several professions available in the engineering field.

Beginning with State Bridge Building Contests in the fall, JETS found themselves busy the rest of the school year. The National Engineering Aptitude Search was held by the club in January, then, in March, they attended the JETS State Conference at Texas A&M. Along with these projects, the group took field trips to talk with various people about advancements in technology and careers in the field of engineering.

Programs were planned by Gary Springer, President Mark McDonald, Vice President David Frizzel, Treasurer Jerome Reeves and Vice President Glenn Lavender.

After a recent JET Club meeting, Sponsor Mrs. Ann Casey emphasized topics.

Developing Interests In Math

Helping students understand mathematics was one purpose of the Mu Alpha Theta Math Club. Members learned to enjoy math and to achieve higher goals in math-related subjects.

Two major projects were sponsored by the club during this past semester. In February, it sent two students to participate in the Hockaday School Math Contest. Later, in spring, Math Club sponsored the National Mathematics Contest. Interspersed with these major events, math-related programs, problems were presented by each of the club's members at the bi-monthly meetings.

Treasurer Ernie Patterson, Secretary Doranne Word, President Lorri Dickstein and Vice President Jonathan Liston discussed one of the many problems posed by the club.

Math Club members Stanley Smith, Jerome Reeves, John Scott, Ernie Patterson and Doranne Word along with Miss Janie Brown and Mrs. Norma Huffstedler listened intently to the planned programs presented at each meeting by the different members.

Sponsor Mrs. Marquerite Johnson considered an idea to be presented at one of the meetings.

Exploring New Roles

Many opportunities for scientific investigations helped to stimulate interest in different areas of science among members of the Science Club. Several experiments were made to show important roles that science plays in the world today.

Seminars concerning techniques in biology were given every month. Field trips to science-related areas were taken every other month in order to explore various expanding fields of science.

Experiments with various plants and microscopic organisms were conducted by Susan Zeigler, Steve Hiatt, Bill Marshall and Donna Cox during Science Club meetings.

Program material was obtained from different sources by Sponsors Mrs. Jean Bowie and Mrs. Terese Shaffer.

Learning to use a microscope, President John Scott looked at biological specimens.

Learning New Skills

Gaining valuable experience for later years, all Vocational Office Education students were trained on the job. Students developed many needed office techniques by learning how to operate various business machines and dictaphones.

Students who wanted to obtain jobs immediately after graduation were aided by learning, developing, and experiencing the different business skills. Workers sent out by the program were equipped to meet the challenges of new office job.

Working at Otis Engineering was a rewarding experience for Sandy Parsley.

VOE students received valuable classroom instruction as well as on-the-job training.

Filing records for secretaries to use was one of Sue Burnaugh's daily tasks.

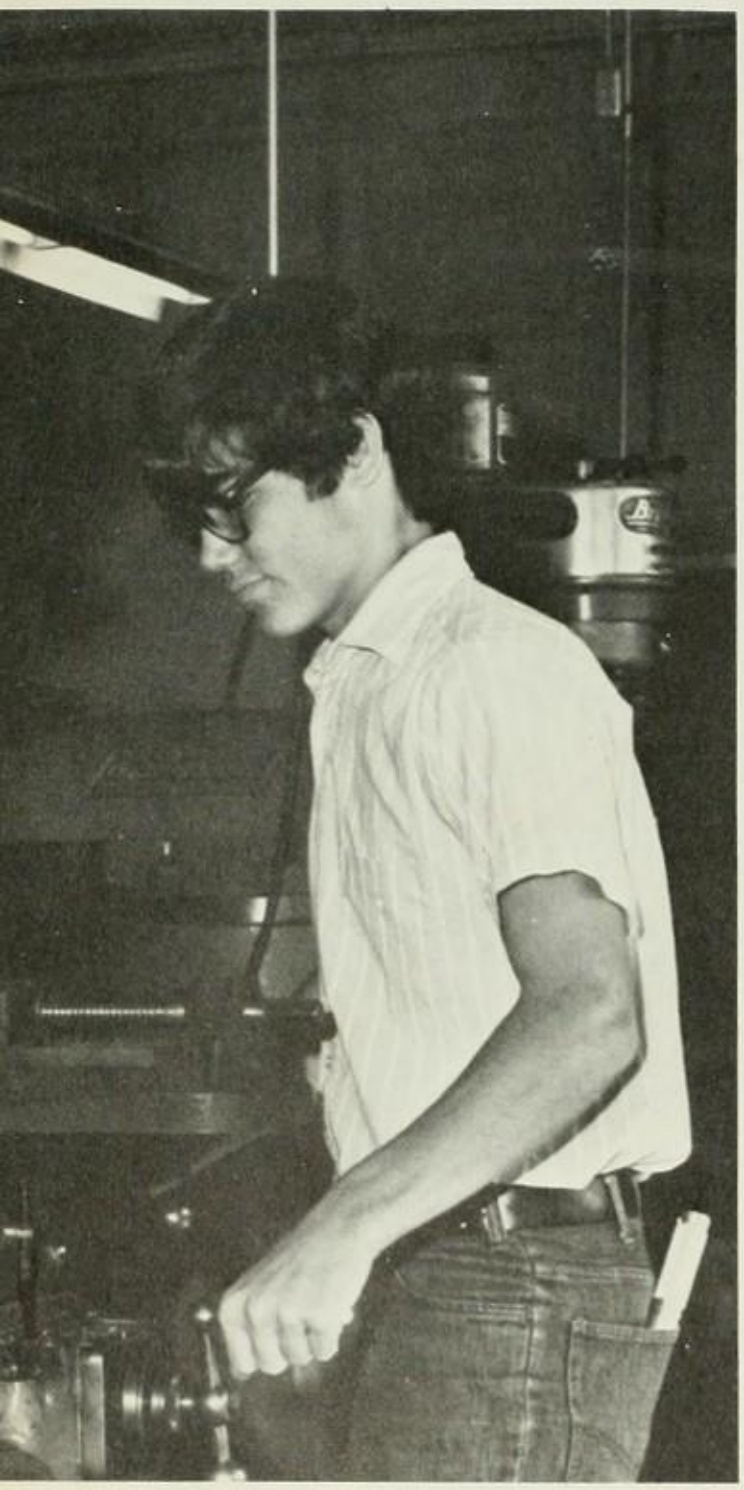
Afternoons for Senior Shirley Autry meant working a compugraphic machine.

Teaching Industrial Techniques

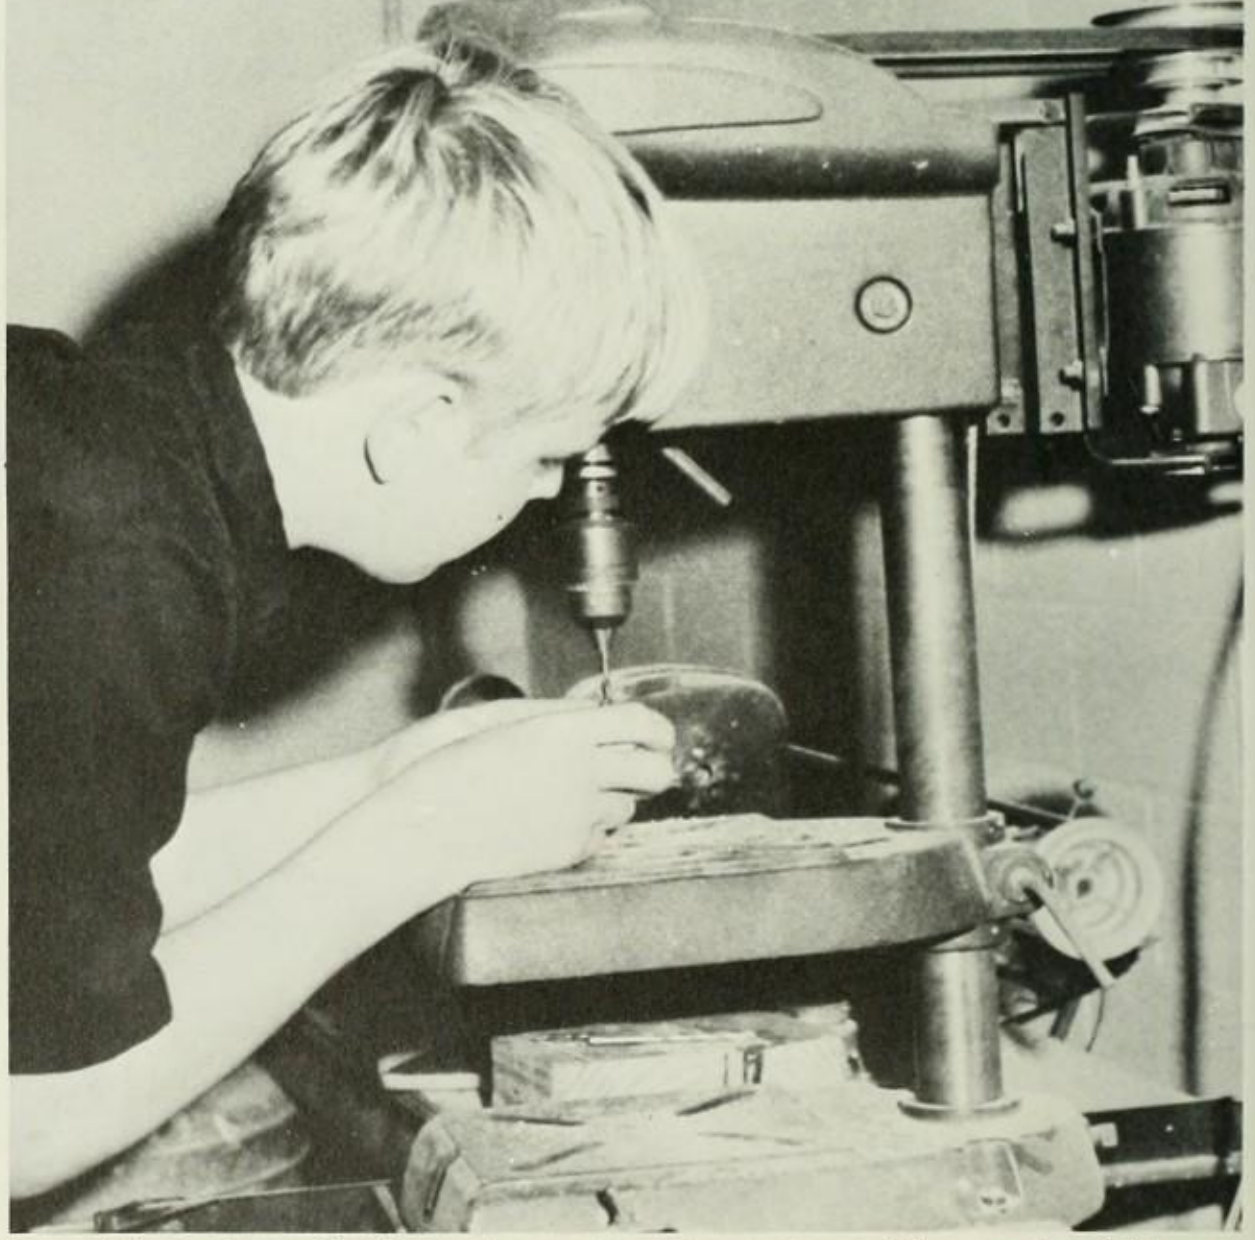
Some of the many courses that helped to make up Industrial Arts Club were machine shop, woodshop and drafting. Production techniques and industrial processing were taught to individuals in these classes.

Students with similar interests were encouraged to share skills and ideas with one another. Careers in Industrial Arts were often discussed and explained to those interested in this field of work.

Assisting John Gheen and Greg Marcom, Mr. Pat Spicer pointed out some important drafting and industrial processing techniques during the two hour class period.



Adjustments had to be made by Robert Hebert in order to make sure all of his calculations would be near accurate.



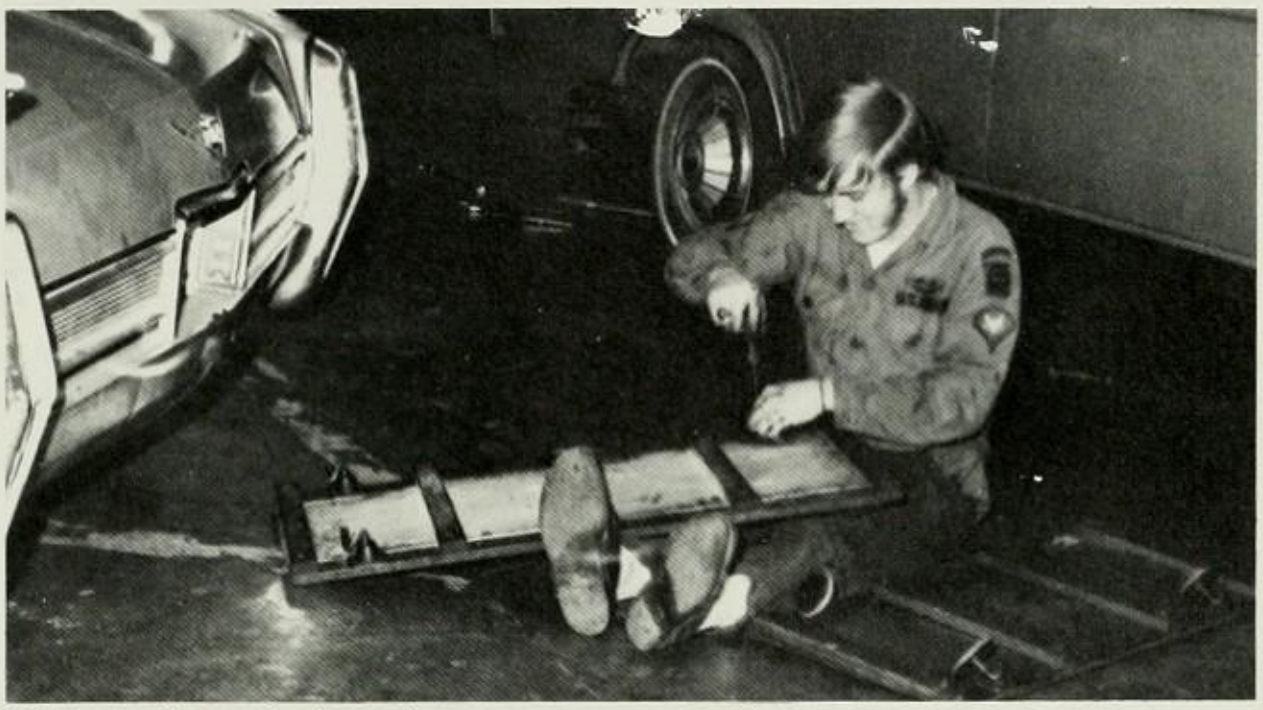
One of the tools used by Larry Jensen to make wooden articles was the drill press.

Training For Careers

Students taking the Cooperative Vocational Academic Education program put to use the idea that a person could learn more by participating in various activities than by merely listening to daily classroom lectures. Gaining valuable experience for later years, students worked half-a-day at an occupation they had chosen.

Among the jobs offered were general construction, carpentry, clerical office training, auto mechanics and auto maintenance. Instruction in these skills helped to train members for careers after graduation.

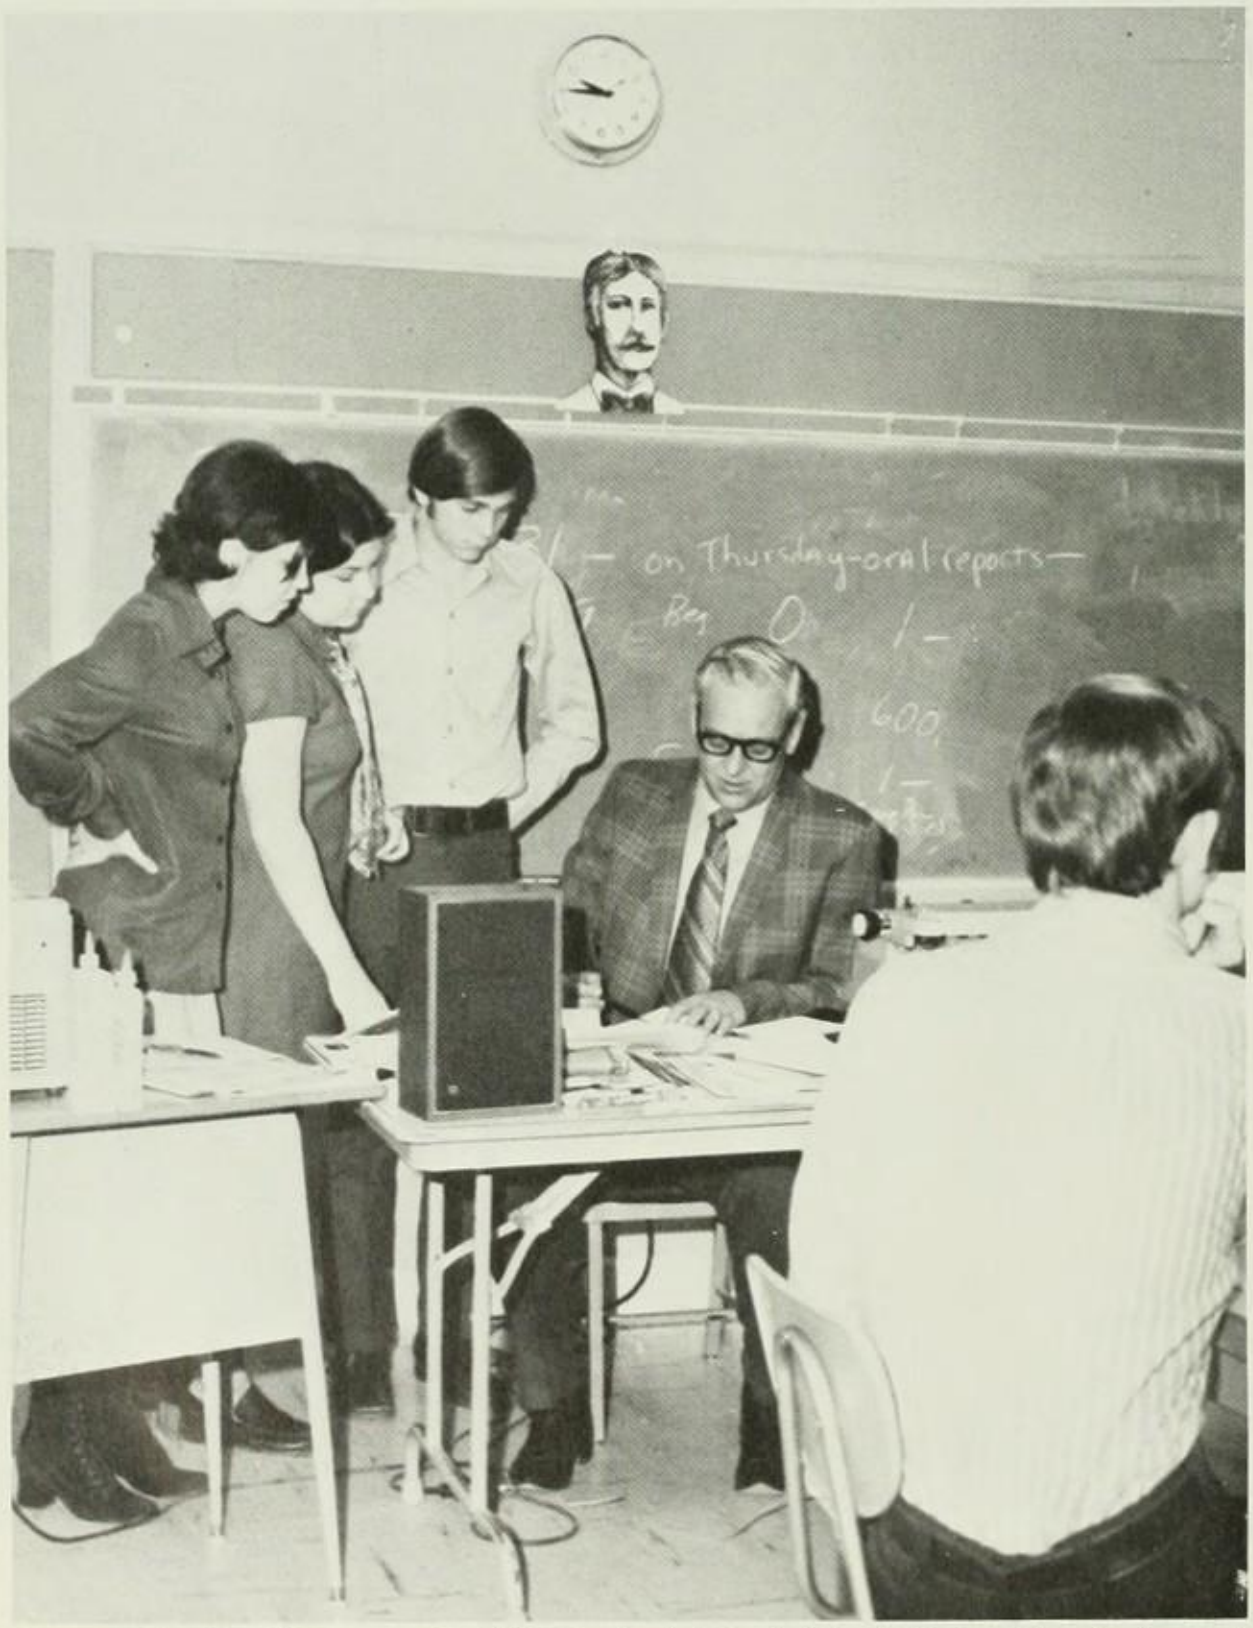
Applying final touches, Mickey Lewis developed skills of a creative painter.



Minor repairs on basic equipment was necessary before Shane Conlan began work.

Fresh cement served as an opportunity for Mr. Ray Ratzliff to demonstrate the various techniques of finishing concrete.

Salesman, John Erwin, practiced selling a portable tape player to Janey Williams.



Sponsor, Mr. Tom Hulsey, assisted DE students Wanda Lloyd, Darlene Derrington and Steve Fitzpatrick in gaining a deeper understanding of the value of salesmanship.

Sponsor, Mr. Gene Minarik, lectured his students on marketing and budgeting.

Practicing acquired skills of selling resulted in an efficient salesman.

DE students applied their knowledge of salesmanship to a work problem in class.

Training In Fields Of Interest

Various businesses located in the Carrollton-Farmers Branch area offered experience for students involved in Distributive Education. Students in this program learned the value of salesmanship by handling merchandise and dealing with customers. Each student went to school half-a-day, then, spent part of the day working at a job obtained with sponsors' aid.

Sponsor, Mr. Tom Hulsey, discussed the methods used when selling an item.

Students in Mr. Gene Minarik's DE class learned the skills of these specialized fields.

Instructor, Mr. Tom Hulsey, explained the homework problems to two of his students.

Advising students in DE, Mr. Tom Hulsey and Mr. Gene Minarik, sponsors, trained students in the fields of retail, wholesale or service establishments. With the responsibility of a job during school, students had a better chance to acquire a job suited to their needs. These various types of employment enabled students to earn money while obtaining their education. Experiences gained helped students to develop an insight into a possible future career.

Learning Techniques Of Specialized Fields

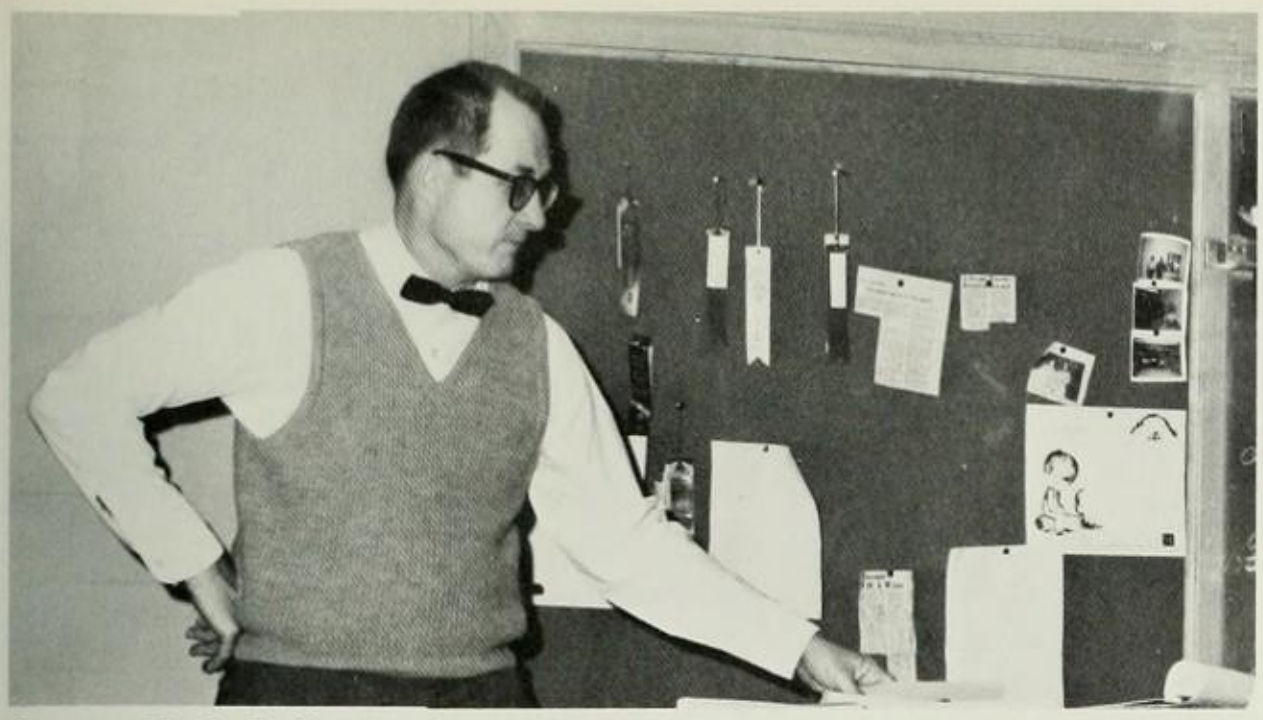
Noted for opening a wide variety of opportunities in many fields, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America provided beneficial results to working students. Developing leadership and responsibility, VICA strove to better the individual. It encouraged the student to gain knowledge of a particular skill and become a self-supporting citizen. Serving to help the student obtain a more purposeful and prosperous life, VICA offered the opportunity to promote high standards in trade ethics, workmanship, scholarship and safety. The student and his welfare was the primary interest of the Vocational Education program.

VICA included such courses as Auto Body, Auto Mechanics, Vocational Drafting, Industrial Cooperative Training, Cosmetology, Health Occupations, Machine Shop and Building Trades. Each of these clubs elected officers to represent them at the district VICA meetings. Participation was acquired so that the individual could receive the necessary training in their particular field of interest.

Machine Shop Sponsor, Mr. Carl Hutchinson, openly instructed his students.

Under the guidance of their sponsors, the students of the eight VICA clubs worked on their float for the 1971 Homecoming Parade.

Students in Auto Mechanics learned mechanical services from Mr. Homer Petros.

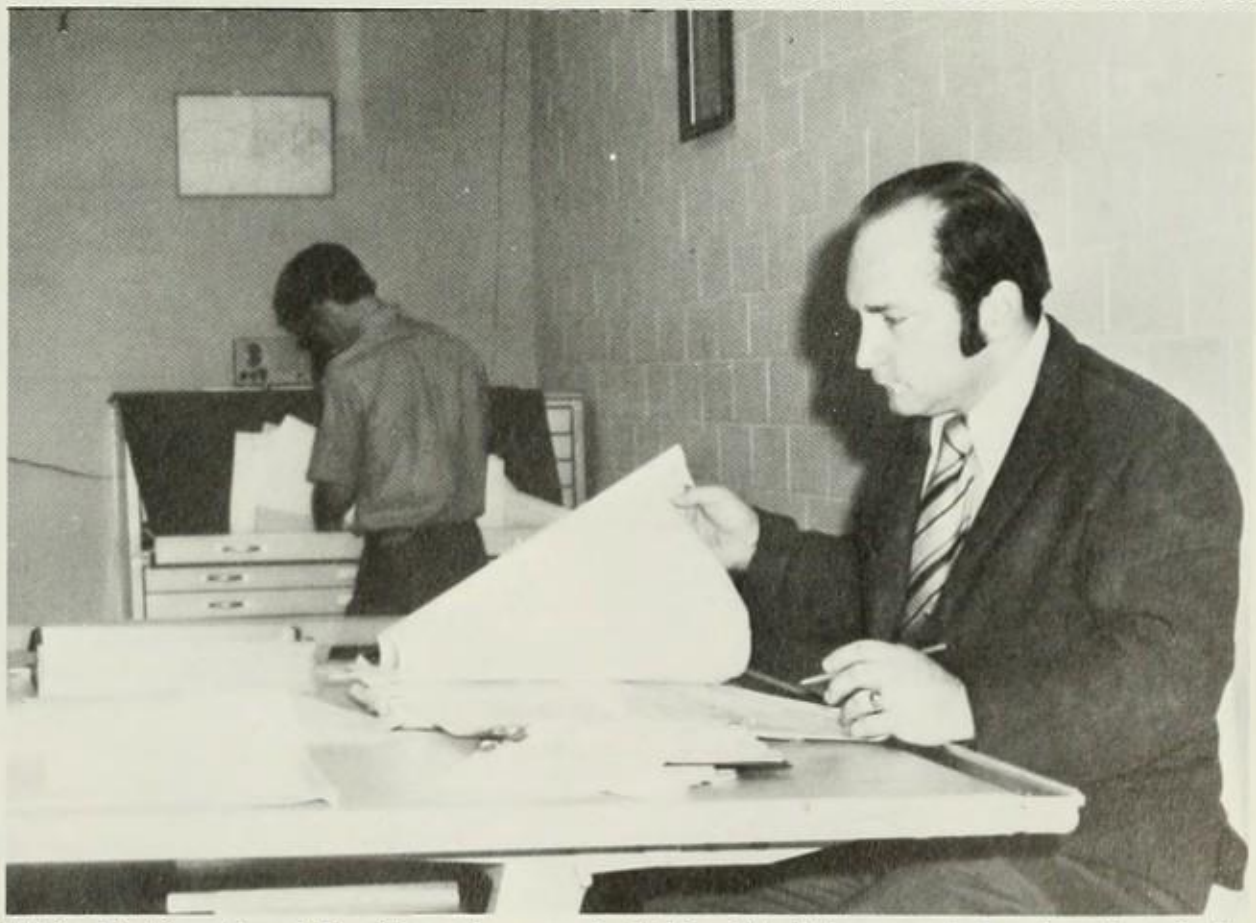


Sponsor, Mr. L. R. Simpson, lectured students on importance of acquiring adeptness.

Pausing from her cosmetology class, Mrs. Gladys Mahan cut her cake.

Mrs. Hattie MacDonald prepared for her morning Health Occupations class.

Before the wet cement hardened, Mr. Ray Ratzcliff showed his Building Trades how to work and smooth it.



While his Vocational Drafting class worked, Mr. Pat Spicer graded a drawing. Left: During Auto Body shop, Mr. E. A. Rutherford mixed an undercoat for painting.

Busying himself, an Auto Body student unmasked a recently painted car.

Sanding down a car was just one of the many jobs for Lindsay, Campball and Davies.

Auto Body student Micky Lewis gained knowledge of tools used in spraying paint.

President Robert Bumpass paused to reflect on his interests in cars.

Opportunities were open for many students to improve their skills in Auto Mechanics.

VICA

Auto president was John Nunley.

Attaching the grill after a paint job, Jeff Green had problems with different fittings.

Under the hood in Auto Mechanics, Jim Potts worked on the wiring of the distributor, hoping to correct the faulty mechanism that was causing the firing problem.

Preparing VICA's Selected Individuals For Skilled Operations

Class period almost over, students hurried to finish their work before the first bell.

Hard at work in Vocational Drafting, Darrell Coker learned to be patient.

Chosen sweetheart of Vocational Drafting, Debbie Berkham was pleased.

Chosen sweetheart of Vocational Drafting, Barbara Hodge ate lunch with Charlie Cox.

ICT sponsor, Mr. Simpson, prepared students for rewarding positions in society.

President Scott Kennard discussed the club's plans for the next field trip.

ICT students found satisfaction learning skills required for their chosen field.

Practicing her cosmetology skills, Patti Graff prepared to wash Janie Hunter's hair.

Cosmetology student Sue Bernaugh learned the basics for making-up faces.

Arranging supplies in place on the counter, Betty Holly began to close up shop.

Operator Nancy James practiced massaging Sharon McNutt's shoulders.

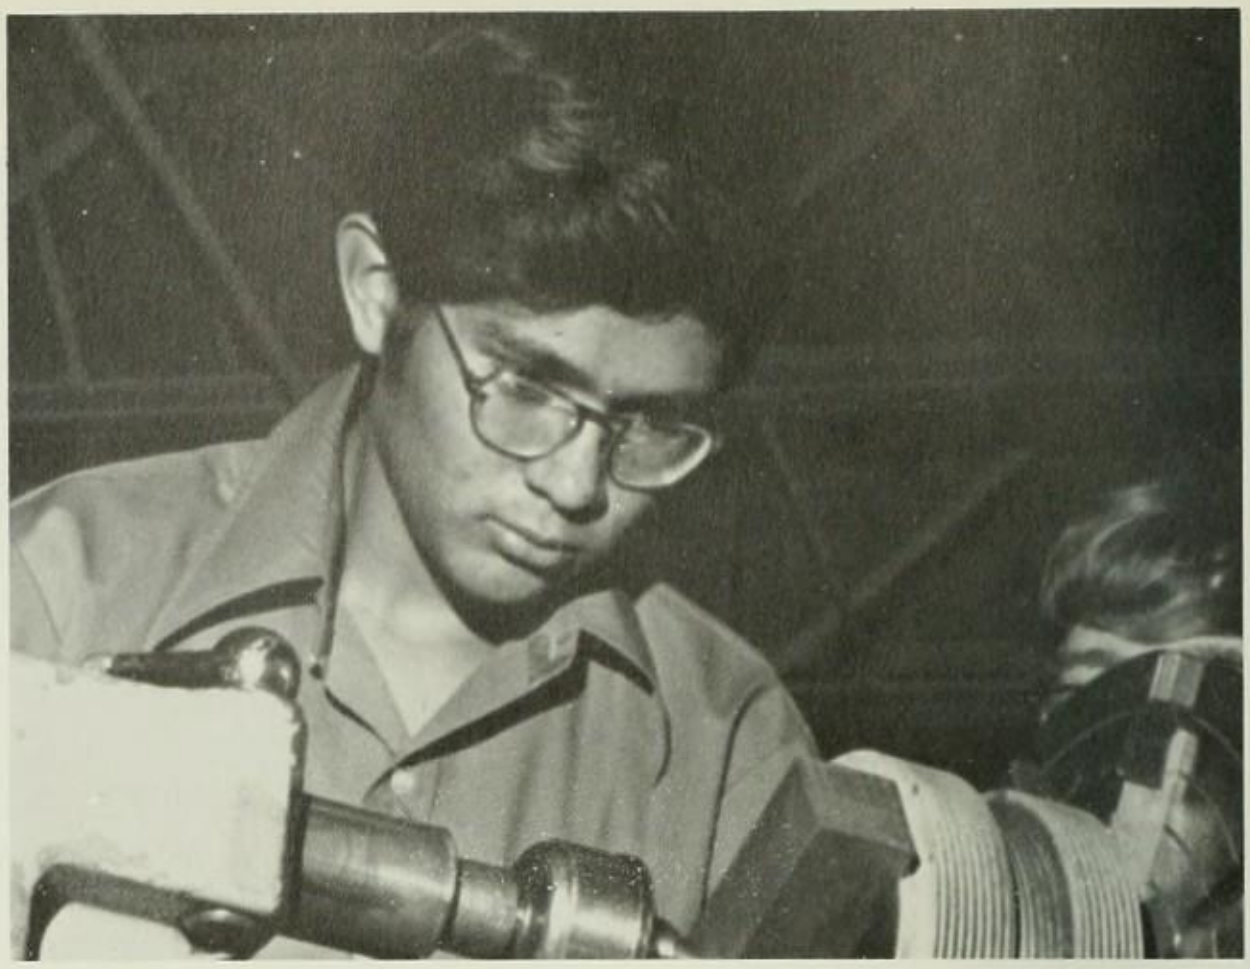
President Artie Bratton discussed Health Occupations' projects with Mrs. MacDonald.

VICA

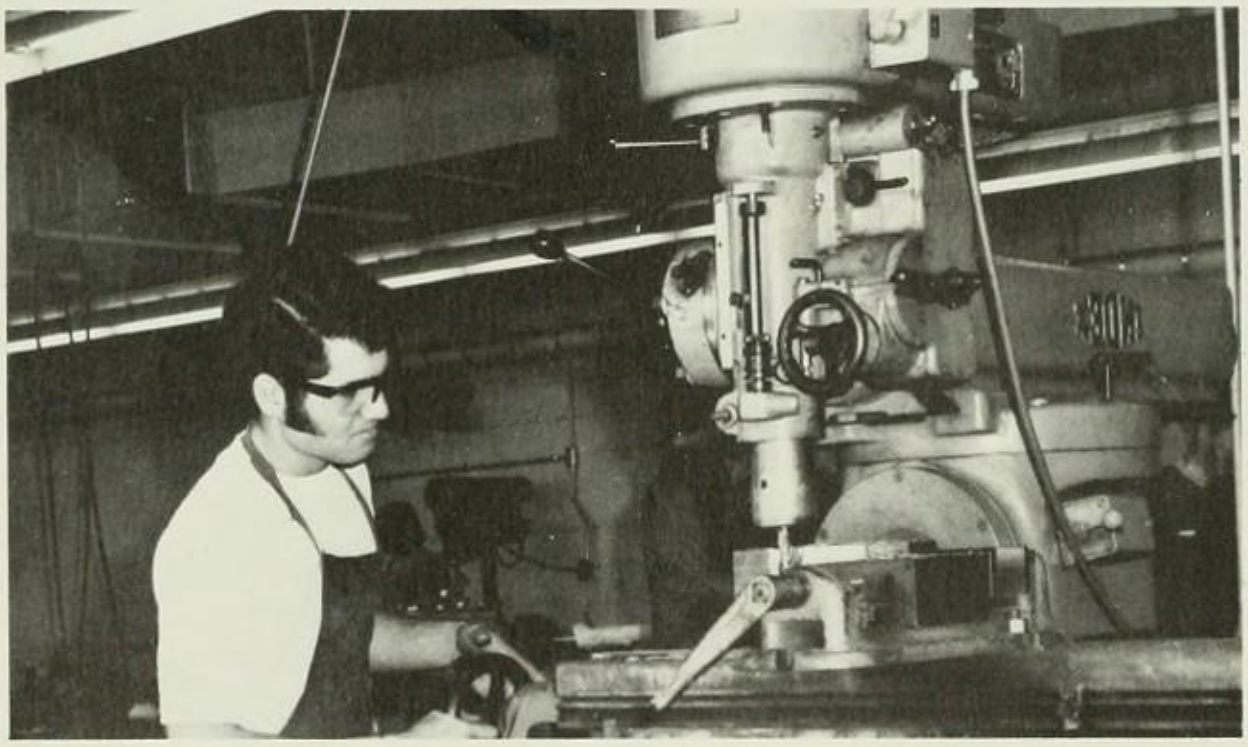
Employed at the Brookhaven Hospital, Dianna Haze checked blood pressures.

Checking the hospital supplies list was one of the many daily jobs of Becky Martin.

Health Occupations students developed an interest in clinical techniques and practices.



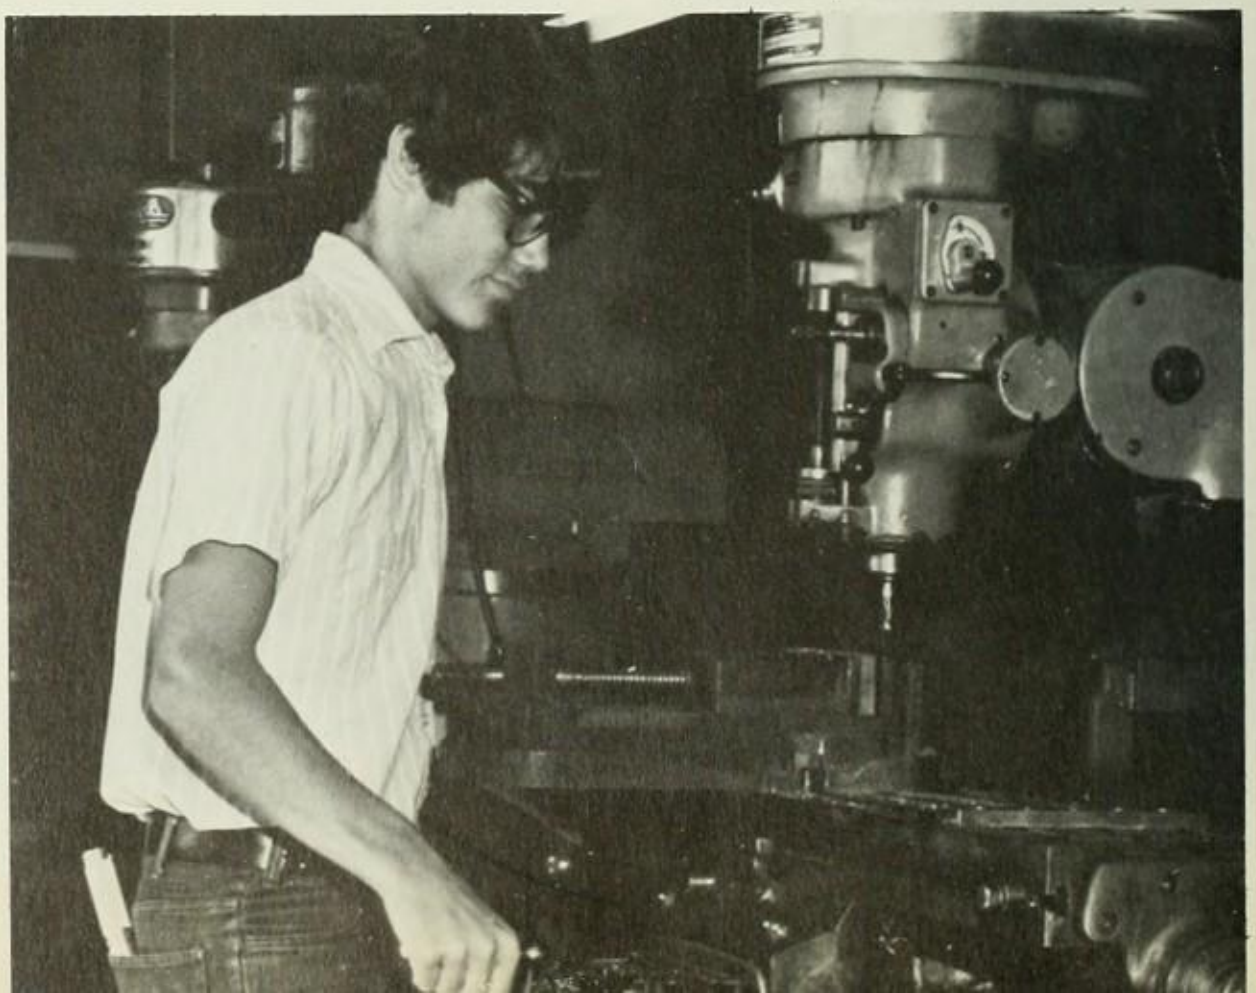
Concentrating on complete precision, Relieu Castaneda cut gooves on engine lathe.



Displaying his knowledge of machinery, Monte Belk participated in a class project.

Using spare time to complete repairs, Senior Terry Robb checked machinery.

Operating the milling machine, Robert Hebert observed equipment handling.



Struggling with wet concrete, Building Trades students James McElfrish, Randy Brown and William Green attempted to construct and level a backyard patio.

VICA

Students William Green and Larry Owens learned from Mr. Ray Ratzlaff the art of working with wet concrete.

With a wheel barrow students Dennis Ferrell and James McLendon removed dirt before placing the forms for a sidewalk. Left: Finishing the entrance of a driveway, Kalvin Ekberg stretched to reach the middle of the pavement and smoothed outward.

Eight spirited individuals, the Varsity Cheerleaders, promoted school spirit and enthusiasm at any activity for the Lions. Sponsored by Mrs. Betty Strickland, the cheerleaders practiced each day during first period in an effort to perfect their cheers and to promote loyalty and continual sportsmanship.

After having attended SMU, the cheerleaders came home with five first-place ribbons and one second-place. Also, a spirit stick, given to the outstanding group who generated the most spirit and enthusiasm, was brought home by the Varsity Cheerleaders.

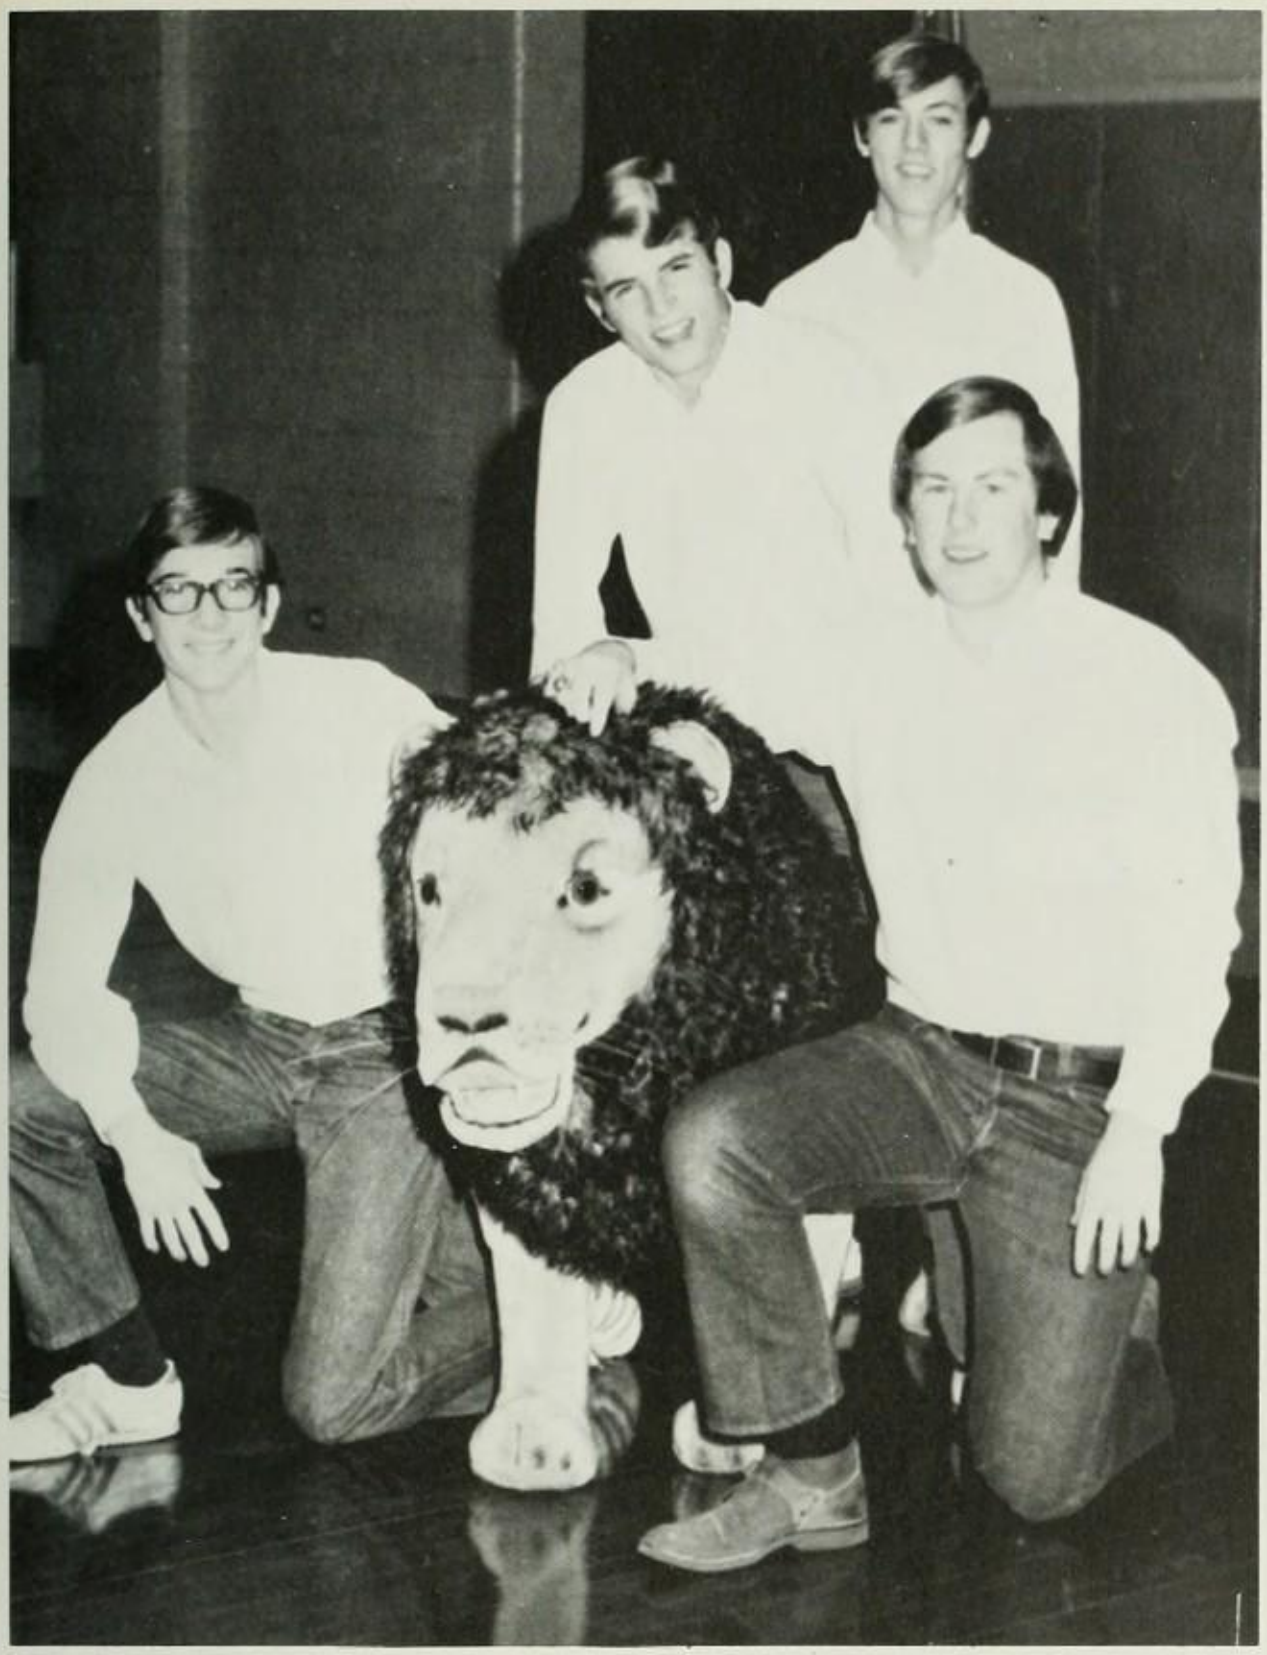
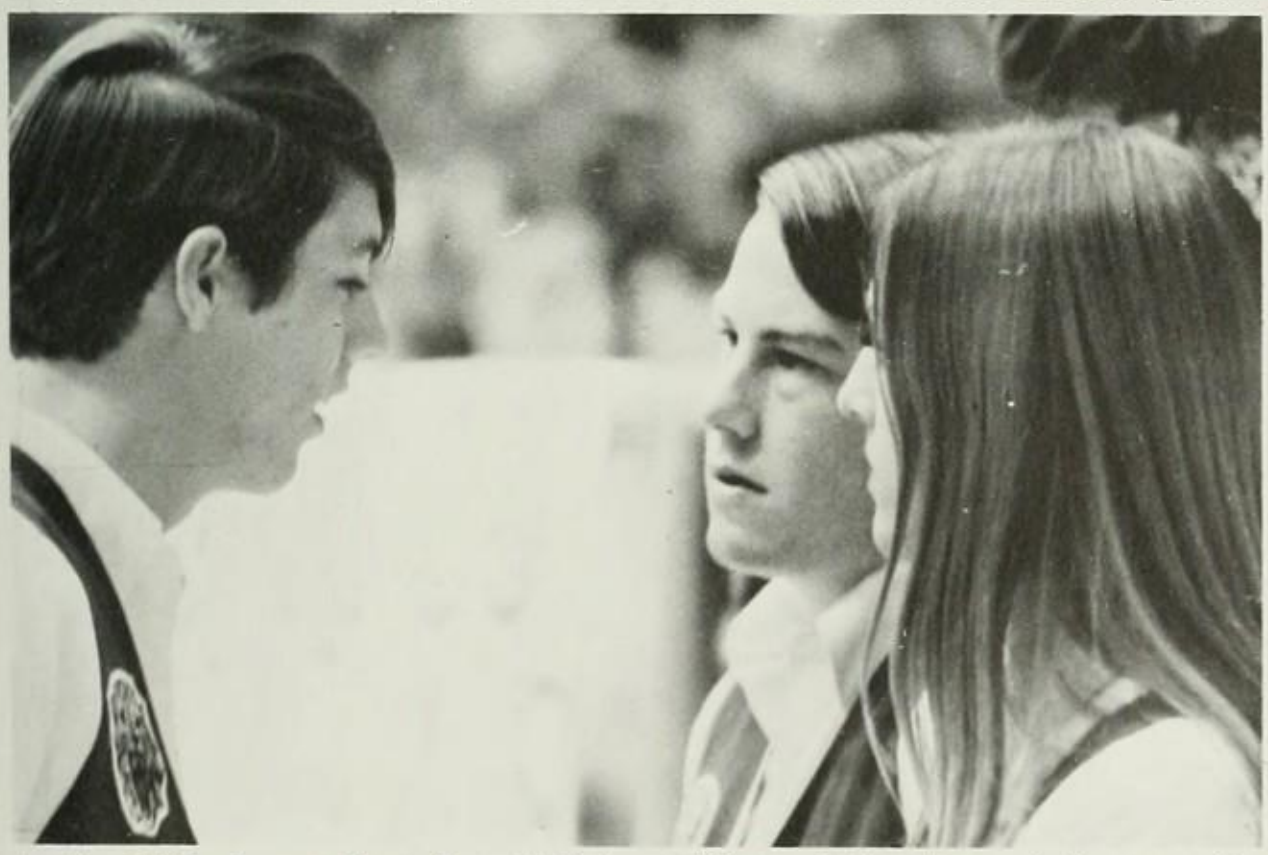
Promoting Group Responses

Selected for their ability as a writer as well as for their enthusiastic spirit, the Lion Keepers were responsible for the care of Linus. These boys made certain that Linus was at each game. In addition to caring for the mascot, they were given responsibility of the school flag. Despite their continuous work, they displayed a never-ending enthusiasm for the Lions.



Lion Keepers, Doug Etier, Laddie Galloway, Harold York and Tommy McCabe helped to provide enthusiasm at pep rallies and both basketball and football games.



As Harold York gave ideas, Tom McCabe and Susan Safko discussed the pep rally.

Lion Keepers helped to promote school spirit and to care for the new Linus.

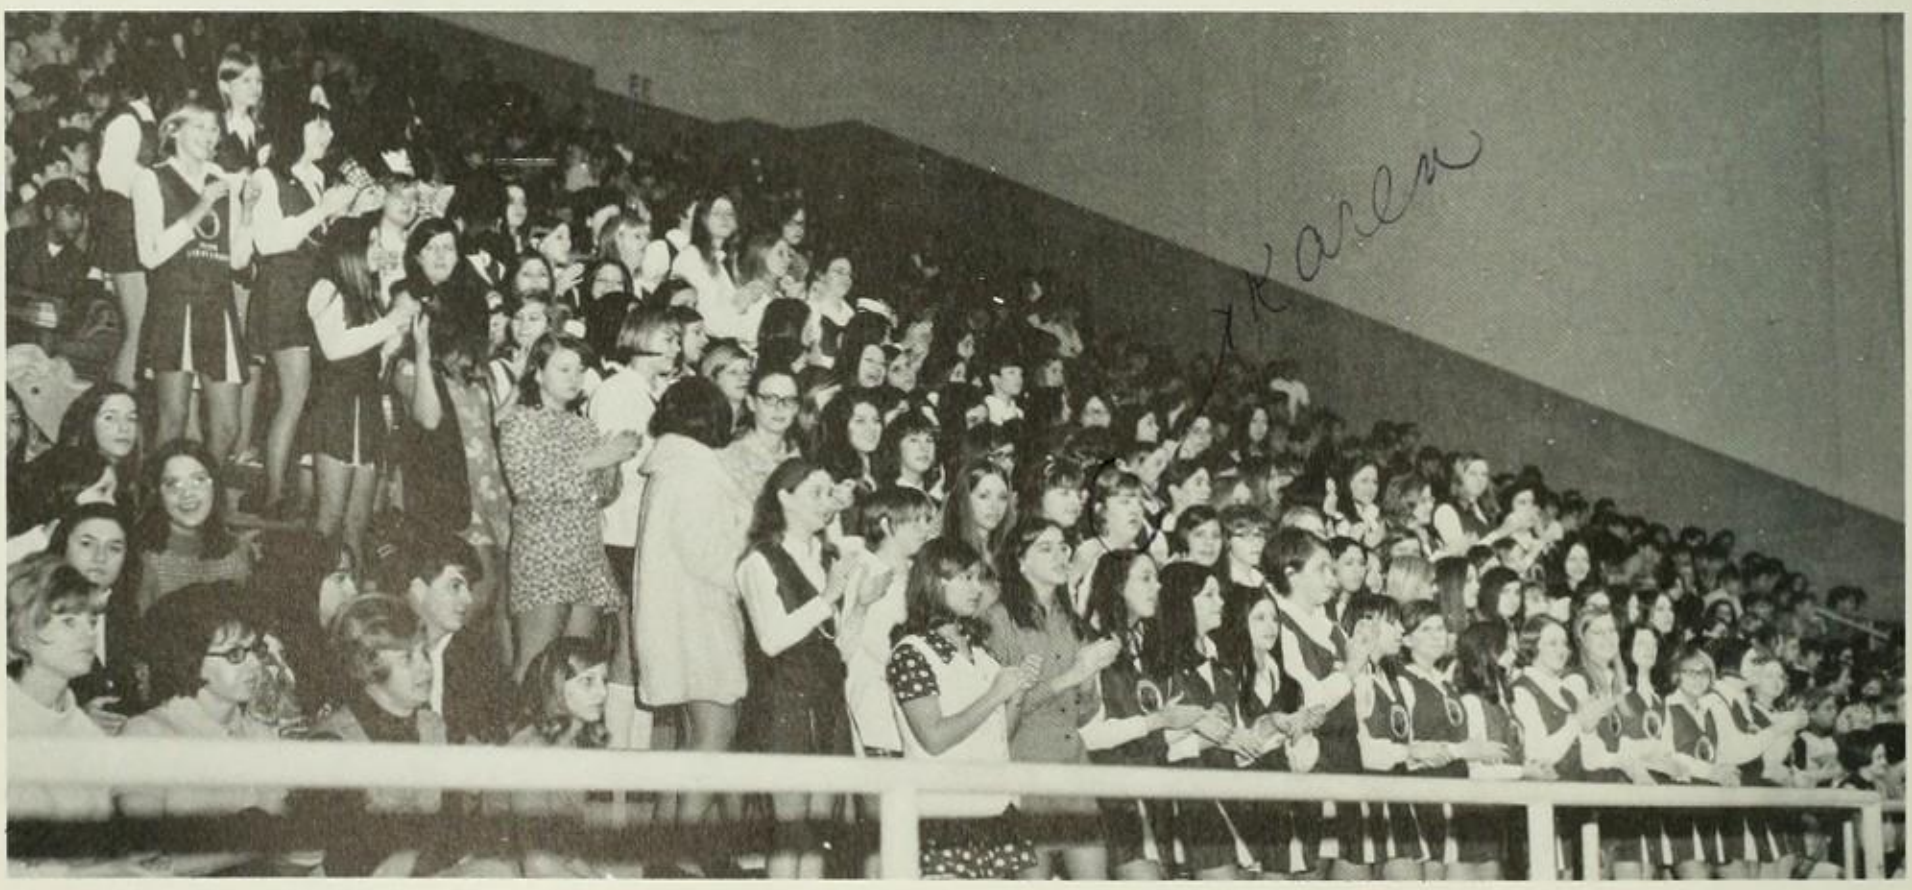
Promoting Spirit Through Enthusiasm

Participating in all football and home basketball games, Roarettes have greatly unified the student body through their tremendous enthusiasm, determined effort and spirited support for both of the Lion teams.

Extra hours were spent in perfecting new and better hand routines and chants. Roarettes demonstrated their loyalty to the Lions by painting signs and decorating halls before each game. Under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Knight, this group of girls should be commended for its earnest attempt in promoting school spirit.

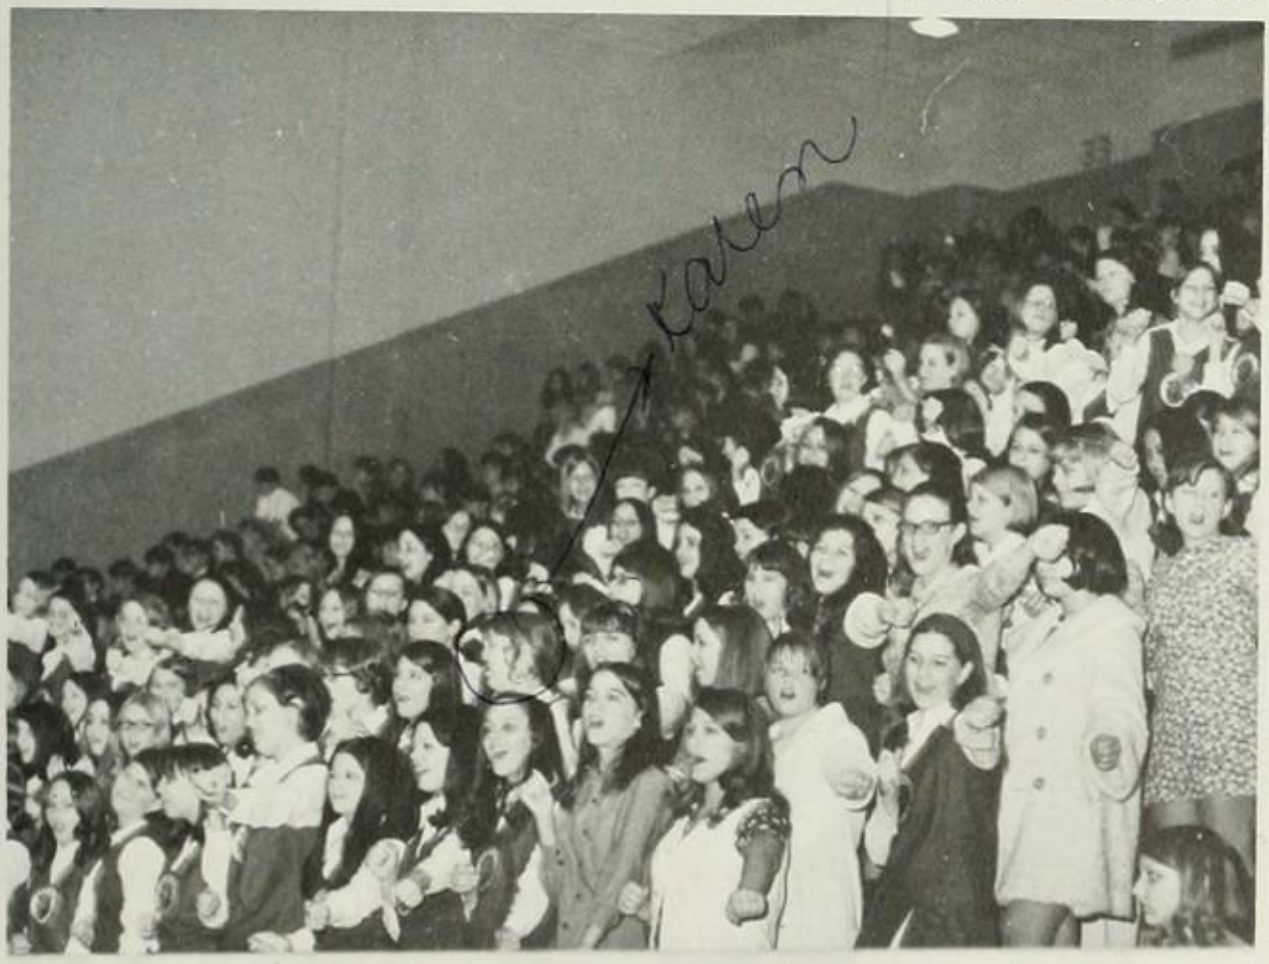
Roarette sponsor Mrs. Sandra Knight helped the Lions swat the Mesquite Skeeters.

On the day before each game, Roarettes decorated with crepe paper and signs.



Essential to the making of a successful pep rally, the Roarettes' endless spirit and enthusiasm for the Lions was overwhelming.

Roarette officers were Rhonda Sumner, Debbie Cheatham, Peggy Vanalstyne, Loree Holt, Susan Bowling and Cathy Polito.



Uniting the classes in support for the Lions' athletic teams, Roarettes showed their spirit and enthusiasm by participating in pep rallies.

Striving To Develop Individual Techniques

Newly organized to develop and enhance the individual's enjoyment of music, the String Orchestra provided a continuing curriculum for the strings program. This orchestra consisted of a string quintet which worked hard at developing individual techniques. In addition to presenting programs of its own, the quintet had the opportunity of participating in a variety of activities, such as the all-district String Orchestra, Youth Orchestra and pit orchestra for the various school's musicals.

String Orchestra members were Deborah Parker, Senior, Don Bollinger, Junior, Bobby Donaldson, Freshman, Mark Addington, Freshman and David Van Tassel, Freshman.

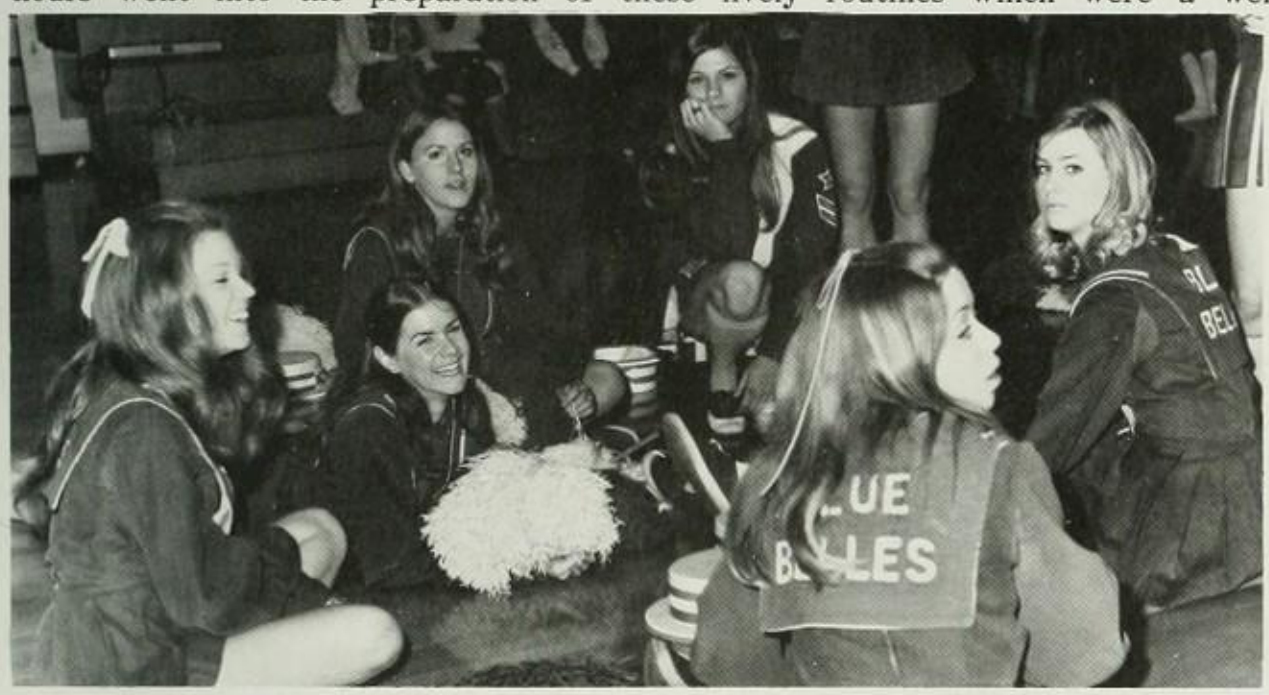
Practicing every day, Bobby Donaldson proved to be an accomplished cellist.

Miss Sue Arnold was also conductor of Farmers Branch Youth Orchestra.

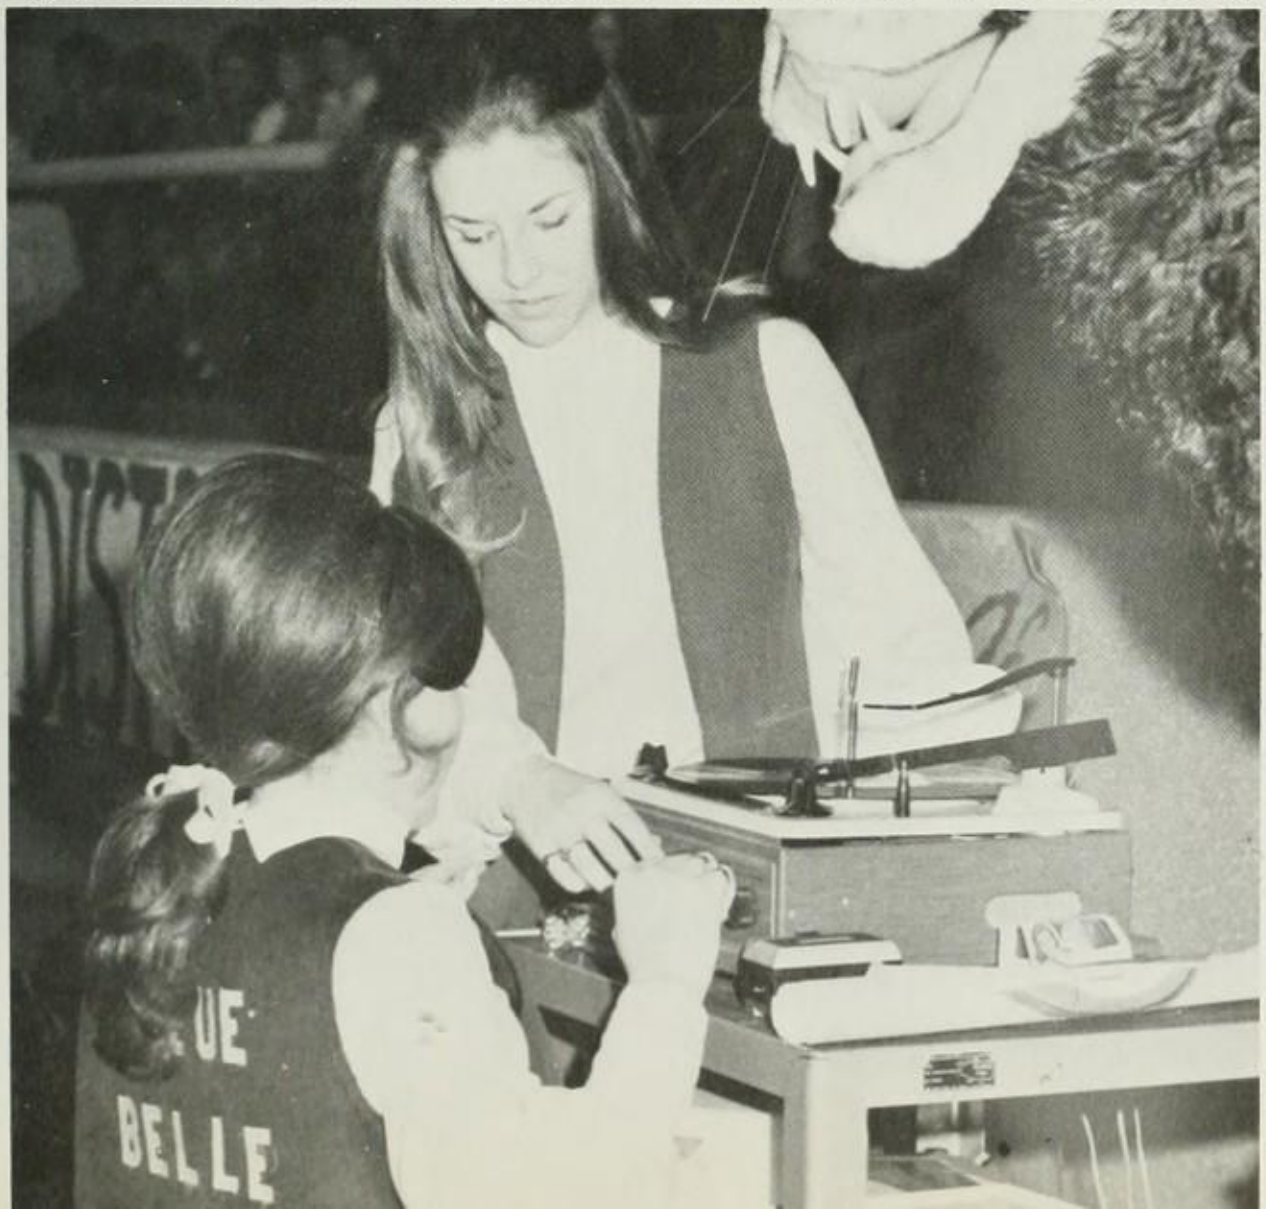
Violinist Don Bollinger served as president of the school's String Orchestra.

For Deborah Parker, afternoons before a concert meant continuous hours of practice.

Blue Belles, Sherry Howard, Sondra Greer, Tara Moulin, Jo Ellen Pinkerton, Lisa Powell, Donnette Carlson, Beverly Fuller, Linda Lewis, Alaine Blough, Holly Flynn, Jane Carver and Brenda Guitard performed at home basketball games and pep rallies. Long hours went into the preparation of these lively routines which were a welcome addition to half-time entertainment.



Before the pep rally, Blue Belles relaxed by conversing among themselves. Managers, Phyllis Cain and Rita Bobo performed many activities to aid Blue Belles.



Giving Moral Support To Lions

During the football season, twelve girls were selected from Lionettes to promote spirit and to entertain fans at home basketball games. These Lionettes, known as the Blue Belles, were judged on personality, character and appearance and the ability to prepare routines. After chosen, they divided into pairs to prepare dance routines for basketball games. Tryouts were held the morning of every home game to make sure each girl knew the routine perfectly.

Before each game, Blue Belles planned something special to boost each basketball boy's spirit. Sometimes, they would decorate houses, paint signs or bake cakes. Through their moral support of the Lion Cagers, these twelve girls proved their involvement in school activities by backing athletic endeavors and functions.

Each week, Lionettes spent endless hours before and after school in an effort to present a winning halftime performance.

Devotion Of Time And Energy For Lions

Lionettes expressed their enthusiasm for the school by promoting spirit and by providing half time entertainment at each football game. This group of girls, under the guidance of Mrs. Betty Strickland, worked hard in an effort to increase school spirit. After being selected and enjoying a short summer vacation, Lionettes soon returned to their regular summer workouts. Endless hours of preparation at summer practices paid off as the Lionettes marched from one successful half time to another.

Aside from their half time duties during the football season, Lionettes baked cakes, painted signs and decorated lockers and houses of their individual football boy. Then, for their service project, these girls sent Christmas packages filled with gifts and baked goods to a group of soldiers stationed in South Vietnam.

Dancing to a lively tune, Brenda Guitard tipped her hat to the audience.

Performing a routine, Holly Flynn helped create a captivating halftime.

After being named and presented as Football Sweetheart, Drum Majorette Linda Lewis was quickly surrounded by Lionettes wishing to congratulate her.

Helping increase school backing for the Lions, Lionettes expressed their enthusiasm by yelling at pep rallies.

Lionettes

With Linda Lewis as Drum Majorette, the Lionettes strove for near perfection.

Lionettes listened to Coach Kirk Drew give words of encouragement to his team.

Executive Committee Members, R. Aaron, J. Pinkerton, L. Lewis, C. Clark, R. Lawrence, B. Fuller, B. Jordan, D. Willard, and J. Carver helped to plan Lionette activities.

Captains for the Lionettes, (left to right) C. Simons, H. Flynn, P. Cain, L. Powell, B. Hill, R. Bobo, S. Greer, B. Guitard, Drum Majorette L. Lewis, and Head Captain J. Carver guided the Lionettes through their many activities during the year.

Lionette Debbie Hall helped promote spirit and enthusiasm at pep rallies.

With their new field and Friday uniforms, Lionettes performed at local parades, weekly football games and sometimes, pep rallies.

Elected Lionette of the Year, Linda Wright was chosen for her involvement. Left: Assisting Lionettes, (left to right) McClendon, Lynch, Elkins and Duckworth served as managers.

Lionettes

Even in rainy weather, the Lionettes were always there to give the Lions support.

Lionettes were encouraged to do better by their sponsor Mrs. Betty Strickland.

Homecoming festivities included the Lionettes high-kick dance routines.

Boasting one of the largest and most selective club memberships, the Lionettes awaited the return of a football season.

Expression Of Inner Feelings And Talents

While in band competition, the members played various arrangements.

Helping the student master a musical instrument, the Band Department drilled the individual in finger manipulations. Under the guidance of their new sponsor Mr. Lloyd Cook, and his assistant Mr. Gene Stoutmeyer, each member was drilled in difficult marching patterns which helped in learning teamwork and self-control.

Band members were especially busy with a rummage sale, a lunch benefit and school calendar subscriptions. All money raised went toward sending the band to Tri-State Band Festival.

Displaying their skill in marching precision, the Lion Band presented impressive halftime shows at football games. After many hours of drill practice, they participated in the Interscholastic League Competition and received a two rating for their marching performance. Commended highly by many for their near-perfect formations, the Lion Band was looked upon with importance.

Symphonic members were Martin, Nicholson, Sherrell, Barnett, Brown, Willard, Davis, Hear, Deaton, Milam, Moseley, Nelson, Williamson, Blanton, Murphy, Barnett, Lisenby, Sears, Rice, O'Brien, Oradat, Ragsdale, Newton, Miller, Salas, Myers, Morgan, Diffie, Pruett, Champion, Savage, Milam, McClellan, Wright, Green, Goff, Hiatt, McMillen, Diffie, Klement, Blanton, Morton, Baggett, Salas, McDonald, Solell, Baggett, Redmond, Winkler, Hearn, Hinckley, Cranfill, Lavender, Greunke, Cornelius, Mitchell, Woods, Van Winkle, Lively, Umbel, Loyd, Bees, Boshers, Butler, Patterson, Crutchfield, Newton, Woody, Casey, Reece, White, Springer, Spurlock, Waits, Morris, MacDonald, Bradford, Price, Fink, Harless, Jolisant, Bowers, Hinckley, Parker, Ferguson, Bailey, Fournier, Lavender.

Symphonic Band officers Ferguson, Martin, Lavender and Price provided leadership.

Band

Performing at every pep rally Band Majorettes Diane Moller, Sophomore; Brenda Myers, Sophomore; Cheryl Williamson, Junior: and Debbie Newton twirled with skill.

Drum Major Russell White lead the Lion Band through another half-time performance.

Striving for perfection, Gayle Stanberry practiced her routines diligently.

Having gained many achievements throughout the year, the Symphonic Band contributed much to the pride and spirit of Turner.

Director Mr. Lloyd Cook strove to emphasize the importance of harmonizing.

Lion Band members prepared to begin another day of drill practice on the field.

Concert Band Instrumentalists were Flute — Crawford, Jones, Ramsey, Brown, Dandois, Robinson, Edens, Steller; Oboe — Ragains, Klement; Clarinet — Stanberry, Jones, Wilson, Slay, Green, Franzen, MacDonald, Cannon, Munson, McMillen, Long, Gill, Pierce, Matthews, Fuller, Bratz, Bynum; Bass Clarinet — Ralston, Whitfield, Whitley, White; Alto Clarinet — Roseler; Contrabass Clarinet — Casey; Bassoon — Brown; Alto Sax — Ingram, Salas, Price; Tenor Sax — Gill, Bouas; Baritone Sax — Francis, Murphy; French Horn — Gilliland, Kearns, Squier, Thomas, Davis; Cornet — Hilzer, Waller, Ritchie, Gressett, Nash, Romer, Crosswhite, Adams, Moore, Hardy, Garland, Kinner, Breeding, Towns, Walker, Calliet, Scheidt; Baritone — Holyer, Canfield, Petegrew, Moore, Magnino; Trombone — Cave, Anderson, Bollman, Watson, Sill, VanNess, Troyer, Ralston, Morgan, Horton, McGuffin, Johnson, Seedorf; Tuba — Oradat, Brownmiller; Timpany — Stillwell; Percussion — White, Newbitt, Kosman, Hall, Moller, May, Ball, Downing, Collett.

Tired from dancing, Band Majorette Debbie Newton paused a few moments after having performed at a pep rally.

At both district basketball pep rallies and home games, the Stage Band entertained with various jazz selections, such as "Eleanor Rigby" and "MacArthur Park."

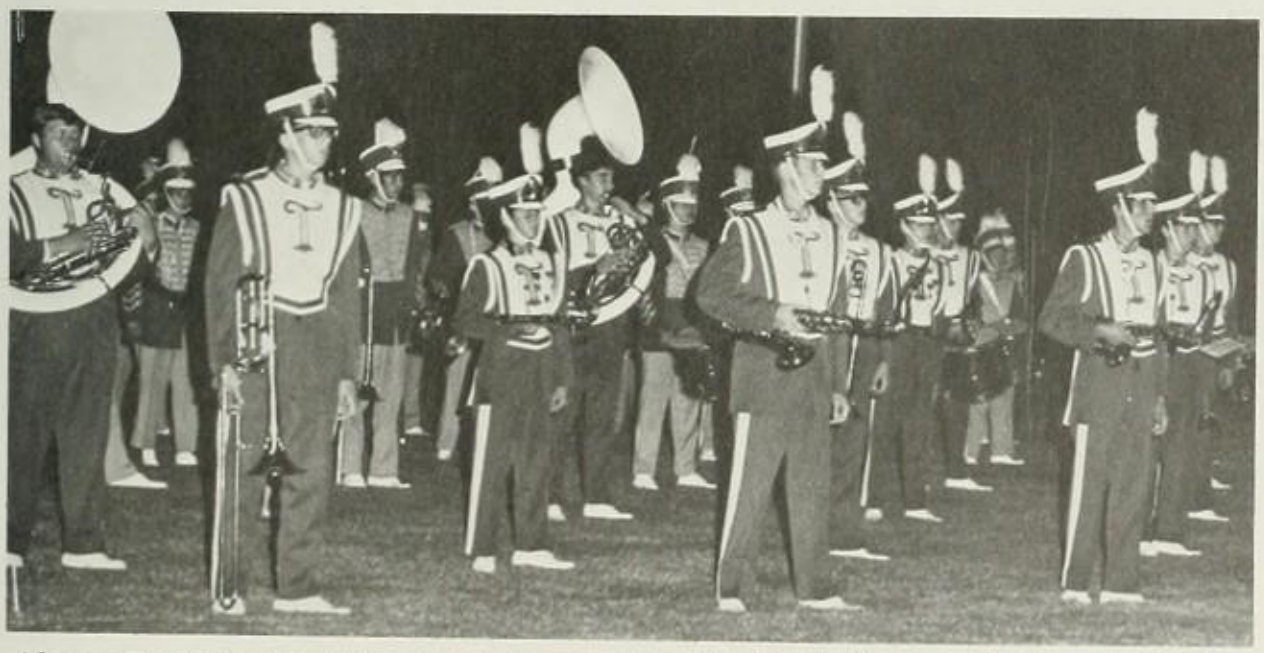
Clarinet players Diane McMillen, Liza Diffie and Debbie Murphy practiced extra hard hours in an effort to improve their sight-reading and finger manipulations.

Band

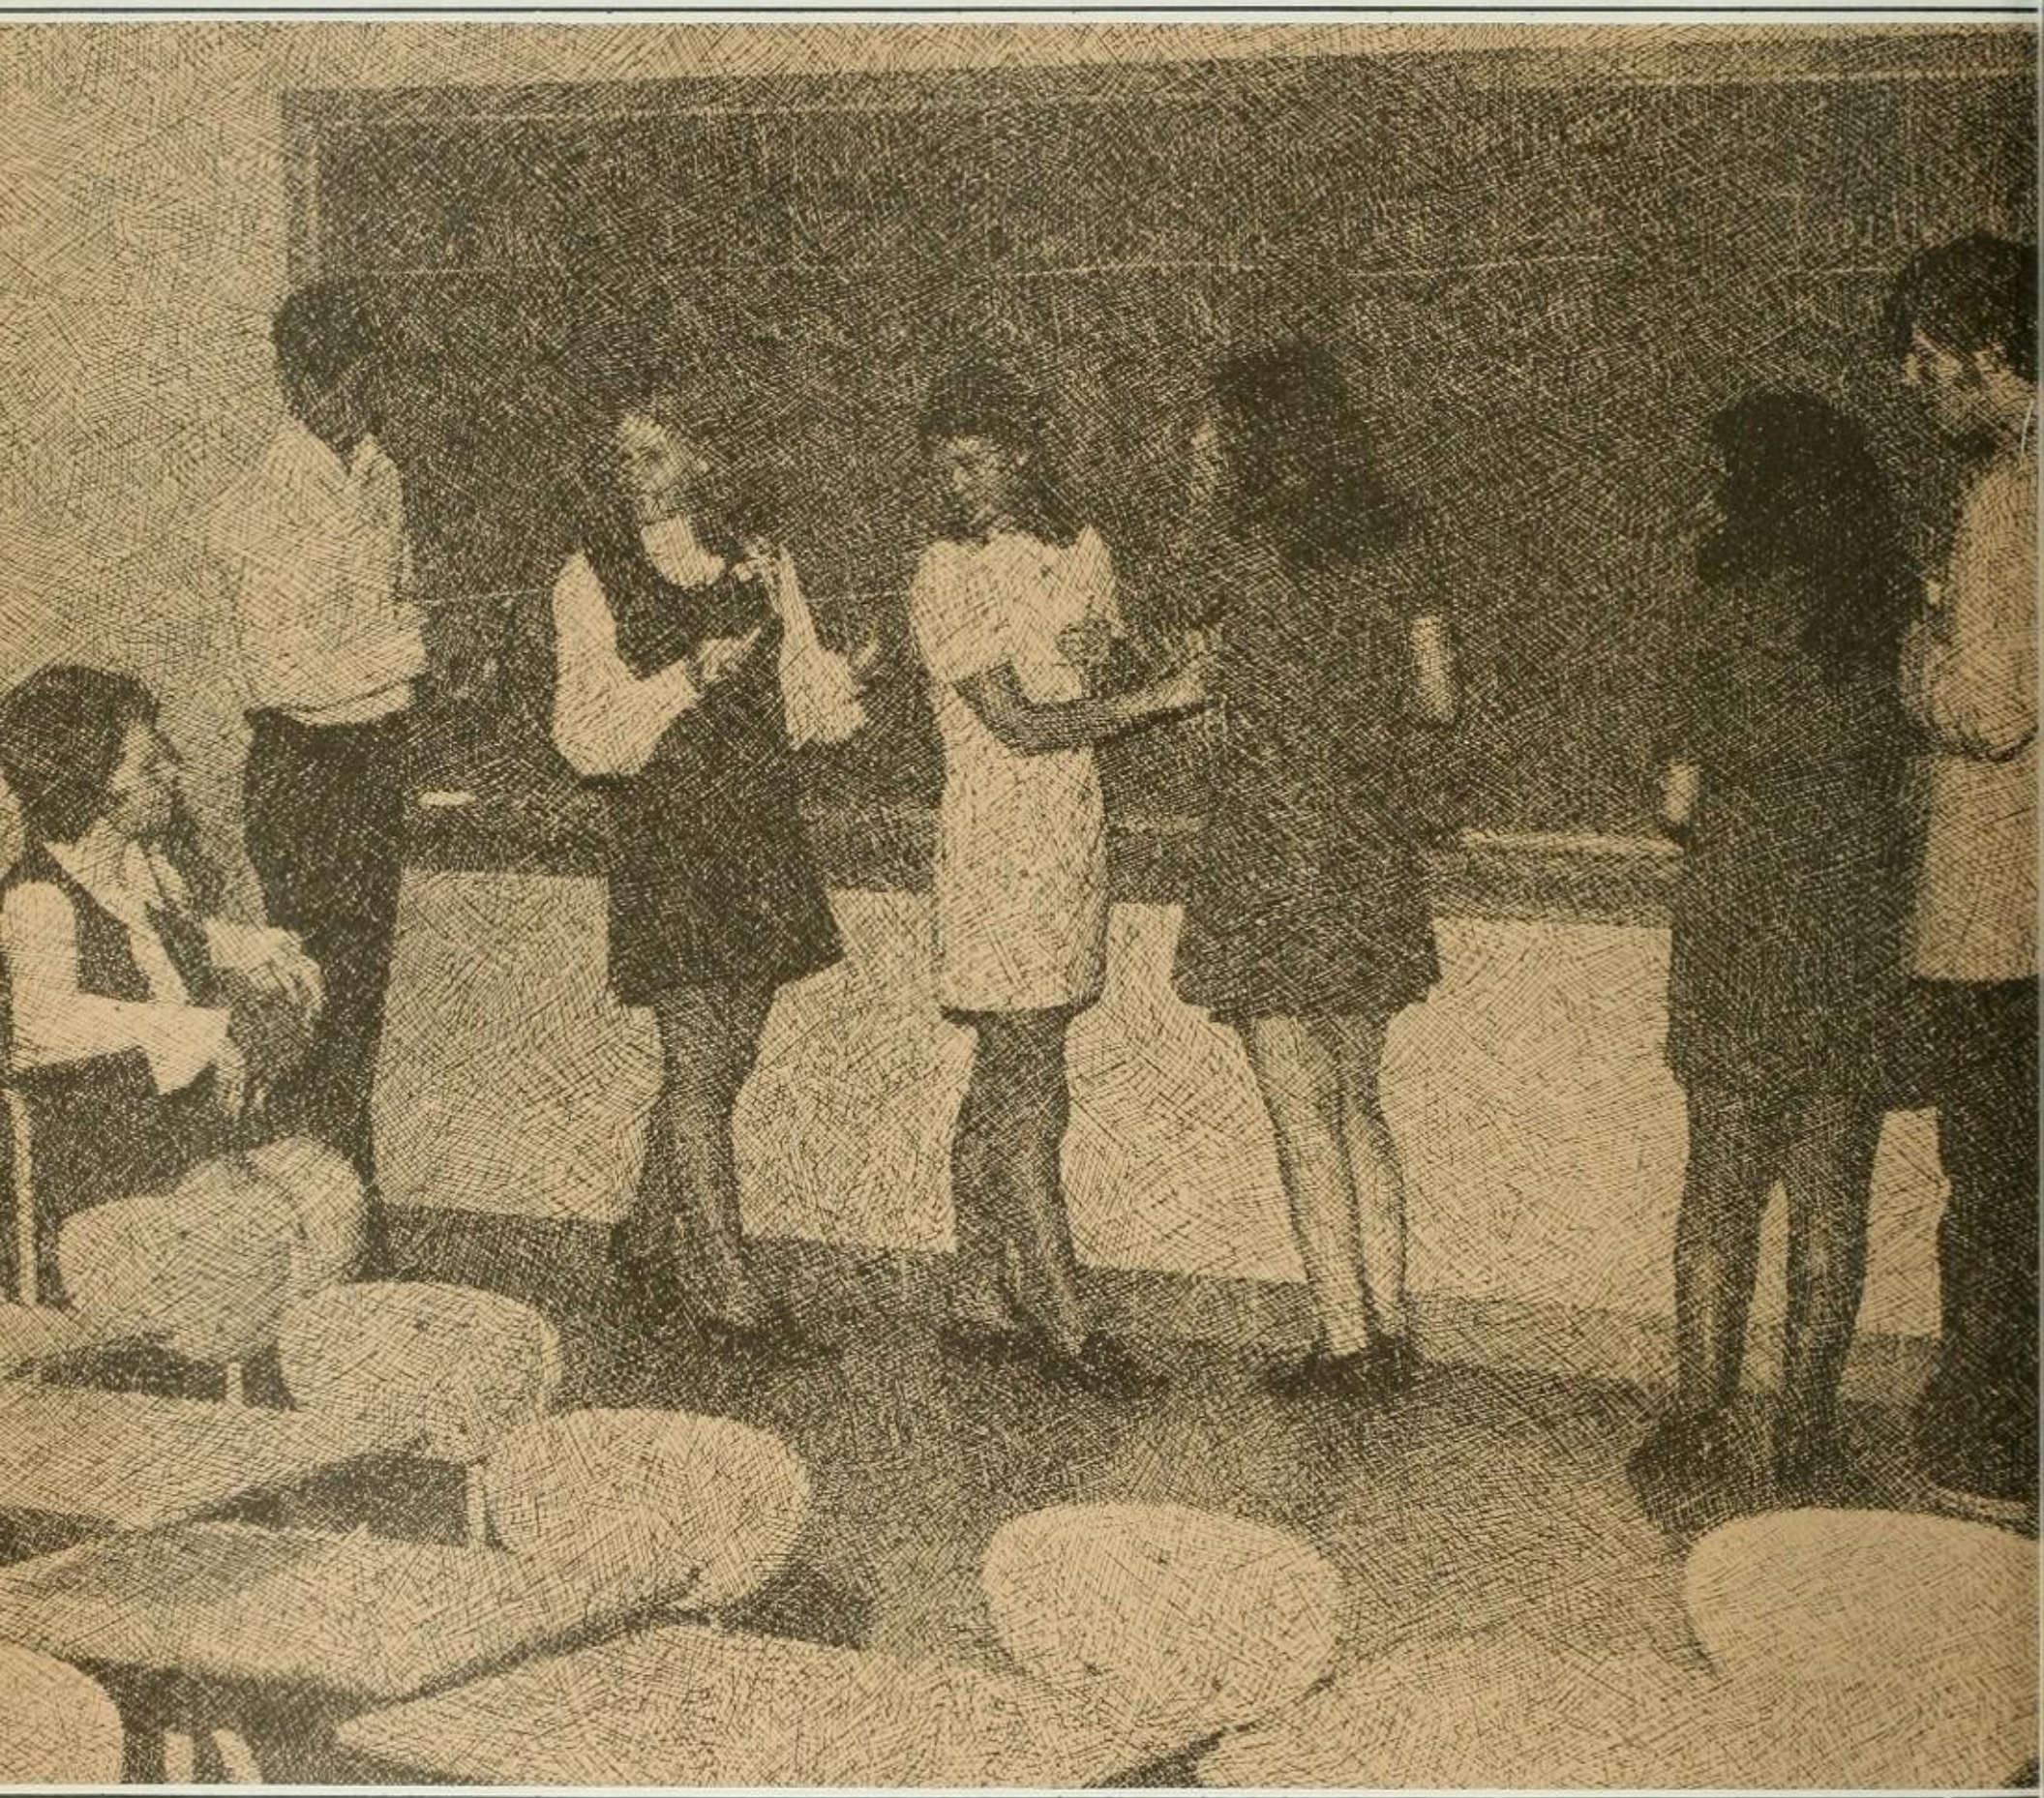
Directing during performances were Drum Majors Evan Reece and Russell White.

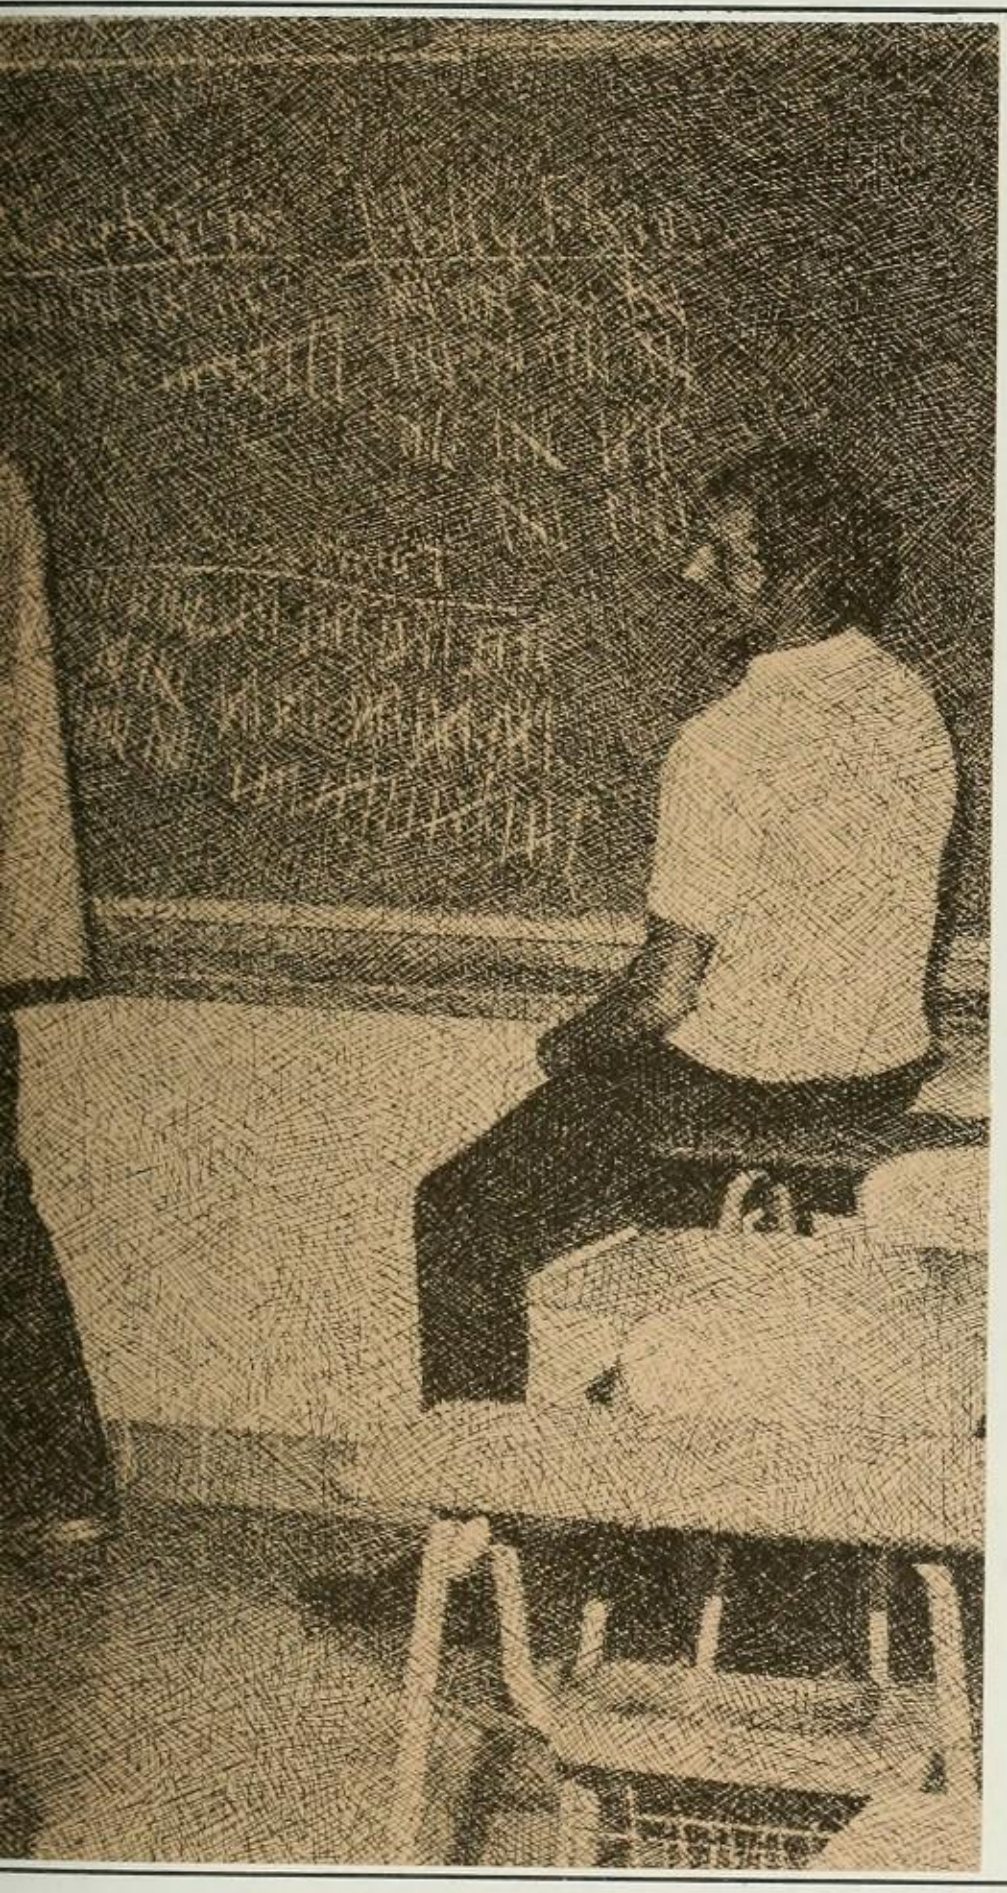
Responsible for the organizing of a new Stage Band was Mr. Gene Stoutmeyer.

Improving musical quality, Cadet Band consisted of V. Cone, P. Fields, S. Hammack, B. Holman, L. Krebbs, M. Maddoux, B. McCoy, S. Nelson, S. Pitcock, D. Pots, J. Rosseay, R. Santos, K. Seay, K. Shotwell, R. Welch, S. Wright, M. Adamo, C. Steller, A. Kidwell.



Above: Besides presenting marching routines the band also provided music for the Lionettes' routines. Right: Band majorettes awaited the beginning of a pep rally.





Honors

Crowning Of 1970 Homecoming Queen

After a victorious football game, Turnerites attended the festive Homecoming Dance. With decorations relating to theme "The New, the Old, the Blue, the Gold," nominees were presented as they emerged from a little red schoolhouse.

At the climax of the evening Student Senate President Eddie King crowned Martha Wiley queen of the 1970 Homecoming. Nominees were Seniors, Kerry Moyer and Diane Speigel. Princesses were Junior Cindy Hunt, Sophomore Vicki Helleson, and Freshman Debbie Thompson. At the conclusion of the presentation, students enjoyed a delightful evening while being entertained by "The Freight."

Awarded For High Achievement

Participating in the sixteenth annual National Merit Scholarship Test, three students qualified as semifinalists. Forty students from R. L. Turner took the Merit Scholarship Test and approximately 15,000 students around the country were tested. Students Joy Reeves, Edith Brown and Scott Kennard displayed continuous academic excellence in receiving high scores on the test. Striving for high achievement, Steve Casey was awarded with honorable mention by the conductors of the National Merit Test. Final results of the test proved to be a reflection of honors for the school rank among others.

Achievement Through Knowledge

Consisting of approximately one-twentieth of the graduating class, the National Honor Society was composed of these students who pursued knowledge, improvement and scholastic gain through academic excellence and achievement.

While grades must meet a high standard, still they ranked as only a small part of the total accomplishments of members. The amount of effort applied to attain high grades was the real qualification for a National Honor Society Member. Other achievements included obtainment of leadership abilities, extracurricular involvement and participation, individual character developemnt and the expressed desire and perseverance to represent themselves admirably as deserving members.

Beauty Among The Masses With Diane Speigel And Eddie King

Ending the nominations and casting the final ballots, Senior students chose Diane Speigel and Eddie King from the masses of R. L. Turner students to represent their class as Most Beautiful and Most Handsome.

At the Christmas presentation, they displayed qualifying characteristics for their elected honor title. Traits of Diane and Eddie exemplified the necessary qualities required to obtain a distinguished title which they so highly deserved. Those selected for Most Beautiful and Most Handsome were impressive representatives for the entire student body and notable recognition for themselves.

Nominees Of Captivating Beauty

For any honor received, exceeding qualities must be shown by the recipient. Six students were nominated for the title Most Beautiful and Most Handsome of their respective classes.

After the ballots had been counted, those chosen by the students, Juniors Jane Shehane and Jon Bailey, Sophomores Karen Porter and Phillip Knight and Freshmen Edna Robinson and Danny Wolfe were distinguished by the honor of being selected as Most Beautiful and Most Handsome.

Leaders Of The Near Future

Debbie Thompson and John Betcher

High goals and well thought out plans were carried out with great detail and precision as changes and improvements began taking place at Turner. Concerned students worked persistently to reach their goals and to better the school.

Represented as the leaders among their classmates, Juniors Cindy Hunt and Tony Reeder, Sophomores Robin Grose and Mark Rudeseal and Freshmen Debbie Thompson and John Betcher were nominated for the office of Mr. and Miss THS.

As students of R. L. Turner, these individuals possessed the qualities of class leadership, academic knowledge and industrious ambitions necessary to deserve such an honor.

Involvement Through Academic And Extracurricular Activities

Activities of the 1970-71 year were headed by students known for their outstanding qualities and capabilities of leadership. Desires for improvement and enthusiasm toward carrying out new ideas were obvious characteristics of the students nominated for the title of Mr. and Miss THS. These students displayed their abilities throughout the year in conducting each activity with great success and rewarding achievements.

Elected by the Senior class, Kathy Saldana and Ricky Bell displayed outstanding qualifications for the entire year which justified their being named Mr. and Miss THS 1971.

A Court Of Queens Presented

Spring brought many exciting events, the highlight of these was an elaborate prom presented to graduating Seniors by the Junior class. Held at the elegant Fairmont Regency Room, the prom and its decorations were centered around the theme, "Why I Sent Roses."

Those nominated for prom queen, Jane Carver, Kerry Moyer, Nancy Richie, Kathy Saldana and Martha Wiley, represented part of the beauty awaiting those students who prepared to attend the final and biggest dance of the whole year. All watched with anticipation and excitement as Donna Foster, chosen by her class for her poise, charm and personality was presented as Queen of the 1971 Prom and was crowned by Junior president Tony Reeder who began the Prom festivities.

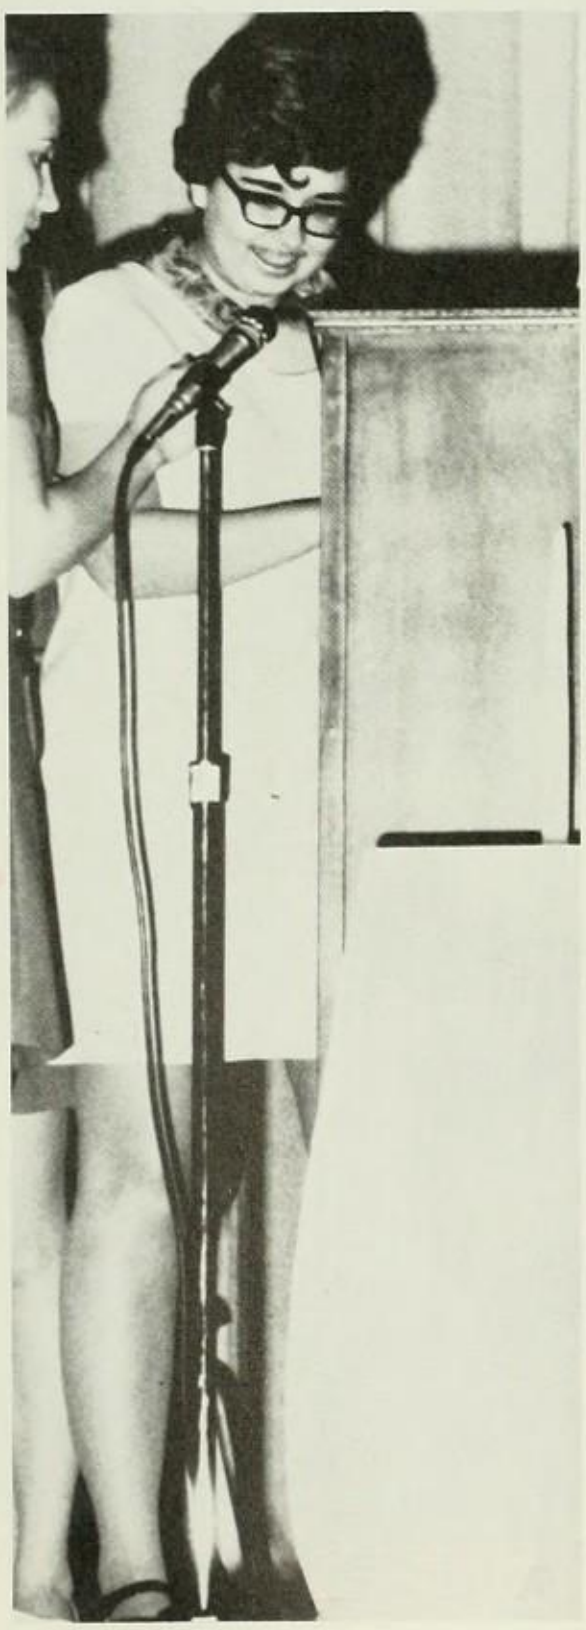
Peaks Of Academic Achievement

Among 512 Senior students, Edith Elizabeth Brown proudly achieved the highest grade point average during her four years of various academic subjects. Accomplishments surmounting all other students required diligence, persistence, desire, patience, knowledge and goals far reaching to greater dreams. Evaluating the marks of each student's grades, the report showed the results of an exceptional student, Edith Brown, who well deserved the honor bestowed upon her by being named Valedictorian of the 1971 Senior graduating class.

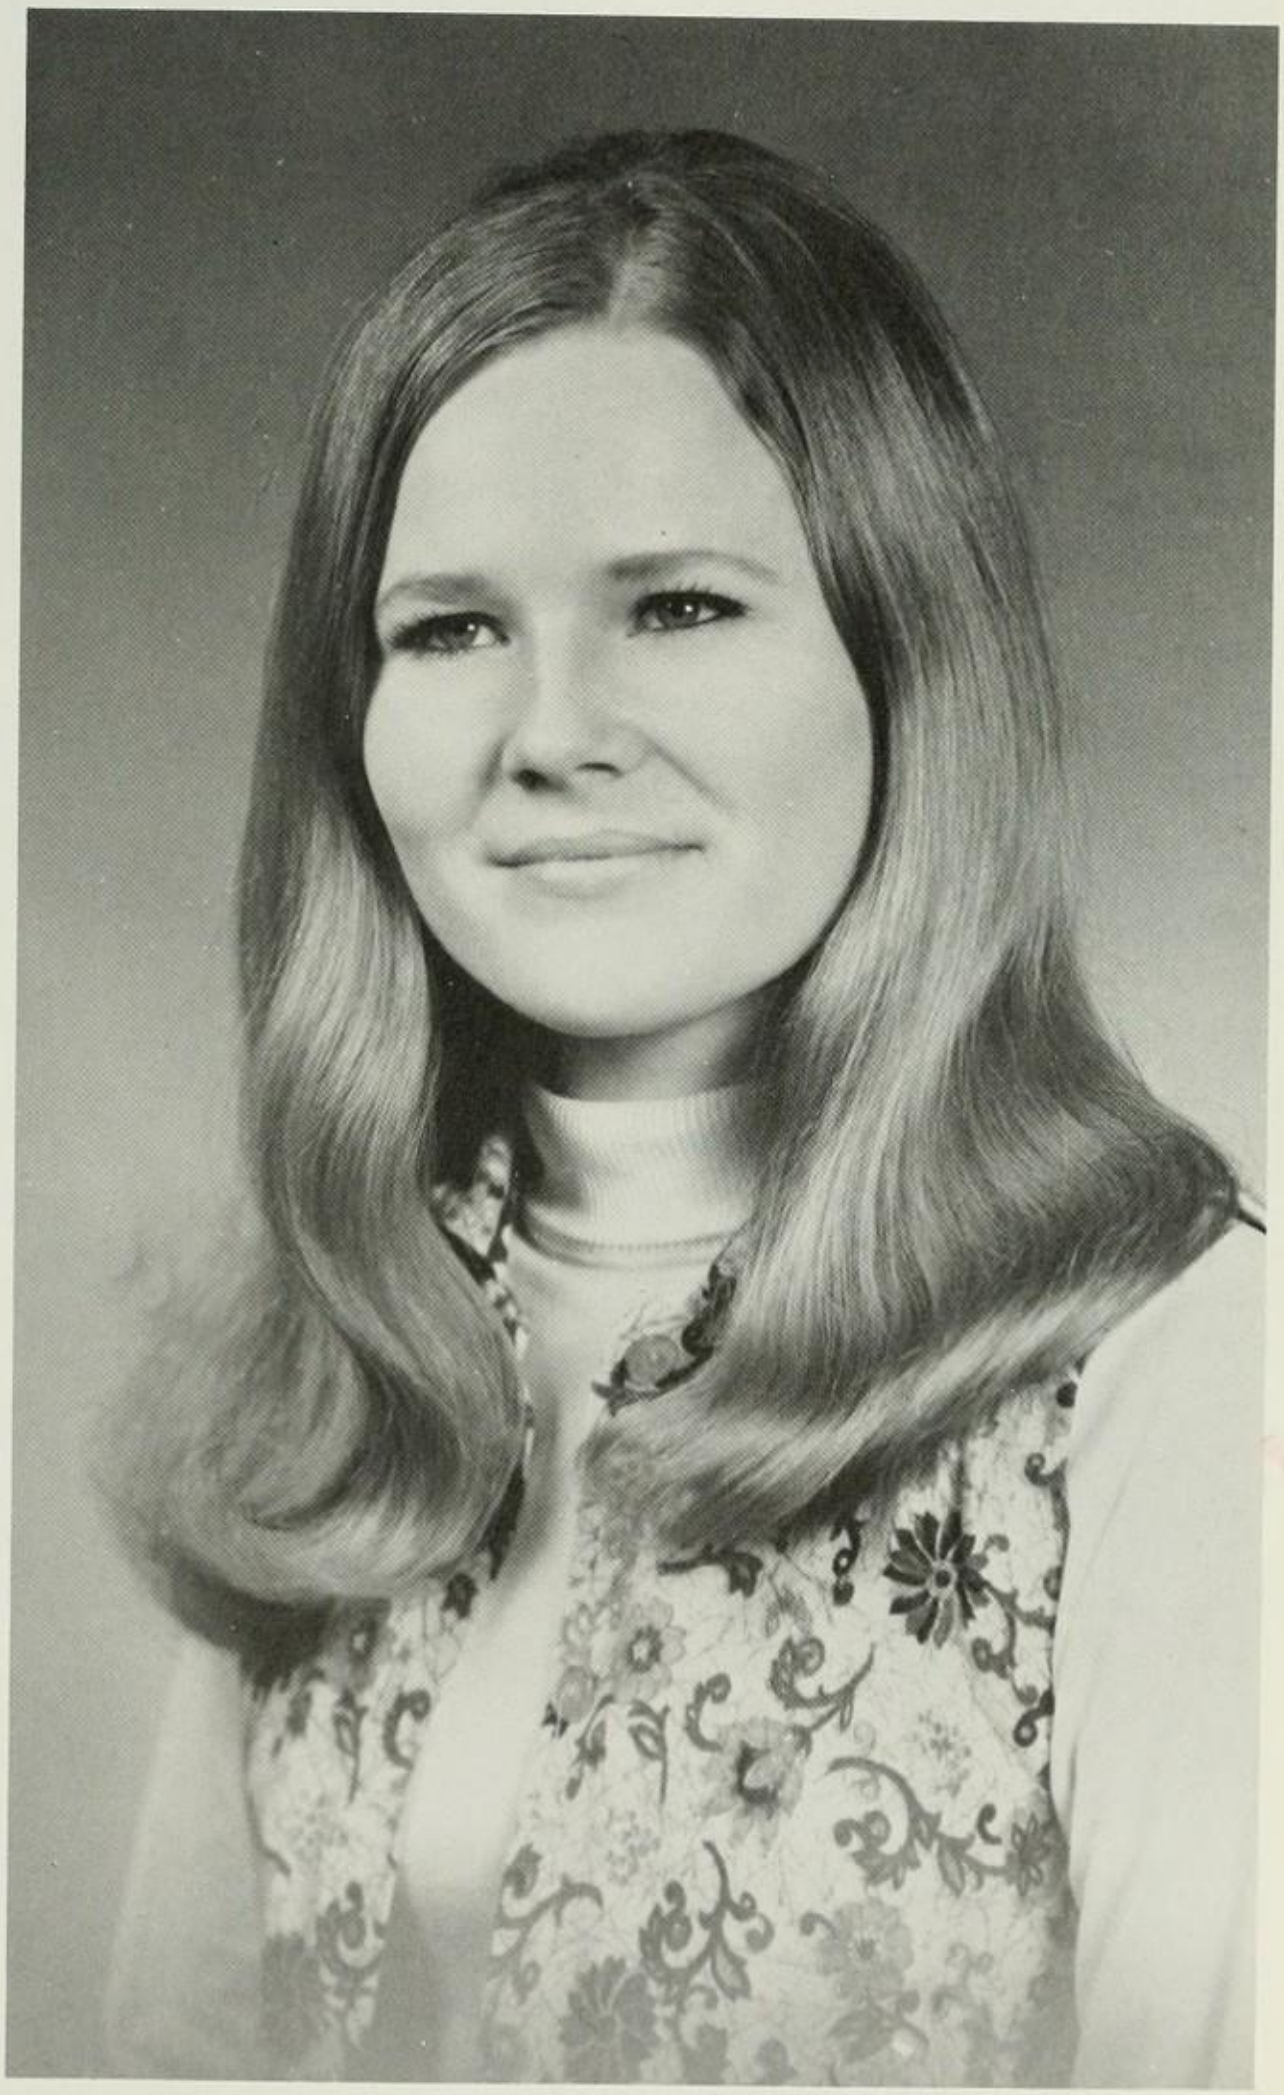


EDITH ELIZABETH BROWN

Commending Excelling Knowledge

Every year, two students are chosen by their four-year scholastic records to represent their graduating class at commencement exercises. One of these students honored was Nancy Farnsworth, Salutatorian, of the Senior Class of 1971.

Rating second in her class, Nancy was highly commended for her excelling knowledge and continuing academic effort.

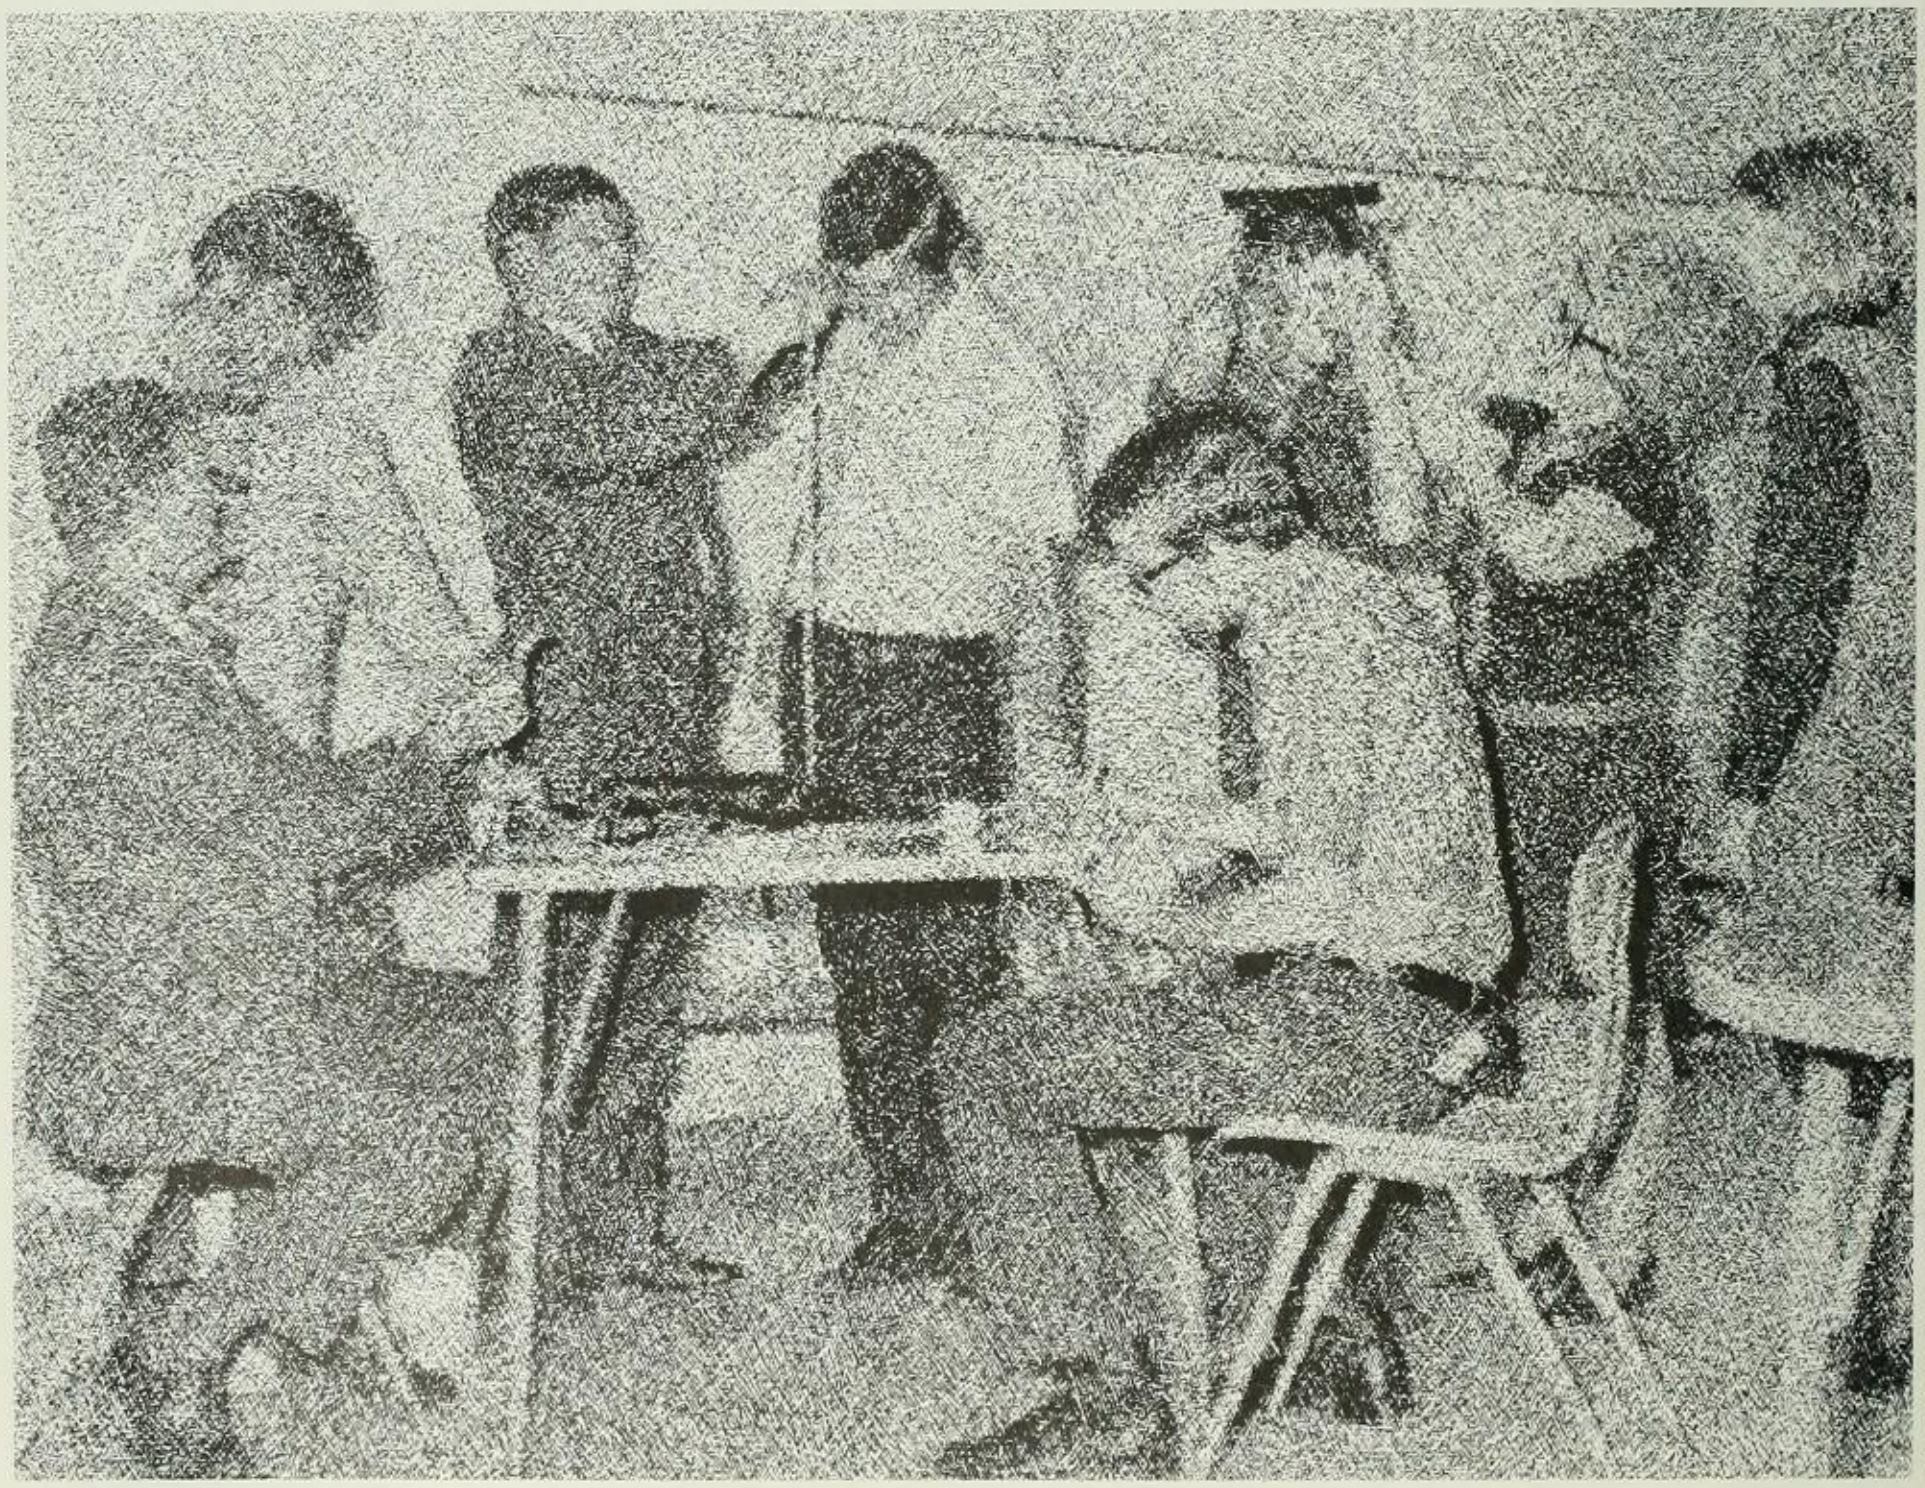


NANCY FARNSWORTH

Ceaseless Work That Never Ends

"The end of one search, the beginning of another, life one constant quest of knowledge, one undying discovery: the discovery of meaning, meaning of life, meaning of one's own existence."

Unknown



A willingness to attain knowledge and superior intelligence to understand complex problems were determining factors for Top Ten Senior, Edith Elizabeth Brown.

Beth gained recognition by being active in various clubs and organizations such as the Future Teachers of America, the History Forum and a diligent member of the National Honor Society.

The students' confidence in Beth's abilities were revealed when she was named Most Intelligent Girl by the Senior class. Displaying these abilities she was named Merit Scholarship Semifinalist.

Giving her time and energy to various subjects, Beth fulfilled the high expectations of the school administration.

Possessing natural musical talents, Steve Casey participated in the Symphonic Band all four years of high school and the stage band his Senior year. Capability and a sense of near perfection won him a place in the All-Region Band. Steve also received a Rating I in the Annual U.I.L. Solo and Ensemble Contest.

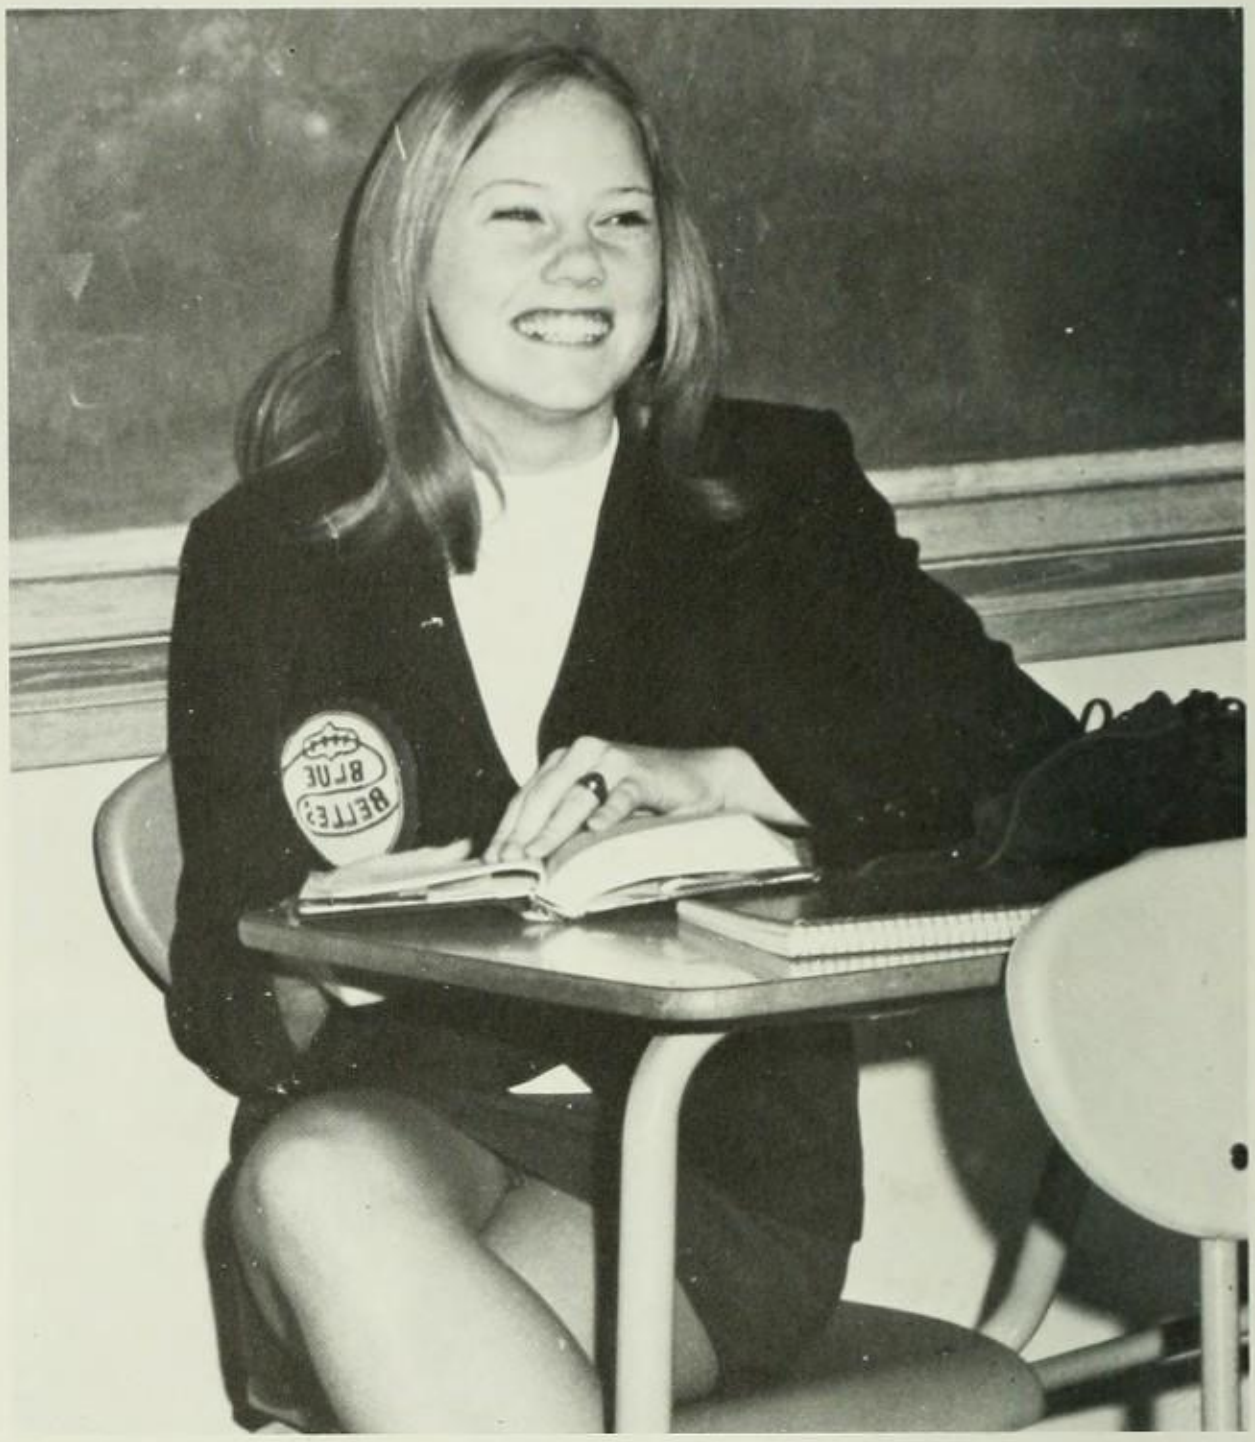
Aside from his musical interests, Steve endeavored in pursuing his technical aptitude when he became a member of the Junior Engineering Technical Society and Industrial Arts Club. His scholastic achievements were recognized when he received honorable mention on the National Merit Scholarship Test, and participated in the NEDT. All these were commendable qualities for honor of Top Ten Senior.

Realization Of Accomplishments

Leadership and class honors marked the schedule of Jane Carver in her four years at R. L. Turner. She served as class secretary for three years and took an active part in the newly established Student Senate. After becoming a Lionette her Sophomore year and Lionette Captain as a Junior, Jane achieved the position of Lionette Head Captain. Among the top Lionettes, Jane was chosen as a Blue Belle to perform at basketball halftime for three years. Nominating the Senior Superlatives, the class nominated Jane for Friendliest and Best All Around Student. One of the highest honors was given to Jane when the Junior and Senior classes selected her for Prom Queen Nominee of 1971.

"Knowledge is a comfortable and necessary retreat and shelter for us in an advanced age and if we do not plant it while young, it will give us no shade when we grow old."

Lord Chesterfield



Teachers recognized a sincere interest toward school work in Conrad Garcia's overall efforts. Displaying outstanding qualities of class participation and academic abilities, Conrad was elected President of the Spanish Club during his Senior year. Many skills of academic knowledge formed the outline of activities in the high school years of Conrad at R. L. Turner. By exhibiting industrious qualities Conrad successfully conducted many fund raising projects for the Spanish Club. Throughout his years in high school, Conrad proved to be an excellent choice for the title of Top Ten Senior in the Graduating class of 1971.

Top Ten Senior title was awarded to Jon Liston for his excelling academics and extra-curricular activities. As a member of the R. L. Turner National Honor Society, Jon was elected as treasurer. He fulfilled each responsibility to the extent of near superior accomplishments placed upon him. In the Mu Alpha Theta Math Club, concentration became the main objective for achievement. Meetings of the Math Club presented many good programs with Jon presiding as vice president. Taking an active part in the Latin Club, Jon was nominated to serve an office. In resuming the challenge of athletic requirements, tennis proved to be an outstanding sport for Jon. Selected to be a dependable ROAR Staff member his Sophomore year, Jon progressed and displayed strong essentials for photography. Snapping many pictures for the 1971 ROAR, Jon captured the roles of the students, the teachers and the faculty of school life in the hours of joy, excitement, tenseness, fatigue, and acknowledgement.

High honors marked the activities of Carolyn Cummens. Participating in various organizations, Carolyn was a member of the Science Club, Latin Club, Girls Glee, FHA, FTA and Lionettes. While a member of the National Honor Society she was elected president her Senior year. Nomination of Most Intelligent honored her abilities and desires for Senior Superlatives. For her academic knowledge, Carolyn was chosen for copy editor on the ROAR Staff.

"Wisdom is the perfect good of the human mind; philosophy is the love of wisdom and the endeavor to attain it."

Seneca

Serving as Class Editor, Lorri Dickstein was a hardworking member of the ROAR Staff. Selected her Junior year, she gained the confidence of the Editor for her dependability and service to hold a high position during her Senior year.

Interested in advanced mathematics, Lorri was a member of the Mu Alpha Theta Math Club her Junior year and was elected president of the club during her Senior year. She was also elected treasurer of the Future Teachers of America both her Junior and Senior years. Showing an aptitude for Latin, Lorri was a member of the Latin Club for two years.

Her high scholastic average led her to be tapped into the National Honor Society and also was a determining factor for her being honored as one of the Top Ten Seniors.

Being versatile in his abilities, Pat Malone was both outstanding in his studies and in athletic activities. His academic standing placed him repeatedly on the high Honor Roll. Pat excelled in school subjects such as mathematics, chemistry, English and history.

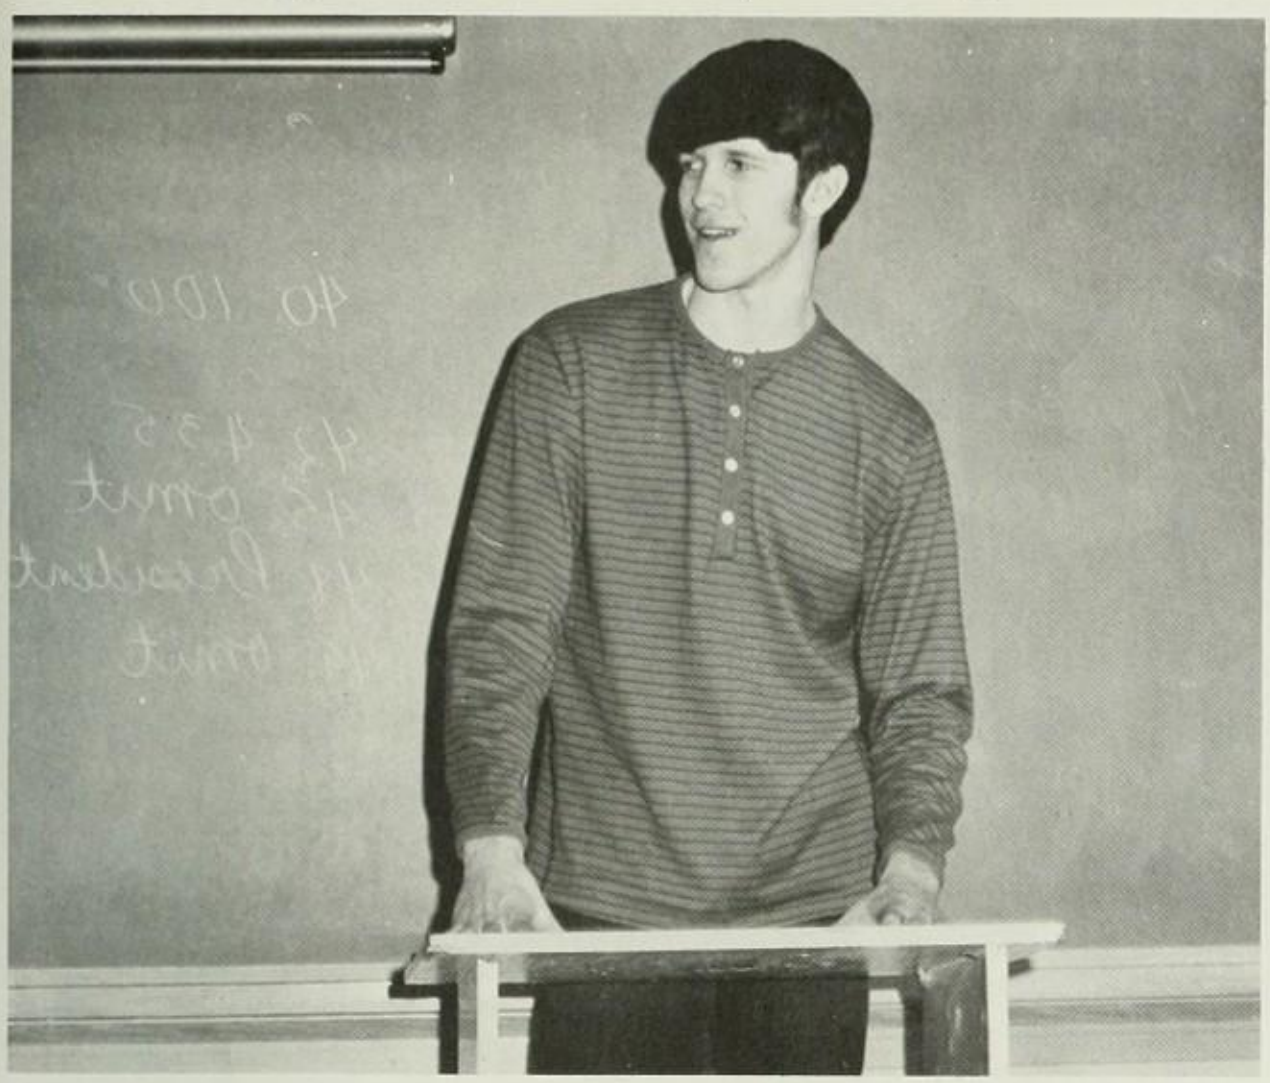
Interested in Latin, Pat was an active member of the Latin Club and participated in many of the club's projects.

Continuous practice, superb coordination and unlimited determination earned Pat a place on the Tennis team. The skill achieved by Pat in tennis proved to be a valuable asset for all tennis matches in which Turner was a participant.

"To know is not to know, unless someone else has known that I know."

Lucilius

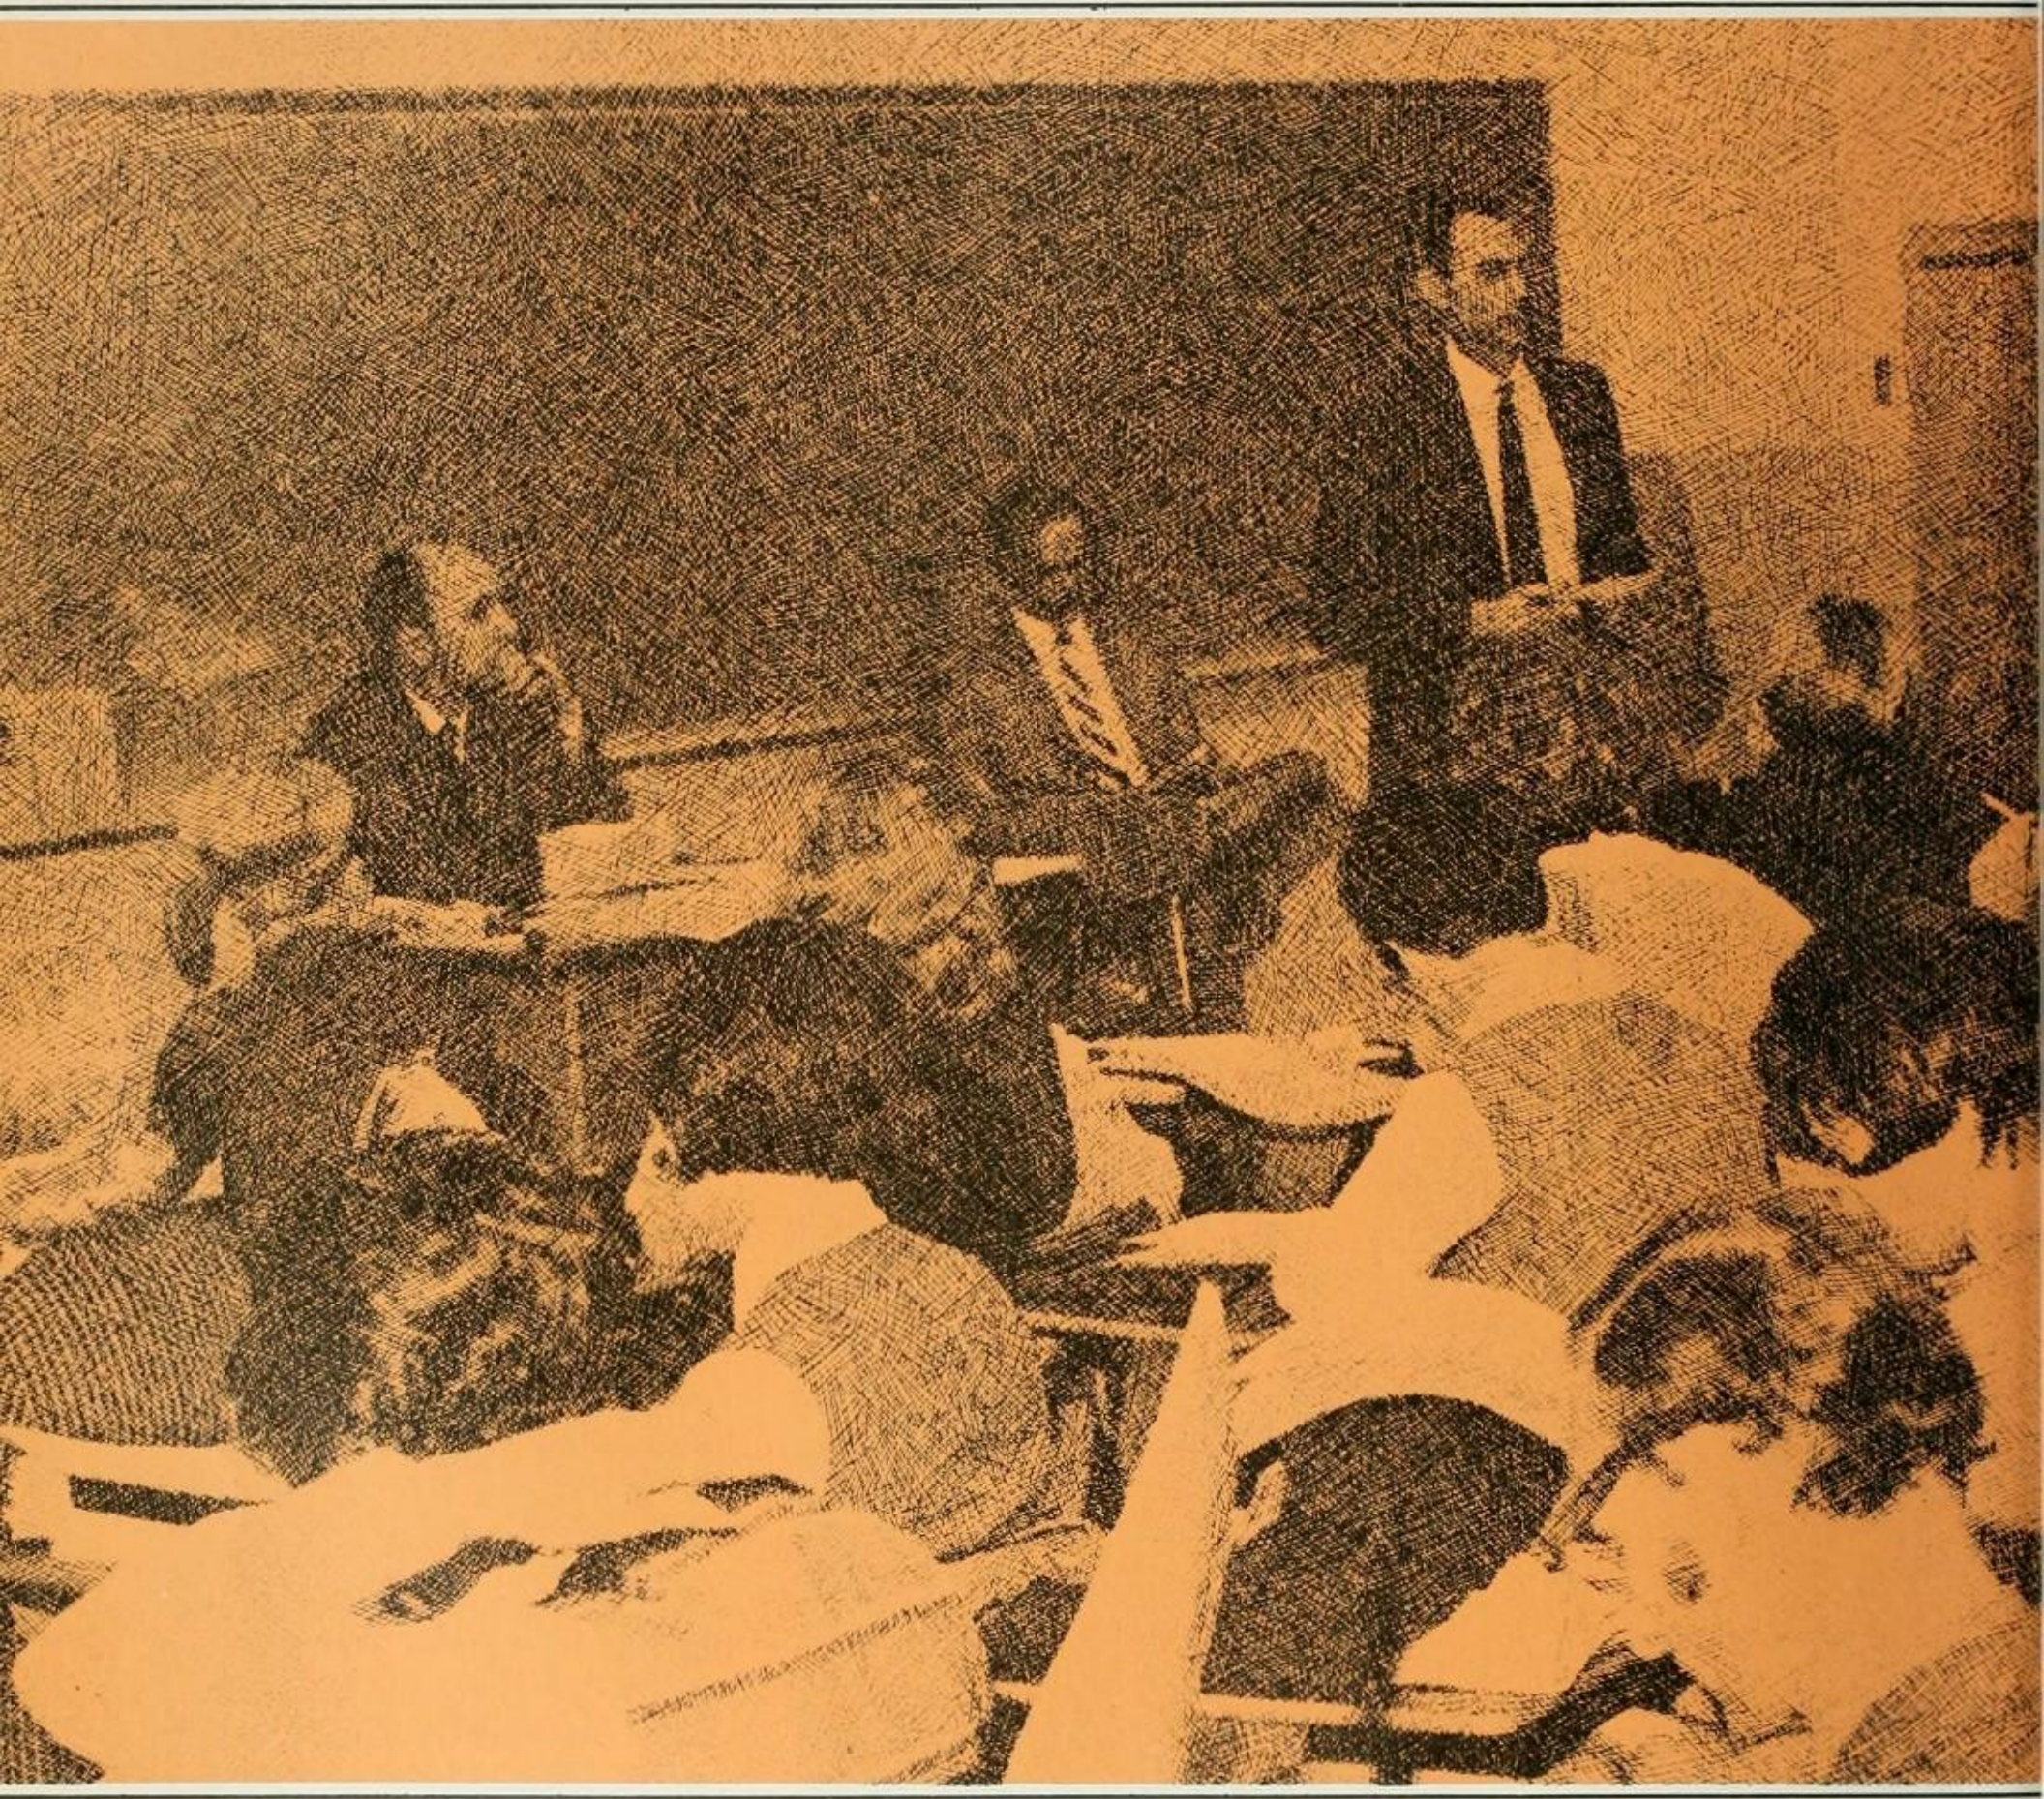
Recognition Of Top Ten Seniors

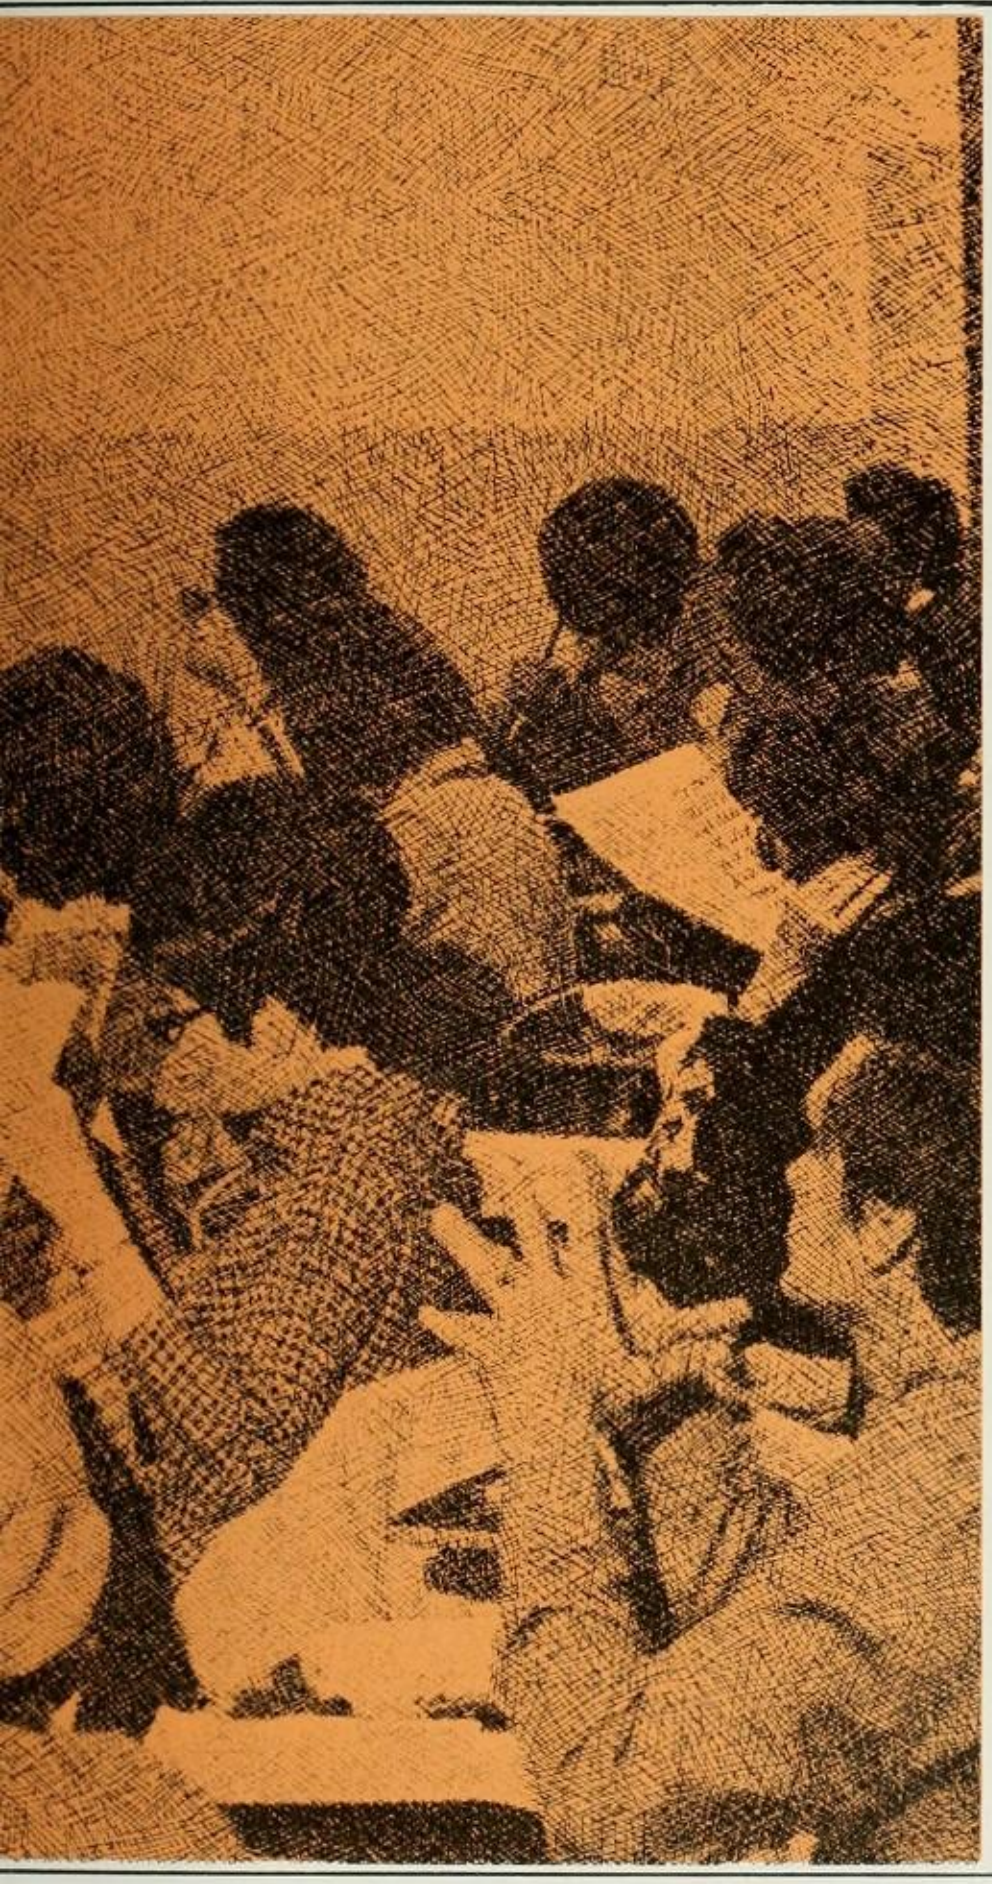


Through his accomplishments in the academic and athletic fields, Jimmy Murphy was awarded the title of Top Ten Senior. Titles honored the achievements of Jimmy when he received All-Tournament and Most Valuable Player in the Dr. Pepper Tournament his Junior year. Great success was achieved in the two years of participation by Jimmy. Persistent work and efforts further developed skills of Jimmy in his involvement on the 1971 track team. Awarded with a savings bond, Jimmy achieved recognition on writing a theme for American Essay. As head of the Senior class, Jimmy presided as president. Participation on the Student Senate gave added Senior responsibilities to Jimmy.

Busy with activity best described Tandy Holter's school life. She participated in the Latin Club functions and in the Spanish Club which elected her treasurer her Senior year.

Working for the development of strong school policies and a better understanding between teachers and students, Tandy was an industrious member of the Student Senate her Junior and Senior years and also served as a class officer. Well recognized as an active and popular individual, Tandy was nominated Miss THS, both Junior and Senior years, and elected Most Likely to Succeed by the Senior class. Tandy well deserved the title of Top Ten Senior for her involvement and concern in school and extracurricular activities.





Faculty

Yearly Leadership

Carrying the responsibility for the educational welfare of all students, Superintendent Mr. Newman Smith managed to coordinate eleven schools in the Farmers Branch-Carrollton district. With the aid of the School Board and his office personnel, Mr. Smith proved himself capable to cope with the problems of the growing area.

Facing problems, Superintendent Mr. Newman Smith dealt with each individually.

Office personnel were Mrs. Kathleen MacFarlane, Mrs. Lana Brooks, Mrs. Martha Williams, Mrs. Vida Groom, Mrs. Jeannie Wright, Mrs. Glenda Thompson, Mrs. Mildred Rattan, Mrs. Willetta Lemons, Mrs. Edwina Thompson and Mrs. Wanda Launius.

Board members Mr. Bill Phipps and Mr. Ken Bush discussed the next meeting.

Members who compiled the 1970-71 School Board were (standing left to right) Mr. E. Luna, Mr. B. Blanton, Mr. B. Skipping, Mr. G. Barnes, Mr. R. Davis, Mr. D. Davis, (sitting) Mr. D. Sheffield, Mr. C. Blalack, Mr. W. M. Davis and Mr. N. Smith, superintendent.

Building Respect And Character

Hard work exemplified the role of Mr. J. T. Parish, the Assistant Principal.

Leadership and direction best described the duties of Principal Mr. W. B. Green and Assistant Principal Mr. J. T. Parish. Using past experiences, these two men introduced many changes related to the student's needs and their varied interests. Trying to maintain a learning atmosphere, Mr. Green and Mr. Parish advised teachers who in turn shaped the character and minds of the high school students and prepared them for future years.

Leading youths, Mr. W. B. Green played a part in forming the school's curriculum.

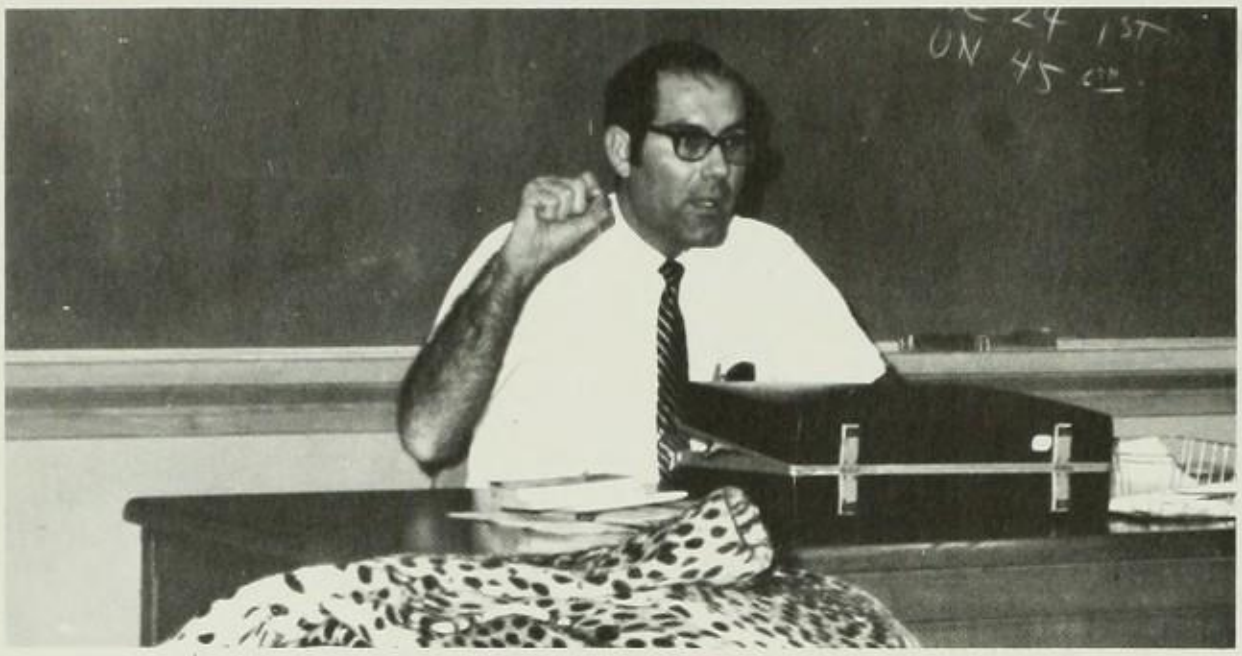
Pausing a moment, Mr. W. B. Green and Mr. J. T. Parish took a break from work.

Shaping Standards



Concerned for students, Mr. Kenneth McElroy sponsored Turner's Student Senate.

Preparing lessons, Mrs. Ann Evans and Mr. Gary Dawkins compared problems.

Serving To Fulfill Growing Needs

Each day, cafeteria workers prepared approximately 625 servings of french fries.

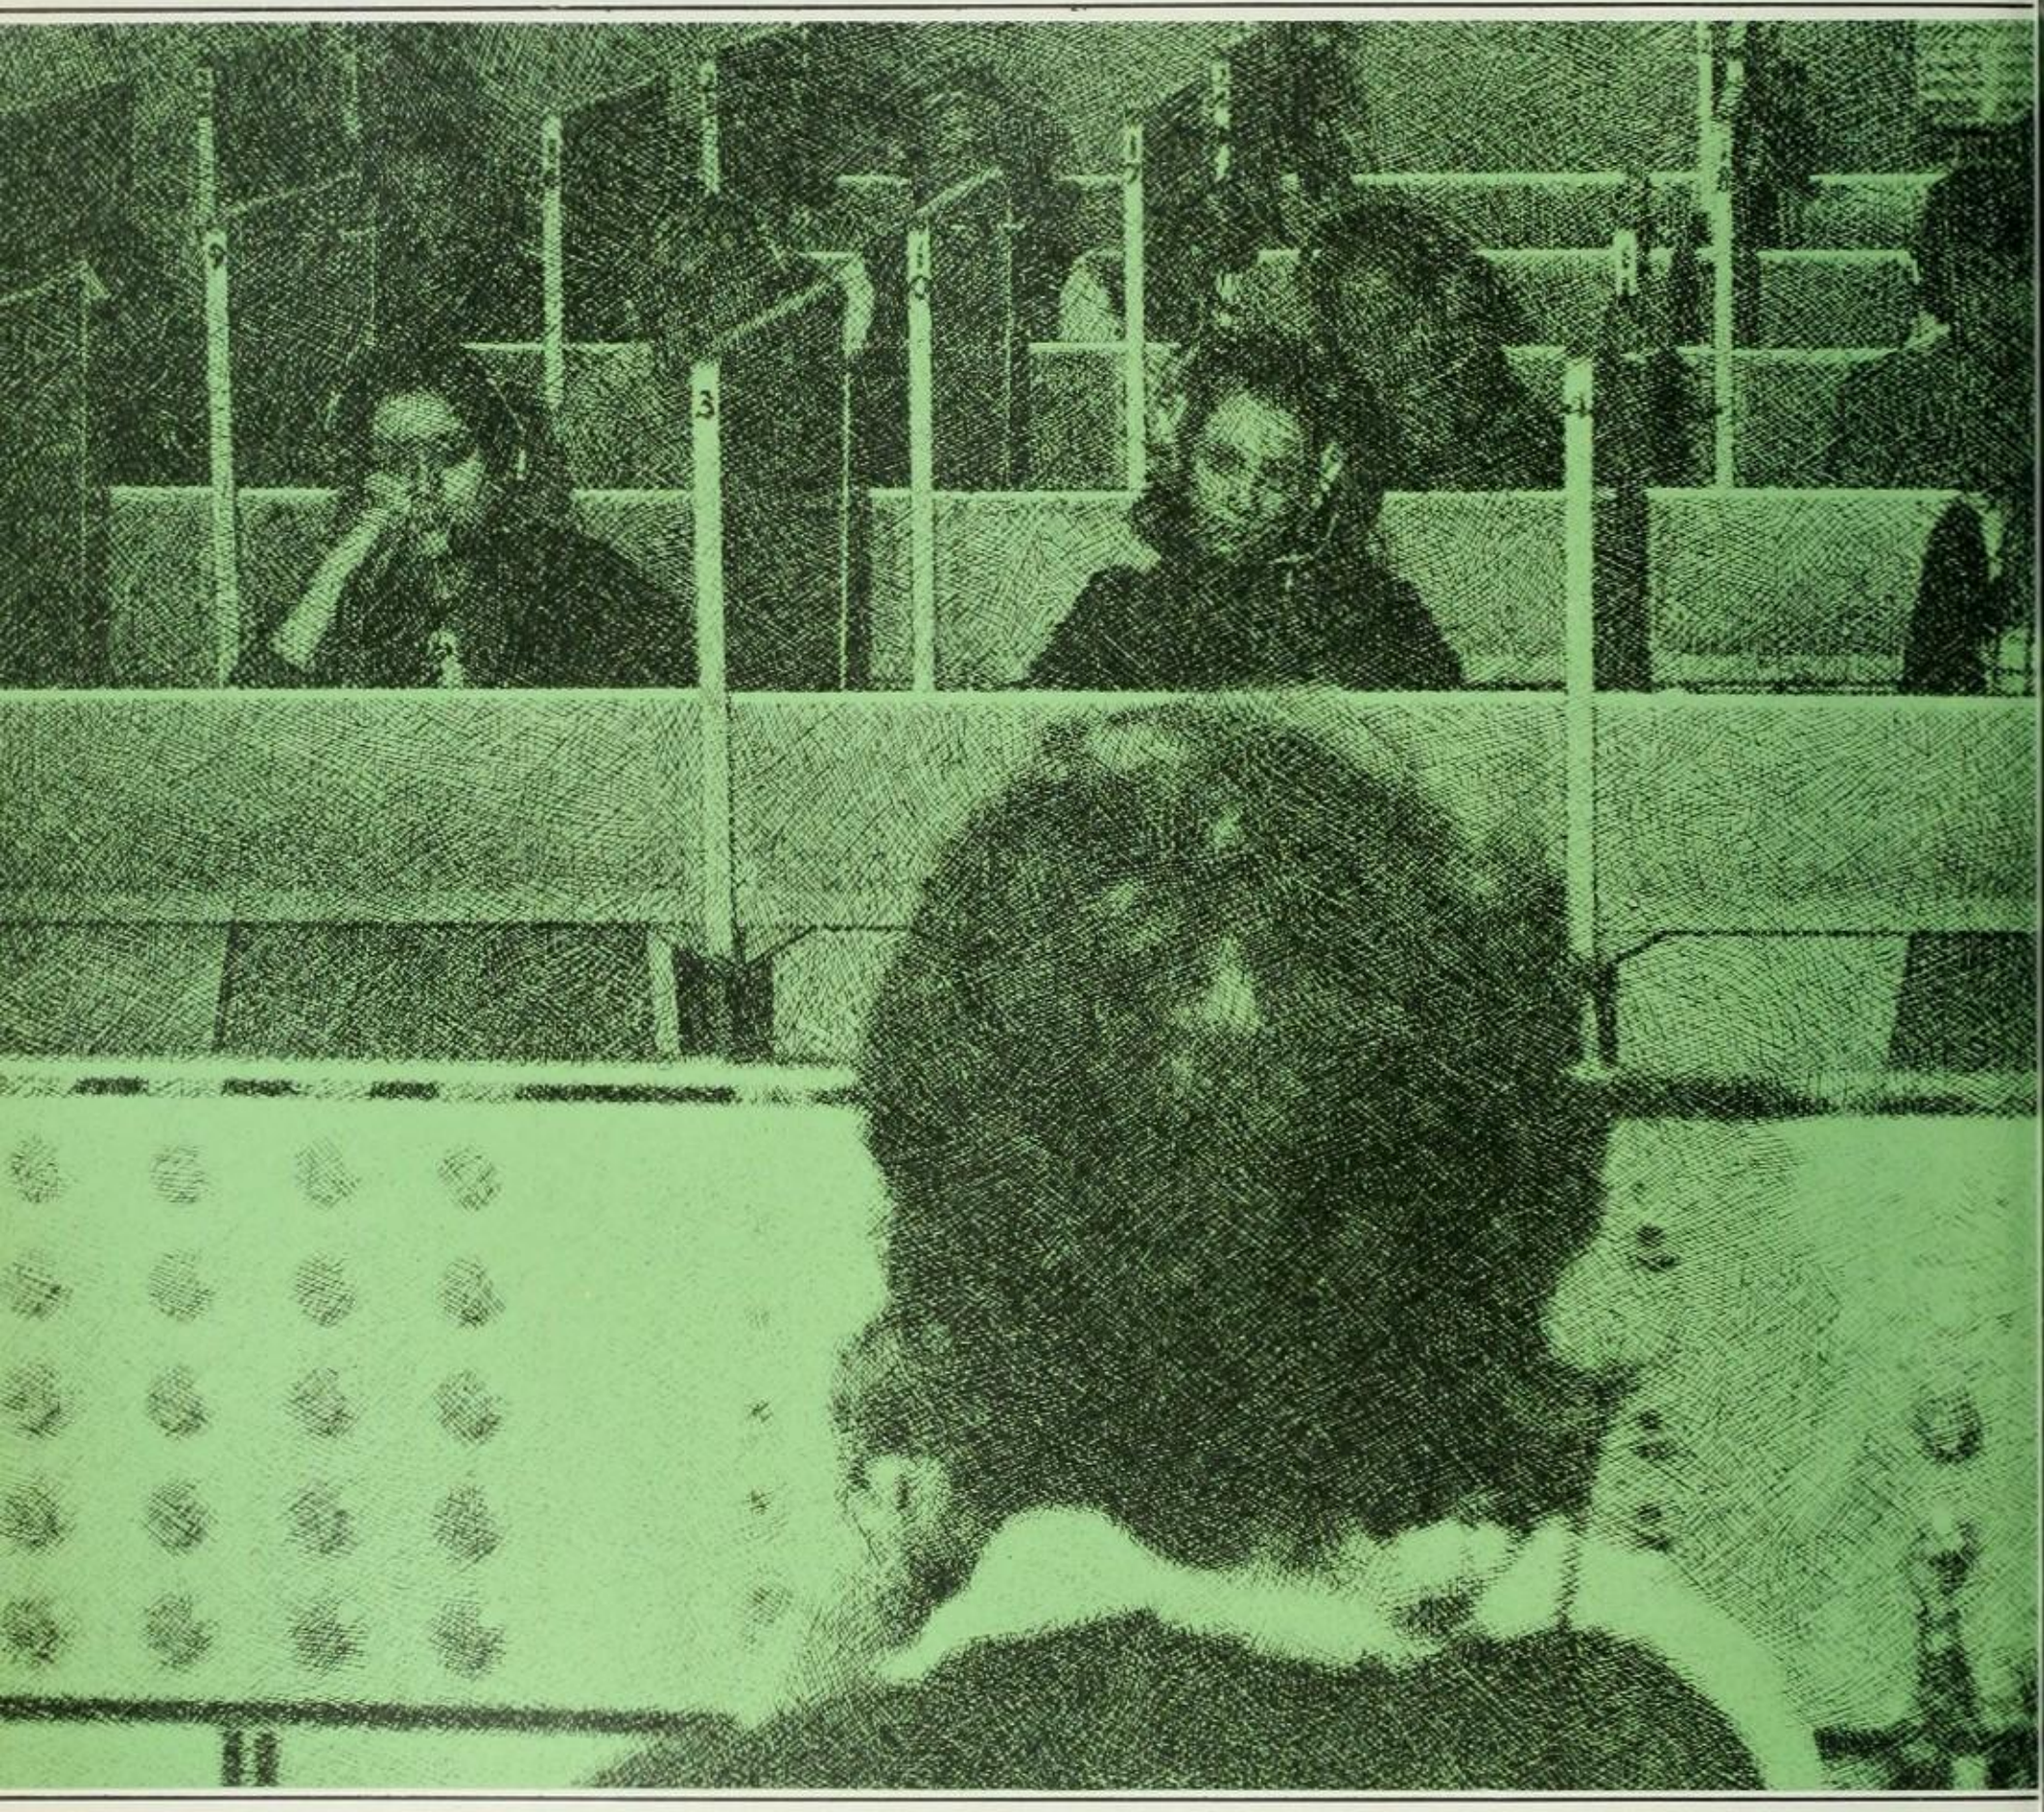
During lunch, the cafeteria became a place for students to relax, converse or simply enjoy themselves while eating their noontime meal with friends.

To Turner's cafeteria workers, the cafeteria became a place for work. Preparing nutritious meals at reasonable prices proved to be a most frustrating task encountered by the workers. Even after careful consideration of foods they found many students rejected a balanced diet for a coke or a candy bar.

Custodian, Mr. Edd Brill helped to maintain a clean and efficient cafeteria.

With the increasing number of students enrolled at Turner, more and more food was needed to be prepared to meet the demands of the individual student's appetities.

Above: Parking lot attendant, Mr. Ed Hawkins relaxed after collecting student's fees.
Right: At the end of fifth period, cashiers usually collected approximately $1,400.00.



Academics

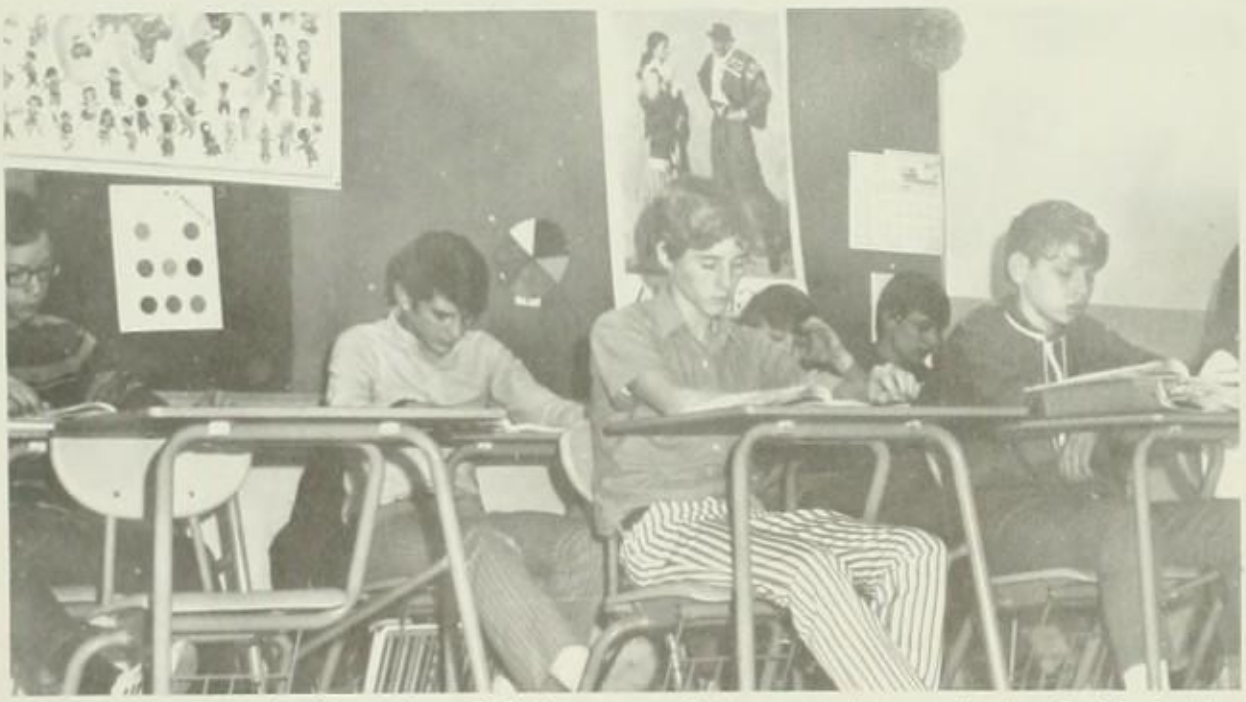
Obtaining Language Abilities

Languages gave understanding to many students who were enrolled in foreign language classes. These students learned the process of expanding their minds in order to acquire a knowledge of language from a different country.

Three of the courses offered by the Foreign Language Department were Latin, French and Spanish. These three courses and the participation in separate club programs gave students an opportunity for enrichment in these fields.

Calling on various students to answer questions during Spanish class, Mrs. Olivia Morris discovered some of her pupils failed to complete their homework assignments.

Listening to drills while in French lab, students gained a better idea of the language.



Spanish was taught through oral dialogues, written exercises and visual aids in the hope that students would be able to develop a better understanding of the language.

Latin translations were explained to Diane McKimble by Miss Laura Harbin.

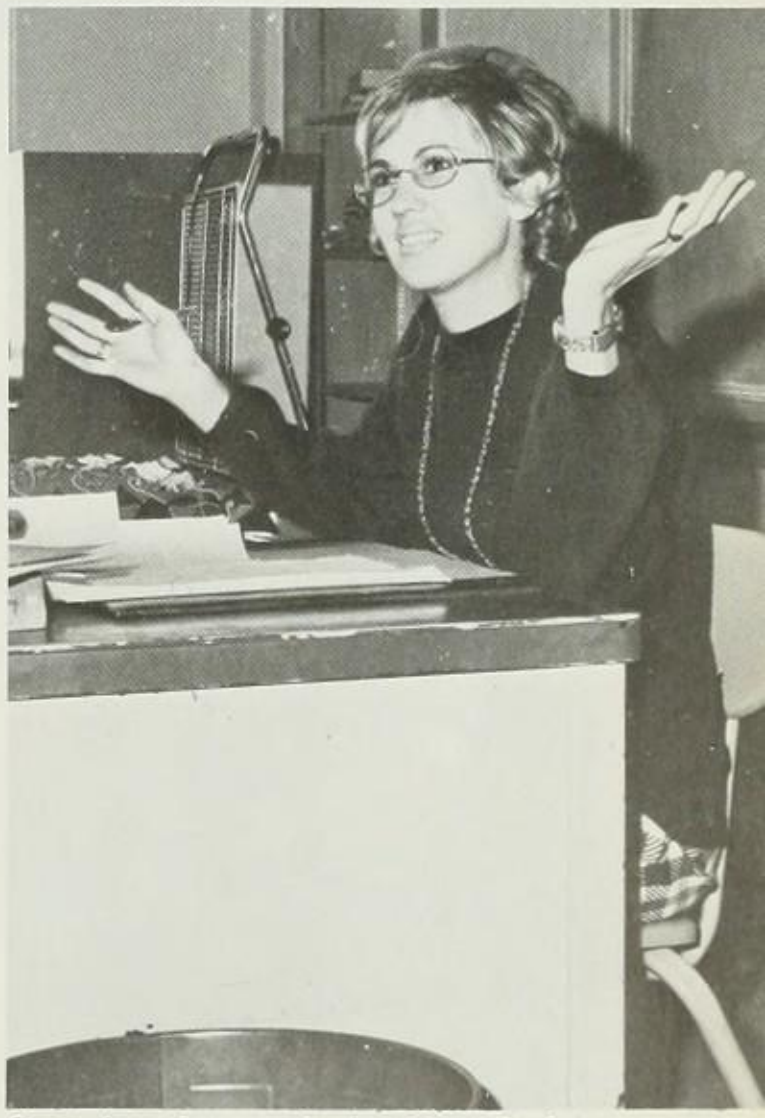
Using Language Of Today

Communications have held an important role in all phases of English through word usage, descriptions, translations and expressiveness of many individuals. Without the basic English language, improvements, advancements and development of man would not have expanded to the extent of its success known in our society today.

Four-year plan in the English field offered students a thorough knowledge of grammar, history and literature of the language. These courses provided the basic foundations and requirements for college-bound students as well as those seeking jobs in the career world.

Listening attentively, eager Freshmen started their first year of advanced English.

Memorizing poetry, making projects and studying English literature and writers, Senior English students Barbara Jordan and Dan Milhorn experienced a rewarding year.



Gesturing for emphasis, Miss Becky Levin dramatized a story for her class.

Awareness Of The Unseen World

Opportunities to enroll in various science courses were designed to increase knowledge and to develop a better concept for understanding the world around us. Taking science courses for later careers, students were awarded credits and recognition for their progress.

Among the science courses available, Physical Science and Biology became the science subjects which were completed by most students. After finishing these courses, students acquired the contentment of achieving a greater degree of wisdom and the value of participating in the numerous science courses offered at Turner.

Working on a problem, Ginni Mascas and D'nelle Phillips attempted their homework.

Between the labs and discussions, Biology students found time for working in groups.

Taking dictated notes, working given examples and solving questions or problems during the class period occupied much of an average first-year Chemistry student's time.

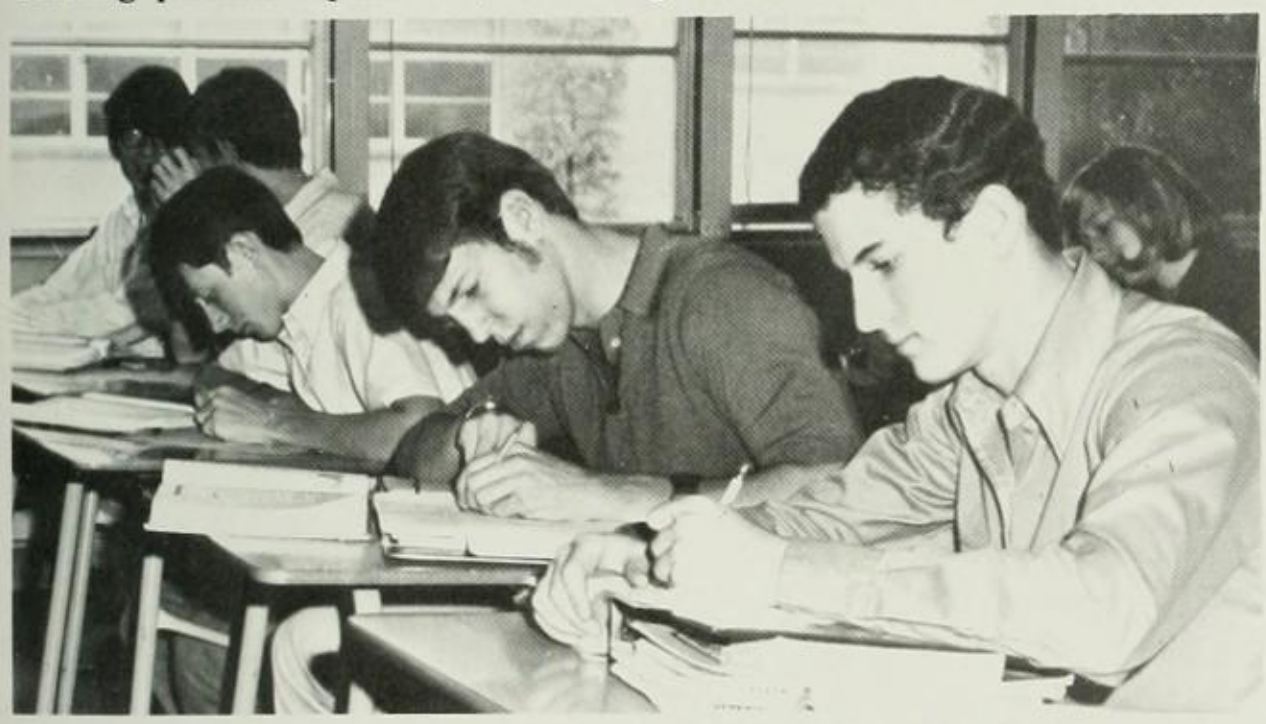
Mixing chemicals carefully, Junior Roland Johnson performed a complex lab.

Knowledge Of The Undefined

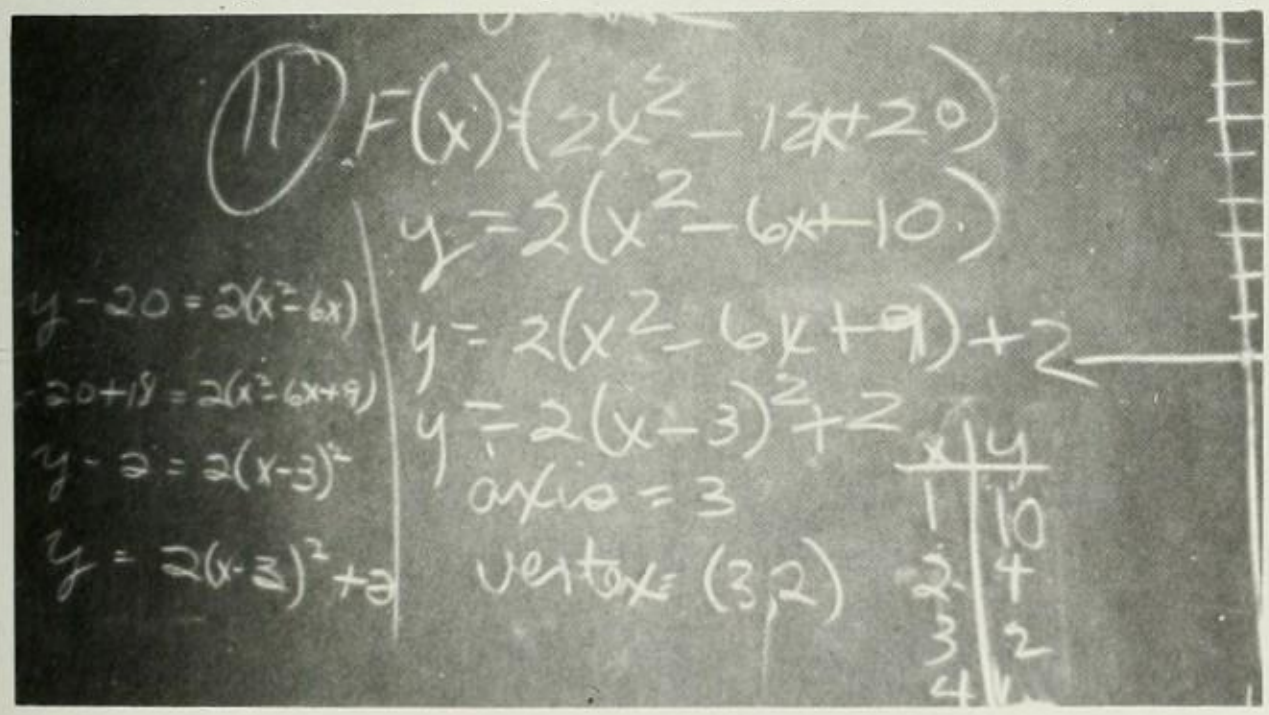
Students took a step toward the future as they prepared for a technological society. Math was an essential course for students preparing their future in adult careers.

Class curriculum consisted of evaluating problems, learning new mathematical principles and analyzing theorems. Related Math, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry and Analytical Geometry were courses that provided students with better opportunities for progress in academics for the future world.

Offering problem explanations, Mrs. Marguerite Johnson held a class discussion.



Complicated Algebra homework kept students Ricky Richardson, Greg Ochs busy.



Algebra students were able to receive extra credit by placing their homework problems on the blackboard and explaining the method in which they were solved.

Keeping order in her class, Mrs. Norma Hufstedler watched her math students.

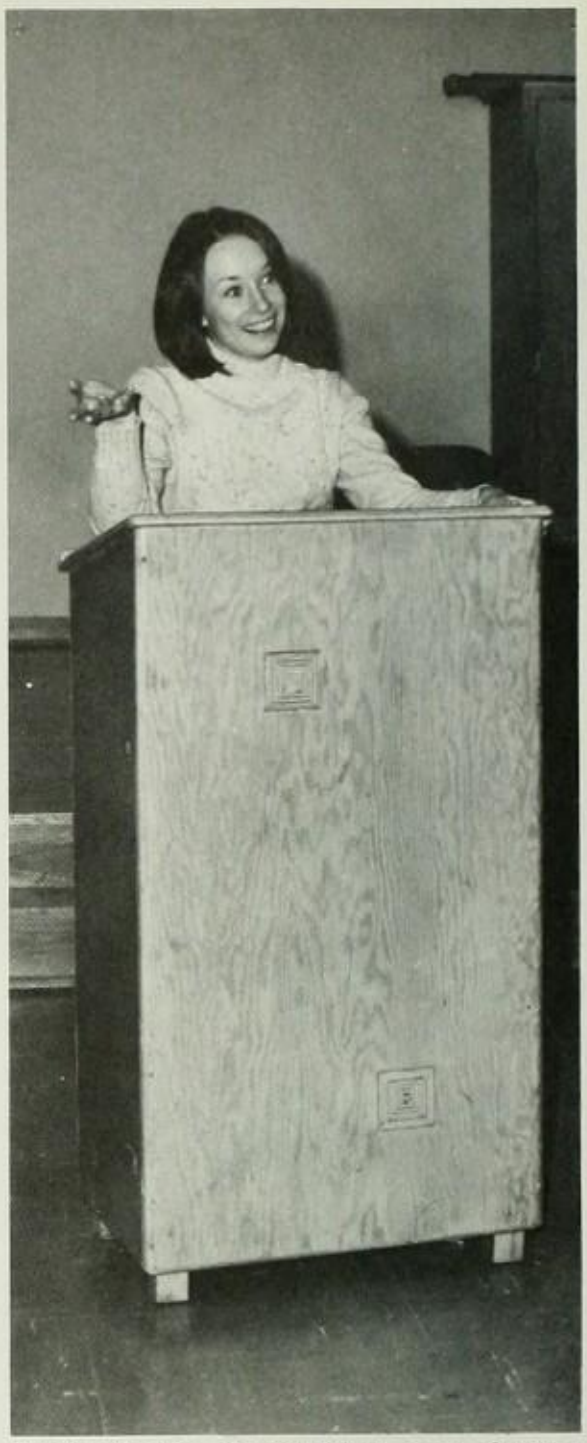
Importance Lying In Student Participation

With more students participating in the course, the Turner Drama department has grown in size and popularity. Learning the history of early theaters and playwriters, students realized the importance of dramatic arts in this society.

Stage acting was enjoyed by those who liked taking over the role of another character. Improvisations and poetry readings were a popular part of the drama classes and actors used great imagination in choosing their various scenes.

For others, the fields of costuming, makeup, stage designing and lighting was available to be explored in depth. Students found that drama was a versatile course that offered enrichment for the mind and pleasure for the individual.

Eagerly, Sophomore Susie Reed tried to attract Mr. David Heath's attention.



Improvisational speaking was demonstrated by student Patty Pierce.

Adapting the Reader's Theater script of "Kaleidoscope," the fourth period drama class presented its own creative interpretation.

Forms Of Emotions

Under the able direction of Mr. Ted Polk, the choir greatly improved in quality as they discovered the experience of accomplishment and sense of enjoyment gained through singing. Dedicating an hour and a half every day, the choir achieved a delightful, harmonious pleasing sound.

Turner boasted of their four choirs: A Capella, Women's Select, Men's Chorus and the Women's Chorus. "Pop" selections were performed by each "Madrigal" group as they presented programs at luncheons and business meetings.

Dressed in brand new red, white and blue outfits, the choir made a striking appearance wherever they went. Students who had singing ability greatly benefited from the experience received through participating and performing in the choir.

Striving for perfection in their music quality, the A Capella choir members practiced daily during their class period to achieve a harmonious effect in tone and melody.

Practicing to the accompaniment of Barbara Jordan and Vicki Tucker, choral students Connie Peacock and Lonna Ford paused for a brief moment to look over their music.

Beginning her first year at Turner, Mrs. Rosolowski directed the choral students.

Developing Valuable Experiences Promoting Additional Advantages

Future homemakers learned valuable skills through instruction of skills in cooking and sewing. While first-year cooking was concerned with the basic essentials in preparing meals, advanced classes created many full course dinners, homemade bread and fancy pastry.

As the second part of home economics, students learned the basic techniques of zipper application and hemming to the more advanced skills of lining and clothing design.

Home and Family Living was a course available to Senior girls to give them a foundation needed to make a future home.

Through the detailed instruction of homemaking skills, eager students were given a further knowledge applicable to the awaiting future.

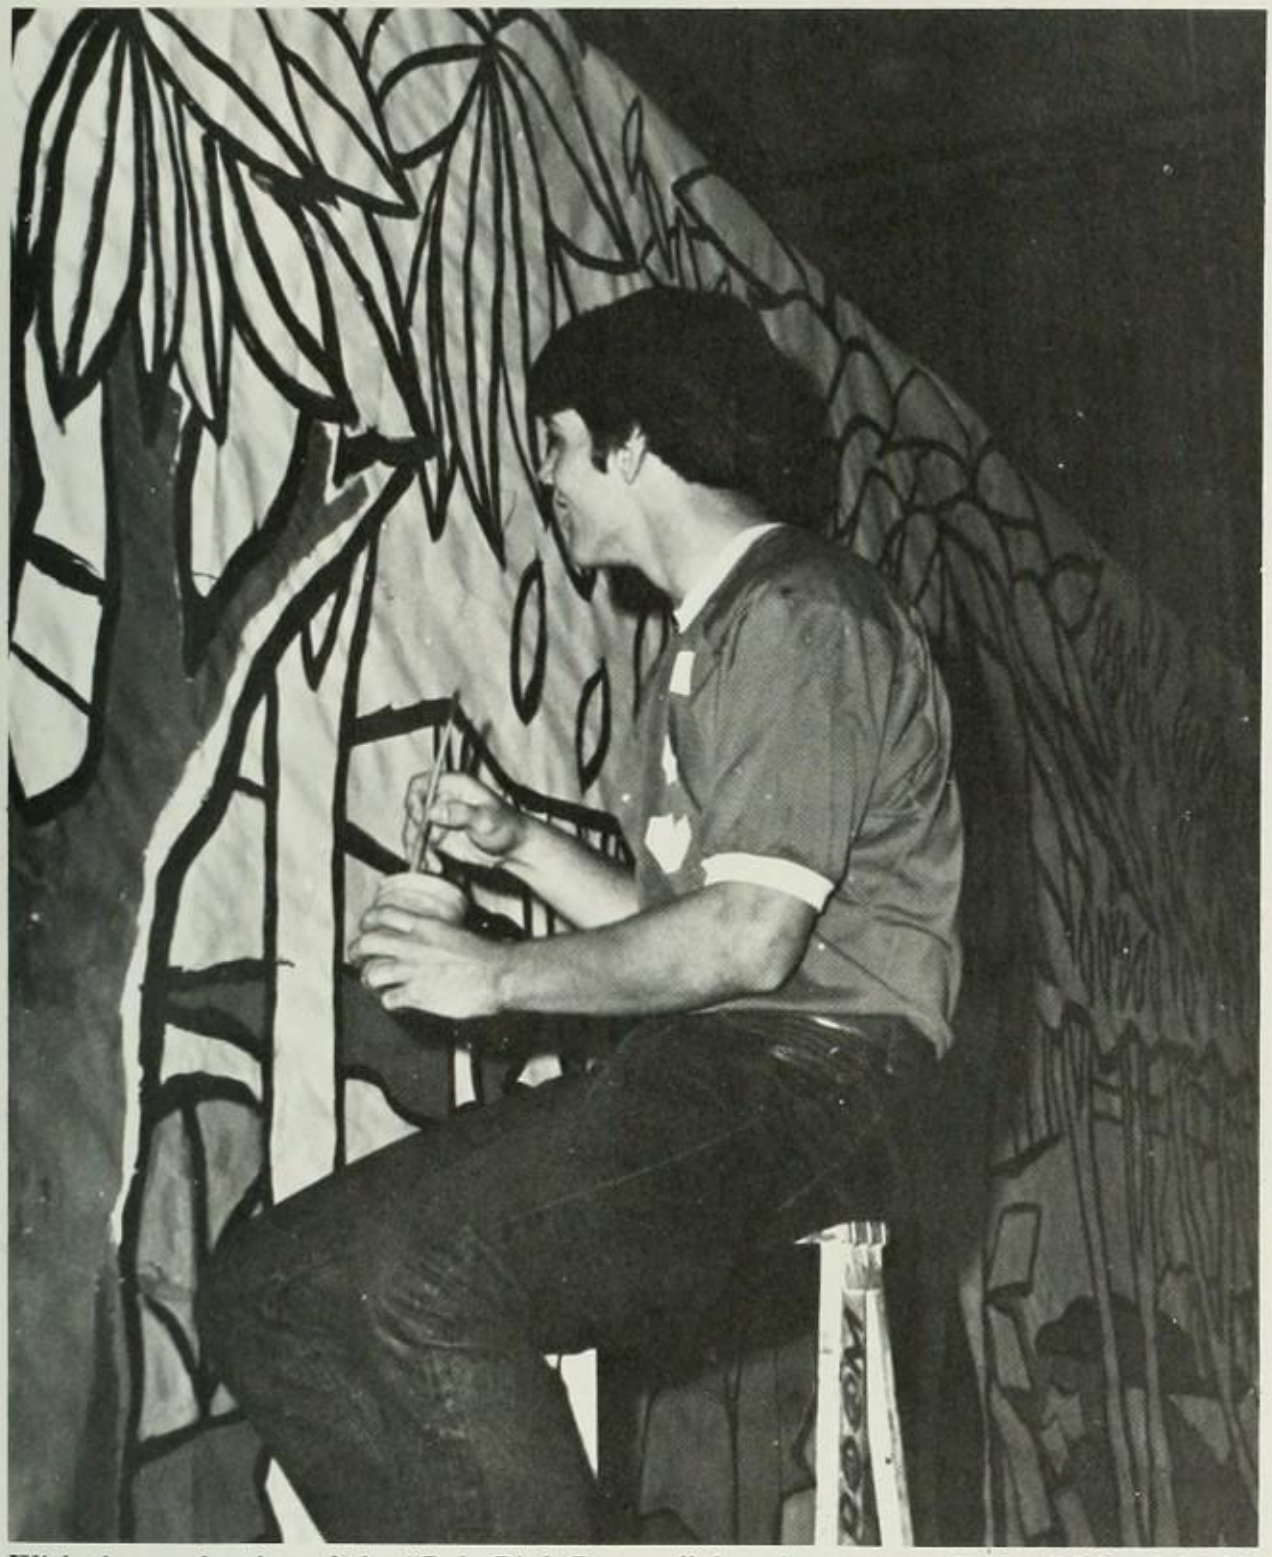
Making, fitting and fashioning clothes during class periods on school machines was an essential requirement for each home economics student regardless of grade level.

Smiling pertly, Senior Alaine Blough flaunted the result of her sewing class.

Exasperated and confused by the mechanics of her sewing machine, Sophomore Beverly Launius hesitated for a moment to examine the instruction booklet one more time.

Showing patience, Mrs. Lorna Williams was often found helping her students.

Fantasy Of Individual Expression

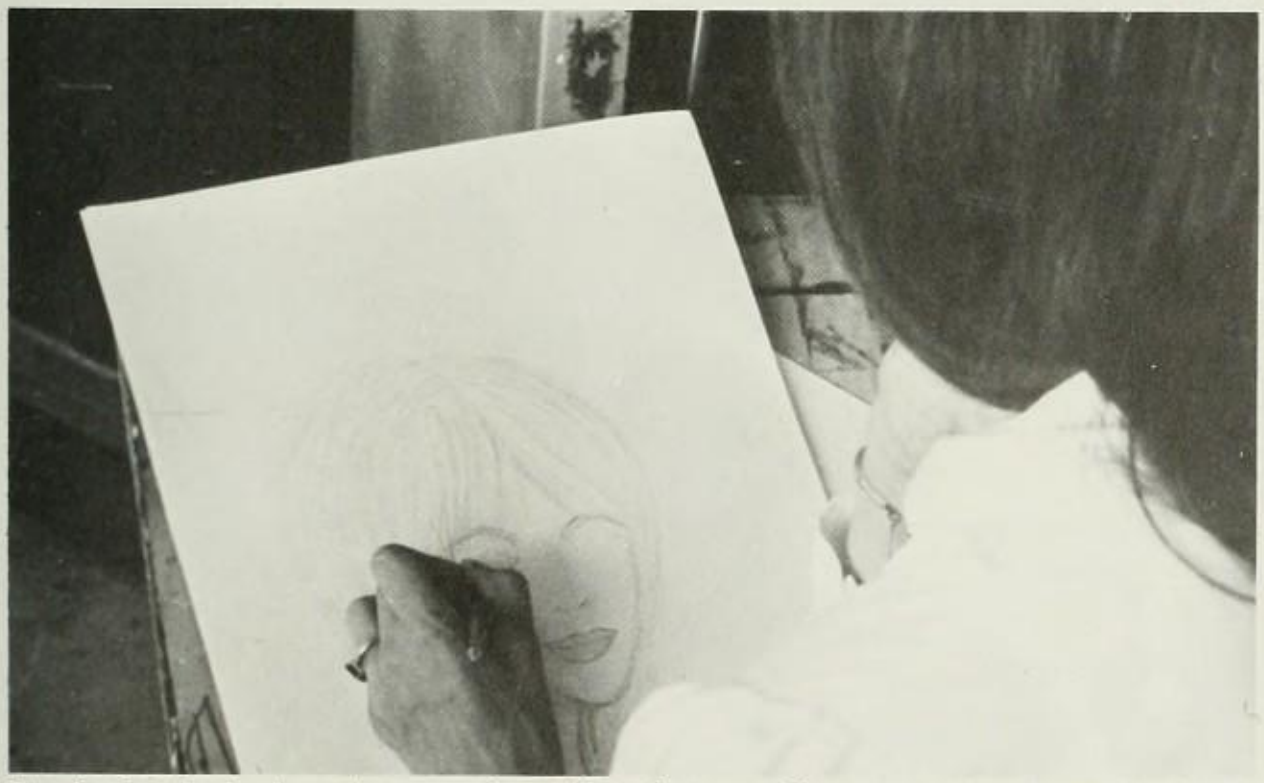


With the production of the "Pale Pink Dragon" drawing nearer, Junior Richard Smith contributed his spare time to design and paint scenes for the Children's Theater.

Students learned to express themselves effectively through experimenting and interpreting art. Creating by candling and crocheting, students realized the value of their skills by the crafts they produced.

Every nine weeks students were required to turn in their "Sketch Book," a collection of drawings on any subject and in any form. Group posters proclaiming individual's beliefs were used to decorate the walls of the classroom. Art proved that students could express their own ideas by creating original designs or displaying their forms of impressive art.

Given free time in art, June Jackson painted posters in imaginative designs.



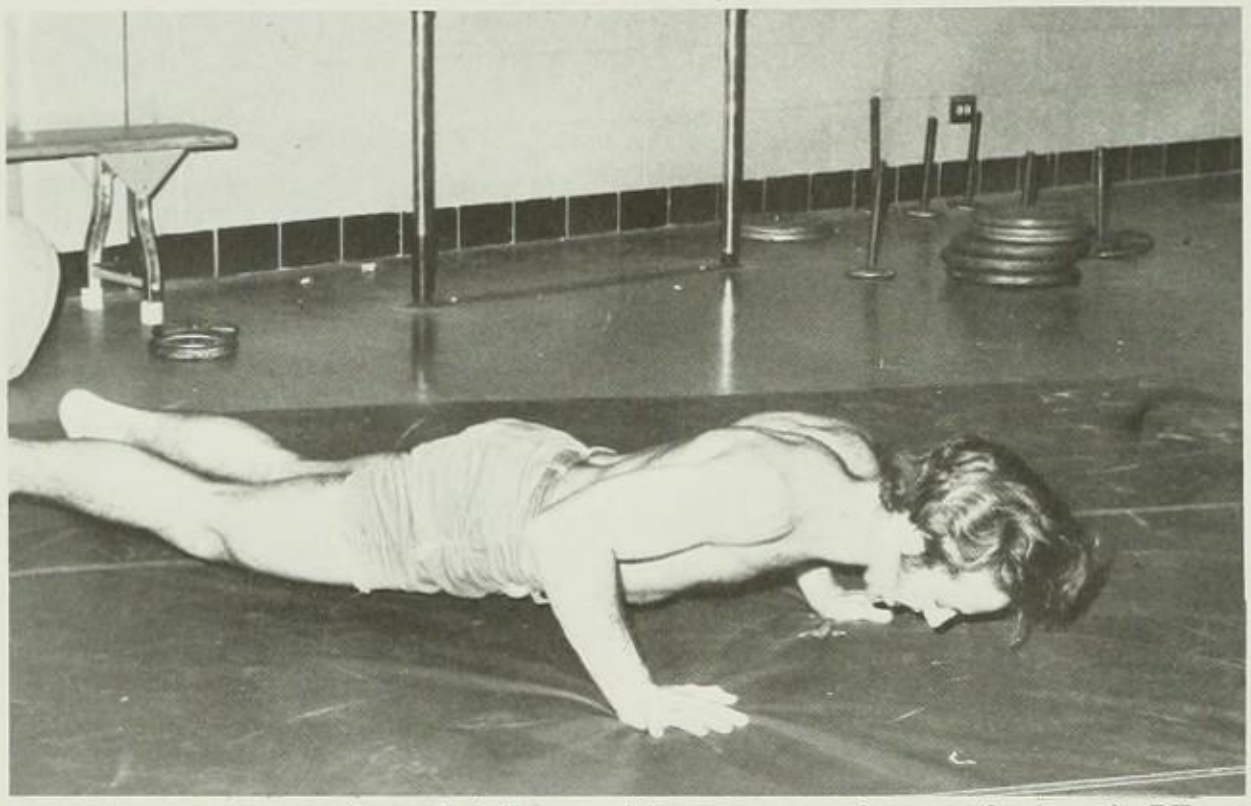
Employing the basic equipment of pencils and papers, first-year art students developed their talents by perfecting sketches and art designs during their class period.

Using the basic knowledge of printing, Patty May worked for more accuracy.

Emphasis Striving Physical Fitness

With the emphasis encountered on physical fitness, Turner has lived up to current trends. Students found track, volleyball, tennis, archery, football and trampoline offered. Varied calisthenics began the period, as warm-ups were a necessity before vigorous exercise was undertaken. This year, modern jazz was offered to girls for the first time in P.E. They were shown basic steps to later perform original routines.

Most of the boys were caught in the football fever but as the season changed, they shifted their efforts to basketball and track for their recreational program. Gym classes held memories of taking cold showers, running innumerable bleachers and acquiring sore muscles for many, but the result was the development of good sportsmanship. A sense of accomplishment in one's abilities was gained by participating in this program.



Maintaining body tone through daily exercising was a requirement for boys in PE.

Creating, perfecting and performing jazz routines to present in class to music was one of the widely varied activities included in the girls' athletic program during the year.

Providing supervision, Mrs. Angel Sheppard taught many Girls' P.E. classes.

An interesting and exciting game, basketball proved to be exhausting.

After fifteen minutes of exercising, boys engaged in wrestling, one of the several different sports offered in physical education.

While trying to rid herself of the ball, Kathleen Kelleaher made a desperate and surprising pass to startled Pam Burns as the opposing team watched the play with dismay.

Lifting weights helped to develop muscles in the arms and shoulders.

Taking Part In Tomorrow's History

For many centuries the world has revolved around the events which formed history and paved the way for the future. The wisdom of our predecessors has provided man a more thorough knowledge and an enlightened perspective for the progress and advancement of nations.

Enumerate courses at R. L. Turner were offered in a wide variety in order to obtain the needs for each individual student. Courses offered were World History, American History, Civics, Problems of Democracy and World Geography in the History Department. These subjects gave a well-rounded coverage for history classes.

"No two human beings have made or ever will make exactly the same journey in life."
Sir Arthur Keith

Discovering the world through visual aids, Juniors Patty Kirkpatrick and Barbie Gott Learned the importance of knowing where each continent was located on the map.

While listening to Mr. Darrell Lewis lecture on governmental procedures, Seniors took detailed civic notes so they could attempt to pass the test scheduled for the next day.

Handing out papers, Mrs. Conni Elkins stopped to explain one of the questions.

Successful Careers In Business Courses

Concentrating on the assignment, Kathy Collie worked on her shorthand.

Gaining accuracy, students learned how to compute figures in accounting class.

Typing, shorthand, clerical practice and bookkeeping were some of the business classes that have prepared many students with a foundation for an excellent business career. Qualifying goals were standardized in order to teach the best techniques and skills for the business workers of today.

Experience in business courses have shown progressive results as students advanced in their skills of workmanship.

Experiencing several minor set-backs during her work, clerical office practice student Dawn Willis successfully attempted to master the difficult art of typing dictation.

Perfecting their typing skill by taking timed writings, Connie Peacock, Paula Hayes, Susan Weaver, Doenye Rogers, Pam Rutherford, Janis Rivas and Linda Wright learned many of the essential qualifications often required for later careers in the business world.

Vocational Job Opportunities

Achievements must be gained through early training in specialized fields of work. Vocational Programs supplied prominent and advancing opportunities to the students.

Auto Body and Mechanics, Machine Shop, Building Trades, Cosmetology, ICT, Health Occupation, CVAE and Vocational Drafting were fields in which students attained the essential skills for requirements of modern man and efficient job placements. With an early and extensive knowledge, students gained valuable traits and a more advanced comprehension for the awaiting business world.

"He who would really benefit mankind must reach them through their work."

Henry Ford

Showing Auto Mechanics was a useful course, Johnny Potts and Jeff Abbey prepared for a later career by experiencing the basic procedures and skills in repairing a car.

Equipment maintenance was an essential requirement of Vocational training.

Finding DE interesting, Earl Coppinger listened attentively during a lecture.

Constructing a project, Junior Danny Galloway worked for detailed precision.

Working to learn a trade to be used as a later career, these two students participated in one of the many Vocational courses offered in the consisting school curriculum.

Student Career Training

Experience gave confidence and improved skills to the students of R. L. Turner who participated in the job training programs. These programs were devised to train students for work dealing with people both within a store and through communications of business.

Students found the satisfaction of advancement as they endeavored the responsibility of many different fields of work. While training for their future ambitions, the students showed a great improvement. The employers expressed their approval of the work program and the students who participated in it.

Using techniques attained throughout the year by demonstrations, practice and study, Cosmetology student Patti Graff applied a facial treatment to one of her classmates.

Operating business machines, students learned about various office programs.

Training for careers while in high school, Leo Stanton and other students gained an extra advantage in the business world through experience in job opportunities.

Janice,
Of all the new people I've met you're one of the sweetest & cutest. We've really had fun in homeroom, history, & in the stuff we did at church. I hope we'll always be friends & that we'll always be good friends. (See how crazy I am - I can't even right write!)
(on purpose)

See ya,
Susan Botz

P.S. I was gonna write a P.S. but I can't think of anything to say!

We wish to congratulate the students and faculty of R. L. Turner upon another year of work.

You are welcome and encouraged to visit our church and meet our friendly people. Our young people are important and are given a vital part in the church life. Among the many things for you is an activities building open weekly where you can enjoy fellowship with others. A Bible Survey course is offered and you can receive High School credit for taking it.

We believe in you. Come to see us soon.

You can find hospitality at First Baptist Church.

"all Banks are the same.

They all offer very similar services. Many of them even look alike.
So what difference does it make which bank I use as long as it is convenient?"
The big difference is people. People who know every facet of their job. People and officers who know how to promptly fill your banking needs for everything from a checking account to a savings account to an auto loan to a trust to a home improvement loan to a loan for a new office building.
In short, people who get action for you.
We take pride in all our people and their ability to get action. We even call ourselves the action bank.
Come see us today. You'll like banking where there really is a difference.
Oh yes, we're convenient, too.

Enjoying Life's Moments

Memories Of Life And Youth

I remember my youth and the feeling that will never come back anymore
— the feeling that I could last forever,
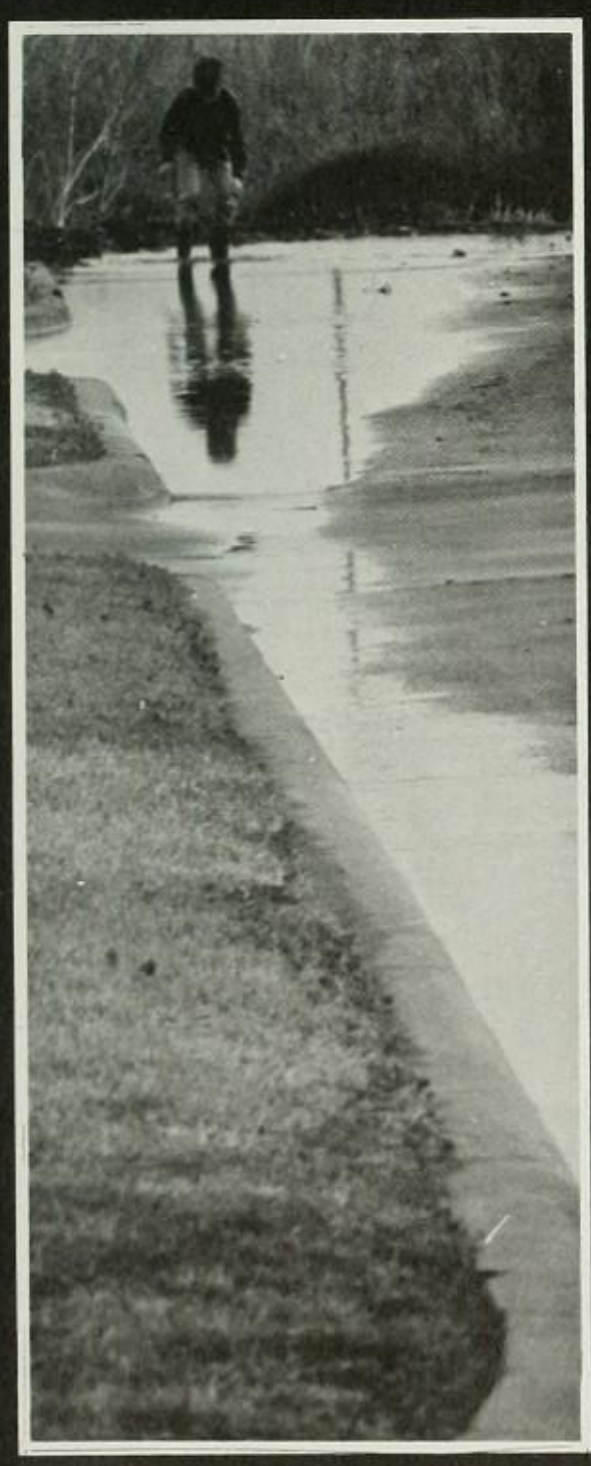
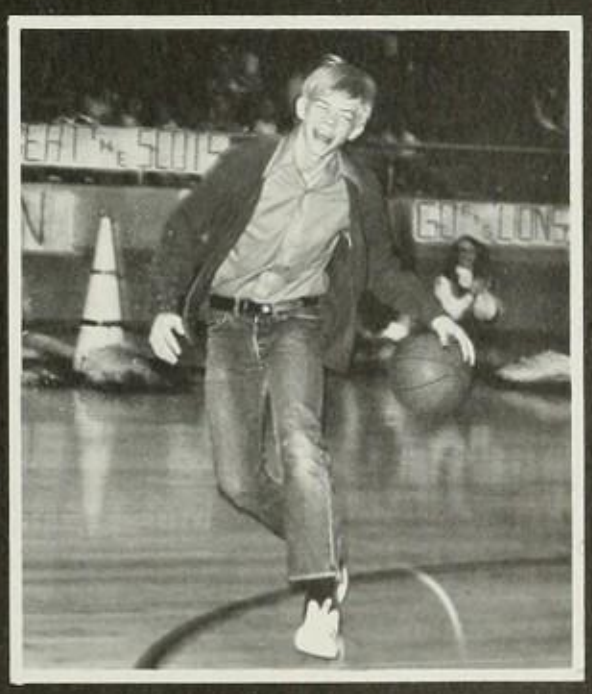
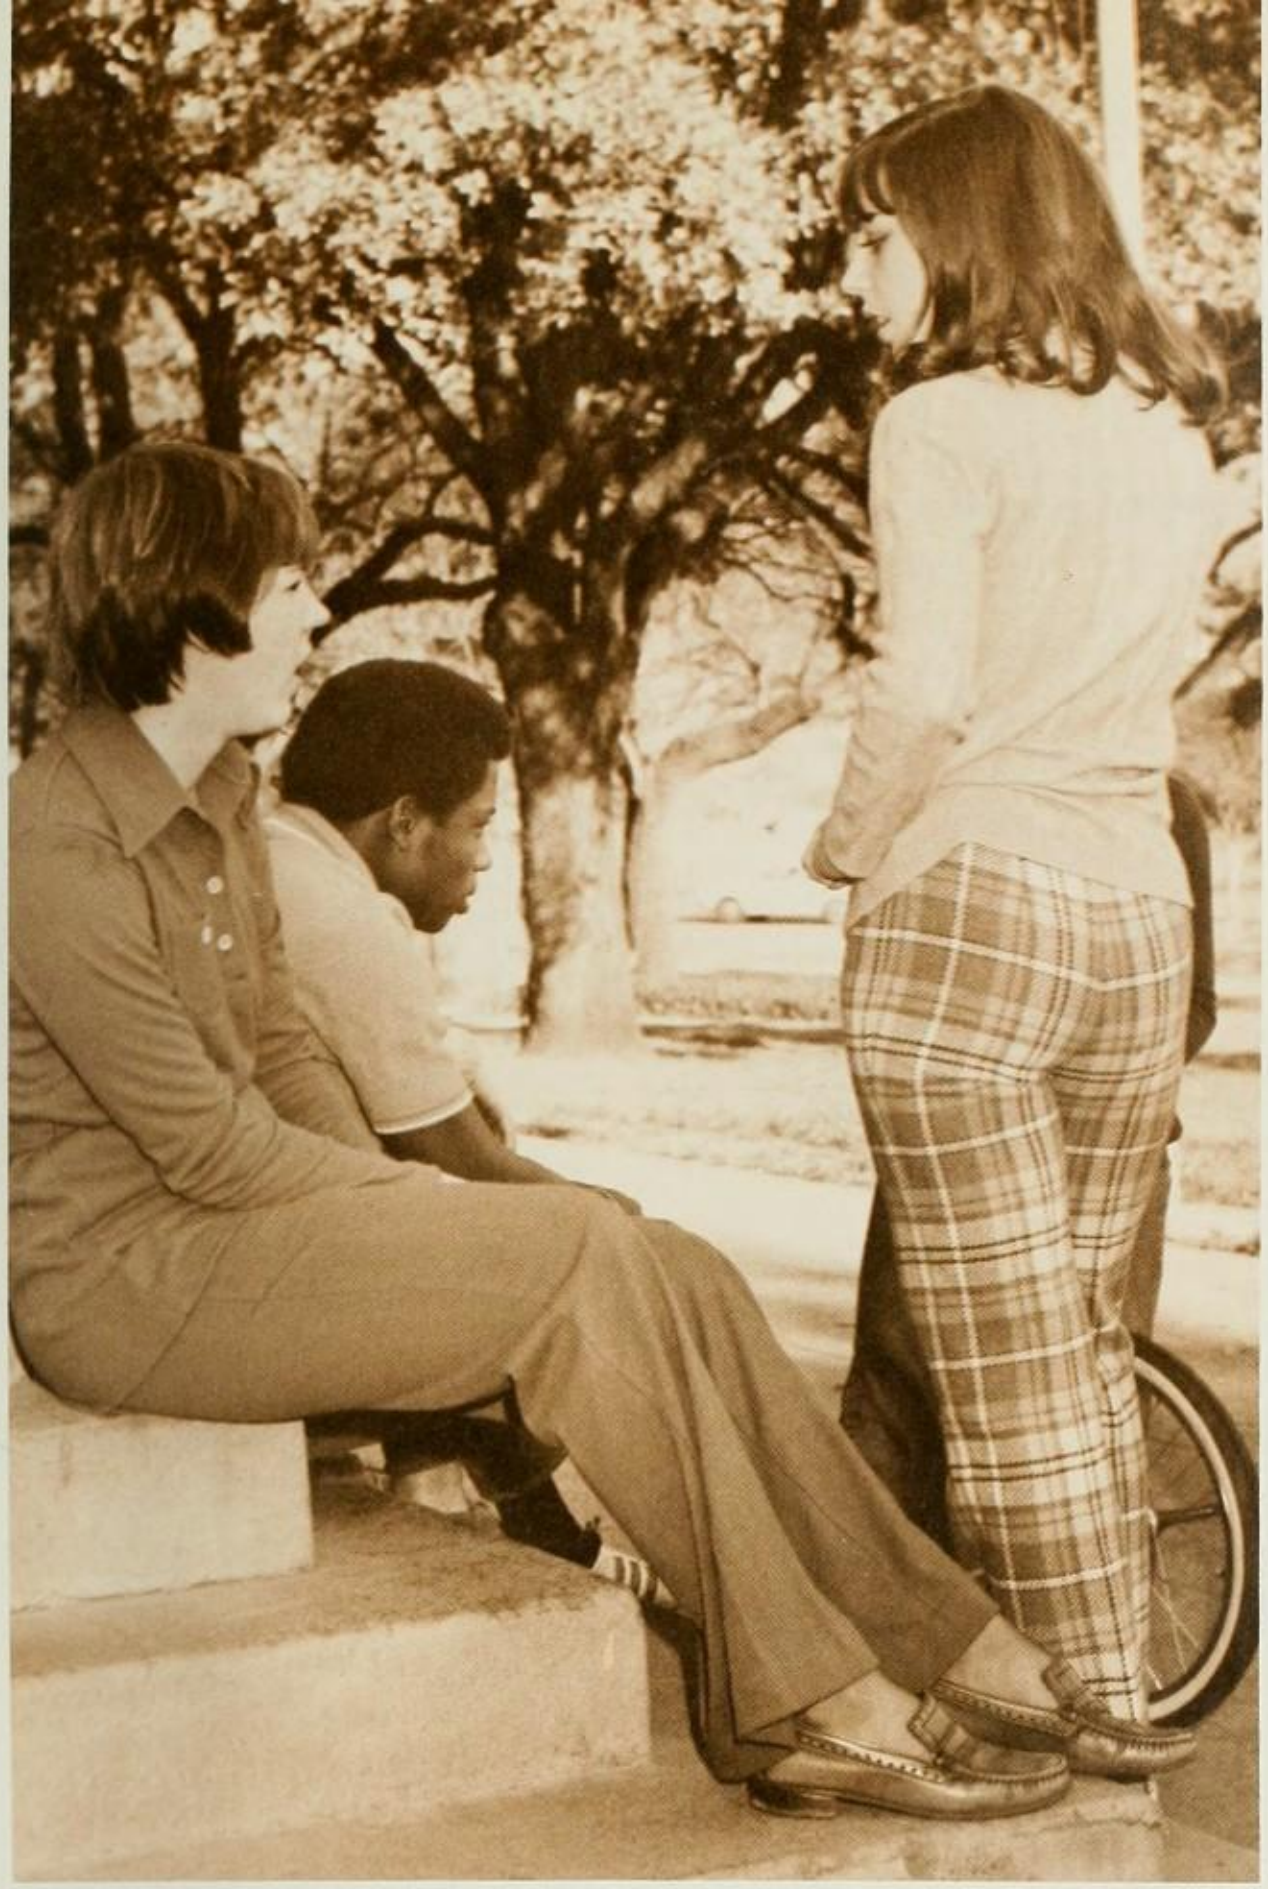
outlast the sea,
the earth,
and all men.

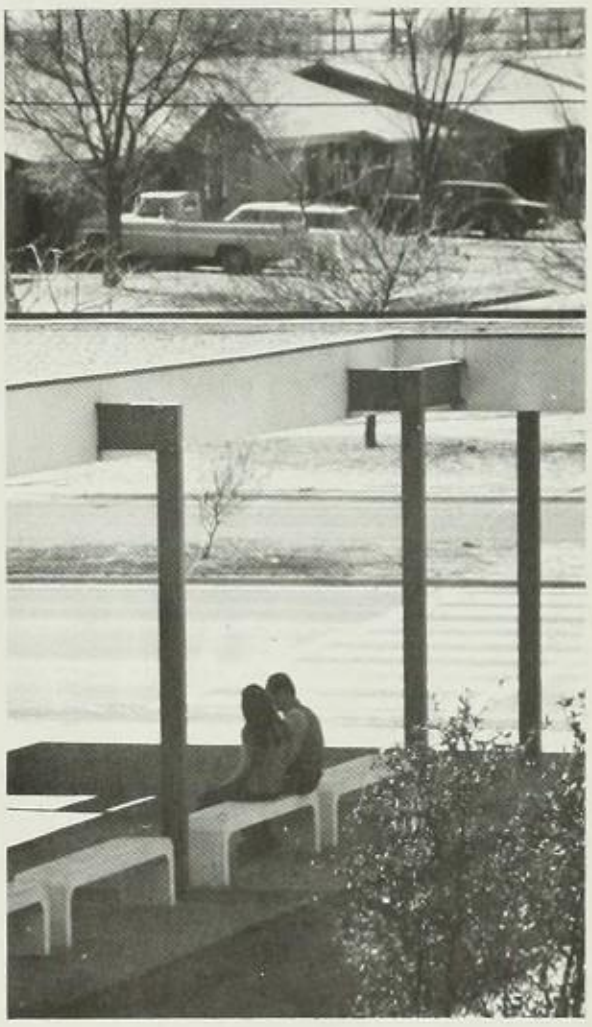
Robert Conrad

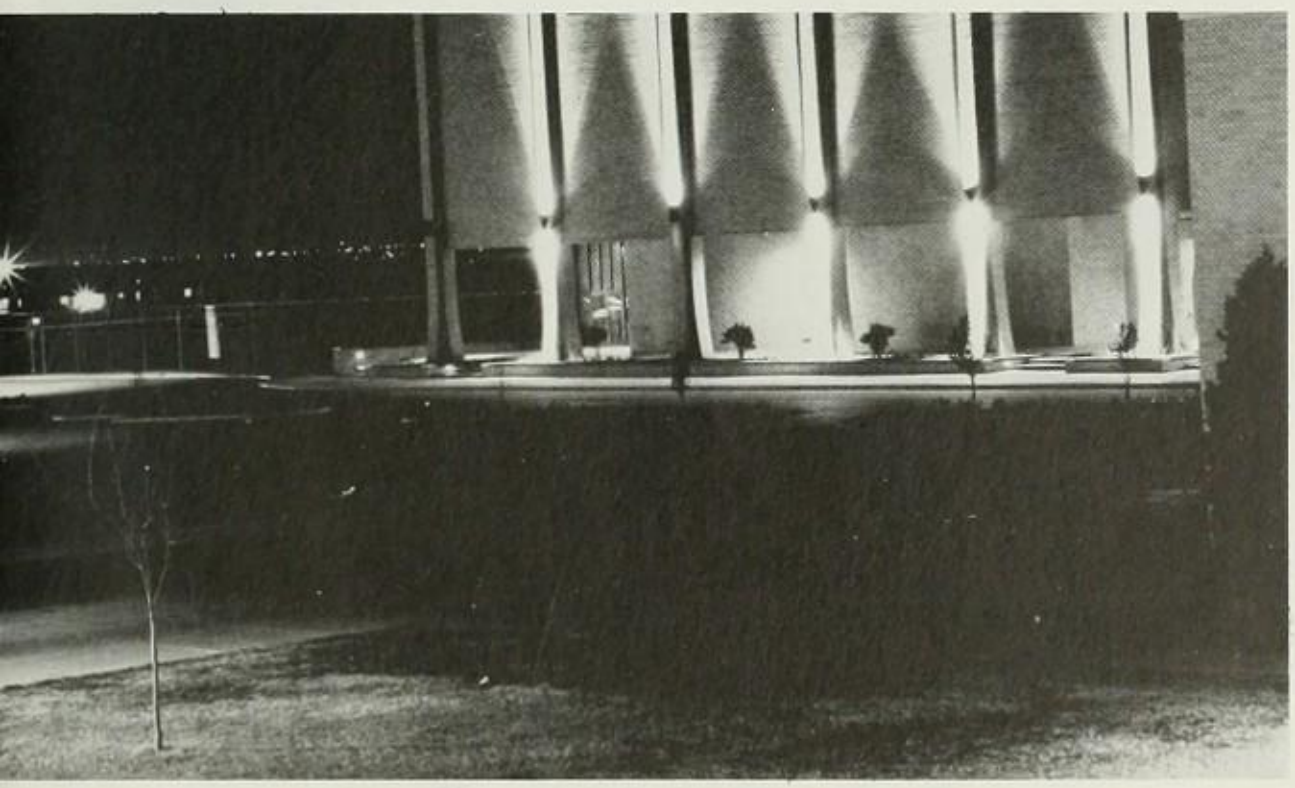




Feelings Mixed With Emotions







"We never have enough friends and we never have enough learning, but we gain a little more of each every day."

David Tymonds

Capturing Forgotten Memories

As the last cheers of enthusiasm and pride faded into memories, the close of another year approached. A year of hopes, failures and achievements was shared by all with graduation.

No longer did the walls of Turner form barriers, but an opportunity for outside advancement. For some there was sorrow because they lost the linkage between friends and faculty. But to the others, the awaited graduation meant an end to homework, early hours and continuous discipline.

Through the year, the ROAR strove to capture the true emotions and feelings found common among most students. The presentation of the "Music Man" proved the responsibility and cooperation on the part of the student as an individual person. Through teamwork, the B-team basketball players captured a district trophy for the first time in Turner's history. A group of students, willing to sacrifice their extra hours agreed in forming a Student Relations Committee for the benefit of their fellow classmates. By the committee's diligence and cooperation on the part of the school board, girls were allowed to wear dress pants during the last semester. These efforts combined with the beneficial enthusiasm by all, enabled individuals to make Turner a better place for their fellow classmates and future students.

Unlike other books, the 1971 ROAR is a tribute to emotional expression as well as to individual academic achievement.

The 1971 ROAR STAFF would like to express their sincere thanks to all those people who were most cooperative with us during the never-ending deadlines. Our special thanks goes to those teachers who allowed us to repeatedly interrupt their classes with our annoying yet worthwhile tasks.

This book was created and designed by the ROAR STAFF "with a little help from our friends."

1971 ROAR STAFF

"Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story. Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy."

Dear Mom,

Thanks for the letter. I'm glad you're all doing well. Everything is fine here. I've been busy with school and work, but I'm managing. I'll try to call you this weekend if I have time.

Love,

dance a good and wonderful friend. I hope I will see you in the coming years ~~and~~ so we can do something together. I hope I still know you when your married too. Then we can all go places together.

your friend always,
Darrie Hill (?)

I'm a good looking & cute girl. I hope we will stay friends forever don't change
